Written Ministerial Statements

Monday 17 November 2008

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH OFFICE

General Affairs and External Relations Council

The Minister for Europe (Caroline Flint): My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary, my hon. Friend the Minister of State for International Development, my noble Friend the Minister for International Defence and Security (Baroness Taylor) and I represented the UK.

The agenda items covered were as follows:

GENERAL AFFAIRS

Preparation of the European Council on 11 and 12 December 2008

The presidency presented its draft agenda, covering the economic and financial situation, climate change, the common agricultural policy, the Lisbon treaty and external relations (ESDP and Eastern Partnership).

The Government broadly welcome the presidency's agenda. In response to a question from my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary, the presidency explained that there would not be a substantive discussion of the common agricultural policy (CAP); the European Council would be invited to take note of the Agriculture Council's decisions on the CAP health check. My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary also noted that the EU's leadership in the global financial crisis now needed to be followed up by leadership on the "real economy". On that basis, it was important to note the need for appropriate regulation, and transparency, of economic issues; that the EU should continue to promote the millennium development goals and international development; and that there was no contradiction between a strong economy and strong action to combat climate change.

EXTERNAL RELATIONS

European Security and Defence Policy (ESDP)—civilian crisis management capabilities

The Council adopted conclusions and a declaration without discussion. The conclusions endorse the progress report on the implementation of the Civilian Headline Goal 2010—which aims to improve the quality and quantity of civilians deployed on ESDP missions—and approve guidelines for lessons learned and best practice in civilian missions. The declaration sets out future work streams under the Civilian Headline Goal 2010. The Government welcome these positive steps towards further improving the EU's ability to stabilise countries emerging from conflict.

Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC)

The presidency (Kouchner) reported on his joint visit with my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary on 1 November; he underlined the seriousness of the situation on the ground and the need for urgent diplomatic and humanitarian action. The Council agreed conclusions that expressed concern at the intensified fighting in North Kivu; welcomed increased humanitarian aid from the Commission and member states to those affected and called upon all parties to allow access for aid; condemned human rights violations in eastern DRC; supported the UN mission in the DRC (MONUC) and stressed the importance of forthcoming discussions of its mandate and capabilities; emphasised the urgency of finding a political solution, as the only way to restore long-term stability to the region; and reaffirmed the EU's role in contributing to international diplomatic efforts to consolidate the ceasefire and ease tensions in the long term.

My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary welcomed African engagement and called for efforts to be directed towards redeploying or strengthening MONUC. The EU's role should be to support international efforts to implement political agreements.

Burma

Foreign Ministers approved without discussion conclusions deploring the lack of progress on a transition to democratic government in the past year; pointing out that the 2010 elections will lack credibility unless the Burmese regime unconditionally releases all political prisoners and enters into a political process based upon dialogue with opposition groups; and recalling that the EU is prepared to reconsider its existing measures if there is no progress on these issues.

Iraq

The presidency said that the EU should enlarge its presence and intensify political contacts. The Commission highlighted existing work and said that the EU-Iraq trade and co-operation agreement could be concluded in early 2009. The Government welcome the Council conclusions, which welcomed recent progress on security and national reconciliation; committed to further technical assistance to the neighbours process; extended the mandate of the ESDP rule of law mission, EUJUST LEX, including potentially to carry out activities within Iraq; and encouraged early finalisation of the draft EU-Iraq Energy MOU.

Preparation of the 14 November EU-Russia summit

Foreign Ministers discussed the text of a presidency declaration in relation to the negotiations with Russia on a successor to the partnership and co-operation agreement.

The declaration:

> makes clear that the Georgia conflict has affected the trust necessary for a partnership between the EU and Russia and calls upon Russia to implement its commitments and engage constructively in the Geneva talks, while reiterating EU support for the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of Georgia.
> states that the in-depth examination of EU-Russia relations will continue and, along with Russian behaviour, will inform both the negotiations and other aspects of the relationship.
> explains that the negotiations are the best way for the EU to promote its values and defend its interests, and that they do not legitimise the status quo in Georgia or Russian behaviour which runs counter to EU values and principles.

The Government support the wording of the presidency declaration. In addition, my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary released a joint statement with the Swedish Foreign Minister prior to the Council. The statement expressed deep concern about Russia's actions and failure to withdraw to pre-7 August conflict positions and expressed support for Georgia's territorial integrity. It makes clear that a resumption of negotiations will not be a return to business as usual, nor will the EU be turning the page on the conflict in Georgia. The EU would stick to the tough mandate that had been agreed for the negotiations. The full text of the statement can be found on the FCO website: http://www.fco.gov.uk/en/newsroom/latest-news/?view=PressR&id=8975097

AOB: Zimbabwe

The presidency described the situation in Zimbabwe as "extremely discouraging", and said that the GAERC might need to return to the issue. The Government would support a discussion at the Council if no progress is made soon in talks on the power-sharing agreement.

JOINT SESSION OF EU FOREIGN AND DEFENCE MINISTERS

ESDP—Conclusions and presidency initiatives

The presidency gave a presentation on the capability initiatives that it had launched. Foreign and Defence Ministers adopted conclusions without discussion that gave an account of all current ESDP missions.

Western Balkans

On Bosnia and Herzegovina (BiH), High representative Solana and Commissioner Rehn briefed the Council on the future of the Office of the High Representative (OHR). The Council adopted conclusions reaffirming its full support for the HR/EUSR, Mr. Miroslav Lajcák; expressing deep concern at recent developments, particularly Bosnian leaders use of nationalist rhetoric and actions challenging state competences; and calling upon the Bosnian authorities to renew their efforts on reforms. The conclusions reiterate the EU's willingness to the transition from the OHR to a stronger European Union presence; but they also call on Bosnian authorities to intensify efforts to fulfil the five objectives and two conditions agreed by the Peace Implementation Council for closure of the OHR.

My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary underlined the UK's concern over the current situation in BiH and that OHR closure should only take place once the conditions had been met. In terms of a strengthened EU presence; we needed to think about arrangements which increased the incentives for Bosnian politicians to engage with Brussels, while discouraging them from reneging on the Dayton-Paris agreements.

Over lunch, the presidency briefed on the talks taking place with Serbia and Kosovo (the UN has been taking forward a dialogue with both states on transitional arrangements—"the six points"—as UNMIK draws down; the EU Secretariat has been engaging with both states on EULEX deployment).

Afghanistan

Ministers discussed the security situation in the presence of the NATO Secretary-General. They agreed that the EU was now at a point where it needed to consolidate and amplify its efforts in Afghanistan, to ensure that it remained credible and visible, and that police reform was key to ensuring security. Ministers also felt that the success of the forthcoming elections was vital. Commissioner Ferrero-Waldner said the Commission was prepared to monitor them.

My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary noted that EUPOL police mission needed to be the EU's first priority, given that the pace of reform within the police force had not matched that of the Afghan army.

DEFENCE MINISTERS

Capabilities and the European Defence Agency (EDA)

The EDA Chief Executive presented a report on the agency's activities. Ministers launched initiatives that they had discussed at their informal meeting in Deauville for co-operation by different groups of member states including on the upgrading of European helicopters and training of pilots to be deployed to the most challenging theatres; the creation of a European air transport fleet; satellite co-operation; officer training exchanges; interoperability of European aircraft carriers and support vessels; and maritime demining projects. They also addressed the issue of restructuring European security and defence industries.

ESDP Operations

Ministers approved the establishment of operation Atalanta, an EU-led military naval mission to combat piracy off the coast of Somalia, to be launched in December and commanded from the UK's multinational headquarters at Northwood.

They also took stock of two EU-led military operations: EUFOR Chad/Central African Republic, and Althea in BiH, including plans for the latter to transition to a military mentoring and training mission when the political and security situation allows.

DEVELOPMENT MINISTERS

Afghanistan

Ministers recognised the importance of an even more effective international development effort to, for example, develop the counter-narcotics effort, build the capacity of the Afghan Government, tackle corruption and improve the justice sector. In addition, the importance of forthcoming elections and further efforts to help strengthen the position of women were also discussed. My hon. Friend the Minister of State for International Development gave his support for increased efforts in these areas, and highlighted the need for the EU to engage with the new US Administration on its approach to development in Afghanistan.

Food Security

Ministers were updated on efforts to secure a €1 billion food facility and to establish a global partnership on agriculture and food. The presidency invited member states to attend the high-level meeting in Paris on 8 and 9 December on investment in agriculture.

Doha—Financing for Development

Ministers agreed conclusions on guidelines for EU participation in the international conference on financing for development in Doha on 29 November—2 December. At the UK's suggestion, the presidency circulated a statement which drew a link between the 7 November European Council on the financial crisis and the Doha conference, and stated that the latter would be the occasion for the EU to confirm its commitments to developing countries. The text said that developing countries should be fully associated with the financial reform process, and additionally highlighted the importance of innovative sources of finance.

Regional Integration-Economic Partnership Agreements (EPAs)

Commissioner Ashton set out her vision of the way forward on EPAs. She noted that there were WTO constraints but stressed that these issues could be revisited in the move from interim to regional agreements. Commissioner Michel emphasised the need to move ahead on regional aid for trade packages.

My hon. Friend the Minister of State for International Development noted that we still faced real challenges; the EU needed to deliver on the ground, and should continue to be flexible in negotiations with the Africa Caribbean and Pacific (ACP) countries.

HEALTH

Organ Donation Taskforce

The Secretary of State for Health (Alan Johnson): On 20 September 2007, I announced that I had asked the organ donation taskforce to look at the complex issue of an opt-out or presumed consent system of organ donation.

The taskforce's terms of reference were:

"To examine the potential impact on organ donation of introducing an 'opt-out' or presumed consent system in the UK, having regard to the views of the public and stakeholders on the clinical, ethical, legal and societal issues, and publish its findings"

The taskforce is today publishing its report "The potential impact of an opt-out system in the UK". The report has been placed in the Library and copies are available for hon. Members in the Vote Office.

I am grateful to the chair of the taskforce, Mrs Elisabeth Buggins, and all the members for their careful and thorough examination of this subject and for producing such an authoritative piece of work. The taskforce has presented a cogent and well-balanced analysis of a substantial body of evidence drawn from a wide range of stakeholders, including healthcare professionals, organ recipients, donor families, representatives of faith and belief groups, and members of the public.

The taskforce has concluded that introducing an opt out system in the UK at the present time, whilst having the potential to deliver benefits, would present significant challenges on a number of fronts, and may not be necessary to deliver the improvement in donation rates we all want to see. The taskforce has therefore recommended not changing to an opt-out system at this time, but monitoring progress of implementing the recommendations of the taskforce's first report.

The taskforce has given a clear indication that donation rates can be optimised successfully without a change in the legal framework. I therefore accept its recommendation that we should aim to raise donation rates without the added complications associated with a change in legislation, only revisiting the question of a change to opt-out if the implementation of those recommendations does not deliver the projected increase in donations.

However, I want to see more progress more quickly, to ensure that UK patients have the best possible chance of getting the treatment they need. I have therefore set a further challenge as part of the implementation of the taskforce's second report. I would like to see 20 million people registered on the organ donor register by 2010 working towards 25 million on the register by 2013.

I also want to see our donor rates match those in many parts of Europe and rise to 1,400 donors per year by March 2013—nearly twice current levels. On average each donor can help three people in need, so this could mean an extra 1,800 people get the chance of the transplant they so desperately need.

To support this, in addition to the extra £11 million made available this year to implement the taskforce's first report we have made £4.5 million extra funding available over the two years 2008-10 for a major multimedia campaign from March 2009 to make people aware of the importance of organ donation, with further funding agreed for future years.

However, it is not all about money or setting Government targets. Achieving these ambitious aims will require not only the support of Government and the NHS, but also widespread public support. We as a society need to change the way we view organ donation. Professionals can play their part by ensuring that all potential donors are identified and donation is discussed at the right time with families. Most importantly, we all need to talk about donation with our family and friends, make our wishes known and register on the organ donor register. We may then all give someone the opportunity to benefit from a transplant after our death.

TREASURY

Bank Recapitalisation Scheme

The Chancellor of the Exchequer (Mr. Alistair Darling): I set out in my statements to Parliament on 8 October, Official Report, columns 277-280 and 13 October, Official Report, column 539, the details of the Government's recapitalisation scheme. All UK incorporated banks—including UK subsidiaries of foreign institutions—with substantial business in the UK, and building societies, are eligible to apply for the scheme. To date, RBS Group plc and—subject to their merger proceeding—Lloyds TSB plc and HBOS Group plc have announced the terms on which they are participating. Those terms are set out in detail in the placing and open offer agreements and in the preference share subscription agreements I have today arranged for final, signed versions of the agreements to be placed in the Libraries of both Houses of Parliament.

I now set out the detail of dealing with future applications to the scheme from those banks which are currently raising capital—either by an agreement with HM Treasury or otherwise—and which, for whatever reason, may seek to negotiate a substantively new proposal or new agreement with HM Treasury about the terms of any recapitalisation. Detailed terms of participation would remain a matter for discussion with the board of the institution concerned, taking proper account of prevailing market conditions, but HM Treasury would expect to apply the following general principles:

The objective of the recapitalisation scheme is to ensure that each eligible institution has sufficient capital to sustain confidence in the institution. Institutions should therefore have a sufficient buffer of capital above the minimum requirement both to absorb losses that might ensue from a downturn and to continue lending on normal commercial criteria. In assessing any proposals in relation to eligible institutions, HM Treasury will continue to focus on three key objectives:

maintaining financial stability;

safeguarding the interests of taxpayers; and protecting depositors and consumers.

In providing capital to any eligible institution, HM Treasury, on the advice of the Bank of England and Financial Services Authority, would need to be satisfied that these three objectives were met.

There is no automatic right of access to the recapitalisation scheme. At minimum HM Treasury would expect the following high-level conditions to be met before capital could be offered to any eligible institution:

the institution must have a plan to meet an appropriate level of capitalisation, as determined by the FSA. (Information about the FSA approach is set out in its statement of 14 November 2008). It is a matter for the institutions concerned to disclose to the market their capital requirement; the institution must have a sustainable business model and delivery plan;

the institution's funding profile, sources and mix must be clear, broad-based and sustainable; and the senior management team must be credible, with demonstrable ability to deliver the business plan.

If the Government are to provide capital, the issue will carry terms and conditions that appropriately reflect the financial commitment made by the taxpayer, including in relation to dividend policy, remuneration, lending policy and wider public policy issues.

To the extent that HM Treasury is asked to subscribe for, or underwrite, an offering for ordinary equity shares, the price would be at a discount to either the market price prevailing at the time of the transaction or, if applicable, the placing price agreed on 13 October, whichever is lower. The percentage discount would not be less than the percentage discounts applied in transactions already announced.

To the extent that HM Treasury is asked to subscribe for preference shares or other tier 1 instruments, the appropriate coupon will be based on prevailing market conditions, with due regard given to the rate at which eligible institutions have announced the issue of such instruments most recently.

With respect to fees, HM Treasury would charge an appropriate level of fees for any underwriting commitments, again paying due regard to the fees paid in recent transactions involving eligible institutions.

Any transaction would, of course, be subject to the necessary regulatory and legal clearances, and would need to comply with the European Commission's decision of 13 October 2008 authorising the recapitalisation scheme under EU state aid rules.

Any securities acquired by HM Treasury under the recapitalisation scheme will be managed on a commercial basis by UK Financial Investments Ltd (UKFI). Details about UKFI are set out in my letter to the Chairman of the Treasury Select Committee of 3 November, which is available in the Libraries of both Houses of Parliament.

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Children's Trusts

The Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (Ed Balls): In the "Children's Plan", which I presented to Parliament in December 2007, the Government set out their ambition to make this country the best place in the world for young people to grow up. As part of this we committed to strengthening the links between schools, health and other children's services in every area through children's trusts, so that together they can tackle all the barriers to the learning, health and happiness of every child.

Today I am publishing statutory guidance which:

clarifies what a children's trust is, what it does and how it relates to other local partnerships;

discusses in more detail the vision and priorities in the children's plan as they relate to children's trusts and the five every child matters outcomes; identifies the challenges that now need to be addressed; and offers guidance on how the priorities in the children's plan should be taken forward across the whole children's trust.

The guidance also confirms the Government's intention to legislate to:

extend the number of relevant partners under a duty to co-operate to include schools—including academies—sixth form and FE colleges, and Job Centre Plus; make the children's trust board a statutory body; and give the board responsibility for producing the children and young people's plan, which will then be 'owned' by the full children's trust partnership.

The children's plan set out a vision in which local authorities, schools, the health service and other local providers work together and support each other, both in setting the direction and in driving delivery. The proposals announced today, taken together, give us a framework that will help make this vision a reality.

CAMHS Review

The Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (Ed Balls): The Secretary of State for Health and I today welcome the publication of the final report of the independent review of child and adolescent mental health services. We would like to thank the CAMHS external review group for their report and recommendations. In particular, we would like to thank Jo Davidson, the chair and group director of children and young people's services at Gloucestershire county council and Dr. Bob Jezzard, the vice-chair.

This has been a challenging review. Children's mental health is an area where there are strong views and perspectives. The external review group should, therefore, take great credit for having produced such a coherent and evidence-based report, which sets out a clear vision for how we can all take responsibility for promoting children's mental health and psychological well-being, alongside clear recommendations for how we can best achieve the step change in the quality and consistency of services at all levels.

We asked the chair and vice-chair to investigate:

the progress that has been made, since the launch of standard 9 of the children's national service framework and the publication of "Every Child Matters" in 2004, in delivering services to meet the educational, health and social care needs of children and young people at risk of and experiencing mental health problems, including those with complex, severe and persistent needs; and the practical solutions that can be used by those developing policy and delivering, managing and commissioning services to address current challenges and deliver better outcomes for children and young people with mental health problems, and how these solutions can be monitored.

We welcome the fact that the review carried out its task in such a comprehensive manner, undertaking an intensive programme of investigation, including a national call for evidence and extensive consultation with children, young people and their families throughout the process. The fact that the review's recommendations respond to the concerns of users of these vital services gives its report added weight and importance.

We agree with the review's analysis that whilst considerable improvements have been made to the support and services delivered in this area, there is still a great deal of change that needs to take place at all levels of the system to support the delivery of integrated, child and family-focused mental health and psychological well-being services that are organised around children and young people's needs.

The review's report identifies the important changes that are required if we are to see real improvements in children's mental health and psychological well-being. The review sets out a clear and ambitious vision of what this change would look like for children, young people and their families accessing universal, targeted and specialist services, highlighting the importance of:

everyone having a good understanding of what mental health and psychological well-being is, how they can promote resilience in children and young people and where children, young people and their families can go if they need more information and help;

children's mental health and psychological well-being services being viewed and working as a single service that is organised around children, young people and their families' needs, with staff working within these services having a clear understanding of their roles and responsibilities as well as those of others;

staff within universal services being trained and supported to provide effective mental health promotion, prevention and early intervention work and where necessary having the knowledge and skills that are needed to refer children and young people swiftly through to specialist services; and staff within specialist services to have an appropriate range of skills and competences so that they can deliver support that is easy to access, readily available and based on the best evidence of what works.

The review makes 20 challenging recommendations to Government across all aspects of children's mental health and psychological well-being services. The Secretary of State for Health and I are delighted to be able to demonstrate our commitment to the immediate implementation of a number of these recommendations. In particular:

we will set up a National Advisory Council for children's mental health and psychological well- being. In line with the review's recommendations, the council will act as a champion for children's mental health and psychological well-being issues, advise Government on implementing the recommendations that have been set out in the review's report, and hold Government to account on our successful delivery. We are delighted that Dame Jo Williams, former chief executive of Mencap has agreed to chair the review and Dr Lesley Hewson, consultant child and adolescent psychiatrist and director of CAMHS, Bradford District Care Trust, to act as vice-chair; and we will improve support for practitioners delivering services for children and young people and drive culture change and consistency at national, regional and local levels, we will develop a National Support Programme. This will build on the work of the national CAMHS support service and field forces working in this area. The National Support Programme will co-ordinate these organisations to give everyone working in this area the support they need to achieve the aims of the CAMHS review.

We are committed to: taking forward key recommendations within the report on improving access for children, young people and their families to mental health support through universal services; improving the access, quality and impact of mental health services for vulnerable children and young people; and ensuring that parents and carers have access to high quality advice and support when they are concerned about their children's mental health.

For example, legislation to strengthen Children's Trusts is already in train. Revised statutory guidance will highlight that Children's Trusts should consider the mental health and psychological well-being needs of children and young people in their area as part of their wider joint strategic needs assessment and respond to this through effective joint-working between primary care trusts, local authorities and other strategic partners.

Today we want to further demonstrate our commitment by announcing:

the roll-out of phase two of the targeted mental health support pathfinder programme (TaMHS) to an additional 55 local authority areas. This will enable a further 100 to 150 secondary schools and their feeder primary schools to deliver additional support in school to promote all children's psychological well-being and additional help in and through the school for those children and their families at risk of problems. It will also provide additional funding for schools to forge closer working links with specialist CAMHS. Children will benefit from schools' increased ability to identify risks to mental health at an early stage and ensure that they receive prompt access to the help and support that they need; additional funding for local authorities already delivering the targeted mental health in schools pathfinder, so that they can build on their work in pupil referral units and special schools in order to meet the needs of this very vulnerable group of children and young people; and additional funding for organisations who are delivering vital telephone helpline support for parents who are concerned about their children's mental health.

We are pleased to accept most of the review's recommendations in principle, with a view to implementing these as soon as is practical. Overall, we share the review's conclusions on the need to promote greater consistency in access, quality and impact of children's mental health services. In order to deliver these improvements, we identify four priority areas to be addressed by the National Support Programme and National Advisory Council. These are:

awareness of and access to services through the provision of local information in every area that clearly sets out the support that children, young people and their families can expect to receive in their local area;

the diffuse leadership and responsibility for children's mental health and psychological well-being that currently exists at a national, regional and local level, for example through the strengthening of Children's Trusts; waiting times, where we are aware of the significant negative impact that having to wait a long time to receive treatment can have on children and young people's recovery, so look to the national support programme to drive further improvements in this area; and transitions to adult services, where we agree with the review that urgent work is required to identify, understand and overcome the barriers to smooth transitions between mental health services for young people and services for adults.

We will give further consideration to the remaining six recommendations from the review in conjunction with the National Advisory Council in order to develop an appropriate response and effective solutions that reflect local and national priorities.

The Secretary of State for Health and I have set out our initial response to each of the review's 20 recommendations in a summary document that has been made available on the DH and DCSF websites and in the Libraries of both Houses of Parliament.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Rough Sleeping Strategy

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (Mr. Iain Wright): The Government are today publishing a new rough sleeping strategy "No one left out – communities ending rough sleeping". Copies have been placed in the Library of the House.

Ten years ago, the Government set out an ambitious plan to cut rough sleeping by two thirds. Thanks to the determination of our partners in local authorities, the voluntary sector and other agencies dealing with the homeless, we achieved that goal several years ago. There have been significant and sustained reductions in the number of people who sleep rough on the streets.

Our success in tackling rough sleeping so far is something in which we lead the world and of which this country can be proud, but we are not complacent. Ten years on from our first strategy, we are determined to make further progress. Our vision is to end rough sleeping once and for all. And we know that many of our partners share this determination and we will work across Government to make progress.

This new strategy signals our intent to work with our partners to end rough sleeping once and for all by 2012. To make this happen we want to make sure that in every part of the country people get the help they need, so no one has to sleep rough. Services will act promptly to prevent rough sleeping from occurring in the first place, or to bring people in from the streets as quickly as possible. People who have slept rough will be supported to improve their health, consider employment options and rebuild their lives.

After a decade of progress we have learnt from our experiences, and are more confident and determined than ever that we can make progress towards this goal, building on the commitment, innovation and energy of our partners across Government, in local authorities, the third sector and communities. The strategy sets out a fifteen point action plan for the next four years. The tougher economic climate may bring new pressures and challenges, but I am confident that the strategy prepares us well for the future. The Government is investing £200 million to prevent homelessness and tackle rough sleeping.

This new strategy will help us make the final push, ending rough sleeping once and for all.

Local Government

The Minister for Local Government (John Healey): On 8 May 2008 we introduced through the Standards Committee (England) Regulations 2008 (SI 2008/1085) the reformed conduct regime for local authority members, in which responsibility for standards of conduct and dealing with allegations of misconduct by members is largely devolved to each council's independently chaired standards committee. In this regime the Standards Board for England has the role of a strategic regulator, and only the most serious cases of misconduct by members are to be investigated by the Standards Board and determined by case tribunals of the Adjudication Panel for England, established under the Local Government Act 2000.

Following extensive consultation, including with the Local Government Association, local authorities, practitioners, and the Administrative Justice and Tribunals Council, I have today laid before the House the Case Tribunals (England) Regulations 2008, which complement the Standards Committee (England) Regulations 2008 and make provision about the sanctions available to a case tribunal of the Adjudication Panel.

In particular, these regulations ensure that from 12 December 2008 case tribunals will have the power to censure a member, require them to apologise, attend training, or enter into a process of conciliation. These sanctions are currently available only to councils' standards committees. Making these sanctions available to case tribunals will allow them to deal proportionately with, for example, a case which, although referred to the tribunal on the grounds that it is very serious, the tribunal concludes is a less serious matter.

The regulations also make provision about certain administrative procedures to be followed in relation to cases before the Adjudication Panel and its case tribunals.

These regulations will help ensure that the reformed conduct regime is fair, transparent and efficient.

We intend to complete the reformed conduct regime in January 2009 by making, following consultation, further regulations which will allow councils to establish joint standards committees, and to enable the Standards Board to suspend, in certain circumstances where the board considers this to be in the public interest, a council's standards committee's powers to deal with misconduct allegations.

DEFENCE

In-patient Mental Health Care

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Defence (Mr. Kevan Jones): I wish to inform the House of the outcome of a competitive exercise for the provision of in-patient mental health care for our serving armed forces personnel.

The Ministry of Defence recognises mental illnesses as potentially serious and disabling conditions, but most can be successfully treated. Our mental health services are configured to provide community-based mental health care in line with the guidelines and standards set by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence and the National Service Frameworks.

We do this primarily by supporting our GPs with specialist out-patient assessment and treatment at our military regional departments of community mental health centres sited in military bases. Care is provided by either military mental health care professionals or civilians employed by the MOD. This means that serving personnel usually remain with their units and receive out-patient care in a military environment.

In-patient care may be required in a small number of cases. Where this is necessary, it is provided regionally in specialised psychiatric units under a contractual arrangement. Since 2003 this contract has been with the Priory Group. The contract with the Priory Group has worked very well and was extended for two years. In line with our usual commercial practice a competitive tendering exercise has now been conducted in order to place a new contract. I am now in a position to announce the outcome of that competition.

The evaluation process produced a clear winner—we have awarded the contract to the South Staffordshire and Shropshire Foundation Trust who offered a powerful grouping of NHS providers to deliver a nationwide service.

The South Staffordshire and Shropshire Foundation Trust proposal offers a bespoke admission and treatment service based upon the needs of the MOD and of the individual patient. They offer a single point of contact for admissions and access to a series of dedicated beds across the United Kingdom. South Staffordshire and Shropshire Foundation Trust describe their services as culturally sensitive and have proposed an in-patient care pathway that provides assessment and treatment in environments that would allow service patients to be accommodated in a separate area and be able to separate themselves from the civilian NHS population if they wished this and it was clinically appropriate. The South Staffordshire and Shropshire Foundation Trust's philosophy and approach to in-patient care is consistent with that of the MOD and with generally accepted best practice; rapid assessment, stabilisation and return to care within the community as soon as possible.

The South Staffordshire and Shropshire Foundation Trust will provide locally based care through a network consisting of a group of five Foundation Trusts, one trust in the process of foundation trust application, and one NHS Scotland trust. These are: Tees, Esk and Wear Valleys NHS Foundation Trust, Lincolnshire Partnership NHS Foundation Trust, NHS Grampian, Cambridgeshire and Peterborough Mental Health Partnership NHS Trust, Somerset Partnership NHS Trust, and Hampshire Partnership NHS Trust. All of the trusts selected are rated good or excellent for their quality of care in the Healthcare Commission's recent Annual Health Check. The South Staffordshire and Shropshire Foundation Trust will act as the "network lead" and as such, will guarantee the quality and governance of the services provided. The foundation trust status of the winning bidder offers MOD access to services that are subject to unprecedented levels of corporate governance and are monitored by an independent regulator.

The MOD will work with the South Staffordshire and Shropshire Foundation Trust to implement a transition to the new contract that will cause minimal disruption to current and future patients. The Priory Group has agreed to extend the existing contract until the end of February 2009 to allow for a transition period.

When combined with care provided on operations by our deployed military mental health professionals, in military primary care and in military community mental health centres, I am confident that this contract represents a continuation of the combination of the best of external and internal providers to deliver mental health care to national standards of excellence.

ENERGY AND CLIMATE CHANGE

Energy Supply Companies

The Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change (Edward Miliband): As I undertook to do in my statement to the House on 16 October 2008, Official Report, columns 935-937, yesterday I again met the main energy supply companies to discuss my concerns about a number of issues in the retail energy markets.

I reiterated my concerns about findings in the Ofgem report on the energy supply market, about the charges facing electricity-only customers and customers paying excessively high charges for their particular payment method. I made clear the importance the Government attaches to progress on these and other issues.

As part of the due process I referred to in my October statement, the companies have until 1 December to provide a formal response to the Ofgem findings. Ofgem will then come forward with its conclusions, including any proposed changes to licence conditions.

However, as promised in my statement, I stand ready to consult on legislation should there not be a speedy and satisfactory resolution to these issues.

At the meeting, I also highlighted the public's concern about the current high level of retail prices. I impressed upon the companies the need for retail energy prices to reflect changes in wholesale prices as soon as possible. The Government and the industry are agreed on the need to bring down retail gas and electricity prices.

The meeting also recognised the need for very significant levels of investment in our energy infrastructure in the coming years.

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Winter Supplementary Estimate

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (Huw Irranca-Davies): Subject to parliamentary approval of any necessary supplementary estimate, the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs DEL will be increased by £753,000 from £3,745,525,000 to £3,746,278,000 and the Administration budget will be increased by £463,000 from £356,000,000 to £356,463,000. Within the DEL change, the impact on resources and capital are as set out in the following table:

| | Change | | New DEL | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Voted | Non-voted | Voted | Non-voted | Total |
| Resource | -10,781 | -5,456 | 4,075,484 | -1,155,277 | 2,920,207 |
| of which: | | | | | |
| Administration Budget | 463 | - | 356,463 | - | 356,463 |
| Near-cash in RDEL | -37 | -16,000 | 3,870,228 | -1,257,821 | 2,612,407 |
| Capital | 790 | 16,000 | 665,682 | 351,189 | 1,016,871 |
| Depreciation* | 3,799 | -3,599 | -88,201 | -102,599 | -190,800 |
| Total | -6,192 | 6,945 | 4,652,965 | -906,687 | 3,746,278 |

* Depreciation, which forms part of resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL since capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.

The change in the resource element of the DEL arises from (i) a transfer of £360,000 administration spend from the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform for the Office of Climate Change running costs; (ii) a transfer of £358,000 administration spend from the Cabinet for the legal services provided by the Parliamentary Counsel's Office; (iii) a transfer of £915,000 to HM Treasury for sustainable procurement (£215,000 administration spend and £700,000 programme); (iv) a transfer of £40,000 programme spend to the Cabinet Office for the Government Security Zone; (v) a transfer of £16,000,000 of the departmental unallocated provision from resource to capital.

The change in the capital element of the DEL arises from (i) a transfer of £16,000,000 of the departmental unallocated provision to capital from resource; (ii) a transfer of £1,000,000 from the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform for the energy efficiency package; (iii) a transfer of £210,000 to the Department for Work and Pensions for the Machinery of Government transfer of the Pesticides Safety Directorate.

The change in the administration budget element of the DEL not explained above is due to a transfer of £40,000 from administration to programme in respect of the Government Security Zone transfer to the Cabinet Office.

The change in the depreciation budget is due to £200,000 transferring to the Department for Work and Pensions for the Machinery of Government transfer of the Pesticides Safety Directorate.

(1) The Machinery of Government (MoG) changes of 3 October 2008 announced the creation of the Department of Energy and Climate Change (DECC), formed from the Energy Group located in BERR and the Climate Change Group located in the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (DEFRA).

Both BERR and DEFRA will transfer their budgets for Energy and Climate Change respectively to the new Department, based on the settlements agreed in the comprehensive spending review 2007 (CSR07), for the financial years 2008-09, 2009-10 and 2010-11. In view of the timing of the change, the formal transfer of budgets to the new Department is planned for the spring supplementary estimate. The winter supplementary estimate therefore reflects figures prior to the MoG changes.

Agriculture and Fisheries Council

The Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (Hilary Benn): The Minister for the Natural and Marine Environment, Wildlife and Rural Affairs, my hon. Friend the Member for Ogmore (Huw Irranca-Davies), and I will represent the United Kingdom at this month's Agriculture and Fisheries Council in Brussels. Richard Lochhead, Elin Jones and Conor Murphy will also attend.

There will be the usual approval of the list of 'A' points, followed by fisheries items. The Council is due to agree proposals and discuss the following:

Bilateral fisheries agreement with Norway;

Allocation of cod fishing quotas to Poland in the Baltic Sea from 2008 to 2011;

Codification and modernisation of the control system applicable to the common fisheries policy;

Recovery of cod stocks;

Strategy for the sustainable development of European Aquaculture;

Commission report on the progress of the simplification process.

On agriculture, the Council will be seeking political agreements on the CAP health check and school fruit scheme, and discussing a proposal authorising the placing on the market of genetically modified soya bean products.

The following issues will be raised under any other business:

WTO—DDA negotiations

Analysis of the current situation concerning the pesticides package.

HEALTH

"High Quality Care for All"

The Minister of State, Department of Health (Mr. Ben Bradshaw): "High Quality Care for All", the final report of the NHS next stage review, set out the vision of an NHS in which quality is the organising principle for everything the service does. The chief executive of the NHS, David Nicholson CBE, the NHS medical director Sir Bruce Keogh, and the chief nursing officer Dame Christine Beasley are today writing to every NHS organisation in England, asking them to start to take concrete steps to make this happen. The document they are sending to the NHS, "Measuring for Quality Improvement: the approach", sets out clearly what local teams, NHS organisations—both providers and commissioners—and strategic health authorities will be asked to do to promote better measurement of quality to enable them to improve their services. It also describes the range of activities that the Department will undertake to support the NHS at local level.

The launch of "Measuring for Quality Improvement" marks both a key step towards realising the vision of "High Quality Care for All", and the start of an important journey of improvement which will ultimately involve the entire NHS in England. A copy has been placed in the Library and copies are available for hon. Members from the Vote Office.

NORTHERN IRELAND

Boundary Commission for Northern Ireland

The Secretary of State for Northern Ireland (Mr. Shaun Woodward): Schedule 1 to the Parliamentary Constituencies Act 1986 makes provision for the constitution of the four Boundary Commissions, including the Boundary Commission for Northern Ireland. Under paragraph 2 of Schedule 1 each Commission must consist of a Chairman, Deputy Chairman and two other members appointed by the Secretary of State. Following the expiry of his previous term of appointment, I have reappointed Richard Mackenzie CB as a member of the Boundary Commission for Northern Ireland for a further term of appointment to expire on 31 October 2012.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Rent Officers Order

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (Kitty Usher): Following the judgment of the Law Lords in the case of Heffernan—R (on the application of Heffernan) v the Rent Service—on Wednesday 30 July 2008, the Government will lay amendments to the Rent Officers (Housing Benefit Functions) Order 1997 and the Rent Officers (Housing Benefit Functions) (Scotland) Order 1997 in order to clarify the rules that enable rent officers to define the local rental market areas which help determine entitlement to housing benefit.

The way in which the geographical areas, or localities, for assessing housing benefit are determined has a direct impact on the amount of benefit individual customers receive. If applied, the judgment would result in a dramatic increase in the number of localities nationally, as each would be based on a limited number of neighbourhoods. These new locality boundaries would not necessarily be the same as those that existed before the rent services carried out their most recent reviews of boundaries and could result in a large number of low-income tenants finding that housing benefit would no longer cover their rent. Without amendment to the Rent Officers Order, this would now happen automatically.

This is not our policy intent which is why amendments will be laid at the earliest opportunity.

The routine locality reviews that were undertaken by the rent services in 2006-07 under the Rent Officers Order resulted in fewer localities across the country as a whole. These reviews were undertaken in consultation with local authorities, who have access to a discretionary fund to compensate individual tenants in hardship cases. The vast majority of the new boundaries were agreed by local authorities. The amendments of the Rent Officers Order will enable the rent services to review the boundaries in those localities where local consensus was not achieved. In any year, the rent services are committed to reviewing 25 per cent. of all locality boundaries.

Elbourne Review

The Minister of State, Department for Work and Pensions (Ms Rosie Winterton): On 22 May 2008 the Minister for Pensions Reform announced that, John Elbourne had been asked to "examine the current arrangements for the engagement of older people and the ability of those arrangements to inform policy and actions of Government at all levels". Specifically, this was to include examining better Government for older people.

John Elbourne will publish his report at 3 o'clock this afternoon on the Department for Work and Pensions website. This can be found at www.dwp.gov.uk/resourcecentre and a copy will be placed in the Libraries of both Houses.

The purpose of the review has been to examine whether there are any structural and/or organisational changes that can aid progress and enhance opportunities for older people to make themselves heard.

The report makes a range of recommendations for improving older people's engagement with Government, which are: establishing a national advisory forum for older people; enhancing the role that regional Government offices play in supporting and developing engagement with older people; setting up regional forums to support local authorities; and building on the support for older people's forums around the UK.

The Government invite comments on these recommendations and will respond to this report by 30 January 2009. Any comments should be sent to: Andrew Jennings, Department for Work and Pensions, Older People and Ageing Society Division, 3rd Floor The Adelphi, 1-11 John Adam Street, London, WC2N 6HT (email: andrew.jennings@dwp.gsi.gov.uk), to be received by 9 January 2009.

Written Ministerial Statements

Wednesday 19 November 2008

TREASURY

Double Taxation Convention (Libya)

The Financial Secretary to the Treasury (Mr. Stephen Timms): A new Double Taxation Convention with Libya was signed on 17 November 2008. After signature, the text of the convention was deposited in the Libraries of both Houses and made available on HM Revenue and Customs' website. The text of the convention will be scheduled to a draft Order in Council and laid before the House of Commons in due course.

Economic and Financial Affairs Council

The Economic Secretary to the Treasury (Ian Pearson): I will attend the Budget ECOFIN to be held on 21 November in Brussels. Items on the agenda are as follows:

Preliminary Draft Amending Budgets Nos. 10 and 11 for 2008

Finance Ministers will be invited to adopt Preliminary Draft Amending Budgets 10 and 11. These would amend the 2008 budget to reflect latest implementation capacity and mobilise the EU Solidarity Fund for Cyprus following the recent drought there.

Letters of Amendment Nos. 2 and 3 to the Preliminary Draft Budget for 2009

Finance Ministers will be invited to discuss the Commission's amending letters 2 and 3 to the Preliminary Draft Budget for 2009. Amending letter 2 reflects latest information on agricultural prices and other developments influencing future implementation capacity, and also proposes financing for a food facility for developing countries from the agriculture expenditure budget heading. Amending letter 3 concerns a budgetary transfer to cover the costs of a new reflection group as called for by the October European Council.

Draft Budget for 2009

The Council will look to agree its second reading position on the draft budget in preparation for the subsequent conciliation with the European Parliament. Council will then conclude its second reading and finalise figures for compulsory expenditure (mainly agriculture). The UK will seek a budget that respects the principles of budget discipline and sound financial management and reflects realistic forecasts for agriculture and structural funds spending.

BUSINESS, ENTERPRISE AND REGULATORY REFORM

Tipping/National Minimum Wage (Consultation)

The Minister for Employment Relations and Postal Affairs (Mr. Pat McFadden): Today I am launching our consultation on proposals to amend national minimum wage regulations that will end the practice of tips being used in payment of the national minimum wage.

Since the National Minimum Wage Act came into force in 1999, it has created a level playing field for employers in the payment of wages and an essential safety net for vulnerable and low-paid workers. Through this we have seen a better rewarded and more committed work force who have been a force in driving up standards.

Under the 1999 Act, the use of tips may count towards payment of the national minimum wage in certain circumstances. Some 10 years on, I believe that the time is now right to review this position to ensure equity for all workers and create a level playing field in wages amongst employers.

In July 2008 we announced that we would be amending national minimum wage regulations to prevent the use of tips towards payment of the national minimum wage. Alongside this, we also set out our plans to make tipping practices fairer and more transparent, as we believe that it is important that there is clear information for consumers about what happens to their tips.

Our consultation seeks views on the precise nature of regulatory change and also how to improve information and raise awareness for consumers.

I have arranged for copies of the consultation document and other related papers to be placed in the Libraries of both Houses.

CULTURE, MEDIA AND SPORT

Education, Youth and Culture Council

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport (Barbara Follett): The Education, Youth and Culture Council will be held on 20-21 November in Brussels. Alun Ffred Jones, Minister for Heritage for Wales, will be representing the UK on the morning of 20 November when culture and audiovisual issues will be taken. Education issues will be taken on 21 November.

The first item on the agenda is the Council conclusions on the European heritage label. The purpose of this initiative is to highlight sites and monuments that have played a key role in European history and to raise their profile as tourist attractions. UK concerns about the added value of a European heritage label have largely been addressed in discussions at official level. The draft conclusions are now broadly acceptable and the scheme is to be voluntary, which will allow the UK to decide on the extent of any future participation. The Council is expected to adopt the conclusions and the Government intend to endorse this course of action.

The presidency will seek adoption of the conclusions on architecture as part of culture's contribution to sustainable development. The conclusions recognise the important integrating role of architecture, which involves cultural creation and technology, in implementing sustainable development. They suggest various means by which the European Commission and member states can promote architecture's role in sustainable development.

The conclusions have been considered and welcomed by the European Forum for Architecture Policies. The aims of the conclusions are in line with the UK's approach to architecture, sustainable design, and built environment education. The Government intend to support the adoption of these conclusions.

The Council will then be invited to adopt conclusions on the promotion of cultural diversity and intercultural dialogue in external relations. These conclusions encourage member states to strengthen the role of culture in broader programmes; to enter into discussion with third countries about legal frameworks on cultural policies; to promote cultural diversity and the economic benefits of cultural activities; and to strengthen the role of culture in sustainable development. They also encourage the exchange of best practice on cultural issues; the mobility of artists, especially young people; the protection of copyright matters; and the protection and preservation of cultural heritage and goods. The UK believes these conclusions adequately address cultural property issues. The Government intend to support the adoption of these conclusions.

There will be an exchange of views on section 4 of the draft resolution on multilingualism. This section of the resolution suggests ways in which translation issues might be better addressed, with a focus on delivering cultural goals. These include: improvements in conditions for translation of texts and publishing issues; reinforcing the role of cinema and audiovisual works in promoting language diversity; improving accessibility of performing arts to a wider audience; and improving training in translation skills. The UK supports the focus on culture in translation issues, and also the focus on young people as proposed in section 4 of the draft resolution. The UK welcomes the proposed debate on the issue. The Government will intervene on this item to express their support for multilingualism. The full text of the resolution is expected to be adopted during the education section of the Council.

The presidency will seek the adoption of Council conclusions on the creation of a European digital library, known as Europeana. There will also be a launch event that day at the Royal Library of Belgium. Europeana is an online common multilingual access point to European digital cultural material including books, newspapers, photographs, films, archival documents and archaeological heritage. The conclusions have been discussed and agreed at official level. The Government intend to support their adoption and there will be no need to intervene.

The presidency will also seek the adoption of the Council conclusions on the development of legal offers of online cultural and creative content and the prevention and combating of piracy in the digital environment. The Commission published a communication in January of this year which examined the current status of online creative content in Europe and how the European Union can add value to this. In July the French presidency submitted draft Council conclusions which attempted to incorporate member states' and stakeholders' views on the Commission's findings, and to focus the discussions on the legal offer of online content. The conclusions have been discussed and finalised at official level and the Council is now expected to adopt them at this meeting. The Government intend to support the adoption of these conclusions.

Broadcasting is not a specific agenda item for this meeting of the Council. I understand however that Sweden may raise an information point under any other business on the Commission's communication on state aid rules and public service broadcasting. State aid issues are within the formal competence of the Commission and the European Court, and the Government's view is that they are not a matter on which Council conclusions are appropriate. The Government however remain a firm supporter of the principle of public service broadcasting. Bearing in mind the importance of public service broadcasting across the EU we think it is right for member states and the Commission to develop a clear framework to ensure that it is properly funded in future whilst respecting the competition rules, and we look forward to taking a prominent and positive role in that debate.

Further items under any other business are a presentation from the presidency and Commission on the progress report on the implementation of the Council recommendation on priority actions to increase co-operation in the field of archives in Europe compiled by the European archives group. The presidency will provide information on the proposed multi-annual safer internet programme. There will also be an information point from Germany on the digitisation of cinema. The Government do not foresee any need to intervene on these items.

HOME DEPARTMENT

Prostitution

The Secretary of State for the Home Department (Jacqui Smith): Today I am publishing the findings of the Government's review into tackling demand for prostitution. The review explored both the legislative and non-legislative options available drawing on the experiences of other countries such as Sweden and Holland. Copies have been placed in the House Library.

The review makes several recommendations that shift the focus for reducing prostitution on to the sex buyer, the person responsible for creating the demand for prostitution markets, which in turn creates demand for the trade of women to be trafficked for sexual exploitation.

Specific legislative recommendations include: creating a new strict liability criminal offence of paying for sex with someone who is controlled for another person's gain; removing the need to prove that a person has acted persistently in order to be prosecuted for kerb crawling and; powers to close premises associated with sexual exploitation. Non-legislative recommendations include a marketing campaign to raise awareness amongst sex buyers about trafficking for sexual exploitation and a national anti-kerb crawling campaign, to support the police in their efforts to reduce street-based prostitution.

I accept the report's recommendations and will take forward action to implement them as soon as possible.

NORTHERN IRELAND

Policing and Justice Powers

The Secretary of State for Northern Ireland (Mr. Shaun Woodward): On 18 November, the First Minister and Deputy First Minister announced their respective parties, the DUP and Sinn Fein, had reached an historic agreement on the process which would facilitate the devolution of policing and justice powers to the Northern Ireland Assembly.

The parties also agreed the Northern Ireland Executive, which has not met since June, will begin meeting again on Thursday 20 November and will continue on a weekly basis until business is up to date, whereupon the Executive will revert to fortnightly meetings.

This breakthrough represents a new chapter for Northern Ireland, marking the beginning of an agreed process that will end in the transfer of policing and justice powers from this House to locally elected politicians in the power-sharing Assembly at Stormont.

It sets out the initial structure of a new Department of Justice and the arrangements for the election of a new Justice Minister.

It also provides for responsibility for the appointment and removal of judicial office holders to rest with the Judicial Appointments Commission.

All of these arrangements will be time-limited and the parties have agreed that they will come to an end before May 2012, at which point permanent arrangements will need to be made.

As well as agreeing the steps to transfer these crucial powers, the events of this week mark the maturing of democracy in Northern Ireland. Negotiations that led to the Belfast and St. Andrews Agreements were driven by the British and Irish Governments. Yesterday's agreement was the product of negotiations between the political parties of Northern Ireland; its essential strength will rest in being an agreement made by Belfast and in Belfast for all the people of Northern Ireland.

The British Government remain ready to help the parties continue moving the process forward and will now finish preparations for legislation and the orders for the transfer of powers when the Assembly expresses its wish to effect the transition.

TRANSPORT

Potters Bar and Grayrigg Derailments

The Secretary of State for Transport (Mr. Geoffrey Hoon): As foreshadowed by my statement of 23 October, the Department for Transport has today written to parties affected by the Potters Bar and Grayrigg derailments to seek their views on the most appropriate way forward, following the adjournment of the Potters Bar inquest in 2007. A copy of the letter has been placed in the Library of the House. Letters have been sent to organisations and individuals—or their representatives—who were affected by either accident and with whom the Department for Transport has previously had contact. I am also interested in the views of others directly involved in either accident, and a copy of the letter has been published on my Department's website so that they may have an opportunity to respond.

Transport, Telecommunications and Energy Council

The Minister for Trade, Investment and Consumer Affairs (Mr. Gareth Thomas): Today my noble Friend the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Communications, Technology and Broadcasting made the following statement:

I am pleased to confirm the agenda items for which BERR has responsibility at the forthcoming Transport, Telecommunications and Energy Council (Telecoms Council) in Brussels on 27 November 2008.

The first substantive item on the agenda is the review of the EU regulatory framework for electronic communications networks and services, which is on the agenda for a political agreement. The French presidency is working hard to achieve agreement on the three elements of this package: amending the directives on a common regulatory framework, authorisation and access—often referred to as the Better Regulation directive; amending the directives on universal service, users rights and e-privacy—often referred to as the citizens' directive; and the regulation on the new European Electronic Communications Market Authority.

Although at present we still expect a political agreement to be reached on the whole package, there remains some doubt whether concerns by some member states on individual issues, such as on functional separation, may lead to the better regulation package to be rejected. There is more confidence on the citizens' rights package and on the authority, where there have been significant improvements over the last few months better reflecting UK objectives. The proposed authority no longer has a role in spectrum management or in security and is a smaller, more efficient and independent body intended to be a disseminator of best practice to the 27 national regulatory authorities (NRAs). However, the Commission continues to propose the creation of an agency, giving rise to concerns that it would not be properly independent, and would risk becoming bureaucratic and inefficient. This is unacceptable to the UK, and I shall confirm this point.

The French presidency compromise text proposes the formalisation of the European Regulators' Group (ERG) in Community law and supported by a separate secretariat. This is much more concordant with UK objectives for the creation of a small and efficient source of independent regulatory expertise which would not be subject to external influence. I will consequently be strongly supporting the presidency compromise text at the Council, and urging other member states to do the same.

The citizens' directive has also improved; it no longer risks extending privacy obligations on to private networks, includes greater powers for NRAs to protect citizens and consumers and contains more robust protection for disabled users.

The Better Regulation directive is where the French presidency is focusing its last minute efforts, and the UK is also been working extremely hard to realise our own objectives. However, given the potential this package has to deliver real economic benefits to every European citizen and enterprise, and the time pressures we are under to reach an agreement before the current term of the European Parliament expires, there is a real need to balance our outstanding concerns against the need to give the presidency—now the French, shortly to be the Czech Republic—the necessary mandate to negotiate of behalf of all member states with the European Parliament and the European Commission.

In my interventions on the regulatory framework I intend, while congratulating the presidency on its hard work and achievement in bringing forward these near agreed texts, to express concern that on several substantive issues the approach being taken is neither conducive to enhanced competition across the European Union nor better regulation. I will particularly highlight, though this will depend on the exact detail in the final texts, our disappointment that there is not more robust language on the political independence of regulators, the liberalisation of spectrum or on functional separation as an access remedy.

This package is subject to co-decision, so the final text voted upon at the Council will have to be negotiated and compromised with the European Parliament, who share many of the UK's objectives. The Commission, who will also have a key role in these co-decision negotiations, also share many of the UK objectives.

I will endeavour to keep you informed at these key stages, but subject to developments over the coming days I am likely to reserve the UK position on these elements of the package, pending a better outcome in the forthcoming discussions with the European Parliament and the European Commission.

Following this, there will be discussion on the general approach of proposals for amending the regulations on roaming on public telephone networks.

I fully support the aims and objectives of the proposal, with its rationale of consumer benefit and protection. I consider that the proposed price caps for voice calls and SMS messages strike the right balance between the consumer's interest in low prices, and the operators' legitimate aspirations for the profit margins which are the foundation for sustainable and innovative services. It should be noted that these caps are concordant with those considered appropriate by both the European Regulators' Group and our own telecoms regulator, OFCOM.

I also concur with the need to avoid 'bill shock' for those downloading data on their mobiles when abroad, albeit tempered by the need to ensure that transparency, meaning the customer being aware of what they might be billed, can be provided without disproportionate cost or complexity. The UK has consequently submitted alternative text introducing a flat-rate charge which we consider will reduce the need for costly and possibly ineffective systems changes. I will be speaking in support of this approach and the rationale for it.

I also agree with the Commission that the rapid evolution of the data market, coupled with the existence of alternative sources of supply—such as wi-fi hotspots—means that it would be inappropriate to consider retail price controls for data at this stage. I will be speaking in support of the Commission on this point at Council, should others move to include retail price controls for data.

At the House of Lords' Scrutiny Committee hearing of 17 November 2008, I explained some of the history of the roaming regulation and that the national regulatory authorities had requested that the Commission act to address a cross-border issue that could not be tackled effectively by individual member states. I also explained why it was better to set a maximum price cap rather than an average one, as the latter would reduce the possibility of competitive pricing between suppliers. There are also practical difficulties associated with introducing an average cap as price controls effectively take money out of the market that could be used for investment and could lead to higher prices. We also discussed the possible 'waterbed' effect of roaming caps; and although the evidence is largely anecdotal at the moment, we have seen some increases in pre pay domestic rates, but elsewhere competition has limited price increases. We will, of course, continue to monitor this situation.

This will be followed by a presentation from the Commission and discussion on second periodic review of the scope of universal services in communications networks. I am pleased that this is on the agenda as I recently deposited an explanatory memorandum about this communication. As Members will be aware, I have welcomed the initialisation of this debate on broadband as a universal service given the importance of broadband in the Digital Britain work the Department is engaged on. I am confident the debate will identify the best way forward for the European Union on this important issue, not least on such aspects of funding options, whether there should be a minimum capacity for all citizens and how member states should avoid anticompetitive situations.

During the Council debate I intend to intervene briefly to welcome the Commission communication and to outline some of the thinking taking place in the UK around the importance of broadband as an economic and social driver.

The final item of substance is adoption of the Council conclusions on future networks and the internet. The UK objective for this agenda item is to ensure that the Commission proposals provide a suitable basis for ensuring that the future internet remains open and hence innovative and friendly. It is also necessary to set a marker ensuring that the six forthcoming proposals highlighted in the conclusions of the communication remain technology and service neutral.

I believe that it is important to engage all the relevant stakeholders in the broadband, next generation network debate and to examine all the relevant areas including private investment, economic and social value, regulation and the public sector. Currently I am of the view that roll-out of NGNs in the UK should be private sector led and that public sector should limit its interventions to addressing clear market failures.

On the 'internet of things' I believe that the seamless connection of devices and sensors to everyday items through fixed and wireless networks will have a profound impact on society in the future, particularly in the way that they interact with individuals, businesses and governmental organisations. I agree with the European Commission that security and privacy issues are of prime importance and that it is imperative that these features are designed into systems and infrastructures, and thus EU research and development funding should be directed into this area.

I do not plan to intervene in any debate there might be on this item unless there are any attempts to unpick the conclusions.

TREASURY

European Union Emissions Trading Scheme

The Exchequer Secretary to the Treasury (Angela Eagle): Yesterday morning the Government successfully held the UK's first auction of carbon allowances as part of phase II of the EU's emissions trading scheme (ETS). The auction was also the first of its kind to take place in Europe, demonstrating the UK's continuing leadership in the battle against dangerous climate change. Four million allowances were offered for sale and sold at a total value of £54 million excluding VAT, or £13.60 per allowance. The auction was over four times oversubscribed demonstrating that the auction was competitive and that it attracted a significant amount of market interest.

The ETS puts a cap on emissions from around 12,000 installations throughout the EU—including in the energy and heavy industrial sectors, which are collectively responsible for close to half of the EU's emissions of carbon dioxide. Any of these installations that exceed its emissions cap will need to purchase the appropriate number of allowances.

Through auctions and the creation of a secondary market for allowances, the ETS is sending clear price signals. The carbon price will encourage Governments, businesses and individuals to factor the costs of emissions into their spending and investment decisions. A price for carbon creates an incentive to find products and processes that produce less carbon to achieve the same outcomes, which in turn encourages investment in the research and development of low carbon technologies.

Next month's international climate change negotiations in Poznan present an opportunity for Governments around the world to consider innovative approaches like the ETS as means to counter the dangers of climate change. Norway, Liechtenstein and Iceland have already joined the ETS and work on other "cap and trade" schemes is under way in the USA, Australia, New Zealand, and Japan. The ETS is well positioned to form the basis of a global carbon market in the future.

During 2009 the Government plan to auction a further 25 million allowances. Dates for future auctions will be announced in due course.

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Learner Support Schemes

The Minister for Schools and Learners (Jim Knight): Ensuring learners are able to access education and training post-16 is a key priority for this Government. I would like to update the House on the current situation in regard to the delivery of Education Maintenance Allowances (EMAs).

There have been processing and other related problems since Liberata won the contract to deliver helpline, assessment and payment functions for EMA and other learner support schemes in July 2007. The Learning and Skills Council (LSC) has been closely monitoring the situation and has been regularly providing me with updates, which I have shared with the Children, Schools and Families Select Committee.

As of Tuesday 18 November, 794,655 applications—237,826 more than 8 October, the date of my previous letter—have been processed. This has resulted in 485,396 young people—201,516 more than at that time—receiving notifications that they are entitled to EMAs, which means they can begin claiming the allowance. There are currently 12,016 applications in the process of being finalised—down from 111,000 on 8 October.

Despite this progress, the LSC's view has been that in order to preserve the best interests of learners, a change in contractor was necessary. The LSC has been in talks with Liberata about the future of the contract for over four weeks and yesterday informed me that they intend to discontinue the Liberata contract. I have been clear from the outset that these delays have been totally unacceptable and I therefore fully back the LSC's decision to change contractor to Capita.

The transfer of the EMA helpline, processing and payment service from Liberata to Capita will take effect from Friday 28 November. With effect from that date, Capita will bring in a new senior management team to oversee the staff and operations in Coventry, Manchester and Darlington. The transfer will place us in a stronger position to fix the helpline and processing problems, enabling us to improve the future service for young people, colleges and learning providers.

The migration of the learner support service programme contract from Liberata will have resulted in Liberata losing future revenues of over £60 million over the remaining term of the contract. In addition, in addressing the issues caused by the failure of their proposed IT system, Liberata rightly took the decision to employ significant numbers of additional temporary staff to deal with the backlog in applications. In doing so they have incurred extraordinary additional costs and it has been judged inappropriate to impose further additional penalties.

In order to ensure a smooth and orderly transition to a new service, the LSC has secured the transfer of the interim payment service to the new service provider and the transfer of physical IT assets and applications software at a cost of £4 million. The cost of this is significantly lower than the extraordinary additional costs which Liberata has incurred.

These arrangements are within parameters approved by the Permanent Secretary in his principal accounting officer role, and by HM Treasury. The Permanent Secretary, in his principal accounting officer role, has reassured me that this agreement represents value for money for the tax payer and protects the interests of learners.

The payments being made to young people will continue and during the transfer period, outstanding applications will continue to be processed. As I have made clear before, all delayed payments will be backdated in full.

Throughout this period of unacceptable delays, our main priority has been to ensure learners get their payments. I am confident that the new arrangements the LSC have put in place are the best way to improve EMA delivery.

I am placing in the Library of the House copies of correspondence from me to the Chairman of the Children, Schools and Families Select Committee, to me from Mark Haysom, Chief Executive of the LSC, as well as the relevant statements from Liberata, the LSC and the Department.

HOME DEPARTMENT

Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for the Home Department (Mr. Alan Campbell): I have placed in the Library of the House the second annual report to Home Office and HM Treasury Ministers on the Suspicious Activity Reporting (SAR) regime to combat money laundering and terrorist financing. The reporting system is a key element in the United Kingdom's defences against money laundering and terrorist financing.

The report has been prepared by multi-agency Committee, under the chairmanship of the Serious Organised Crime Agency (SOCA), which includes the financial services sector, police, other law enforcement agencies, and the Financial Services Authority. As the report notes, awareness of the value of financial intelligence in fighting crime and countering terrorism continues to rise across the international community.

The Government welcome the steady progress that SOCA and the other participants have made to ensure that the reporting system is operating so as to help deter, detect and disrupt those involved in these crimes and in holding them to account. It is important to build on this progress by further improvements, including in the use made of the reports by law enforcement agencies.

The overall goal is a SARs system that addresses the threats to the UK from crime and terrorism, contributes to the reduction of harm and the recovery of the proceeds of crime while minimising the costs of compliance to industry and others.

Minorirty Ethnic Recruitment, Retention and Progression (Police Service)

The Secretary of State for the Home Department (Jacqui Smith): On 6 October, I asked the Minister for Policing, Security and Community Safety to undertake an assessment of minority ethnic recruitment, retention and progression nationally across the police service. This assessment gave us the opportunity to consider the recent cases as well as look to the future of minority ethnic recruitment, retention and progression when current race employment targets for the police service, set in 1999, come to an end in 2009.

The assessment is now complete and I am grateful to the Association of Chief Police Officers (ACPO), the Association of Police Authorities (APA), police staff associations, the national police diversity staff support associations, the Post-Lawrence Project Group—including Doreen Lawrence—and others who contributed to this work.

The assessment confirms that the police service has come a long way and made good progress since the Stephen Lawrence Inquiry report (1999) by Sir William Macpherson and the Secret Policeman Programme (2003). Over the years we have seen positive changes in relation to race equality which have also benefited other minority groups. These positive changes have been due to the commitment of many police officers and police staff and prominent community members such as Doreen Lawrence and other independent chairs of the Post-Lawrence Project Groups. It is important to emphasise that we are not starting from "point zero" on equality. A lot has been achieved but we should not be complacent and recognise that we still have a lot to do.

Copies of the assessment paper will be placed in the Library of the House today.

Justice and Home Affairs Council

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for the Home Department (Meg Hillier): The Justice and Home Affairs Council is due to be held on 27 and 28 November 2008 in Brussels. My right hon. Friend the Home Secretary, my noble Friend the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Justice, Lord Bach, and the Scottish Cabinet Secretary for Justice, Kenny MacAskill, intend to attend on behalf of the United Kingdom. As the provisional agenda stands, the following items will be discussed:

The Council will concentrate on interior and justice issues. The first day of the Council will focus on interior items, starting with the Mixed Committee also attended by Norway, Iceland and Switzerland. During the Mixed Committee Switzerland's accession to Schengen will be discussed. The UK supports Swiss accession into the Schengen area. There will also be a presentation by the presidency on the second generation Schengen information system (SIS II) in order to update member states on progress.

At the Council meeting Gilles de Kerchove, the counter-terrorism co-ordinator, will present his six-monthly report and discussion paper. The UK welcomes the report and de Kerchove's work, in particular his objectives on radicalisation and recruitment, communications, an EU strategy on data sharing, action on and funding for Pakistan, and efforts to work with Turkey on the PKK.

The Council will be asked to approve Council conclusions on a cybercrime strategy. These conclusions propose that the EU should work collectively to tackle cybercrime, and set out a number of actions that might be useful in achieving this. The proposals envisage that the EU member states should strengthen partnerships between Government and private sectors, and between law enforcement agencies within the EU.

The Council will be asked to approve the presidency's report on progress with the EU PNR framework decision and provide a clear mandate for negotiations to continue under the Czech presidency. The UK will support this mandate and believes future negotiations should build on the successful work of the French presidency.

The presidency will ask the Council to endorse draft conclusions aimed at strengthening law enforcement action against drugs trafficking in West Africa. We fully support this initiative and will aim to ensure UK objectives are reflected in the Council conclusions.

On civil protection, the presidency will report on the work on European civil protection to be undertaken during the Czech and Swedish presidencies. Draft Council conclusions on European disaster management training will be discussed, which include proposals for arrangements to link training centres in a network. The UK welcomes such a proposal, which could help to enhance co-operation and the exchange of good practice across all aspects of disaster management. Draft Council conclusions on the strengthening of civil protection capabilities through a system of mutual assistance will also be discussed. These call for voluntary measures to improve co-operation in disaster response, which could enable more rapid and effective mutual assistance to be made available through the civil protection mechanism. The UK also welcomes this.

The presidency will report on the discussions held at the annual Western Balkans ministerial forum in Zagreb on 6 and 7 November. This forum aims to promote dialogue and regional co-operation in justice and home affairs matters, particularly combating organised crime and organised immigration crime. The UK sent two officials as observers.

Regarding migration, the presidency will brief on the outcomes of the second Euro-African conference on migration and development to be held in Paris on 25 November. The draft Council conclusions on the comprehensive approach to migration will be discussed. The UK is pleased that the global approach to migration, initiated by the UK presidency in 2005, remains the basis for the EU's work on migration with third countries. The UK believes that these conclusions also help ensure that we collectively understand and have put in place measures to tackle the challenges to delivery of improved partnerships with source and transit countries.

The Council will be asked to endorse the final conclusions of the Vichy ministerial conference on integration held on 3 and 4 November. The UK can agree with the document as it stands.

The presidency will update the Council on negotiations on a Council directive that provides for a single application procedure for third-country nationals seeking to reside and work in a member state and for a common set of rights. The UK is not opting in to the proposed directive.

The presidency is looking to agree the proposal for amending Council directive 2003/109/EC which currently allows third-country nationals the right to long-term residence in a member state after five years of legal and continuous residence and permits them to have the same rights and duties as nationals. The Commission proposal would extend the scope of the directive to refugees and beneficiaries of subsidiary protection, known as humanitarian protection in the UK. The UK has chosen not to opt in to the proposed extension of the directive because, as with the original directive, the UK believes it is not in line with its frontiers protocol and would want to determine the status of third-country nationals via the immigration rules.

The Council will discuss the proposal to amend the regulation on common consular instructions on visas which relates to the issuing of Schengen visas into a single code on visas. It aims to fill gaps in existing legislation and remove redundant provisions. The UK does not issue Schengen visas and therefore is not opted-in to this proposal.

However, we welcome the efforts of Schengen member states to ensure that the Schengen external EU borders are as secure as possible.

The proposal to amend Council Regulation No. 2252/2004 establishing common standards for security features and biometrics in passports and travel documents will also be discussed. Member states wish to exclude children under the age of six years and persons who are physically unable to give fingerprints for travel documents. The amendment also hopes to establish the principle of "one person one passport" as a measure to prevent child trafficking. The UK is not opted-in but intends to keep abreast with any amendments. The UK does not support the exemption of persons under the age of six but would prefer the bar to be set at 11—this would fit with our plans for synchronising the issuing of e-passports and ID cards. Children's passports would have a five-year validity and all passport holders aged 16 and over will have their fingerprints recorded. The UK introduced the "one person one passport" principle in 1998.

The European Commission will present the initial findings of the fact-finding mission to Syria and Jordan to investigate the Iraqi refugee situation.

The Council will discuss issues relating to the application of the directive on free movement. The UK will call for a common approach to addressing false marriages, illegal immigration and expulsion of those who abuse free movement rights. This will build on the discussion on the European Court of Justice Metock judgment held at the JHA Council of 25 September, and will feed into preparation of the Commission's review of the implementation of the directive on free movement, due to be published by the end of the year.

The presidency will seek a general approach to the proposed decision amending the existing arrangements for the European Judicial Network in civil and commercial matters. This proposal has been considerably modified in line with UK objectives and we can now support it.

They will also ask the Council to agree to conclusions concerning the common frame of reference in contract law. The Government are broadly in favour of the Council conclusions.

The Council will be asked to agree a plan of action covering co-operation in the field of e-justice. We can support this initiative.

Agreement will also be sought for the setting up of a network for legislative co-operation among the Ministries of Justice of the member states. This modest, non-legislative measure is designed to facilitate contacts among Ministries of Justice and promote exchange of information about initiatives in the different member states. The Government can support it.

The presidency will seek a general approach towards the proposed framework decision setting up a European supervision order, allowing, in effect, for the mutual recognition of bail conditions. This will allow for a person who is resident in one member state, but the subject of criminal proceedings in another, to have their bail conditions monitored in their member state of residence. No such system exists at present, with the effect some individuals are released pre-trial without supervision. The Government have been concerned to ensure that the proposal struck the right balance between public protection and the liberty of the individual, and provided the executing state with sufficient options to act in the public interest in the event of breach of bail conditions or the commission of further offences. The Government welcome the improvements to the text that have been achieved in the course of negotiations and, subject to any further changes to the text before the Council, expects to be in a position to agree to the proposal.

The Council will be asked to agree the draft conclusions on child alerts, which invite member states to introduce and develop national mechanisms for alerting the general public in the event of a presumed abduction of a child whose safety is seriously compromised. The UK is happy to agree the draft conclusions.

There is a substantial list of "A" points—issues on which agreement in principle has been reached already but are before the Council for formal adoption without discussion. These will include:

a draft decision authorising the Commission to negotiate with Georgia a readmission agreement between the European Community and Georgia;

Council decisions on Eurojust and the European Judicial Network in criminal matters;

the framework decision on data protection, and the framework decision on the transfer of prisoners.

Identity Cards

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for the Home Department (Meg Hillier): The House will wish to know that the Government are publishing tomorrow, Friday 21 November 2008, a consultation paper on draft secondary legislation to be proposed under the Identity Cards Act 2006, including a draft code of practice on civil penalties. Copies of the document, "Identity Cards Act Secondary Legislation—a consultation", will be placed in the Vote Office and the Libraries of both Houses tomorrow.

JUSTICE

EDS (Lost Data)

The Secretary of State for Justice and Lord Chancellor (Mr. Jack Straw): This statement is to update the House on the loss of sensitive data on a hard drive by Electronic Data Systems (EDS), which became known to Ministers on 6 September 2008. I have now received the results of the internal investigation into this matter, which was undertaken by a National Offender Management Service (NOMS) director with no prior involvement in the incident.

The investigation has confirmed that initial reports over-stated the volume of data involved. The hard drive contained 256 items of sensitive personal information that could potentially, if in the public domain, cause damage to that individual, namely: bank details; address details; and National Insurance numbers coupled with dates of birth. There remains no indication that this information has entered the public domain.

The investigation found that the data had been downloaded to the hard drive so it could be transferred to another site as part of a disaster recovery exercise carried out in July 2007. While no problems arose regarding the implementation of the exercise itself, the disk was not wiped before it was to be removed from the site and thereafter EDS failed to take adequate measures to track or record the location of the hard drive when it was transferred to another site. Although strictly the hard drive was not at that time being removed for other uses, it ought to have been treated as such and EDS' company policy at that time requiring a disk to be purged prior to release for any other purpose, ought to have been followed.

This did not comply with data protection principles, and also meant that the investigation could not identify precisely when or where the hard drive went missing. The possibility of theft has resulted in this matter being referred to the West Mercia Police. EDS is taking appropriate action, which will include disciplinary action if necessary, concerning the staff involved.

The inadequacy of EDS' tracking systems meant that the data was not missed until 2 July 2008. On 3 July, EDS notified NOMS verbally of the data loss, the possible scope of which was made apparent in a written interim report to the NOMS IT security team on 4 July. There is no evidence of any other communication between EDS and NOMS on this issue until 6 September when the matter was raised by the press, although EDS were preparing a final report to submit to NOMS.

The NOMS IT security team did not take sufficient action following receipt of the interim report, with the result that senior officials and ministers were not aware of the loss until 6 September, when comprehensive and appropriate action was taken to identify and contact any staff involved and to investigate further the circumstances of the loss. NOMS is taking appropriate action, including disciplinary action, concerning the staff involved.

In the context of the Hannigan review and subsequent Cabinet Office guidelines, NOMS and EDS were both actively improving data protection processes before this matter arose. Since 6 September, EDS and NOMS have agreed an additional set of measures to be undertaken, at EDS' cost, to both reimburse NOMS for its additional expenses arising from the incident and to further develop the security of NOMS' information assets. These include an exercise to identify all uncontrolled copies of NOMS' sensitive data and have such copies destroyed in a secure manner, as well as reviewing and strengthening the policies and process controls which govern the transfer of NOMS data. In addition, the number of transfers using removable media will be reduced, and encryption will be introduced on removable media. A further detailed review will also be undertaken to identify and prioritise any additional security measures to be enhanced. Finally, EDS has committed to the design, development and delivery of appropriate classroom and computer-based training packages for both EDS and NOMS staff. An annual, independent audit of EDS' compliance with security standards will be introduced with a requirement for EDS to rectify any areas of non-compliance.

CABINET OFFICE

Omand Review

The Minister for the Cabinet Office (Mr. Liam Byrne): On 11 June my predecessor told the House, Official Report, column 485 of two lost Joint Intelligence Committee assessments and announced that the Cabinet Secretary had asked Sir David Omand to carry out a full investigation of the circumstances of the case. He undertook to keep the House informed of Sir David's conclusions.

Sir David Omand's review was carried out in the summer. His report could not be finalised pending the outcome of the internal disciplinary process and the police investigations. With the conviction of the individual responsible under s.8(1) of the Official Secrets Act on 28 October, those processes are now complete. I am grateful to Sir David for the care he has taken in carrying out the review.

Sir David was also asked to look at the procedures in place for the handling and protection of intelligence material, and for staff training, induction and security awareness.

Sir David concluded that the documents were mislaid because of the direct actions of the officer and that even if all the current security procedures had been followed to the letter the inadvertent removal of the documents, though less likely to have occurred, could still have happened. He judged that the loss was not a preventable accident given the mistakes made by the individual. He has also observed that no security system that is both affordable and allows for the efficient conduct of business will provide proof against all forms of human error, and that the key determinant of good security has always been and remains staff with high morale and sense of purpose. Sir David said he had no reservations in that regard about the staff of the Joint Intelligence Organisation, who are highly security aware.

Sir David has recommended a number of additional and affordable measures covering security education, practical procedures and emergency arrangements that would reduce some of the more likely human failings. He has also made suggestions about strengthening governance of the future development of security policy. An example of the sort of measures recommended that can be made public without damaging security is the introduction of spot checks. All the recommendations have been accepted: many have already been implemented but some depend on changes to accommodation in hand and will be implemented when those changes have been made.

The Intelligence and Security Committee have been fully briefed on Sir David's investigation and recommendations and the action that the Government are taking.

As my predecessor said in his statement on 11 June:

"It is a matter of utmost concern to the Government that this breach of security has happened. We will take all steps to ensure that all individuals who work within the Joint Intelligence Committee staff observe the procedures that are necessary for security. We will continue to do everything necessary to safeguard sensitive intelligence material so that we safeguard the British national interest."

TRANSPORT

Road safety

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Transport (Jim Fitzpatrick): The Department has today published a consultation paper on improving compliance with road safety laws. It puts forward proposals across a range of road safety topics, and follows up a number of key commitments from the 2007 review of our road safety strategy "Tomorrow's roads: safer for everyone". We will take a more wide ranging approach to road safety when we consult on our post-2010 strategy next year.

Whilst we are progressing towards our target of reducing the number of road casualties by 2010, there are still too many people being needlessly killed or seriously injured on the roads. We are focusing our efforts on bringing this number down still further, and compliance is key to achieving this.

On speeding, we propose a higher six-point fixed penalty for extreme speeders, but not to graduate fixed penalty fines.

On drink driving, we invite general views on reducing the drink drive limit and describe what we are doing to obtain better evidence on this issue. We also propose wider use of targeted road blocks to catch and deter drink-drivers, and to address procedural loopholes which currently hinder drink drive enforcement.

On drug driving, current evidential requirements make it very difficult for the police to enforce. We want to explore creating a new offence of driving with an illicit substance in the body for drugs that are known to be impairing.

On careless driving, there is a burden involved in taking cases to court, which is unnecessary in the majority of cases, where drivers plead guilty, and which impedes enforcement in cases where no collision has occurred. We propose to make careless driving a fixed penalty offence.

On seatbelts, we set out our plans for improving wearing rates, in particular through the new THINK! Campaign launched on 3 November.

Finally, on remedial training and testing we propose wide-ranging reform to achieve more consistent standards, better-targeted measures and to ensure that training and assessment go hand in hand.

Some of the issues are complex. We want to be sure that new initiatives are soundly based on solid evidence, and that we can take account of all the implications. This is an important consultation and we hope this document will encourage as many people and organisations as possible to respond with their suggestions and comments.

The consultation closes on 27 February 2009.

Copies of the consultation document have been placed in the Libraries of both Houses and are also available in the Vote Office and Printed Paper Office.

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Public Forest Estate

The Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (Hilary Benn): The Forestry Commission manages over 250,000 hectares of land in England and provides a unique national asset delivering many benefits. These include protecting and enhancing the natural environment, providing economic opportunities and helping to improve the quality of people's lives. Since 1997 the Forestry Commission has been able to buy and sell land in order to increase the public benefits on the public forest estate.

Last year we published our strategy for England's trees, woods and forests and the time is right to consider how the public forest estate might respond to the strategy. I have therefore asked the Forestry Commission to carry out a study of the future long-term sustainable role of the public forest estate in England and to make recommendations.

The Commission's England National Committee will act as the governing body for the study, establishing a working group from relevant key stakeholders, including DEFRA.

The terms of reference for the study are:

To consider the future long-term sustainable role for the public forest estate making recommendations about any necessary changes to improve its ability to deliver relevant priorities in the strategy for England's trees woods and forests and contribute to other Government objectives.

The study will be grounded in our sustainable development strategy, "Securing the Future", and there will be a full public consultation.

HOME DEPARTMENT

Tasers

The Secretary of State for the Home Department (Jacqui Smith): Each day police officers put themselves in danger to protect the public, so I am committed to providing the police with the tools they tell me they need to fight crime and keep the public and themselves safe. I am also proud that we have one of the few police services around the world that do not regularly carry firearms and I want to keep it that way.

Therefore I am today giving my agreement to allow chief officers of all forces in England and Wales, from 1 December 2008, to extend Taser use to specially trained units in accordance with Association of Chief Police Officers (ACPO) policy and guidance. The guidance sets out that Taser can only be used where officers would be facing violence or threats of violence of such severity that they would need to use force to protect the public, themselves and/or the subject(s).

I am also making funding available to forces to support the purchase of up to 10,000 Tasers. This will allow chief officers to take a decision on Taser deployment according to operational need, without being encumbered by financial restrictions.

Tasers are making a real difference on our streets, not only keeping the public safe but also protecting our police officers. Taser has been available to all authorised firearms officers since September 2004 as a less lethal alternative for use in situations where a firearms authority has been granted in accordance with criteria laid down in the Association of Chief Police Officers (ACPO) "Manual of Guidance on Police Use of Firearms".

Since 20 July 2007 authorised firearms officers in England and Wales have also been able to use Taser in a wider set of circumstances. These officers are now able to deploy Taser in operations or incidents where the use of firearms is not authorised, but where they are facing violence or threats of violence of such severity that they would need to use force to protect the public, themselves or the subject.

In July 2007 I also gave my approval for a 12-month trial of the deployment of Taser by specially trained units, who are not firearms officers, in circumstances where officers were facing violence or threats of violence of such severity that they would need to use force to protect the public, themselves or the subject. The trial commenced on 1 September 2007 in 10 forces: Avon and Somerset, Devon and Cornwall, Gwent, Lincolnshire, Merseyside, Metropolitan Police Service, Northamptonshire, Northumbria, North Wales and West Yorkshire.

Independent medical advice was sought from the Defence Scientific Advisory Council (DSAC) Sub-Committee on the Medical Implications of Less Lethal Weapons (DOMILL) on the use of Taser in these extended circumstances. DOMILL has now provided a fifth statement on the medical implications of the use of Taser.

The DOMILL statement assesses the risk of death or serious injury from use of the M26 and X26 Tasers within ACPO guidance and policy as very low.

Having considered the latest DOMILL statement and reports on the trial from ACPO and the Home Office Scientific Development Branch which provide final figures on Taser use in the trial, I have given my agreement for further roll-out.

All Taser deployments will also continue to be monitored for assessment by DOMILL. We will continue to publish Taser usage figures on a regular basis.

I have placed a copy of the latest DOMILL statement, and the Home Office Scientific Development Branch trial evaluation in the Library of the House.

JUSTICE

Data Protection (Information Commissioner)

The Minister of State, Ministry of Justice (Mr. Michael Wills): I am today publishing the Government's response to the Data Sharing Review and the response to the Ministry of Justice's consultation on the Information Commissioner's inspection powers and funding under the Data Protection Act 1998.

The protection of personal data will always be a high priority and we know that good regulation is essential to support a robust data protection framework. We believe that, although the current regulatory framework does not require sweeping changes, more can, and must be done to ensure that the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) has the powers and resources necessary to carry out its duties under the Data Protection Act. The tools available to the ICO must be flexible enough to meet a range of circumstances and encourage good practice, allowing it to take firm and assertive action when necessary.

The use of information underpins Government's ability to deliver benefits for the citizen through targeted and improved public services, opportunities for the most disadvantaged, protection from crime and terrorism and economic well-being. However we can only do this successfully when we are able to increase public confidence in the sharing and handling of personal data by both the public and private sectors. The proposals as outlined in the two documents being published today will contribute toward that process.

We will increase the powers, penalties and funding available to the ICO by specifically proposing to:

develop the ICO's inspection powers in respect of public authorities so as to enable the ICO to inspect without necessarily requiring prior consent; allow the ICO to impose a deadline and location for the provision of information necessary to assess compliance; allow the ICO to require any person on the premises, where a warrant is being executed, to provide any information required to determine whether the data controller has complied with, or is complying with, the data protection principles; mandate the ICO to publish guidance on when organisations should notify the ICO of breaches of the data protection principles; and alter the ICO funding structure from a flat rate notification fee to a tiered-fee structure based on size of organisation, providing additional funds for the ICO in a more equitable funding structure.

In addition, to reinforce the framework within which we can safely share data and deliver benefits for the public, we propose to:

place a statutory duty on the ICO to publish a data sharing code of practice in order to provide practical guidance on how to share personal data in accordance with the requirements of the Data Protection Act and to promote good practice in the sharing of personal data; and confer a power upon the Secretary of State to permit or require the sharing of personal information between particular specified persons, where a robust case for doing so exists.

To further strengthen the powers available to the ICO, we are working on bringing fully into force section 55A of the Data Protection Act, introduced in the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 but not yet commenced. This will allow the ICO to impose monetary penalties on data controllers in the case of serious contraventions of the Data Protection Act.

The additional powers for the ICO will ensure the regulatory framework is robust, proportionate and encourage good practice. These measures will increase public confidence in the handling and sharing of data by the public and private sectors.

Copies of both the Government's response to the Data Sharing Review and the response to the Ministry of Justice's consultation on the Information Commissioner's inspection powers and funding under the Data Protection Act 1998 will be placed in the Libraries of both Houses. Copies will also be available in the Vote Office and the Printed Paper Office.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Equality 2025: the UK Advisory Network on Disability Equality

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (Jonathan Shaw): Equality 2025: the United Kingdom Advisory Network on Disability Equality was established in December 2006, from a recommendation in the Prime Minister's strategy unit report "Improving the life chances of disabled people" which suggested that the Government should set up a new mechanism to involve disabled people in the heart of policy-making. It is working with Government to help it achieve the aim of equality for disabled people by 2025.

Equality 2025 was set up with no formal chair, as the group was keen to offer this opportunity to all members on rotation. However, in December 2007 members agreed they would like a formal chair. An acting chair has been in place since then, while the recruitment exercise has taken place.

The recruitment exercise was carried out in accordance with the standards set by the Office for the Commissioner of Public Appointments. The quality of applicants for the post was exceptionally high. I am pleased to announce that the successful candidate and new chair of Equality 2025 from 1 December 2008 is Rowen Jade.

Rowen Jade has been a member of Equality 2025 since it was established, and has been acting chair since December 2007. I am confident she will lead the group forward during an interesting and challenging time.

BUSINESS, ENTERPRISE AND REGULATORY REFORM

Departmental Expenditure Limits (2008-09)

The Minister for Employment Relations and Postal Affairs (Mr. Pat McFadden): Subject to parliamentary approval of the necessary supplementary estimate, the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform's DEL will be reduced by £11,157,000 from £3,379,070,000 to £3,367,913,000 and the administration budget will be increased by £358,000 from £332,173,000 to £332,531,000.

Within the DEL change, the impact on resources and capital is as set out in the following table:

| | Change | | New DEL | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Voted | Non-Voted | Voted | Non-Voted | Total |
| Resource (£000) | 34,426 | -28,583 | -497,986 | 2,654,880 | 2,156,894 |
| of which: | | | | | |
| Administration[1] budget | 358 | | 332,531 | | 332,531 |
| Near cash in Resource DEL[2] | 19,398 | -13,555 | -645,630 | 2,693,147 | 2,047,517 |
| Capital (£000) | -91,601 | 74,601 | -763,999 | 1,975,018 | 1,211,019 |
| Less Depreciation[3] (£000) | -11,327 | 11,327 | -48,780 | -24,684 | -73,464 |
| Total (£000) | -68,502 | 57,345 | -1,310,765 | 4,605,214 | 3,294,449 |

[1]The total of the 'Administration Budget' and 'Near-Cash in Resource DEL' figures may well be greater than total resource DEL, due to the definitions overlapping.
[2]Capital DEL includes items treated as resource in estimates and accounts, but which are treated as capital DEL in Budgets.
[3]Depreciation, which forms part of resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL since capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.

The change in the resource element of the DEL arises from:

i) Increase of £825,000 in respect of an award from the financial inclusion fund for face-to-face debt advice.

ii) Transfer of £40,000 from the non-voted departmental unallocated provision to the Cabinet Office for the security monitoring and co-ordination centre.

iii) Transfer of £4,000,000 from the Ministry of Defence in respect of global threat reduction.

iv) Virement of £17,088,000 from non-voted to voted expenditure in respect of the regional development agencies reflecting reduced contributions from other Government Departments.

v) Virement of £2,504,000 from voted to non-voted expenditure in respect of a reallocation from the London development agency to the regional development agencies.

vi) Virement of £1,000,000 from voted expenditure on business link marketing to non-voted expenditure in respect of the regional development agencies.

vii) Virement of £16,000,000 from non-voted capital expenditure in respect of the regional development agencies to the non-voted resource departmental unallocated provision.

viii) Transfer of £16,000,000 from the non-voted resource departmental unallocated provision to the Department for Work and Pensions in respect of cold weather payments.

ix) Virement of £115,000 from non-voted to voted expenditure in respect of a reduction in the gross expenditure and receipts of Postwatch as a result of the transfer of the Royal Mail quality of service review to Postcomm.

x) Virement of £14,300,000 from the non-voted resource departmental unallocated provision to voted insolvency service non-cash.

xi) Virement of £728,000 from the non-voted resource departmental unallocated provision to voted non-cash provisions in respect of Icelandic trawlermen compensation.

xii) Virement of £516,000 from the non-voted resource departmental unallocated provision to voted near-cash in respect of British shipbuilders' liabilities.

Also within the change to resource DEL, the changes to the Administration budget are (RfR1):

i) Transfer of £1,463,000 from the Cabinet Office in respect of the Parliamentary Counsel Office.

ii) Transfer of £360,000 to the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs in respect of the Office of Climate Change.

iii) Transfer of £45,000 to the Office of Government Commerce (Cabinet Office) for the centre of expertise for sustainable development.

iv) Reclassification of £700,000 from voted administration to non-voted programme expenditure in respect of the regional development agencies' business links.

The change in the Capital element of the DEL arises from:

i) Virement of £39,501,000 from voted to non-voted expenditure in respect of a reallocation from the London development agency to the regional development agencies.

ii) Virement of £16,000,000 from non-voted capital expenditure in respect of the regional development agencies to the non-voted resource departmental unallocated provision.

iii) Transfer from non-voted regional development agencies expenditure of £1,000,000 to the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs in respect of increased warm front activity.

iv) Virement of £27,000,000 from voted environmental transformation fund expenditure to the non-voted departmental unallocated provision.

v) Virement of £27,400,000 from voted enterprise capital fund expenditure to the non-voted departmental unallocated provision.

vi) Virement of £2,300,000 from non-voted expenditure to voted in respect of increased recoveries of non-voted launch investment receipts and increased voted expenditure by the advisory, conciliation and arbitration service.

Subject to parliamentary approval of the necessary supplementary estimate, the postal services commission DEL will be increased by £1,000 from £151,000 to £152,000 and the administration budget will be increased by £1,000 from £1,000 to £2,000. Within the DEL change, the impact on resources and capital is as set out in the following table:

|---|---|---|---|---|
| Resource DEL | 1 | 2 | 0 | 2 |
| Of which:[1] | | | | |
| Administration budget | 1 | 2 | 0 | 2 |
| Near-cash in RDEL | 1 | -538 | 0 | -538 |
| Capital DEL[2] | 0 | 150 | 0 | 150 |
| Depreciation | 0 | -530 | 0 | -530 |
| Total | 1 | -378 | 0 | -378 |

[1]The total of the 'Administration Budget' and 'Near-cash in Resource DEL' figures may well be greater than total resource DEL, due to the definitions overlapping.
[2]Capital DEL includes items treated as resource in Estimates and accounts but which are treated as Capital DEL in budgets.
Depreciation, which forms part of resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL since capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.

The change in the resource element of the DEL arises from a token increase in administration costs. The token increase is necessary to bring to Parliament's attention an increase in administration expenditure relating to the Royal Mail quality of service review (£114,000) offset by increased appropriations in aid (£114,000) from Royal Mail.

Subject to parliamentary approval of the necessary supplementary estimate, the Office of Gas and Electricity Market's DEL will be increased by £1,000 from £1,651,000 to £1,652,000 and the administration budget will be increased by £1,000 from £701,000 to £702,000:

| £'000 | Change | New DEL Voted | New DEL Non-voted | New DEL Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|

| Total | 1 | 652 | 0 | 652 |

[1]The total of the 'Administration Budget' and 'Near-cash in Resource DEL' figures may well be greater than total resource DEL, due to the definitions overlapping.
[2]Capital DEL includes items treated as resource in Estimates and accounts but which are treated as Capital DEL in budgets.
Depreciation, which forms part of resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL since capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.

The change in the resource element of the DEL arises from a token increase in administration costs. The token increase is necessary to bring to Parliament's attention an increase in administration costs of £1,499,000 offset by an increase in appropriations in aid of £1,499,000. The increase in administration costs is as a result of additional unplanned expenditure on a Competition Act investigation, the offshore transmission tender process and the energy supply markets probe.

Regional Development Agency (Board Appointments)

The Minister for Employment Relations and Postal Affairs (Mr. Pat McFadden): I am pleased to announce that I have decided to appoint 23 RDA board members, whom between them will serve seven of our Regional Development Agencies. Their names are listed below.

| RDA | Board Member Appointees |
|---|---|
| Advantage West Midlands | Cllr Mike Whitby |
| East of England Development Agency | Mr Nitin DahadCllr Shona JohnstoneCllr Madeline Russell |
| East Midlands Development Agency | Ms Elizabeth DonnellyMr James Harker |
| North-West Regional Development Agency | Mrs Anne SelbyMs Brenda Smith extended for one year.Lord Peter SmithDr John Stageman |
| South-East England Development Agency | Ms Zenna AtkinsCllr Jeremy BirchMr Leslie DawsonCllr Keith Mitchell |
| South-West of England Regional Development Agency | Mr Ian DucatMr Peter MaddenProfessor Steve SmithMs Judith Reynolds and Sir Henry Studholme -reappointed after applying through open competition |
| Yorkshire Forward | Mr Bill AdamsMr Ajaz AhmendMr John VincentMrs Julie Kenny - reappointed after applying through open competition |

The RDAs are playing a crucial role in supporting the national and regional economies in this critical and exceptional economic climate. All the appointees will bring a wealth of experience and knowledge to their RDA adding a vast amount of value.

I have agreed to the appointments starting on the 14 December 2008 for a period of three years, expiring in December 2011.

I have placed further details of these appointments, including biographies, in the Libraries of both Houses. I can confirm that the appointments were made in accordance with the code of practice of the Commissioner for Public Appointments.

TREASURY

HM Revenue and Customs (Departmental Expenditure Limits)

The Financial Secretary to the Treasury (Mr. Stephen Timms): Subject to parliamentary approval of any necessary supplementary estimate, the HM Revenue and Customs total DEL will be increased by £91,338,000 from £4,448,459,000 to £4,539,797,000. Within the total DEL change, the impact on resources and capital are as set out in the following table:

| | Change | | New DEL | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Voted | Non-Voted | Voted | Non-Voted | Total |
| Resource DEL | 107,580 | -43,662 | 4,082,544 | 347,739 | 4,430,283 |
| Of Which: | | | | | |
| Administration Budget[1] | 107,580 | -43,662 | 4,329,802 | — | 4,329,802 |

| Near-cash in RDEL[1] | 107,500 | -43,662 | 3,742,662 | 381,887 | 4,124,549 |
| Capital[2] | 27,500 | — | 284,866 | 3,648 | 288,514 |
| Less Depreciation[3] | — | — | -179,000 | — | -179,000 |
| Total DEL | 135,000 | -43,662 | 4,188,410 | 351,387 | 4,539,797 |

[1]The total of 'Administration Budget' and 'Near-cash in Resource DEL' figures may well be greater than total resource DEL, due to the definitions overlapping.
[2]Capital DEL includes items treated as resource in Estimates and accounts but which are treated as Capital DEL in budgets.
[3] Depreciation, which forms part of resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL since capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.

The change in the resource element of DEL arises from:

modernisation fund drawdown of £62,500,000 administration near cash costs to modernise and transform HMRC; near-cash administration costs draw down of non-voted DUP of £43,662,000 taken up as voted provision to facilitate improvements to key operational activities;

£1,520,000 administration near cash costs transferred from Cabinet Office in respect of Parliamentary Counsel Office;

£77,000 administration near cash costs to the Home Office in respect of transfer of five information officers;

£45,000 administration near cash costs transferred to HM Treasury in relation to the contribution towards the Centre of Expertise in Sustainable Procurement;

£40,000 near cash programme costs transferred to Cabinet Office for Government Secure Zone;

£21,000 administration near cash costs in relation to one post being transferred to HM Treasury; and

£1,000 increase in respect of VOA administration.

The change in the administration budget arises from the changes detailed in the resource element above excluding the £40,000 programme transfer to the Cabinet Office.

The change in the capital element of DEL arises from:

£27,500,000 capital draw down of modernisation fund.

National Savings and Investments (Departmental Expenditure Limit)

The Economic Secretary to the Treasury (Ian Pearson): Subject to parliamentary approval of any necessary supplementary estimate, National Savings and Investments DEL will be increased by £152,000 to £166,299,000 and the capital element of DEL will be increased by £950,000. Within DEL change, the impact on resources and capital are set out in the following table:

| | Change | | New Del | | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Voted | Non-voted | Voted | Non-Voted | |
| Resource Del: | 5,146 | -4,994 | 166,299 | - | 166,299 |
| Of which:[2] | | | | - | |
| Administration budget: | 5,146 | -4,994 | 166,299 | - | 166,299 |
| Near cash in RDEL: | 5,146 | -4,994 | 161,692 | - | 161,692 |
| Capital | 950 | - | 1,438 | - | 1,438 |
| Depreciation[1] | - | - | -3,090 | - | -3,090 |
| Total | 6,096 | -4,994 | 164,647 | - | 164,647 |

[1]Depreciation which forms part of resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL since capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.

The change in the capital element of the DEL arises from modernisation fund being drawn down of £950,000 to support running costs on capital expenditure on their estate.

The change in the resource element of DEL arises from:

A drawdown of £152,000 from the modernisation fund to support additional running costs associated with capital spending.

The change in the administration budget arises from the modernisation fund draw down.

Value Added Tax

The Financial Secretary to the Treasury (Mr. Stephen Timms): The Chancellor of the Exchequer yesterday announced as part of the pre-Budget report a temporary reduction in the standard rate of VAT to 15 per cent. from 1 December 2008 to 1 January 2010 when the rate will return to 17 ½ per cent.

This Government have taken these steps to provide further support for growth and incomes during the economic downturn. The Government's discretionary fiscal action will deliver support of around 1 per cent. of GDP to the economy in total in 2009-10.

However, it is also important that the Government protect the public finances from artificial avoidance seeking to exploit the change in VAT rates where there is no current economic activity. Therefore, Finance Bill 2009 will contain anti-forestalling legislation to ensure that the VAT rate changes announced are fully effective. The Government will expose the draft legislation for comment as soon as possible.

Anti-forestalling legislation will apply from today to ensure that, in the circumstances set out below, supplies with a basic time of supply after a VAT rate increase takes effect will be subject to the rate of VAT in force at that time. The provisions are designed to prevent artificial forestalling while being straightforward for business to understand and operate and not affecting genuine commercial transactions. This legislation is not intended to catch the normal commercial activity of providing goods and services.

The anti-forestalling legislation will apply in the circumstances set out below where the supplier receives a prepayment for the goods or services or issues a VAT invoice in advance of the rate increase. It will also apply where, in advance of the rate increase, the supplier grants the customer an option or a right to obtain goods or services at a discount or free of charge after the rate increase takes effect.

The circumstances are that the customer cannot recover VAT in full on the supply and that:

the supplier and customer are connected parties; or the supplier receives a prepayment, or grants the customer an option or a right, and the prepayment, or the acquisition of the option or right, is wholly or partly funded (directly or indirectly) by the supplier; or a VAT invoice is issued by the supplier showing an amount any part of which is due more than six months after the date of the invoice.

The basic time of supply is normally when goods are delivered or made available, or when services are performed. For continuous supplies of goods or services, with consideration payable periodically or from time to time, the basic time of supply will be the end of the period to which a payment or invoice relates (that is, a billing period).

Although the anti-forestalling legislation will apply from today, any extra VAT arising from its operation will not become due until after Royal Assent of Finance Bill 2009. Until then, suppliers should continue to account for VAT as normal, applying the VAT rate at the time of the prepayment, VAT invoice issue or grant of the right or option.

The operation of the legislation will be kept under review to ensure that the provisions work as intended. Any additional or alternative anti-forestalling provisions included in Finance Bill 2009 will only take effect at the earliest from the date that they are announced.

Departmental Expenditure Limit (2008-09)

The Exchequer Secretary to the Treasury (Angela Eagle): Subject to parliamentary approval of the winter supplementary estimate, HM Treasury's DEL will be increased by £1,318,000 from £220,233,000 to £221,551,000 and the Administration Budget will be increased by £1,223,000 from £168,202,000 to £169,425,000 with no change to the capital DEL. The impact on resources and the administration budget is set out in the following table:

| | Change | | New DEL | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Voted | Non-voted | Voted | Non-voted | Total |
| Resource | 7,748,000 | -6,430,000 | 194,646,000 | 26,905,000 | 221,551,000 |
| of which: | | | | | |

| Near cash in RDEL[1] | 5,811,000 | -6,430,000 | 182,924,000 | 37,805,000 | 220,629,000 |
| Capital[2] | - | - | 4,800,000 | 2,221,000 | 7,021,000 |
| Less Depreciation[3] | - | - | -9,190,000 | - | -9,190,000 |
| Total | 7,748,000 | -6,430,000 | 190,256,000 | 29,126,000 | 219,382,000 |

[1]The total of 'Administration budget' and 'Near cash in Resource DEL' figures may well be greater than total Resource DEL, due to definitions overlapping.
[2]Capital DEL includes items treated as resource in Estimates and accounts but which are treated as Capital DEL in budgets.
[3]Depreciation, which forms part of Resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL since Capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.

The net increase in resource DEL of £1,318,000 is the net effect of the following:

For Request for Resources 1

A Machinery of Government transfer to the Cabinet Office of £273,000 near cash administration costs following the transfer of responsibility for the Statistical Reform team;

A transfer to the Statistics Board of £100,000 near cash programme costs as a contribution towards the costs of a project to improve the quality of migration statistics;

A contribution to the Cabinet Office of £80,000 near cash programme costs in respect of the Government Secure Zone costs;

A transfer from the Cabinet Office of £250,000 near cash administration costs towards consultancy costs incurred by the Prime Minister's Delivery Unit; and

A transfer from HM Revenue & Customs of £21,000 towards the costs of a post in the Budget, Tax and Welfare team.

Transfers to the Office of Government Commerce towards the costs of the Centre of Expertise in Sustainable Procurement as follows:

Some £45,000 near cash administration costs from each of the following Departments—Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform, Communities and Local Government, Cabinet Office, Children, Schools and Families, Transport, International Development, Work and Pensions, Foreign and Commonwealth Office, HM Revenue & Customs, Home Office, Ministry of Defence, Ministry of Justice and £215,000 from Environment, Food and Rural Affairs.

near cash programme costs of £45,000 from the Statistics Board and £700,000 from Environment, Food and Rural Affairs.

There is a reduction in non-voted DEL due to the draw down of Departmental Unallocated Provision of £6,430,000 to offset increased voted spending.

The net increase in the administration costs budget is £1,223,000 comprising the administration costs changes mentioned in the preceding paragraphs plus a reclassification of programme costs to administration costs of £470,000.

ECOFIN

The Economic Secretary to the Treasury (Ian Pearson): On 21 November 2008, I represented the UK at the Budget Economic and Financial Affairs Council (ECOFIN).

Finance Ministers agreed to adopt Preliminary Draft Amending Budgets 10—as amended by the Commission during the course of negotiations—and 11 to the 2008 EC Budget. These amend the 2008 Budget respectively to reflect latest implementation capacity, thus reducing the level of funding required from member states in 2008, and to mobilise the EU solidarity fund for Cyprus following the recent drought there.

Finance Ministers agreed to adopt Amending Letters 2—as amended by the Commission to include budgetary aspects relating to the proposed food facility for developing countries—and 3 to the Preliminary Draft Budget for 2009. These reflected the latest information on agricultural market prices and other developments, and a budgetary transfer to cover the costs of a new reflection group as called for by the October European Council.

During a conciliation meeting between Council and the European Parliament agreement was reached on the 2009 EC Budget and on the financing for the proposed food facility. The agreement establishes total payment levels of €116.1 billion—0.89 per cent. of EU GNI. The European Parliament is scheduled to vote on its own second reading on 18 December, after which the 2009 EC Budget will be formally adopted.

Five joint statements relating to the Budget were also agreed at Budget ECOFIN. These concerned the financing of the food facility and the implementation of cohesion policy and EU agencies. The Government are supportive of these statements, which affirm the co-ordination and visibility of Community development assistance, and call for sound financial management and budget discipline in the areas they concern.

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Departmental Expenditure Limit (2008-09)

The Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (Ed Balls): Subject to parliamentary approval of any necessary supplementary estimate, the Department for Children, Schools and Families departmental expenditure limit (DEL) will be decreased by £16,761,000 from £52,739,088,00 to £52,722,327,000; the Administration cost budget will be decreased by £2,364,000 from £189,900,000 to £187,536,000. ## COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Local Government

The Minister for Local Government (John Healey): My right hon. Friend the Minister of State for Employment Relations and Postal Affairs and I are today publishing the Government's response to the consultation paper: "Prosperous Places: Taking Forward the Review of Sub-National Economic Development and Regeneration".

The consultation paper proposed action on a number of conclusions set out in the review of sub-national economic development and regeneration that I announced to the House on 17 July 2007.

The Government's response today confirms plans for more effective economic decision making and planning in England's regions and localities. We believe that these reforms will put in place a legal and policy framework which will assist regions, sub-regions and local areas in responding to current economic difficulties, preparing for the upturn and strengthening jobs and business growth in all areas in the longer-term.

The Government response is now available in the Libraries of both Houses and can also be accessed online at: www.communities.gov.uk/publications/citiesandregions/govresponseprosperousplaces

Departmental Expenditure Limit (2008-09)

The Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (Hazel Blears): Subject to parliamentary approval of any necessary supplementary estimate, the Department for Communities and Local Government's Departmental Expenditure Limits for 2008-09 will change as follows:

(1) The Department for Communities and Local Government's Main Programmes DEL will be increased by £248,654,000 from £11,250,662,000 to £11,499,316,000 and the administration budget will also be increased by £9,428,000 from £280,261,000 to £289,689,000. Within the DEL change, the impact on resources and capital are as set out in the following table:

[3]Depreciation, which forms part of Resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL since Capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.

The change in the resource element of the DEL arises from:

(i) a net transfer of £996,000 from Request for Resources 1 (Main DEL) to Request for Resources 2 (Local Government DEL) comprising:

From Main DEL to Local Government DEL

d) £1,000,000 from Fire and Rescue Services Improvement programme (Main DEL) to Best Value Inspection (Local Government DEL) to support Audit Commission Comprehensive Performance Assessment inspection work on Fire and Rescue Authorities;

e) £125,000 from E-Planning (Main DEL) to Local Government on Line (Local Government DEL) to cover the costs of the National Process Improvement Project as part of the Transformational Planning Project

To Main DEL from Local Government DEL

f) £129,000 within Research to Main DEL from Local Government DEL as a contribution to a new strategic research budget.

(ii) a transfer of £267,000 from non-voted Valuation Tribunals to voted Bellwin programme for repayment of Valuation Tribunals DEL overspend in 2005-06;

(iii) an increase in non-voted receipts of £5,000 offsetting increases on expenditure for Valuation Tribunals for Information Technology relating to the sale of printers.

The change in the capital element of the DEL arises from:

(iv) a take up of End Year Flexibility of £82,000,000 for Local Government Public Services Agreement to cover planned spending over the amount provided in the Comprehensive Spending Review 2007.

(v) A transfer of £1,000,000 from the Local Government on-line programme to the Department for Work and Pensions (DWP) to facilitate more efficient electronic transfer of data between DWP, Communities and Local Government, the Department for Children Schools and Families (DCSF) and local authorities.

(vi) an increase in receipts of £32,000,000 offsetting an increase in expenditure on Local Government Public Services Agreement.

UK Location Strategy

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (Mr. Sadiq Khan): I am delighted to announce today the publication of "Place Matters: The Location Strategy for the United Kingdom", which has been prepared for me by the UK Geographic Information Panel. Copies have been placed in the Library of the House.

The UK location strategy is a thoughtful, authoritative and important document and its recommendations are closely aligned to the delivery of Government policy in many areas. Ministerial colleagues share with me in recognising the reality identified by the strategy that 'everything happens somewhere'. The Government acknowledge that a better understanding of location is an important factor in moving forward the transformational Government agenda.

Implementation of the location strategy will maximise the value to the public, Government and UK industry of the use of geographic information. It will provide a consistent framework to assist national, regional and local initiatives and service delivery for the benefit of all our people. Key areas where the location strategy will be of benefit are in policy and operational areas of the public and private sector, where shared and integrated place-based information is essential for decision making. It will also be the basis for delivering the United Kingdom's obligations under the European INSPIRE directive.

The Government now wish to build on the progress represented by publication of the location strategy. The Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs has agreed to lead implementation of the location strategy alongside INSPIRE; implementation planning has commenced. Agreement has been reached that the initial phases of implementation will be funded by contributions that will be drawn from key stakeholder Departments across Government. A key early deliverable is the establishment of a UK location council, to be chaired by DEFRA, and I am also pleased to announce that Government have approved the actions necessary to set up the location council. It will continue the excellent work undertaken by the UK Geographic Information Panel, which will now be dissolved.

I wish to place on record my thanks to the UK Geographic Information Panel, chaired by Vanessa Lawrence CB, for its excellent work in conceiving, developing and championing the UK location strategy to this point.

DEFENCE

Coalition Regional Commands (Iraq)

The Secretary of State for Defence (Mr. John Hutton): I should like to make a statement on the restructuring of coalition regional commands in Iraq and the implications for the ongoing UK mission there.

As the Iraqi security forces have grown and matured, coalition forces across Iraq have been able to move increasingly into over-watch and mentoring operations. These successes have allowed coalition forces and structures to be rationalised and combat forces from several nations have been able to return home. The UK has also been able to reduce the scale of its deployment.

Until recently, the area south of Baghdad was divided into three multi-national divisional areas—MND-Centre under US control, MND-Centre South under Polish control and MND-South East under UK control. In future, it is anticipated that only a single multi-national divisional headquarters will be required south of Baghdad, given that the Iraqi security forces now have the lead in providing the security for all nine provinces in this area. As part of this restructuring, MND-Centre merged with MND-Centre South as Polish forces completed their mission and MND-Centre has now also taken over over-watch from MND-South East of the three provinces Muthanna, Dhi Qar and Maysan. This new US divisional area is called MND-Centre. Security in these three provinces is provided by the 10th Division of the Iraqi army—previously trained by UK and Australian forces—and therefore this boundary move does not affect any UK forces which are focused in Basrah. This restructuring of divisional areas is therefore an adjustment to reflect better both the dispositions of coalition and Iraqi forces on the ground and the continuing improvements in security. This new divisional area will remain MND-Centre.

MND-South East, which now consists solely of Basrah province, remains focused on developing the rapidly improving 14th Division. The delivery of 14th Division was defined by the Prime Minister in his 22 July statement as one of the decisive conditions for transition and it is therefore right that this is where UK forces concentrate their efforts. As the Iraqi security forces increasingly take responsibility for providing security, the role and shape of the coalition will naturally evolve as efforts increasingly focus on economic development, reconstruction and capacity building.

NATO Defence Ministerial Meetings

The Secretary of State for Defence (Mr. John Hutton): I attended an informal meeting of NATO Defence Ministers in Budapest, Hungary, on 9 and 10 October 2008. It provided an important opportunity for discussions on operations and on the transformation of NATO capabilities, following the informal Defence Ministers' meeting in London on 18 and 19 September 2008, which was attended by my predecessor as Secretary of State for Defence, my right hon. Friend the Member for Kilmarnock and Loudoun (Des Browne).

The main focus of the meeting in London was the continuing transformation of the alliance. Ministers expressed their strong support for NATO transformation and for proposals made during the meeting to increase the targets for allies' deployable capabilities. Over dinner, Ministers reflected on the implications for NATO of the events in Georgia in the preceding months. There was consensus that collective defence and discretionary, out-of-area operations required the same expeditionary capabilities.

The focus of the meeting in Budapest was on current operations. This was the first ministerial meeting in which Albania and Croatia participated fully. Ministers underlined the importance of the NATO operation in Afghanistan, and in response to a request from the Government of the Islamic Republic of Afghanistan, directed ISAF to take action, with the Afghan authorities, against narcotics facilities and facilitators supporting the insurgency within priority regions. Ministers stated their continued support for NATO's KFOR mission and its work in providing a safe and secure environment in Kosovo. On Afghanistan, NATO Ministers also had a meeting with their counterparts from non-NATO nations making valuable contributions to the International Security Assistance Force in Afghanistan, together with the Defence Minister of Afghanistan, the United Nations Secretary-General's Special Representative for Afghanistan and a European Union senior representative.

At the request of the United Nations, Ministers agreed that NATO will contribute to deter piracy in the waters off the coast of Somalia, by providing a number of ships from the Alliance's Standing Naval Maritime Group to patrol the waters off the coast of Somalia and escort ships carrying food supplies for the world food programme.

At the meeting, Ministers re-affirmed the importance that they attach to developing deployable capabilities and agreed to increase targets for the deployability of allies' land forces. In addition, the first ministerial-level meeting of the NATO-Georgia Commission took place, where the Defence Minister for Georgia set out the Georgian Government's priorities in security and defence policy.

Departmental Expenditure Limit (2008-09)

The Secretary of State for Defence (Mr. John Hutton): Subject to parliamentary approval of the necessary supplementary estimate, the Ministry of Defence departmental expenditure limits (DEL) will be increased by £3,434,312,000—voted and non-voted—from £34,075,771,000 to £37,510,083,000. The administration cost budget will be increased by £64,108,000 from £2,294,141,000 to £2,358,249,000. Within the DEL change, the impact on resources and capital are as set out in the following table:

| | Change | | New DEL | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Voted | Non-Voted | Voted | Non-voted | Total |

[1]The total DEL since capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.

The changes to the resource and capital elements of the DEL arise from:

a net increase in the RfR2 of £2,302,000,000 direct resource DEL, £1,063,000,000 capital DEL, and indirect resource DEL of £350,000,000 to reflect the forecast costs of peacekeeping operations in Iraq, Afghanistan and Balkans; transfers in from the Foreign and Commonwealth Office of £2,400,000 for Balkans funding (RfR2) and £2,800,000 for helicopter pilot training for counter-narcotics operations (RfR1);

a transfer in from the Cabinet Office of £209,000 in respect of future funding arrangements for the expansion of the Parliamentary Counsel Office (RfR1);

transfers out to the Department of Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (BERR) of £4,000,000 being the MOD's contribution to BERR's chemical and nuclear weapons disposal pool (RfR1); transfers out to the FCO of £16,000,000 and the Department for International Development of £1,970,000 being the MOD's contribution to the stabilisation aid fund (RfR2); a transfer out to the Cabinet Office of £40,000 being the MOD contribution to the Government secure zone fund (RfR1); and a resource administration budget transfer of £45,000 to the Centre of Expertise for Sustainable Procurement (RfR1);

a transfer within RfR1 of £1,000,000,000 capital DEL to direct resource within RfR1 relating to single use military equipment (SUME) flexibility with no overall impact on DEL; to reflect the estimated indirect resource impact of the first stage of the international financial reporting standards on derivatives and impairments of £215,000,000, with no overall impact on DEL;

to revise sub-head provisions to reflect resource and capital revisions in allocations between top level budget holders to match required defence outputs, with no overall impact on DEL;

additional fiscal capital DEL provision of £50,000,000; to increase non-operating appropriations-in-aid to reflect a QinetiQ receipt of £200,000,000 and a receipt for the Defence Aviation Repairs Agency of £60,000,000, with a corresponding and offsetting increase in capital expenditure (no overall impact on capital DEL);

to reallocate Royal Hospital Chelsea (RHC) costs of £9,232,000 from other current voted expenditure to non-voted expenditure; to reallocate DEL grants-in-aid from DEL to non-budget grants-in-aid (non-voted) to reflect classification changes for the Council of Reserve Forces and Cadets Association of £55,522,000; £8,631,000 for the Marine Society and Sea Cadets; and a re-classification of cost of capital for public corporations from voted other current costs to grants of £21,396,000 with no impact on resource DEL;

to increase grants-in-aid funding for the royal naval museum of £75,000; Royal Hospital Chelsea of £1,000,000; the RAF museum of £400,000; and the national army museum of £395,000 by reducing resource DEL current costs and increasing non-budget grants-in-aid with no overall impact on resource;

to increase grants-in-aid funding for the armed forces memorial of £80,000 by reducing resource DEL current costs and increasing non-budget grants-in-aid (outside DEL); and to reflect the reclassification of non-departmental public bodies (NDPBs) museums from voted to non-voted DEL of £14,903,000.

The changes to resource DEL and capital DEL will lead to an increased net cash requirement of £3,389,122,000.

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Agriculture and Fisheries Council

The Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (Hilary Benn): I and Huw Irranca-Davies represented the United Kingdom at November's Agriculture and Fisheries Council in Brussels. Richard Lochhead, Conor Murphy and Elin Jones also attended.

All of the 'A' points were adopted.

On fisheries the Council reached agreement by unanimity on a new regulation to establish elements for a medium-term multi-annual framework to allow for the recovery and management of cod stocks. Following an initial table round and bilateral discussions with the most interested member states, the presidency was able to reach agreement with the Commission and so table a final compromise. The final compromise represents a balance between those offering appropriate protection for the stocks, and the opportunity to encourage sustainable fishing. The main elements are:

Targets expressed in terms of fishing mortality, rather than the previous approach of increased spawning stock biomass, over which fleets have no control. In all sea areas the target is 0.4;

Mortality reductions in the first year of 25 per cent. They will then be set at 10 per cent. annually for the North sea and, depending on biomass levels, either 25 per cent., 15 per cent. or 10 per cent. elsewhere until the target mortality rate is reached;

For quota setting, constraints on the movements of TACs of 20 per cent. for the North sea and 15 per cent. elsewhere. The North sea constraint will not apply to quota increases in 2009;

The allocation kW day effort "pots" to member states and allows them to administer their own effort to reward sustainable fishing; adjusted on an annual basis. This extends these arrangements based on collaboration with the fishing industry, and pioneered in the UK (both Scotland and England) as possibilities to all member states. The effort levels will be based on the average deployed either during 2004-06 or 2005-07, as member states wish;

The geographical scope is extended further to the west of Scotland to include the vast majority of cod catches;

The Celtic sea remains outside the scope of the plan.

Member states then re-enforced their priorities for the final round of negotiations scheduled to finalise the EU-Norway fisheries agreement. The Commission noted the difficulty of resolving member states' conflicting views on which stocks should be used to pay for the balance of access to Arctic cod, Norway's strong desire for pfogress on discard reductions and the willingness of Norway to accept a modest TAC increase. The UK noted that decisions on cod TAC needed to be taken with Norway and should be part of a wider package, including in cod recovery. We also supported the wider principle on discards issue, but noted the need for more technical work.

The Council held an initial exchange of views on the Commission's very recent proposal to reform the regulation that governs member states' responsibilities to enforce fisheries regulations. This is a recognised area of weakness in the common fisheries policy framework, and in which nearly all fishing member states have a weak record. The Commission noted that improvement should not wait for the general CFP reform in 2012. The new proposal would encourage a culture of compliance by all in the sector; those who break the rules should not benefit; a penalty points system would lead to licence withdrawal of licence where necessary. It would introduce a new common approach to control and inspection to all stages of the chain; including import, transport and at market; using modern technologies and risk analyses. Control and enforcement are member states' exclusive competence and this would reaffirm their complementary roles with the Commission. It offered more flexibility for quota reductions or financial penalties where necessary.

Nearly all fishing member states spoke briefly to acknowledge the general need for improvement, the need to avoid over-bureaucratic requirements and to support compliance by industry. France was the most dubious about the ease of progress.

With regard to aquaculture, member states discussed the future of the aquaculture sector based on a Commission non-paper and a presidency questionnaire. The Commission expressed concerns that the EU industry's output seemed to be stagnating while that of third countries were continuing to expand and explained that they planned to publish a communication next spring on the matter.

There was general support for simplification of the legislation and of the administrative procedures but disagreement on whether the environmental legislation needed amending to reflect the needs of the aquaculture sector. While there was some support for the EFF giving more attention to the aquaculture sector there was also a clear rejection from UK, the Netherlands, Sweden and Germany for any extra funds to be made available. Most landlocked member states asked for a differentiation to be made in the EFF rules between inland and marine aquaculture. Many member states called for a community promotion campaign and there were also general calls for a community action plan to deal with the problem of cormorant predation. The UK and Slovenia mentioned the importance of reducing the input of wild fish protein. There was a clear rejection of the French suggestion that the Community had a role to play in questions concerning zoning.

Finally on fisheries, the Council noted reports from the Commission on recent measures to simplify CFP regulations, and on Poland's significant recent progress to comply with the regulation on quota reduction and stricter enforcement.

On agriculture items, the Council reached majority agreement on the CAP Health Check—the scheduled review and adjustment of the mechanisms of the EU's common agricultural policy, which was intended to improve, reinforce and build on the 2003 CAP reforms. However the UK did not support the final deal.

The UK set out its ambitions for the Health Check in April. We made it clear then that we wanted to cut further the trade distorting nature of the CAP, reduce regulatory burdens, give farmers greater control over their business decisions, and redirect more CAP spending away from direct farm payments towards delivery of targeted public benefits. Progress has been made in these areas, often in the face of opposition from other member states, but we are also disappointed that some new distortions have been introduced.

The Health Check took a number of positive steps in reforming the CAP, which the UK welcomes. These include:

Further decoupling of approximately £3 billion of direct farm payments—reducing the market distortions faced by UK farmers and making farmers across the EU more responsive to market signals in important sectors such as arable crops - although this decoupling could be significantly reduced if member states fully utilise payments under national envelopes under article 68.

The phase-out of the remaining processing aid schemes for dried fodder, starch, flax and hemp;

Further reductions in the intervention system, including the abolition of intervention for pigmeat, butter for manufacture and butter for direct consumption;

Agreement on the process for phasing out milk quotas by 2015, including a 1 per cent. per year increase in quotas over the next five years—although other aspects of the final deal involve differential increases for some member states, while two scheduled reviews of the dairy market could create uncertainty for the dairy industry.

Reducing red tape for farmers through some simplification of direct farm payments and the requirements of cross-compliance.

An increased focus on environmental benefits across Europe, by increasing the rate of compulsory modulation to 10 per cent. by 2012, and therefore increasing the share of CAP funding that goes towards environment and rural development schemes. This will reduce the gap in modulation between the UK and the rest of the EU, leading to a more level playing field for UK farmers.

The ending of compulsory set-aside, leaving farmers free to take their own production decisions based on market circumstances.

Flexibility in the new cross-compliance requirements to allow member states to pursue options for capturing the environmental benefits of set-aside that is appropriate to local environments.

The UK is concerned about some aspects of the Health Check, in particular the market distortions created by the increased flexibility in the use of "national envelopes" which allow member states to support specific sectors using payments coupled to production, and to fund risk management measures.

We are also disappointed that the Health Check was unable to go further in achieving full decoupling across the EU (although that will be achieved in England), phasing out all the remaining market support mechanisms such as intervention, and focusing even more CAP spending on delivering public benefits, including environmental benefits.

On balance, the UK could not support the final Health Check deal because it allows unused funding from single payment scheme budgets to be used to fund measures within national envelopes, rather than being returned to member states, thus increasing the potential for distortions, and because it creates short-term competitive distortions and uncertainty in the dairy sector from a range of measures, in particular differential changes to milk quotas, changes to rules on the butterfat content in milk (which is used as a reference for deciding dairy quotas) and two reviews of the quota phase-out process.

Overall, the UK takes the view that the agreement reached on the Health Check is a step in the right direction of further reform, but is also a missed opportunity to speed up the process of change. We will continue to press for further steps for the benefit of farmers, consumers, taxpayers and the environment in the forthcoming EU Budget review, in which we want to see a more fundamental reassessment of the CAP.

The Council also agreed the presidency compromise on the school fruit scheme, but it failed to secure a majority either way on the approval of Round-Up Ready II GM soya for use as food and feed. The Commission will now act on its own initiative to approve this use.

Finally, the Netherlands and UK raised concerns about the European Parliament's proposed amendments to the pesticides package. These could have an adverse affect on the availability of pesticides and so agricultural activity, with no impact on public health. It was important that the Council held to its agreed position. A number of member states intervened in support, whilst the Commission said it supported the Council's common position, and not the Parliament's approach.

Winter Supplementary Estimates

The Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (David Miliband): Subject to parliamentary approval of any necessary supplementary estimate, the Foreign and Commonwealth Office departmental expenditure limit (DEL) will be increased by £149,848,000 from £1,930,709,000 to £2,080,557,000. The administration budget will be decreased by £34,000 from £430,569,000 to £430,535,000. Within the DEL change, the impact on resources and capital are as set out in the following table:

£'000s

[1]The total of 'Administration budget' and 'Near cash in Resource DEL' figures may well be greater than total Resource DEL, due to definitions overlapping.
[2]Capital DEL includes items treated as resource in Estimates and accounts but which are treated as Capital DEL in budgets.
[3]Depreciation, which forms part of Resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL since Capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.

The change in the resource element of the DEL arises from:

Request for Resources 1

Administration

1. £11,000 transfer of Administration Budget from Cabinet Office in respect of legal work undertaken by the Office of the Parliamentary Counsel.

2. £45,000 transfer of Administration Budget to the Office of Government Commerce for sustainable procurement.

Programme

1. Transfer of £5,000,000 other current expenditure from the Home Office for work on migration.

2. Transfer of £4,000,000 other current expenditure from DFID is respect of the Returns and Reintegration Fund.

3. Transfer of £2,800,000 other current expenditure to MOD for counter-narcotics work in Afghanistan.

4. Transfer of £400,000 other current to the Security and Intelligence Agencies for expansion and capability.

5. Transfer of £40,000 other current expenditure to the Cabinet Office for the Government Secure Zone.

6. Transfer from the British Council of £40,000 other current expenditure to the Cabinet Office for the Government Secure Zone.

Request for Resources 2

Programme

1. Claim on the reserve of £100,000,000 in respect of African Peacekeeping activities.

2. Claim on the reserve of £31,300,000 in respect of Global Peacekeeping activities.

3. Transfer of £16,000,000 from MOD in respect of the Stabilisation Aid Fund.

4. Transfer of £2,400,000 to MOD in respect of Global Peacekeeping activities.

5. Transfer of £730,000 to DFID in respect of management of Stabilisation Aid Fund projects in Afghanistan.

HEALTH

Departmental Expenditure Limit (2008-09)

The Minister of State, Department of Health (Mr. Ben Bradshaw): The Department of Health's element of the departmental expenditure limit (DEL) will be reduced by £4,630,000 from £98,570,061,000 to £98,565,431,000. The administration cost limit remains unchanged at £219,163,000. Subject to the necessary supplementary estimate, the Food Standards Agency DEL will increase by £1,000 from £137,719,000 to £137,720,000 and the administration cost limit will increase by £1,000 from £50,439,000 to £50,440,000. The overall DEL, including the Food Standards Agency, will reduce by £4,629,000 from £98,707,780,000 to £98,703,151,000. The impact on resource and capital are set out in the following table:

[2]Depreciation, which forms part of resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL since the capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.

The Department of Health DEL has reduced by £4,630,000 made up of:

A transfer to the Office of the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration and the Heath Service Commissioner for England to allow for the change in responsibility for handling NHS complaints.

The Department of Health's administration cost limit remains unchanged at £219,163,000.

The change to the Food Standards Agency element of the DEL is due to:

a transfer of £400,000 from programme into capital increasing it from £631,000 to £1,031,000 to fund infrastructure investment; and a token increase in FSA's administration cost.

Office for Strategic Co-ordination of Health Research (Progress Report)

The Secretary of State for Health (Alan Johnson): The Office for Strategic Co-ordination of Health Research (OSCHR) was established 22 months ago following Sir David Cooksey's recommendations for better co-ordination of health research activities across the UK, and a stronger focus on translating basic science into improved care for NHS patients. Sir David's report "A Review of UK Health Research Funding" was published in December 2006. The first progress report from the chairman of OSCHR, Professor Sir John Bell, was published on 18 November 2008.

Sir John's report "Office for Strategic Co-ordination of Health: Chairman's First Progress Report" highlights the main elements of the combined approach that has been put in place by the National Institute for Health Research (NIHR) and the Medical Research Council (MRC) since the Cooksey review. This period has seen an unprecedented commitment to health research in terms of funding, infrastructure, research programmes and the volume of health research commissioned.

The Government's single health research fund, which will soon top £1.7 billion a year, is allocated by the Department of Health to the National Institute for Health Research in England, and by the Department of Innovation, Universities and Skills to the Medical Research Council, which supports research throughout the United Kingdom.

The progress report also announces that the Prime Minister has asked for a set of national ambitions for health research to be developed to build on the progress so far and encourage the translation of major research breakthroughs into new NHS treatments and services. The national ambitions will be developed independently of Government by the research funding bodies, under the auspices of OSCHR, in consultation with the academic community.

A copy of the report has been placed in the Library of the House.

HEALTH

Correction (Written Answer)

The Minister of State, Department of Health (Mr. Ben Bradshaw): I regret that the written answer I gave the hon. Friend the Member for South Cambridgeshire (Mr. Lansley) on 22 February 2008, Official Report, columns 1069-1071W, included a reference to a write off of £40 owed by Annette Craze that was incorrect. Further investigation has shown that Annette Craze did not owe any money and should not therefore have been referred to in the reply.

HOME DEPARTMENT

Departmental Expenditure Limit (2008-09)

The Secretary of State for the Home Department (Jacqui Smith): Plans of changes to the Departmental Expenditure Limit and Administrative Budget for 2008-09.

Subject to Parliamentary approval of the necessary supplementary estimate, the Home Office's Departmental Expenditure Limits for 2008-09 will be decreased by £67,008,000 from £9,755,389,000 to £9,688,381,000 and the administration budget will be reduced by £29,760,000 from £429,049,000 to £399,289,000.

Within the DEL change, the impact on resources and capital are as set out in the following table

[2]Capital DEL includes items treated as resource in estimates and accounts but which are treated as capital DEL in budgets.
[3]Depreciation, which forms part of resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL in the table above, since capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.

Resource DEL

The increase in the resource element of the DEL of £19,260,000 arises from a decrease in the voted element of resource DEL of £17,491,000 and an increase of £36,751,000 in the non-voted element of resource DEL.

Voted Resource DEL

The £17,491,000 decrease in the voted element of resource DEL arises from:

RfR1

The take up from the departmental unallocated provision (DUP) of £5,000,000 for part-time student support.

A machinery of Government transfer from the Cabinet Office of £1,600,000 for Government skills.

A transfer from the Cabinet Office for £42,000 for parliamentary counsel costs.

A transfer from the Ministry of Justice of £13,912,000 for offender learning.

A transfer from the Department for Children, Schools and Families of £3,655,000 for vocational qualifications reform.

An increase in voted receipts for the Higher Education Funding Council for England of £1,142,000 from the Department for Children, Schools and Families, offset by an increase in the Higher Education Funding Council for England non-voted resource DEL.

An increase in voted receipts for the Student Loans Company of £1,700,000 from the Department for Children, Schools and Families, offset by an increase in the Student Loans Company non-voted resource DEL.

An increase in voted receipts of £50,000 for receipts from the Department of Health for Health and Well-being at Work, offset by an increase in the Investors in People UK non-voted resource DEL.

A net decrease in voted receipts for the Learning and Skills Council of £39,289,000, offset by a net decrease in the Learning and Skills Council non-voted resource DEL.

An increase in central administration costs of £91,000 for an element of the comprehensive spending review 2007 settlement omitted from the main estimate.

A net movement from non-voted resource DEL of £7,921,000 consisting of increases to voted resource DEL for student support (£7,500,000), foundation degrees (£711,000), international programmes (£210,000) and a decrease to technology strategy (£500,000).

RfR2

A movement to non-voted resource DEL of £36,109,000 for the Higher Education Funding Council for England (£55,000,000) and the Research Councils (£31,109,000).

Non-voted Resource DEL

The £36,751,000 increase in non-voted resource DEL arises from:

A movement to RfR1 voted resource DEL of £5,000,000 for the take-up from the departmental unallocated provision (DUP) for part-time student support.

An increase in the Higher Education Funding Council for England non-voted resource DEL of £1,142,000 offset by an increase in voted receipts for the Higher Education Funding Council for England from the Department for Children, Schools and Families.

An increase in the Student Loans Company non-voted resource DEL of £1,700,000, offset by an increase in voted receipts for the Student Loans Company from the Department for Children, Schools and Families.

An increase in the Investors in People non-voted resource DEL of £50,000, offset by an increase in voted receipts from the Department of Health for Health and Well-being at Work.

A net decrease in the Learning and Skills Council non-voted resource DEL of £39,289,000, offset by a net decrease in voted receipts for the Learning and Skills Council.

A net movement to RfR1 voted resource DEL of £7,921,000 consisting of increases to voted resource DEL for student support (£7,500,000), foundation degrees (£711,000), international programmes (£210,000) and a decrease to voted resource DEL for technology strategy (£500,000).

A movement to non-voted resource DEL of £36,109,000 from RfR2 voted resource DEL for the Higher Education Funding Council for England (£55,000,000) and for the Research Councils (£31,109,000).

A transfer to the Cabinet Office of £40,000 for the Government security zone.

Capital DEL

The increase in the capital element of the DEL of £100,000 arises from a decrease in the voted element of capital DEL of £234,011,000 and an increase of £234,111,000 in the non-voted element of capital DEL.

Voted Capital DEL

The £234,011,000 decrease in the voted element of capital DEL arises from:

RfR1

An increase in departmental capital costs of £100,000 for an element of the comprehensive spending review 2007 settlement omitted from the main estimate.

RfR2

An increase in voted receipts for the Biotechnology and Biological Sciences Research Council of £4,900,000, offset by an increase in the Biotechnology and Biological Sciences Research Council non-voted capital DEL.

A movement to non-voted capital DEL of £229,211,000 from voted capital DEL for the Higher Education Funding Council for England (£190,000,000) and for the Research Councils (£39,211,000).

Non-voted Capital DEL

The £234,111,000 increase in the non-voted element of capital DEL arises from:

An increase in the Biotechnology and Biological Sciences Research Council non-voted capital DEL of £4,900,000, offset by an increase in voted receipts for the Biotechnology and Biological Sciences Research Council.

A movement from RfR2 voted capital DEL of £229,211,000 to non-voted capital DEL for the Science and Research Investment Fund (£190,000,000) and for the Research Councils (£39,211,000).

Administration Budget

RfR1

The £1,733,000 increase within the administration budget arises from:

A machinery of Government transfer from the Cabinet Office of £1,600,000 for Government skills.

A transfer from the Cabinet Office for £42,000 for parliamentary counsel costs.

An increase in central administration costs of £91,000 for an element of the comprehensive spending review 2007 settlement omitted from the main estimate.

Student Finance (Uprating)

The Minister of State, Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills (Mr. David Lammy): On 29 October 2008 my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills, announced that the Government is making extra money available, totalling £100 million in steady state, to meet the higher than expected demand for student support in 2009-10 and beyond. This will enable the Government to maintain its intention that two-thirds of eligible students should receive either the full grant of £2,906 or a partial grant in 2009-10. We also expect that our commitment for one-third of eligible students to receive a full grant will be exceeded—under the new package, we anticipate that 40 per cent. of students may be eligible for a full grant.

This means that students with household incomes ranging from £18,360 to £50,020 will be eligible for higher levels of grant than in 2007-08, while those with incomes ranging from £18,360 to £57,708 will be eligible for a more generous package of grant and loan support than in 2007-08. Amendment Regulations to the Education (Student Support) (No 2) Regulations 2008 are being laid today.

My predecessor as Minister of State for Higher Education, the Member for Harlow (Bill Rammell), placed a Memorandum in the Library on 13 May 2008 giving details of the increased loan, grant and fee rates for the 2009-10 academic year, in line with forecast price increases. The detailed tables in that memorandum gave income thresholds for the partial maintenance grant and for the non-means-tested element of the student loan, which have now been revised. I am therefore placing an updated memorandum in the Library which makes clear the levels of support available to new entrants in 2009-10, as well as giving tables showing support for continuing students.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Departmental Expenditure Limit (DEL)

The Secretary of State for International Development (Mr. Douglas Alexander): As a consequence of budgetary transfers associated with the Winter Supplementary Estimates, the Department for International Development's total departmental expenditure limit will be reduced by £1,377,000 from £5,737,828,000 to £5,736,451,000. Within the total DEL change, the impact on Resource and Capital is set out in the following table:

| £'000 | Change | | New DEL | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Voted | Non Voted | Voted | Non Voted | Total |
| Resource DEL | - | -1,377 | 4,010,309 | 857,142 | 4,867,451 |

[1]The total of 'Administration budget' and 'Near-cash in Resource DEL' figures may well be greater than total resource DEL, due to the definitions overlapping.
[2]Depreciation, which forms part of the resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL, since capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of these assets would lead to double counting.

The net change in the resource element of DEL arises from:

Additions

£1,970,000 transferred to DFID from the Ministry of Defence in relation to Stabilisation Aid Fund projects in Iraq.

£738,000 transferred to DFID from the Foreign and Commonwealth Office in relation to Stabilisation Aid Fund funded projects in Afghanistan.

Reductions

£40,000 transferred from DFID to the Cabinet Office in relation to the funding of the Government Security Zone.

£4,000,000 transferred from DFID to the Foreign and Commonwealth Office in relation to the Returns and Reintegration Fund.

£45,000 transferred from DFID to HM Treasury as a contribution to the Office for Government Commerce's project Centre of Expertise in Sustainable Procurement.

There are no changes in the capital element of DEL.

JUSTICE

Departmental Expenditure Limit (2008-09)

The Secretary of State for Justice and Lord Chancellor (Mr. Jack Straw): Subject to parliamentary approval of any necessary supplementary estimate, the Ministry of Justice (MoJ), Northern Ireland Court Service (NICS) and the National Archives (TNA) total departmental expenditure limit (DEL) will be increased as follows:

Total DEL for MoJ (RfR1, RfR2 and RfR3) is increased by £319,016,000 from £9,424,829,000 to £9,743,845,000 and the administration budget has increased by £24,541,000 from £437,300,000 to £461,841,000.

Total AME for MoJ (RfR1, RfR2 and RfR3) is increased by £150,000,000.

Total DEL for NICS is increased by £1,201,000 from £131,368,000 to £132,569,000 and the administration budget has decreased by £3,000,000 from £2,493,000 to £(507,000). This is due to an increase in administration income.

Total DEL for the TNA has remained unchanged.

Within the Total DEL change for MoJ (RfR1, RfR2 and RfR3), the impact on resources and capital are as set out in the following table:

| | Change | | New DEL | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Voted £'000 | Non-voted £'000 | Voted £'000 | Non-voted £'000 | Total £'000 |
| Resource DEL | 225,017 | (101,955) | 5,619,897 | 3,630,921 | 9,250,818 |
| Of which: | | | | | |

[1]The total of 'administration budget" and 'near-cash in resource DEL' figures may well be greater than total resource DEL, due to the definitions overlapping.

[2]Capital DEL includes items treated as resource in estimates and accounts but which are treated as capital DEL in budgets.

[3]Depreciation, which forms part of resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL since capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.

Resource Change: Admin (total decrease of £3,000,000)

Other Decreases:

An increase in admin income of £3,000,000 to reflect an increase in the fee rates and additional work income. This will offset against additional costs to dispose of civil fee business. The appropriations-in-aid are classified as administrative income and so the additional fee income will reduce the administration cost limit by £3,000,000.

Resource Change: Programme (total increase of £3,001,000)

Other Increases:

An increase in administration income has a subsequent impact of an increase of £3,000,000 in programme costs. This reflects an increase in the fee rates and additional work income.

A token increase of £1,000 to allow increase in appropriations-in-aid.

Capital Change (total increase of £1,200,000)

Increases:

An increase of £1,200,000 in relation to re-profiling of capital from 2009-10 into 2008-09.

The National Archives are not submitting a winter supplementary estimate.

CABINET OFFICE

The Minister for the Cabinet Office (Mr. Liam Byrne): Subject to parliamentary approval of the winter supplementary estimate 2008-09, the Cabinet Office total Departmental Expenditure Limit (DEL) will be decreased by £1,537,000 from £359,433,000 to £357,896,000.

The impact on resources and capital is set out in the following table:

| £'000 | Main Estimate DEL | | | Changes | | | Winter Supplementary Estimate New DEL | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Voted | Non-Voted | Total | Voted | Non-Voted | Total | Voted | Non Voted | Total |

[1]Depreciation, which forms part of resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL since capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.
[2]Capital DEL includes items treated as resource in Estimates and accounts but which are treated as Capital DEL in budgets.

The change in the resource element of DEL, a reduction of £3,647 million, comprises £2.357 million resulting from Machinery of Government transfers of function and £1.290 million resulting from transfers of budgetary cover, both to other Government Departments.

There is no overall change to the capital element of DEL.

Changes in Resource DEL (RDEL)

The changes which result in a net decrease in Resource DEL of £3,647,000 are as follows:

Machinery of Government transfers

The transfer of Government Skills to the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills (DIUS) reduces non-cash resource DEL by £1,600,000.

The transfer of the e-Delivery Team to the Department for Work and Pensions (DWP) reduces resource DEL by £1,030,000 comprising a reduction in near cash of £475,000 and in non-cash of £555,000.

The transfer of the Statistics Review Team from HM Treasury increases resource DEL and near-cash requirement in the estimate by £273,000.

Budget cover transfers outwards

Budget cover transfers to 13 Government Departments to cover the costs of the Office of the Parliamentary Counsel reduces resource DEL and net cash requirement in the estimate by £7,030,000.

A budget cover transfer from the Office of the Third Sector to Government Offices in the Department for Communities and Local Government reduces resource DEL and net cash requirement in the estimate by £725,000.

A budget cover transfer to HM Treasury to cover the costs in the Prime Minister's Delivery Unit reduces resource DEL and net cash requirement in the estimate by £250,000.

A budget cover transfer to HM Treasury to cover the expenditure of the Centre of Expertise in Sustainable Procurement reduces resource DEL and net cash requirement in the estimate by £45,000.

Budget cover transfers inwards

Budget cover transfers from 16 Government Departments to cover the costs of i-Monitoring Security Co-ordination Centre (iMSCC) increases Resource DEL and Net cash requirement in the estimate by £760,000.

A budget cover transfer from the Security and Intelligence Agencies to cover the costs of the Information Assurance Technical Programme increases resource DEL and net cash requirement in the estimate by £6,000,000.

Transfers between Voted and Non-Voted Resource and Capital Budget

The Office of the Third Sector has arranged to transfer £1million of its capital budget in order to cover the increased requirement of the capital grant programmes of its executive non-Departmental public body, Capacity Builders (UK) Ltd. By way of compensation, the Office of the Third Sector has arranged for Capacity Builders (UK) Limited to transfer £1.994 million of its resource budget to cover programme expenditure to be incurred by the Office of the Third Sector. The impact on the overall DEL position and net resource and net cash requirement will be neutral.

UK Statistics Authority: DEL (2008-09)

The Parliamentary Secretary, Cabinet Office (Kevin Brennan): Subject to parliamentary approval of any necessary supplementary estimate, the UK Statistics Authority's total departmental expenditure limit (DEL) will be increased by £805,000 from £210,060,000 to £210,865,000, and the programme budget will be increased by £805,000.

Within the DEL change, the impact on resources and capital is as set out in the following table:

£'000s

| | Change | | New DEL | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Voted | Non-voted | Voted | Non-voted | Total |
| Resource | 805 | - | 210,865 | 6,000 | 216,865 |

| Total | 805 | - | 215,365 | 6,000 | 221,365 |

[1]The total of 'Administration budget' and 'Near cash in Resource DEL' figures may well be greater than total Resource DEL, due to definitions overlapping.
[2]Capital DEL includes items treated as resource in Estimates and accounts but which are treated as Capital DEL in budgets.
[3]Depreciation, which forms part of Resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL since Capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.

The change in the resource element of DEL arises from:

Public expenditure survey transfers from other Government Department in support of migration statistics.

Transfer to HMT in respect of the Centre of Expertise in Sustainable Procurement.

The change in the programme budget arises from transfer from other Government Department of £850,000 and transfer of £45,000 to HMT in respect of the Centre of Expertise in Sustainable Procurement.

Charity Commission (Departmental Expenditure Limit)

The Parliamentary Secretary, Cabinet Office (Kevin Brennan): Plans to change the Charity Commission's departmental expenditure limit (DEL) and administration budget for 2008-09.

Subject to parliamentary approval of any necessary supplementary estimate, the Charity Commission DEL will be increased by £1,000 from £30,971,000 to £30,972,000 and the administration budget will be increased by £1,000 from £30,971,000 to £30,972,000. Within the DEL change, the impact on resources is as set out in the following table:

£'000s

| | Change | New DEL Voted | New DEL Non-voted | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Resource DEL | 1 | 30,972 | 0 | 30,972 |

| Total | 1 | 30,852 | 0 | 30,852 |

[1]The total of 'Administration budget' and 'Near cash in Resource DEL' figures may well be greater than total Resource DEL, due to definitions overlapping.

[2]Depreciation, which forms part of Resource DEL, is excluded from the total DEL since Capital DEL includes capital spending and to include depreciation of those assets would lead to double counting.

The change in the resource element of the DEL arises from:

a "token" increase to account for the increased Appropriations in Aid arising from project funding by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office for the continuation of the International Outreach project, which aims to provide guidance and training in areas of the world where the regulatory infrastructure is not as developed as in the UK.

LEADER OF THE HOUSE

Non-Jury Trials

The Minister of State, Northern Ireland Office (Paul Goggins): During the passage of the Justice and Security (Northern Ireland) Act 2007 Ministers undertook to make a statement to Parliament each year on the volume of non-jury trial cases under the legislation. This is the first such statement.

During the period 1 August 2007 to 31 July 2008 inclusive, the Director of Public Prosecutions for Northern Ireland issued 29 certificates, relating to 28 cases, under section 1 of the Act. Some of those certificates relate to cases that were already in the system at the time the previous "Diplock" arrangements under the Terrorism Act 2000 were repealed, but where the indictment had not yet been presented.

During the same period 48 non-jury cases have been dealt with before the Crown Court. This figure is made up of 13 cases under the 2007 Act, and a further 35 cases being dealt with under the transitional arrangements put in place for the repeal of part VII of the 2000 Act. Under those transitional arrangements, cases where the indictment had been presented at the time of repeal continued to be tried under the 2000 Act arrangements.

A further 24 cases were in the system at 31 July 2008. This figure is made up of 15 cases where certificates have been issued under the 2007 Act, and nine transitional Diplock cases. These nine cases will be the last tried under the Terrorism Act 2000 arrangements.

Departmental Expenditure Limit (2008-09)

The Secretary of State for Northern Ireland (Mr. Shaun Woodward): Subject to parliamentary approval the Northern Ireland Office (NIO) will be taking a 2008-09 winter supplementary estimate. The effect this will have is to increase the NIO's DEL by £31,542,000 from £1,183,975,000 to £1,215,517,000.

| £'000 | Change Voted | Change Non-voted | New DEL Voted | New DEL Non-voted | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Resource | 20,146 | 11,396 | 335,397 | 902,967 | 1,238,364 |
| Administration budget | 146 | - | 77,285 | - | 77,285 |
| Near-cash | 146 | - | 252,800 | 675,212 | 928,012 |
| Capital | - | - | 28,137 | 43,766 | 71,903 |
| Depreciation | - | - | -38,526 | -56,224 | -94,750 |
| Total | 20,146 | 11,396 | 325,008 | 890,509 | 1,215,517 |

The change in total DEL of £31,542,000 relates to:

£20,000,000 rephasing of Compensation Agency non-cash provisions budget from 2009-10 and 2010-11 into 2008-09;

£146,000 admin budget near cash transfer from the Cabinet Office for Parliamentary Counsel's Office costs; and £11,396,000 addition of police pension funding.

SCOTLAND

The Secretary of State for Scotland (Mr. Jim Murphy): Subject to parliamentary approval of the necessary supplementary estimates, the departmental expenditure limit (DEL) provision for the Scotland DEL will be increased by £329,774,000—of which £157,206,000 is depreciation—from £27,287,375,000 to £27,459,943,000.

The administration of the Scotland Office DEL will remain unchanged.

The Scotland DEL increase takes account of the following routine adjustments to the Scottish Executive provision:

the take-up of end-year flexibility (EYF) by the Scottish Executive amounting to £300,000,000;

the take-up of 2008 Budget consequentials by the Scottish Executive amounting to £13,095,000; and a switch of £115,562,000 from near-cash to non-cash in respect of increased depreciation charges in the Scottish NHS.

The DEL increase also includes the following changes, amounting to a net increase of £16,679,000. These are:

a transfer for £15,910,000 from the Department for Transport; and a transfer for £769,000 from the Department for Transport.

The increases will be added to the planned total of public expenditure to fund spending commitments in the current financial year.

TRANSPORT

The Secretary of State for Transport (Mr. Geoffrey Hoon): Subject to parliamentary approval of any necessary supplementary estimate, the Department for Transport departmental expenditure limit (DEL) for 2008-09 will be decreased by £16,835,000 from £13,255,844,000 to £13,239,009,000 and the administration budget will be increased by £304,000 from £281,622,000 to £281,926,000.

Within the DEL change, the impact on resources and capital are as set out in the following table:

| | Change | | NEW DEL | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|

Correction (Written Answer)

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Transport (Jim Fitzpatrick): Subsequent to a written answer I gave on 15 September 2008, to a parliamentary question on the hourly rates of pay for cleaning contractors, I would like to inform the House that further investigation has revealed additional information with regard to the Vehicle Certification Agency. The original answer stated that this was contracted out.

The response to the hon. Member for Hayes and Harlington (John McDonnell) (Question 223278)—15 September 2008, Official Report, columns 2053-56—should read as follows:

| | Contractor | Hourly Rate |
|---|---|---|
| Vehicle Certification Agency (HQ Bristol) | ISS/Medicare Ltd | £5.85£5.52 |
| Vehicle Certification Agency (Midlands Centre) | Ideal (Cleaning Services) Ltd | £6.50 |
| Vehicle Certification Agency (Dangerous Goods Office) | No direct cleaning contract | No direct cleaning contract |

Sustainable Transport System

The Secretary of State for Transport (Mr. Geoffrey Hoon): I am announcing today the publication of Delivering a Sustainable Transport System. This document marks the latest milestone in our longer term planning process, setting out our goals and identifying the various challenges that future transport schemes will need to address.

The publication of Towards a Sustainable Transport System in October 2007 outlined our approach to long-term transport planning. Since then the department has been undertaking further work and accelerating the process for identifying the strategic national corridors where we face our most immediate transport challenges. The National Networks Strategy Group I announced on 29 October will be focusing on measures to ensure we make best use of investment in key strategic national corridors, and develop these for the longer term. The development of solutions for international networks will also be led by the department. Regions and local authorities will undertake similar work for the remaining networks.

Transport is a critical enabler for the economy and underpins many of the things we regard as important for our quality of life, but we are also committed to addressing climate change both now and for future generations.

A copy of the document has been placed in the Libraries of both Houses.

I am also announcing today that I am bringing forward over £1 billion of investment in improving our nation's transport infrastructure, in particular to tackle bottlenecks and improve access to key international gateways.

This comprises an extra £700 million which will be invested in major transport projects next year to accelerate Government plans to cut congestion and significantly increase rail capacity. This includes:

- dualling of the A46 between Newark and Widmerpool (£100 million—as part of £174 million Government funding overall)
- an additional 200 train carriages to relieve congestion on the Great Western, Northern and Transpennine rail franchises (£300 million)
- introducing more managed motorways schemes to make best use of our existing motorway capacity (£300 million).

Alongside this, £300 million of new Government funding will be committed to speeding up the delivery of other key schemes that improve transport links to some of the UK's most important airports and ports, as well as offering more environmentally friendly options for transporting freight. This includes:

- improvements to the A180-A160 junction to enhance access to Immingham Port (£30 million)
- technology improvements to enhance traffic flow on the A12 between the M25 and Ipswich, improving access to Felixstowe and Harwich ports (£60 million)
- the South East Manchester relief road, to improve access to Manchester Airport (£ 165 million)
- enhancements to the North London Line to enable increased movements of rail freight on this important link (£54million).

Delivery of the A46, A12, A180-A160 and access to Manchester Airport schemes is subject to agreeing regional funding contributions and, with the exception of the A12, the completion of statutory planning processes.

WALES

Welsh Assembly Government (Departmental Expenditure Limit)

The Secretary of State for Wales (Mr. Paul Murphy): The Welsh Assembly Government departmental expenditure limit is reduced by £14,859,000 from £14,309,106,000 to £14,294,247,000. This decrease takes account of the following changes:

- An increase of £193,000 in respect of additional provision for flooding;
- A transfer of £21,547,000 to the Home Office for policing; and
- A transfer of £6,495,000 from the Home Office for the Drug Intervention Programme.

Subject to parliamentary approval of the necessary supplementary estimates, provision for the Wales Office is increased by £235,000 as a result of a transfer from the Parliamentary Counsel Office of £235,000 near-cash.

Wales Office spending is contained within single Ministry of Justice departmental expenditure limit and administration costs limit.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Independent Living Strategy

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (Jonathan Shaw): On 3 March the Government published the five-year cross-Government Independent Living Strategy. The strategy sets out a series of Government commitments aimed at ensuring that disabled people have choice and control over the support they need to live their everyday lives.

The strategy was produced in partnership with disabled people and we need to ensure that disabled people are actively involved in making the strategy a reality and checking that good progress is being made. Consequently, the launch of the strategy saw the start of a consultation to seek views on how best to do this.

The consultation closed on 20 June and I am pleased to announce that I am today placing copies of the Government's response to this consultation in the Libraries of both Houses.

Following the consultation, and the further involvement of disabled people in the development of the Government's response, the Government have decided to implement the following steps to make sure disabled people are actively involved in the implementation and monitoring of the strategy:

Establish an Independent Living Scrutiny Group to review progress on implementing the strategy.

Develop a web-based and print resource to support disabled people's involvement in local strategic partnership boards.

Work with Equality 2025 to look at how best to use and develop existing networks to form a "network of networks", creating a two-way channel for communication between Government and disabled people.

Examine some of the options, for example, specific courses, suggested by respondents for building leadership capacity.

Work to help disabled people's organisations benefit more from new opportunities to build capacity in the third sector.

The Government's response will be available on the Office for Disability Issues website later today (http://www.odi.gov.uk/working/independentlivingstrategy.asp)

Remploy

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (Jonathan Shaw): Remploy's achievement against its targets set by Government for 2007-08.

The full agreement for 2008-09 will be placed in the Libraries of both Houses.

Improving Health and Work: Changing Lives

The Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (James Purnell): My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Health and I have today published the Government's response to Dame Carol Black's review of the health of Britain's working age population, "Working for a healthier tomorrow".

Dame Carol's review, published on 17 March 2008, built upon the growing evidence that work is generally good for health and that the mounting costs of ill-health are unacceptable, whether for individuals and families, for businesses or for society as a whole. Her analysis brought into focus, as never before, the scale of the economic cost of ill-health and its impact not just on work but on human life. She laid the foundation for a consensus around a new vision for health and work, setting out radical and far-reaching proposals to prevent illness; make early access to work-related health support available to all; and improve the health of the workless so that everyone with the potential to work has the support they need to do so.

Today we are responding in full to Dame Carol's recommendations. Our response "Improving health and work: changing lives" sets out our proposals. It includes a series of pilots and programmes with the potential to redefine the ambition of health and employment support in Britain; shifting the focus of welfare beyond helping people into work to helping them stay there; and further widening the focus of national healthcare from treatment to prevention and early intervention.

Our proposals include:

Changing the paper based 'sick note' to an electronic 'fit note';

Piloting a 'Fit for Work' service;

Creating a National Centre for Working-Age Health and Well-being;

Establishing a network of Health, Work and Well-being Co-ordinators;

Introducing an occupational health helpline;

Extending NHS Plus ;

A review of the health and well-being of the NHS.

Dame Carol set out a challenging vision for improving the health of the working age population. Ultimately responsibility rests with a range of people: Government; employers; trades unions; healthcare professionals; and individuals themselves. Today, with the publication of our response we are setting out Government's real commitment to this agenda and how we will play our part.

Copies of "Improving Health and Work: Changing Lives" will be placed in the Library of the House.

Written Ministerial Statements

Wednesday 26 November 2008

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Youth Crime Action Plan (Family Support)

The Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (Ed Balls): I am pleased to announce, together with my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Justice and my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for the Home Office, our intention to provide a £22 million funding package to 83 local authorities over 2009-10 and 2010-11 to implement family intervention projects and the "Think Family" reforms as set out in the youth crime action plan. This will improve services for families at risk to help prevent children and young people offending and experiencing other poor outcomes.

I am placing the list of 83 local authorities and their funding allocations in the Libraries of both Houses. We will write to the 83 local authorities by 19 December setting out the process for agreeing the use of these funds.

Education Maintenance Allowance

The Minister for Schools and Learners (Jim Knight): I would like to update the House on the figures that have previously been quoted in regard to the delivery of education maintenance allowances (EMAs).

In my statement of 19 November about delivery of learner support schemes I indicated that as of the day before there were 12,016 applications for EMA in the process of being finalised. This information was drawn from statistics provided to the LSC by Liberata.

Since then, in response to emerging concerns about the methodology being used by Liberata to calculate the work in progress statistics, and to ensure that the figures were accurate in advance of the transfer of the contract to Capita, the LSC commissioned a full count of the outstanding applications. This analysis was made possible by the relatively small number of applications still remaining.

Liberata's physical count on 21 November recorded that there were around 26,000 applications in the process of being finalised. The LSC advises me that the new figure represents a more accurate reflection of the outstanding number of applications. However, once the contract has transferred, Capita will review these figures in more detail.

Clearly this is unsatisfactory. I have therefore today written to Mark Haysom, chief executive of the LSC, asking for a full explanation as to why the issue with the methodology for calculating the statistics had not been revealed sooner.

I have written to the Chairman of the Children, Schools and Families Select Committee to update him on this matter. I am placing a copy of this letter in the Library of the House, along with a copy of my letter to Mark Haysom.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Supporting People

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (Mr. Sadiq Khan): The Government are today announcing that the Supporting People programme funding of £1.66 billion will be paid as a ring-fenced unringfenced grant to administering authorities for 2009-10 and will be included in area-based grants from 2010-11. This is the largest single grant to authorities to help millions of people live independently in their homes and this means that authorities will have the flexibility to spend this money as they see fit to help some of the most vulnerable people in their communities.

This year Government have been working with 15 administering authorities, providers, service users, and stakeholders to gather views and evidence about the potential impact of removing the ring fence for Supporting People. During this period, there have not been any serious concerns raised and the feedback from the 15 administering authorities has shown that the kind of innovation they are delivering has been positive and is enabling the delivery of jointly commissioned services which provide better outcomes for service users.

The transition to a non-ringfenced funding stream needs to be managed carefully and Government will continue to work with the sector and build on the success of the programme. Today Government are also announcing a number of measures to support the transition of delivery through an unringfenced grant which will include:

A commitment to deliver a new financial modelling tool which will provide evidence at a local level on the financial benefits of investment in housing support in terms of crisis prevention and the reduced need for more intensive and costly interventions, leading to better outcomes for the citizen and savings to the public purse. The Department will be seeking tenders for this work before Christmas.

The announcement of two national conferences jointly hosted by CLG, DH, the Local Government Association and the Association of Directors of Adult Social Services in January 2009 to help authorities and their commissioning partners learn from the Pathfinder project and consider how their own localities will respond to the changing agenda.

A commitment that CLG will continue to work with member groups in the sector to support providers in responding to the new commissioning and procurement environment. This will include 18 regional roundtable events in early 2009 to bring commissioners and providers together to discuss planning for the future.

Communities and Local Government are committed to working with the Office of the Third Sector on promoting better commissioning practice, with a special focus on small third sector groups.

The publication today of guidance on understanding regional need for housing related support. Copies will be placed in the Library of the House.

Ongoing support from the Communities and Local Government regional resource teams to support local performance improvement on the commissioning and delivery of services taking into account the work being undertaken by Government offices and the regional improvement and efficiency partnerships.

FiReControl

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (Mr. Sadiq Khan): I wish to inform the House about the progress of the FiReControl project, which will establish a linked network of highly resilient fire control rooms across England to replace the current stand-alone facilities.

Major emergencies in recent years have shown us the very real challenges we face in today's world. The fire and rescue service is central to our ability to be able to respond to these and the Government are determined to support it by investing around £1 billion to ensure that it has the necessary capabilities and resilience. The FiReControl project is an important part of this investment.

FiReControl will give all fire and rescue services access to systems and technology that only a few currently benefit from. It will result in greater resilience and collaboration, better information and incident support for firefighters, and a better service to the public—both day to day and during major incidents.

The Government are investing £380 million in FiReControl and remain strongly committed to it. Good progress has been made on a number of fronts, including the completion of eight new highly resilient regional control centre buildings, the establishment of eight local authority controlled companies which bring together all relevant local partners, and the development of a strong network of regional project teams working to ensure the project is a success in their areas.

However, FiReControl is a complex and demanding project and as such is subject to rigorous ongoing review. Since I took up my post as fire Minister a thorough review of all aspects of the FiReControl project has been completed, and a number of difficulties with the ICT and other dimensions of the project were identified. These issues will result in some delay, and the FRS rightly expects us to address these in full.

As a result I can announce today that the project is now aiming to achieve cut-over to the first three regional control centres in the North East, East Midlands and South West in summer 2010—nine months later than previously expected, with the full system expected to be in place by spring 2012—five months later than originally planned. I want to emphasise however that, as with any project of this nature, we will only have certainty about the timing of these later stages of the project once earlier stages have been completed successfully.

Our updated plans are being delivered in close partnership with the fire and rescue service, fire and rescue authorities and our suppliers, EADS Defence and Security Systems Ltd. Shorter-term milestones will be monitored very carefully and progress shared with our partners. Longer-term milestones will be reviewed as the project progresses. Members of the fire and rescue service are being given more opportunities to contribute to the development of the project so that they can have full confidence in the new systems being developed, with staff embedded in national and local project teams and playing a full part in joint working groups.

I am also committed to ensuring transparency around the project wherever practical. So I am today publishing Part 2 of the 'FiReControl Business Case', and seeking views during a period of consultation. Part 1 of the business case was published on 8 July 2008 and was placed in the Library of the House. Part 2 will be placed in the Library of the House later today.

Local Government

The Minister for Local Government (John Healey): Earlier this year, Parliament debated and approved Structural Change Orders to create from 1 April 2009 nine new unitary councils—Bedford borough council, Cheshire East council, Cheshire West and Chester council, Central Bedfordshire council, Cornwall council, County Durham council, Northumberland council, Shropshire council and Wiltshire council.

We are working closely with those responsible locally for implementing these new unitary councils to complete the legislative framework needed to support the transition to these new councils. We have already made and laid before Parliament Staffing Regulations (June 2008), Transfer of Functions Regulations (August 2008), and two sets of Transitional Regulations (August and November 2008).

Today, I have laid before the House the Local Government (Structural Changes) (Finance) Regulations 2008, which represent a further significant milestone towards the completion of the legislative framework.

These regulations, made under part 1 of the Local Government and Public Involvement in Health Act 2007, make transitional, supplementary and consequential provision in relation to finance, including in particular the following matters:

- The setting and approval of budgets, and the process of billing for council tax and non-domestic rates for each unitary council's first financial year.
- Enabling the equalisation of council tax in restructuring areas to occur over a period of more than one year but at the latest in the financial year after the fifth anniversary of the reorganisation to provide where necessary for a more equitable process of equalisation. If these transitional provisions are not used, council tax equalisation will occur in the first financial year.
- Providing that existing local rating lists and valuation lists for a reorganising area will be the lists of the new councils on and after the reorganisation date, and providing for the amalgamation of these lists into a single document at any time after the reorganisation date.
- Ensuring that after a reorganisation, the new unitary council has continuity and responsibility for finance functions relating to earlier financial years.

I am confident that these regulations will ensure that the new unitary councils will have the powers they need to set their budget and council tax for 2009-10, and to bill and collect both their council tax and non-domestic rates for that year. They will also ensure that the new councils are able to fulfil their responsibilities, including enforcement activity, relating to earlier financial years.

No one underestimates the scale of the task those leading the changes in these areas face over the coming months. A key measure of success for the new unitary councils will be that, from the outset, their council tax is affordable and that they adopt a budget which both reflects the savings proposed in their original unitary bid and delivers efficient and quality local services. The framework the regulations put in place will enable them to do this.

CULTURE, MEDIA AND SPORT

State Aid Notification

The Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport (Andy Burnham): In June 2007, my right hon. Friend the Member for Dulwich and West Norwood (Tessa Jowell), who was then the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport, announced that the Government proposed to ask the BBC to make up to £14 million of licence fee funding available to assist Channel 4 with the capital costs of digital switchover. The announcement made clear that the assistance was subject to state aid approval from the European Commission and a formal notification seeking that approval was submitted to the Commission in October 2007.

In March this year, the Commission opened a formal investigation procedure in respect of the notification. The Government submitted a response to the Commission, as did two interested third parties.

In the period since the notification was made, the debate on the future of public service broadcasting in the UK has moved on significantly. Furthermore, the structural challenges that traditional commercially funded public service broadcasters face have been exacerbated by current cyclical conditions.

The Government have therefore brought forward their timeline for decisions and are now committed to take a more comprehensive view on the future institutional and financial framework of public service broadcasting, including the future of Channel 4, early in 2009 within the framework of the Digital Britain project. The Digital Britain project was launched in October to look at innovation, investment and quality in the digital and communications sectors. The Digital Britain report will be a comprehensive analysis of the United Kingdom's digital economy and will bring forward proposals to support the development of these sectors.

The emerging proposals are likely to be more wide-ranging than a proposition relating specifically to Channel 4's switchover costs. The Government will of course ensure that any new proposals for potential state aid arising from this wider consideration process are properly notified to the Commission in advance of implementation.

Against this background the Government have decided against proceeding with the notified proposals to provide assistance for Channel 4 in respect of its switchover costs. The Government have accordingly informed the Commission that they wish to withdraw the current state aid notification.

ENERGY AND CLIMATE CHANGE

EU Energy Council

The Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change (Edward Miliband): I am pleased to outline the agenda items for the forthcoming Energy Council in Brussels on 8 December where I plan to represent the UK.

The first item on the agenda is the EU climate and energy package—a directive on the improvement and extension of the EU Emissions Trading Scheme; a directive covering greenhouse gas emissions from sectors not covered by the EU ETS; a directive on regulatory storage of carbon dioxide; and a directive on the promotion of the use of energy from renewable sources. We expect the presidency to provide information on progress.

The presidency will report on progress in implementation of the current energy labelling and eco-design for energy-using products directive and we expect a debate on the proposal for a directive establishing a framework for the setting of eco-design requirements for energy related products.

Ministers will discuss the Second Strategic Energy Review (SEER2) on the basis of questions from the presidency. Member States are likely to welcome its publication and to express initial views on priorities. There will be further discussion at February's energy council, with a view to adopting an action plan at the March 2009 spring Council.

Finally, the presidency and Commission will report on the EU-Russia Permanent Partnership Council and the Ministerial Council of the Energy Community.

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Bluetongue Serotype One

The Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (Hilary Benn): On 25 November 2008 evidence of Bluetongue Serotype One infection was found in five imported cattle on a premises near Blackpool in Lancashire.

The animals were imported from within the BTV1 and BTV 8 restricted zone in the south-west of France and were detected as a result of post-import testing carried out by DEFRA on 19 November. These tests are carried out on all bluetongue susceptible animals arriving in the UK from continental Europe.

This is the first case of BTV1 infection in animals imported into the UK and the five animals have been culled as they may pose a disease threat to other animals. A further animal from the same consignment tested positive for bluetongue virus, though the serotype for this animal could not be confirmed after initial tests. This animal was also culled to prevent any further risk of disease spread.

There is no evidence to suggest that this import was illegal. The documentation for this livestock movement appears to be in accordance with the requirements of the EU legislation. Early investigations indicate that these animals were vaccinated, and had waited the 60 days as required before movement. The tests indicate that despite this some of the livestock may present a disease risk to UK livestock. We have therefore culled all six animals on a precautionary basis.

The premises are now under restriction while an epidemiological investigation takes place. This will include further checks on the other animals present on the premises.

There is no evidence that BTV1 is circulating in the UK and no additional control zones have been declared.

This response is in accordance with DEFRA's bluetongue control strategy, and with the full support of our core group of industry stakeholders and the devolved Administrations.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH OFFICE

Visit to Israel, the Occupied Territories, Syria and Lebanon

The Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (David Miliband): I visited Israel, the Occupied Palestinian Territories, Syria and Lebanon between 16 and 19 November. In Israel I met Prime Minister Olmert, Foreign Minister Livni, Defence Minister Barak and opposition leader Netanyahu. In Ramallah, I met President Abbas and Prime Minister Fayyad. In Syria I met President Assad and Foreign Minister Muallem. In Lebanon I met President Sleiman, Prime Minister Siniora and several senior political leaders. I also heard the perspectives of students, journalists, religious leaders and civil society activists. I spoke to them all about the current situation in the region, the prospects for progress towards a just and lasting settlement of the middle east conflict, and how the UK is seeking to reinforce the efforts made this year to contribute to a stronger more comprehensive peace effort in 2009.

The Annapolis process has been important in building understanding between the parties. It has helped restate the fundamentals of a negotiated settlement, and that there is no viable alternative to a two-state solution. The Israel-Syria talks are a promising beginning. We should build on these to create a fresh dynamic: a more comprehensive process that can deliver a broader peace across the region.

In all four places, I made the case for accepting compromises and taking decisions for peace. I made it clear that we recognised that all faced hard choices: Israel fulfilling its roadmap commitment on illegal settlements and improving conditions on the west bank, and particularly Gaza, consistent with Israeli security concerns; the Palestinians finding a way to reunite around negotiations and non-violence; Syria moving towards playing a constructive, rather than destructive role, helping restrain the militants and restating its commitment to the Arab peace initiative; and an independent and democratic Lebanese Government surmounting sectarianism to build a state that can deliver peace and security for its people.

I heard much about the challenges. In Israel, I discussed the threat from Iran and I saw first hand the rockets which have been fired at Sderot. I also heard much about the suffering in Gaza. It is vital that both sides seek to reinforce the ceasefire: Hamas by engaging with President Abbas and moving to non-violence and the Quartet principles; and Israel by easing restrictions on life in Gaza. The recent tightening of these restrictions on humanitarian access—as highlighted by the UN Secretary-General—is of serious concern and while I welcome the re-opening of the Kerem Shalom crossing on 24 November, I support the UN Secretary-General's call for Israel to permit the sustained delivery of humanitarian assistance to the civilian population of Gaza.

My visit to Syria was the first at a senior political level since the then Prime Minister's visit in 2001. Syria is an important regional player, with a significant role to play in securing stability in the region. I visited now because Syria has taken some positive steps recently including beginning talks with Israel and undertaking to establish diplomatic relations with Lebanon. It came after a series of meetings with the Syrian Foreign Minister in which they had indicated a desire for a better relationship with the UK. I was clear about areas of concern: Lebanon; the flow of foreign fighters into Iraq; counter-terrorism; MEPP; and human rights—but I welcomed the positive moves they had made and expressed a willingness to build on these. Syria has an important choice before it: to be a force for stability or instability. I urged Syria to take the former.

The thread running through the visit was the need for a comprehensive peace and for all to work for it. The UK will continue to work closely with those in the region and beyond to reinforce the peace process and work to create hope that progress is possible.

HOME DEPARTMENT

Police and Community Safety (Funding Settlement 2009-10)

The Minister for Security, Counter-Terrorism, Crime and Policing (Mr. Vernon Coaker): I have today placed in the Library our proposals for allocation of police grant for England and Wales for 2009-10, with indicative allocations for 2010-11. I intend to implement the proposals on police grant subject to consideration of any representations and to the approval of the House.

The Government announced last year provisional funding totals for the three-year period 2008-09 to 2010-11. Three-year settlements were widely welcomed by police authorities, enabling them to develop medium-term financial strategies and control their spending. The recent multi-year pay deal for the police will help improve further still their medium-term planning. We intend to implement the settlement for 2009-10 broadly unchanged from last year's announcement.

The funding settlement for next year is built on considerable investment in the police service since 1997-98. On a like-for-like basis, Government grant for the police will have increased by over 60 per cent. or over £3.7 billion between 1997-98 and 2010-11. This has helped to expand local policing considerably. Police officer numbers at the end of March this year remain historically high at 140,230 (14,405 more than 1997). The police work force overall, including officers, support staff and community support officers, has increased by 27.5 per cent. (50,246) since 1997 to 233,263 in March 2008, a record number. The work force increased by 3,166 (+1.4 per cent.) between March 2007 and March 2008.

The police reform programme continues. The Policing Green Paper "From the Neighbourhood to the National: Policing our communities together" was published on 17 July. It set out the Government's vision for the future of policing and put forward proposals to empower citizens, professionalise and free the police from unnecessary bureaucracy and to sharpen the strategic role of Government. Over 300 formal responses to consultation were received. Home Office Ministers and officials have met over a thousand people to share views and prompt debate. We are considering the many views that were put forward and will produce a public response to the consultation shortly setting out the Government's position and plans for implementation.

We have made good progress to date in implementing Sir Ronnie Flanagan's recommendations on reducing bureaucracy. We are also developing the new, single national target on confidence. This target is to increase public confidence that agencies are tackling local crime and antisocial behaviour priorities.

Neighbourhood policing is continuing to transform police forces' relationships with their communities through closer engagement with local people, joint problem solving and working together to make changes for the longer term to make communities safer. Every community in England and Wales now has a dedicated neighbourhood policing team aiming to identify and tackle the key policing priorities identified by local people. The next phase of neighbourhood policing will concentrate on integrating with other local authority services at a neighbourhood level. Neighbourhood crime and justice co-ordinators will help ensure that this is delivered faster and further. This next phase will also build on good practice to deliver a national pledge that guarantees the public key service standards.

The Home Office also contributes £76 million to the safer and stronger communities fund and the young persons substance misuse partnership grant delivered by local government. In addition, the capital element of the safer and stronger communities fund remains at £18 million. This funding will help local areas to deliver national and local improvement priorities such as those set out in local area agreements.

Total provision for policing revenue grants in 2009-10 will be £9,482 million, an overall increase of 2.8 per cent. I propose to distribute the settlement as set out below.

Table1: Police Revenue Funding Settlement 2009-10 compared with 2008-09

| | 2008-09 £m | 2009-10 £m | 2010-11 £m[2] |

[1]This figure includes the formula grant allocations in table 2 plus former specific grants (£208m) that are now added to general grant but are not distributed according to the formula.
[2]Indicative figures.

Police funding proposals within the local government finance system for England are being announced by my right hon. Friend the Minister for Local Government today and those for Wales by the Welsh Assembly Government.

Provisional general policing grants (for example, Home Office police grant, revenue support grant and national non domestic rates) for English and Welsh police authorities in 2009-10 are set out at table 2. Indicative figures for 2010-11 are given in table 3.

Within the general grant provision of 2.7 per cent., the funding floor was set at 2.5 per cent. for each of the CSR years. Each police authority in England and Wales is guaranteed an increase of at least this level. The grant floor provides for stability but at the same time a degree of grant scaling has enabled us to target resources to areas with greater relative need. Our promised review of the funding formula before the next CSR is already under way with active collaboration from the police community.

The Government are clear that there is no excuse for excessive increases in precepts on council tax next year. We will not hesitate to use capping powers to deal with excessive council tax increases in 2009-10, including requiring authorities to re-bill if necessary. We took capping action against seven police authorities in 2008-09. This included designating Cheshire, Leicestershire and Warwickshire police authorities for capping in advance for 2009-10. My right hon. Friend the Minister for Local Government is announcing today that action is being taken forward to limit these authorities' precept increases to around 3 per cent. in 2009-10. The three authorities have 21 days in which to challenge our decision. Any challenges will be carefully considered before final decisions are taken.

I have again ensured that Welsh police authorities are treated in line with English police authorities. I have provided additional support of £15.5 million in 2009-10 to ensure that Dyfed-Powys, Gwent and North Wales police authorities receive at least a minimum grant increase of 2.5 per cent. Floor funding is also partly funded by reducing police grant to South Wales police authority, so that it too will receive the level of grant it would if it were in England.

There are some small changes between funding for the four Welsh police authorities due to corrected data from the Welsh Assembly Government on the number of band D properties in Wales. This correction has no effect on the amount or distribution of funds for English police authorities.

Specific grants for police authorities

Police authorities will continue to receive specific grants for particular schemes. Details are set out in table 4.

Counter-terrorism funding—We will continue to invest in counter-terrorism policing. As announced last year, funding for police counter-terrorism will be increased from £524 million in 2008-09 to £552 million in 2009-10.

Crime fighting fund—Some £277 million will again be made available to forces in 2009-10.

Neighbourhood policing—We will maintain the ring-fence on this funding for at least the next two years to ensure that it is properly embedded. Funding will increase by an average of 2.7 per cent. in each year. A total of £332 million will be made available in 2009-10.

Basic command unit fund—This will run for one final year at the same level as in 2008-09, £40 million, while plans are developed for a new community safety fund to be created from the resources in the existing BCU fund from April 2010.

Funding additional to the settlement

Protective services—We made available an additional £35 million from 2008-09 to 2010-11 to support tackling serious organised crime and other protective services—£11 million a year was provided in the first two years, rising to £13 million in 2010-11, to ensure all forces meet the national standards for capability and capacity in protective services by 2011.

Guns, gangs and knives—In 2008-09, £6.8 million was made available to the 10 police forces in the tackling knives action programme to enable them and their partners to undertake additional activity to tackle knife crime and gang-related violence. For 2009-10, we will consider making additional specific grant available to areas where knife and gun crime is particularly prevalent or there are significant concerns over gang-related activity. This will enable the police and their partners to bear down on serious violence in our communities.

The safer and stronger communities fund—Resource element of £61 million and the young peoples substance misuse grant of £15 million will continue to be paid into the area-based grant for 2009-10. The safer and stronger communities fund capital element will remain at £18 million, and will be paid direct to local authorities by the Home Office.

Capital

Capital grant and supported capital expenditure totalling £220 million will be allocated in 2009-10 with each police authority receiving the same allocation as in 2008-09.

In addition to the general provision of capital grant in 2008-09, a £50 million capital fund was provided to increase the number of handheld computers in use by frontline officers. In view of the enthusiastic response from frontline officers, and the success of the programme, a further £25 million capital was announced in the Policing Green Paper as part of our campaign to reduce bureaucracy, making a total of £75 million for the whole programme over the CSR years.

Efficiency

Improving performance and increasing efficiency remains critical. We are acutely aware that all provisions for the police must be fully justified. At local level, as we set out in the Policing Green Paper, it is for police authorities to set ambitious local targets and to hold their service to account for delivery. Full weight will have to be given to the importance of driving increased efficiency and productivity across the public sector.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Zimbabwe

The Secretary of State for International Development (Mr. Douglas Alexander): The humanitarian situation in Zimbabwe is rapidly deteriorating, with an escalating cholera outbreak making an already serious situation much worse.

Today I am making available a £10 million package of support to provide life-saving assistance and respond to the escalation of the disease. This support will:

provide essential drugs and medical supplies; support the provision of basic health services; and help UNICEF treat cholera cases and prevent further outbreaks.

This package includes £3 million new funding, and brings our total support to the people of Zimbabwe to £47 million this financial year.

With a collapsing health system and a population badly weakened by a prolonged food crisis, HIV and AIDS, the threat from cholera is all the more severe. More than 8,000 cases have already been reported, with over 300 deaths—the vast majority of them preventable under normal conditions. Our contribution will be used to provide vital medical supplies and equipment to treat patients, provide clean water supplies, and ensure that front-line health workers are available to treat patients.

The food crisis in Zimbabwe also remains a serious challenge. The UN estimates that five million people will be in need of food aid as we move into the new year. To date, the UK has provided £9 million to the World Food Programme's appeal. With the results of nutritional surveys in the coming weeks we will, alongside the UN and other donors, monitor closely the need for further contributions.

As the group of elders noted during their recent visit to southern Africa, the need to arrest the humanitarian crisis is now urgent. There is no doubt that this has been caused by a systemic and prolonged failure of policy and leadership in Zimbabwe. Only a political solution and a major change of policy direction by the Government of Zimbabwe can provide what is needed to Zimbabwe's people. The international community will continue to support the immediate needs of the Zimbabwean people.

With international partners, we stand ready to play our part in Zimbabwe's economic and social recovery when the time comes.

JUSTICE

Probation Services (Best Value)

The Minister of State, Ministry of Justice (Mr. David Hanson): The Government are committed to ensuring taxpayers receive the best possible value for money from the record investment made in probation in recent years.

I announced on 9 April 2008 the consultation on a best value regime for probation services and I am pleased to announce to the House the outcome of that consultation. I propose, following the consultation, to introduce a new best value framework as signalled during the passage of the Offender Management Bill last year.

The National Offender Management Service Agency will require local probation boards and trusts to undertake a rolling programme of best value reviews. The proposed framework will apply to probation boards and trusts with the exception of areas reserved to probation trusts in the Offender Management Act 2007. It will enable boards and trusts to demonstrate, in a transparent way, the value for money of their services, and to drive improvements in the economy, efficiency and effectiveness of their service delivery. Having considered the options, I have decided that best value will proceed on the basis of benchmarking of selected areas of work, assessment of probation performance against that benchmark, and greater competition for all sectors for those who do not meet the required standard through improvements to existing services.

I intend to announce shortly the first areas of work for which best value will apply. The Government are currently developing a regulatory framework to ensure that competition is conducted in a fair and transparent way, allowing all sectors to compete. Discussions are currently ongoing with interested parties and will be published in due course.

The measures ensure greater value for money and more effective services, to punish and reform offenders and to deliver better outcomes for victims and the public.

I am grateful for the response to the consultation from a wide range of interested parties.

Copies of the best value consultation response document will be placed in the Libraries of both Houses. Copies will also be available in the Vote Office and Printed Paper Office and on the internet at http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/cp0608.htm

Publication of Election Candidates' Addresses

The Minister of State, Ministry of Justice (Mr. Michael Wills): The Government are today publishing a consultation paper which seeks views on whether candidates' addresses should continue to be disclosed automatically during UK parliamentary elections.

The proposal has been made following the removal of MPs and peers from certain provisions of the Freedom of Information Act. It is argued that such public figures and their families face more than ordinary risks to their safety, security and peace of mind and that special considerations therefore apply to them.

Others argue that the electoral process should be open and transparent and that those putting themselves forward for public office in this way should be prepared to face those risks in the interests of accountability and the free expression of democracy.

This paper seeks to examine those arguments in more depth, as well as the practical issues which may arise from any proposed change and the implications for the electorate, for the electoral process, for candidates and for administrators.

The Government have open minds on this issue and the purpose of this consultation is to seek views on the proposal that the full home addresses of candidates should no longer appear on ballot papers, nomination papers and other electoral documents open to public inspection at UK parliamentary elections.

Copies of the consultation paper will be placed in the Libraries of both Houses. Copies will also be available in the Vote Office and the Printed Paper Office.

TRANSPORT

Motorcycling Test

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Transport (Jim Fitzpatrick): I have today published a consultation paper seeking views on a proposal to introduce a new practical motorcycling test and associated fees.

It is proposed to split the practical motorcycling test into two modules:

Module 1—a specified manoeuvres test.

Module 2—a road riding test.

It is also proposed to increase the practical motorcycling test fees from 5 October 2009.

Copies of the consultation paper and initial impact assessments have been placed in the Libraries of both Houses.

The documents are also available from the DSA website—www.dsa.gov.uk—or by telephone on 0115 936 6092.

Those wishing to comment on the proposals have until 9 January 2009 to do so.

King Review (Government Response)

The Secretary of State for Transport (Mr. Geoffrey Hoon): I am today publishing the Government Response to the King Review of Low-Carbon Cars. Copies of the report will be available in the Libraries of both Houses and a further copy of the report will be available on the Department for Transport website at www.dft.gov.uk

The Government warmly welcome Professor King's wide-ranging and comprehensive report, published in two parts in October 2007 and March 2008, which set out the technology options likely to contribute to decarbonising road transport. Professor King made a number of policy recommendations ensuring that Government, industry and research communities all contribute to reducing carbon emissions from cars. The response document describes how Government are taking forward Professor King's recommendations as part of our wider mission to tackle the climate change impacts of the transport sector.

Professor King's report provides grounds for optimism that major reductions in road transport emissions can be achieved in ways that are technologically feasible, affordable and publicly acceptable.

Professor King's recommendations have a particular emphasis on technology and removing barriers to behavioural change. There are various recommendations aimed at driving technology change through EU legislation and promoting the research, development or deployment of relevant technologies to reduce the impacts of vehicles throughout their life-cycle. We are working on all these areas with a view to seeing a new car fleet average of 100g$CO_2$/km by 2020—a target that will require deployment of a range of technologies such as all-electric and plug-in hybrid cars that hold the promise of ultra-low carbon private transport.

We intend to seize the opportunities a low-carbon transport sector represents, thereby helping to reduce the UK's emissions from domestic sources and contributing to meeting our greenhouse gas targets as set out in the Climate Change Bill 2008.

Civil Aviation Authority

The Secretary of State for Transport (Mr. Geoffrey Hoon): Sir Joseph Pilling's report of his independent strategic review of the Civil Aviation Authority (CAA) was published by the then Secretary of State, my right hon. Friend the Member for Bolton, West (Ruth Kelly) on 17 July. My right hon. Friend accepted Sir Joseph's recommendations in relation to the CAA's corporate governance and promised a further statement in the autumn. I should like to add my thanks to Sir Joseph for his important contribution to ensuring that the CAA will be as effective a regulator in the future as it has been in the past.

I accept that the CAA's current status as a public corporation should be retained. As Sir Joseph recommended, the department will work with the CAA to develop amendments to bring the legislative framework up to date, addressing specific issues identified in the report. As Sir Joseph noted, some of his recommendations were relevant to the separate review of airport economic regulation which my predecessor announced in April and to improving the passenger experience, such as his recommendation for a statutory Air Transport Users Council (AUC). He was also right to ask us to consider whether the UK's aviation regulator should have a general environmental duty and in what context. We are looking sympathetically at these connected issues, which would require legislation and prior consultation, and will make a further announcement in the early part of next year.

Otherwise, I am pleased to be able to announce that I have accepted in broad principle Sir Joseph's recommendations, as has the CAA board. Implementation of the report's many recommendations, and corresponding revisions to the sponsorship statement which defines our relationship, are in hand with two exceptions. We are deferring a decision on changing the route of appeal for fitness of character decisions until the general regulatory chamber and the supporting first tier tribunals are fully established. Also, in the financial downturn which has developed since Sir Joseph Pilling reported, I have agreed with the CAA that it is not a priority to recruit additional international staff or rent separate premises for the AUC although the CAA will endeavour to meet the principle of these recommendations in other ways.

I am also pleased to say that the process of governance change has begun. We are currently seeking a new part-time non-executive Chair for the CAA and this will be followed by the recruitment of a chief executive for the CAA, on the basis envisaged by Sir Joseph Pilling.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Protection from Disability Discrimination

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (Jonathan Shaw): In preparing the disability discrimination provisions for inclusion in the proposed Equality Bill, the Government have been considering the implications of both the House of Lords' judgment of 25 June 2008 on the case of the London borough of Lewisham v Malcolm, and the European Commission's proposals to introduce a new directive that will provide protection against discrimination based on disability, religion or belief, sexual orientation and age, in areas beyond employment.

We have considered how the present Disability Discrimination Act 1995 now operates in respect of discrimination that arises for a reason related to the individual's disability. We have concluded that it would be appropriate for the disability provisions in the Equality Bill to take a different approach to this type of discrimination from that currently taken in the Disability Discrimination Act 1995. We intend instead to use the concept of indirect discrimination. We consider that this will provide improved protection for disabled people in the Equality Bill by ensuring that the legislation re-establishes an appropriate balance between the rights of disabled people and the interest of duty holders. It will also improve consistency within the Bill between the disability provisions and the provisions for people who have the other protected characteristics, and ensure compliance with the anticipated requirements of European anti-discrimination legislation.

We are today beginning a consultation on the proposal to adopt the concept of indirect discrimination for disability within the Equality Bill. The consultation will end on 6 January 2009.

Preparing for the Bill is a substantial undertaking as it will bring together the wide range of equality legislation. In order to allow for analysis of the consultation responses, and to ensure that decisions based on the analysis can inform the provisions in the Bill, it is necessary to restrict the consultation period to six weeks. However, to ensure that we obtain an appropriately broad range of input to the consultation, the written consultation is being supplemented by a range of discussions with key stakeholders including representatives from the fields of disability, equality, business, advice, and the voluntary sector.

The consultation document is being sent to around 200 organisations and will be available on the website of the Office for Disability Issues at:
http://www.officefordisability.gov.uk/indirectdiscrimination and on my Department's website at:
http://www.dwp.gov.uk/consultations/2008.

Copies will be placed in the House Library.

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Pension Schemes

The Minister of State, Department for Work and Pensions (Ms Rosie Winterton): My noble Friend the Lord McKenzie of Luton has made the following statement:

"During the passage of the Pensions Bill through both Houses, there has been much debate on the Government's view on responsible investment and disinvestment by pension schemes. This is clearly an issue of some importance—particularly to trustees—and is one which is continually developing as the body of case law on responsible investment evolves.

It would be inappropriate for the Government to comment on the future development of the existing principles contained in case law, as the interpretation of case law is of course a matter for the courts and not for Ministers.

However, I would like to put on record the Government's view of the law. There is no reason in law why, in making investment decisions, trustees cannot consider social, ethical and environmental considerations, including sustainability, in addition to their usual criteria of financial returns, security and diversification.

It follows from this that it may be appropriate for trustees to engage in these considerations with companies in which they invest. This may include disinvesting from such companies if, acting in accordance with their fiduciary duties and the objects of their trust, they consider that this is right and in the best interests of their members."

NORTHERN IRELAND

Bloody Sunday Tribunal of Inquiry

Mr. Gregory Campbell: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland with reference to the answer of 21 February 2001, Official Report, columns 772-74W, on the Saville inquiry, whether the information provided on cash expenditure and main categories of expenditure included all the costs incurred by the Saville inquiry to the end of October 2006; and what expenditure in categories other than those listed in the answer has been incurred since October 2006. [236344]

Paul Goggins: The answer of 21 February 2007, Official Report, columns 772-74, provided a breakdown of expenditure on the Bloody Sunday inquiry into six categories: legal fees; accommodation; transportation; provision of IT equipment; hiring of halls and other. The final category included all spend on the inquiry not falling into the first five categories. As such, there is no expenditure incurred by the inquiry since October 2006 that could not be included in categories listed in this answer.

Departmental ICT

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many (a) memory sticks, (b) laptop computers, (c) desktop computers, (d) hard drives and (e) mobile telephones were (i) lost by and (ii) stolen from his Department in each year since 1997. [234083]

Paul Goggins: No memory sticks or desktop computers have been lost or stolen in the period 2001-08.

Between 2001 and 2008 five laptops were stolen; one in 2001, one in 2006 and two in 2007. There were none lost in this period.

One hard drive was reported stolen in 2001.

Between 2001 and 2006 22 mobile phones were lost; seven in 2001, two in 2002, two in 2003, two in 2005, two in 2006, five in 2007 and two in 2008. In the same period six were reported stolen; one in 2001, three in 2004, one in 2005 and one in 2007.

Figures prior to 2001 are not available.

Departmental Lost Property

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what (a) equipment and (b) data was lost by his Department in the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [231435]

Paul Goggins: The information is as follows:

(a) During the last 12 months two mobile phones have been lost by Northern Ireland Office staff.

(b) The Northern Ireland Office, in accordance with Cabinet Office guidance, did not report any personal data related incidents for the period 2007-08.

This answer relates to the core Northern Ireland Office Department and its agencies only.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many Questions for written answer were tabled to his Department in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04, (c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235387]

Mr. Woodward: Parliamentary questions for my Department are recorded by calendar year rather than by parliamentary Session.

The total number of questions received per year are as follows:

| | Number of questions |
|---|---|
| 2002 | 1,729 |
| 2003 | 2,908 |
| 2004 | 4,137 |
| 2005 | 4,476 |
| 2006 | 5,046 |
| 2007 | 1,896 |
| 2008 (up to 11 November) | 1,336 |

These figures cover questions tabled in both the House of Commons and House of Lords, including oral questions in the House of Commons. They exclude transferred or withdrawn questions.

In order to determine what proportion of questions were answered substantively and which were not answered on the grounds of disproportionate cost would require a manual trawl of all 21,528 questions. This information could therefore be provided only at disproportionate cost.

However, as an illustration of the proportion of questions not answered on the grounds of disproportionate cost my officials have carried out a manual trawl for questions tabled in 2008. Of the 1,336 questions received, 23 received no substantive answer on the grounds of disproportionate cost. This represents 0.02 per cent. of the total.

Irish Language

Mr. Paterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many of his Department's employees are fluent in Irish. [234636]

Paul Goggins: The Northern Ireland Office does not hold a record of the number of its employees who are fluent in Irish.

Recruitment: Religion

Mr. Paterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many people who are (a) Catholic and (b) Protestant were recruited by his Department in the last two years; and what percentage of the number of recruits this represented. [234639]

Paul Goggins: In compliance with the Fair Employment and Treatment (NT) Order 1998 monitoring regulations, all NIO staff working in Northern Ireland, both home civil servants and Northern Ireland civil servants, are monitored for community background. The Department also has a small number of staff working in London whose community background is not monitored.

164 permanent staff were recruited to the NIO core Department in the last two years, of whom 73 (44.5 per cent.) were Protestant and 75 (45.7 per cent.) were Roman Catholic. Of the remaining 16, the community background of 15 (9.1 per cent.) could not be determined, while 1 (0.6 per cent.) was recruited in London.

Saville inquiry

Mr. Paterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland when he expects the Saville inquiry to report. [234175]

Mr. Woodward: Lord Saville wrote to me on 4 November 2008 stating that the tribunal now expects to deliver the completed report to me in autumn of next year.

OLYMPICS

Brazilian Grand Prix

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Minister for the Olympics how many people attended the Brazilian Grand Prix at the expense of her Office; what the purpose of the visit was in each case; and what estimate she has made of the costs incurred. [234828]

Tessa Jowell: This Government publish an annual list of all ministerial travel costing over £500. The list includes a breakdown of travel by all Ministers and the global figure for the cost of ministerial travel includes the cost of staff accompanying Ministers. Detail of travel taken in the current year will be published as soon as it is ready after the end of the financial year. All ministerial travel is undertaken in accordance with the Ministerial Code.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Minister for the Olympics how many Questions for written answer were tabled to her in each Session since she was appointed; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235386]

Tessa Jowell: The number of written questions tabled (and transferred) to me as Minister for the Olympics is as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 82 |
| 2007-08 | 293 |

Information obtained from the DCMS Parliamentary Questions Database.

Information on how many written questions were answered substantively and not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost is not readily available and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. However all of my answers are a matter of public record and can be found in the Official Report.

SCOTLAND

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many external consultants work for his Department. [236643]

Ann McKechin: As at 30 October 2008, the Scotland Office had one external consultant.

Departmental Lost Property

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what (a) equipment and (b) data was lost by his Department in the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [231432]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office, in accordance with Cabinet Office guidance, did not report any personal data related incidents for the period 2007-08; or lost any equipment in the same period.

Hotels

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how much was spent on hotel bills by his Department in 2007-08. [236642]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office does not separately record expenditure on overnight accommodation from other forms of subsistence such as meal allowances, day subsistence, incidental expenses and motor mileage.

Performance Appraisal

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many staff in his Department did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235213]

Ann McKechin: All the staff in the Scotland Office are on secondment from the Scottish Executive or the Ministry of Justice who hold the individual personnel records, including annual performance. Poor performance is dealt with by line management within the procedures prescribed by the parent Departments. The Office does not maintain a central record of the performance of staff.

HOUSE OF COMMONS COMMISSION

Performance Appraisal

David Simpson: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission how many staff in the House service did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235221]

Nick Harvey: The total number of staff in the House of Commons service who did not receive an acceptable assessment grade in 2007-08 was 12 out of a total of 1,402 staff. These figures exclude staff within catering and retail services who do not receive an annual performance assessment.

CHURCH COMMISSIONERS

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the hon. Member for Middlesbrough, representing the Church Commissioners how many questions for written answer were tabled to the hon. Member representing the Church Commissioners in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04, (c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235399]

Sir Stuart Bell: The Commissioners' records of questions are not ordered by parliamentary Session but in calendar years and they do not differentiate between questions for written and oral answer.

However, I can tell the hon. Gentleman that the total numbers of questions I have answered for the Church Commissioners in each of the calendar years since 2002 are as follows:

| | Questions (oral and written) |
|---|---|
| 2002 | 82 |
| 2003 | 54 |
| 2004 | 57 |
| 2005 | 56 |
| 2006 | 71 |
| 2007 | 69 |
| 2008 to date | 42 |

I believe that they have all been answered substantively and none, so far as I can recall, have not been answered on grounds of disproportionate cost.

Older Workers

Mr. Burstow: To ask the hon. Member for Middlesbrough, representing the Church Commissioners how many people recruited by the Church Commissioners in 2007-08 were aged over (a) 55 years and (b) 60 years; and what percentage this represented of the number of new recruits in each case. [235250]

Sir Stuart Bell: In 2007 the Commissioners recruited one person aged 60 (representing 12.5 per cent. of their new recruits in that year). They have not recruited anyone over 55, so far in 2008.

WALES

Departmental Internet

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales for which Government websites his Department is responsible; how many visitors each received in the last period for which figures are available; and what the cost of maintaining each site was in that period. [235028]

Mr. Paul Murphy: My Department is responsible for two websites:

www.walesoffice.gov.uk

www.swyddfa.cymru.gov.uk

In the period July 2008-September 2008 they received 4,439 hits.

The cost of running these sites for this period was £1,725.

Departmental NDPBs

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what the remit is of each non-departmental public body sponsored by his Department; and what budget each has been set for (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [236935]

Mr. Paul Murphy: The Wales Office sponsors no non-departmental bodies.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many Questions for written answer were tabled to his Department in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04, (c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235380]

Mr. Paul Murphy: The information is as follows:

| | Questions | Percentage answered substantively |
|---|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 330 | 99.5 |
| 2003-04 | 202 | 100 |
| 2004-05 | 75 | 97 |
| 2005-06 | 487 | 97.5 |
| 2006-07 | 272 | 97 |
| 2007-08 (to date) | 378 | 98 |

EC Action

Mrs. Gillan: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many officials support him when he represents the interests of Wales at EU institutions. [236209]

Mr. Paul Murphy: I have not held any discussions at EU institutions since my re-appointment but plan to do so in the new year.

The number of officials accompanying my will be kept to a minimum.

CULTURE, MEDIA AND SPORT

Casinos: Licensing

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport pursuant to the answer of 11 November 2008, Official Report, column 1092W, on casinos: licensing, whether a casino which is not one of the 16 small and large casinos may be opened in an area outside one of the 53 permitted areas; and if he will make a statement. [236255]

Mr. Sutcliffe: It is not permitted for a casino which is not one of the 16 new small and large casinos permitted under the Gambling Act 2005 to be opened in an area other than one of the 53 permitted areas.

Casinos other than 2005 Act casinos are licensed under the Gaming Act 1968. The 1968 Act established the principle of permitted areas in order to prevent a proliferation in the number of small casinos.

This remains a key objective of the Government's casino policy: we believe that limiting casinos licensed under the 1968 Act to the 53 permitted areas will continue to act as a deterrent to proliferation, as it is unlikely that operators will want to open more casinos in these limited geographical areas than the market there can naturally sustain.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many (a) page hits and (b) visitors his Departmental website received in 2007-08. [232802]

Mr. Sutcliffe: Visitor figures for 2007-08 are provided as follows:

Departmental Recruitment

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many people recruited by his Department in 2007-08 were aged over (a) 55 years and (b) 60 years; and what percentage this represented of the number of new recruits in each case. [235248]

Mr. Sutcliffe: As the values involved are less than five in DCMS standard statistical practice prevents us from releasing this information to protect individuals' identities.

Football: Debts

Mr. Kilfoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport if he will bring forward legislative proposals to (a) regulate the debt of professional football clubs and (b) regulate the ownership of professional football clubs, with particular reference to foreign ownership. [235992]

Mr. Sutcliffe: Neither the Secretary of State nor I are currently considering any legislation to regulate the debt or the ownership of professional football clubs.

However, I understand that these issues are of concern to the public and I have therefore sought the views of the football authorities on these and other issues. I look forward to receiving their response.

Gambling: Regulation

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport pursuant to the answer of 21 July 2008, Official Report, columns 805-06W, on gambling, what steps the Gambling Commission has taken in respect of those gambling operations which failed its mystery shopper tests; if he will place in the Library a list of those organisations which have failed the tests to date; how many such tests have been conducted to date; how many remote gambling operations have failed the tests; and in which jurisdictions those remote organisations are based. [234866]

Mr. Sutcliffe: A pilot mystery shopping exercise was undertaken in the summer of 2007 on remote sites operated by prospective licensees and others. The Commission also conducts an ongoing programme of mystery shopping visits to remote gambling websites as part of its wider compliance effort for licensed remote gambling operators. The Commission expects to conduct further testing of operators licensed in other jurisdictions but to date all of those tested since 1 September 2007 under the provisions of the Gambling Act 2005 are operators licensed in Great Britain.

In instances where deficiencies are identified, the Commission engages in further testing and may require operators to respond to our compliance findings in writing or conduct formal compliance visits depending on the circumstances. All of the licensed operators identified as having questions over their procedures in the pilot study undertaken last summer were found to have effective measures in place in our more recent testing.

The Commission has the power to impose a more serious regulatory sanction on any licensed operator in the remote gambling sector but has not yet had reason to do so.

The Commission has advised me that by disclosing the names of websites visited it would compromise transparent communication between the regulator and regulated community, prejudicing the Commission's ability to investigate instances of non-compliance. In the light of this advice, it would not be appropriate to provide this information.

Gambling: Young People

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what research the Gambling Commission has undertaken on age verification procedures in jurisdictions which have remote online gambling companies allowed to advertise in the UK. [234869]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The Gambling Commission has not undertaken specific research relating to age verification procedures in jurisdictions permitted to advertise remote gambling in the United Kingdom. However, the Commission has provided advice to the Department for Culture, Media and Sport on certain technical aspects in relation to applications received by the Department to be allowed to advertise gambling in the UK.

Lotteries

Mr. Betts: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport when he expects to lay before the House the order increasing society lottery limits. [234823]

Barbara Follett: I shall very shortly be laying an order before the House to increase the proceeds limit for social lottery draws.

Museums and Galleries

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many visits there were to national museums in each of the last 16 years. [234505]

Barbara Follett: The information requested is set out in the following tables.

Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what the daily average number of domestic visitors to each (a) museum and (b) art gallery in London in receipt of Government funding was in the most recent period for which figures are available. [234582]

Barbara Follett: The information is as follows:

|---|---|
| British Museum | 6,396 |
| Geffrye Museum | 220 |
| Horniman Museum | 1,270 |
| Imperial War Museum | 3,652 |

| Museum | Average daily domestic visits |
|---|---|
| National Maritime Museum | 2,281 |
| Science Museum London | 4,430 |
| Natural History Museum | 6,162 |
| Sir John Soane's Museum | 192 |
| Victoria and Albert Museum of Childhood, Bethnal Green | 849 |
| Victoria and Albert Museum, South Kensington | 3,804 |
| Wallace Collection | 513 |

| Gallery | Average daily domestic visits |
|---|---|
| National Gallery | 5,863 |
| National Portrait Gallery | 2,955 |

These figures were derived from dividing the total number of domestic visits to each of the museums and galleries in 2007-08 by 365.

The figures for the Imperial War Museum, Natural History Museum and the Tate include domestic visits to branches outside of London. We do not collect information on domestic visits by branch.

Official Visits: Sports

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many (a) Ministers and (b) officials from his Department attended the Brazilian Grand Prix in an official capacity; what the purpose of the visit was in each case; and what estimate he has made of the cost to his Department. [234770]

Mr. Sutcliffe: This Government publish an annual list of all ministerial travel costing over £500. The list includes a breakdown of travel by all Ministers and the global figure for the cost of ministerial travel includes the cost of staff accompanying Ministers. Detail of travel taken in the current year will be published as soon as it is ready after the end of the financial year. All ministerial travel is undertaken in accordance with the Ministerial Code.

Sports: Finance

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what funding sports national governing bodies (a) have received in the current funding cycle and (b) will receive in the next funding cycle. [235167]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The information is as follows:

(a) The table details funding provided from the Exchequer and Lottery to sport national governing bodies, allocated by Sport England and UK Sport, in the current funding cycle 2005-09.

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| UK Sport | 266.9 |
| Sport England | 317.5 |
| Total | 584.4 |

It should be noted that the figures for Sport England do not include funding provided from the Community Investment Fund as to ascertain this would result in disproportionate cost.

(b) UK Sport and Sport England have not yet made final decisions on allocations to Sport National Governing Bodies for the next funding cycle (2009-13). This will be considered by their respective boards in December 2008.

WOMEN AND EQUALITY

Racial Harassment

David Simpson: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how many complaints of racial abuse relating to staff for which her Office is responsible have been (a) investigated and (b) upheld in the last 12 months. [236909]

Maria Eagle: There have been no such complaints since the Government Equalities Office was established on 12 October 2007.

JUSTICE

Community Legal Advice: Marketing

Peter Luff: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice pursuant to the answer of 5 November 2008, Official Report, column 621W, on community legal advice: marketing, on what basis the 104 hon. Members who did not request a leaflet stand were selected to receive one; for what reason stands were sent to no more than 151 hon. Members; and if he will make a statement. [234831]

Mr. Malik: The agreed practice for distribution of Community Legal Advice (CLA) marketing materials and stands is to advise organisations of their availability and provide them with details for ordering any materials. An introductory letter is sent and only those requesting stands are provided with the leaflets and stands.

However, the Birmingham regional office recently sent out around 100 stands in error to MPs in the west and east midlands who had not requested them, together with a letter of introduction but without the standard offer letter preceding any delivery of stands. All other Legal Services Commission regional offices and the central CLA team have only sent out stands as requested.

In order to ensure consistency the Legal Services Commission CLA team will remind relevant staff of the agreed practice for distribution of marketing materials. CLA will also issue guidance that the central CLA marketing team should be alerted to any major promotional activities to ensure all major activities meet strategic and operational guidelines.

Counterfeit Manufacturing: Internet

Mr. Leech: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many people have been prosecuted in the UK for the sale of illegal or counterfeit goods over the internet in each of the last five years. [235168]

Maria Eagle: Criminal offences involving sales of goods over the internet cannot be separately identified from other offences concerning sales of goods, as the particulars surrounding a case are not held centrally.

Courts: Video Conferencing

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what assessment he has made for the potential use of virtual courts; and what representations he has received on this matter. [234874]

Bridget Prentice: The Police and Justice Act 2006 made provision for the use of virtual courts. A 12-week prototype of the concept started in July 2007, and was hosted by Camberwell Green magistrates court. An evaluation report of the prototype showed that it had been a success, enabling first hearings to take place in an average time of three-and-a-half hours.

A larger scale one year pilot has now been agreed to take place in parts of London and North Kent. This pilot will commence early in 2009. The pilot will fully test the costs and benefits of virtual courts and allow representations at a local and national level to inform decisions on wider roll out.

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Maude: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Rochford and Southend, East of 6 October 2008, Official Report, columns 167-68W, on departmental buildings, what the cost of each refurbishment was. [233415]

Mr. Straw: The information requested is shown as follows.

Costs stated are for refurbishment works to the fabric and structure of the building and do not include items such as furniture. All costs exclude VAT except where indicated. The provision of a more detailed breakdown of the total figures for each property would incur a disproportionate cost.

Departmental Conditions of Employment

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what percentage of employees in his Department (a) are on a flexible working contract, (b) are on a job share employment contract and (c) work from home for more than four hours per week. [233833]

Mr. Straw: Within the Ministry of Justice (MoJ) there are a number of flexible working opportunities. These include: working part-time, compressed hours, and part-year working, such as during school term times.

Centrally held information shows that 13 per cent. of Ministry of Justice staff work part-time as of September 2008.

Staff who are on other flexible working patterns and who are on a job share employment contract are not held centrally and could be provided only by contacting each local area within MoJ at a disproportionate cost.

Within the Prison Service arrangements for working from home are administered locally and data are not held centrally. The Former DCA records show 20 members of staff worked from home full-time, but any other arrangements are held locally only. The NOMS agency does not record staff who work from home. Figures on staff who work from home are available only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many full-time equivalent press officers (a) work for and (b) provide assistance for his Department. [235301]

Mr. Wills: As at April 2008, there were 31 full-time equivalent press officers working for the Ministry of Justice. The Ministry of Justice is also occasionally supported by COI News which provides regional press support on an issue or case-by-case basis. However, because of the nature of this support it is not possible to quantify it as an equivalent to full-time press officers without incurring disproportionate costs.

Departmental Official Residences

James Duddridge: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what permanent residential accommodation is provided for use by civil servants in his Department; how many residential dwellings are provided; where they are located; and for what grade of civil servant they are provided. [221967]

Mr. Malik: Her Majesty's Courts Service has a total of 19 residential properties across London and regional areas of England and Wales and of these, 14 are occupied by managers of judges lodgings. All residents of these properties are a Grade EO apart from one that is a Grade HEO. The remaining five properties, mainly located within Greater London, are allocated to a Regional Fire and Safety Manager at Band C, Court Keepers at Band D, and a Custodian/Keeper at Band F.

Her Majesty's Prison Service has 360 residential properties across 36 regional towns and cities in England and Wales with the largest number of properties (195) in London. Prison officers occupy 280 properties and chaplains and agricultural workers occupy a further 69. The remaining 11 properties accommodate industrial workers, store men, admin staff, former staff and staff widows.

The rest of Ministry of Justice has no residential property.

Departmental Pensions

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many and what proportion of civil servants in his Department and its agencies are members of the (a) Classic, (b) Classic Plus, (c) Nuvos and (d) Premium civil service pension schemes. [229528]

Mr. Wills: Information on staff pensions in the Ministry of Justice as at September 2008 is as follows:

| | Number of staff in scheme | Proportion of staff in each scheme (percentage) |
|---|---|---|
| (a) Classic | 39,755 | 49 |
| (b) + (d) Classic Plus + Premium Civil Service Pension Scheme | 29,673 | 36 |
| (c) Nuvos | 6,778 | 8 |

The figures provided do not include employees who have elected to join a Partnership pension scheme or have opted out of the pension. Therefore the figures provided do not total 100 per cent. of employees currently in the Department.

It is not possible to differentiate between those employees in the Premium pension scheme and those in the Classic + pension scheme. They are not recorded separately on the pension records held by the Department's payroll provider and would be available only at disproportionate cost, if at all.

Departmental Public Expenditure

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what reductions in expenditure his Department plans to make by April 2011; and what assessment he has made of their likely effects; [232502]

(2) what recent decisions have been taken on reducing his Department's future expenditure; and if he make a statement. [232503]

Mr. Straw: The MoJ settlement received in the last Comprehensive Spending Review meant that the MoJ would have to absorb cost of living increases and other upward pressures equivalent to approximately £1 billion over the three-year period. We have plans for year 1 and plans are being developed for years 2 and 3 taking us up to March 2011. The details are being worked on, but will focus on reducing overheads, removing duplication and increasing efficiencies. We will prioritise front line services we provide to the public to make communities safer, provide access to justice and cut re-offending—without jeopardising performance throughout the MoJ. We will continue the transformation of the services we provide so that they are more open, visible and transparent to the people they service.

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice if he will publish the presentation given in his Department on 28 September 2008 on the Department's budgetary position and the options for dealing with its budgetary shortfall. [232504]

Mr. Straw: No. The presentation was a piece of draft analysis presented by the MoJ Corporate Management Board to Ministers for internal planning purposes. The MoJ Permanent Secretary has undertaken to write to Select Committee in December with more details of our planned savings package following a period of due diligence.

Electronic Voting

Mrs. Laing: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what lessons his Department has learned from pilots of e-counting; and what steps he has taken to ensure that such lessons are taken into account in any future pilots. [233952]

Mr. Wills: The purpose of pilots is to investigate the issues surrounding the use of various potential innovations in electoral administration and gain learning that will inform development of policy and possible future e-counting solutions. One of the aims of the e-counting pilots that took place in May 2007, for example, was to investigate whether commercially available scanning machines could successfully be used in an e-counting solution. The pilots demonstrated that it is possible to use commercially available scanning machines, and this should lead to lower costs.

All electoral pilots are evaluated by the Electoral Commission, which makes recommendations regarding the future operation of particular innovations. These evaluations usually encapsulate the key lessons and recommendations from each pilot. The Government take these into account alongside lessons learned during development and implementation of the pilots themselves and, where relevant, the experience of e-counting elsewhere in the UK and overseas.

Feltham Young Offender Institution and Remand Centre

Mr. Malins: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the average cost for providing a place in (a) Feltham A for 15 to 17-year-olds and (b) Feltham B for 18 to 21 year olds is in the latest year for which figures are available. [236048]

Mr. Hanson: The average annual cost for providing a place in Feltham A for 15 to 17-year-olds is £43,360 and Feltham B for 18 to 21-year-olds is £42,050. The cost includes direct prison costs only and excludes overhead costs.

Housing

Mr. Bellingham: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) how many sales orders in respect of residential property were made in each year since 1997; [235908]

(2) how many charging orders over residential properties were issued in each year since 1997. [235909]

Bridget Prentice: The table shows the numbers of applications for charging orders, and the number of charging orders made, in the county courts of England and Wales in each year since 1997. These figures cover charging orders against all types of property, not just residential property. Figures relating solely to orders against residential property are not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Similarly, figures on the number of orders for sale are not held centrally, and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Number of applications for charging orders and charging orders made in England and Wales 1997-2007

| | Applications | Orders made |
|---|---|---|
| 1997 | 14,161 | 11,422 |
| 1998 | 13,758 | 10,652 |
| 1999 | 13,600 | 9,749 |

HMCS CaseMan system (2000-07) and manual returns (19,97-99)

Members: Correspondence

Peter Luff: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice when he plans to reply to the hon. Member for Mid-Worcestershire's letter of 1 August on the length of time taken to respond to a freedom of information request regarding Titan prisons for Wychavon District Council made on 25 April 2008. [236479]

Mr. Hanson: I replied to the hon. Member on 6 October.

Penalty Notices

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice whether primary legislation will be required to amend the sentencing guidelines for penalty notices for disorder. [234872]

Mr. Straw: The independent Sentencing Guidelines Council has not produced a sentencing guideline for penalty notices for disorder as these disposals are issued by the police and other designated persons and not by the courts.

Penalty Notices: Shoplifting

Ann Coffey: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what recent assessment he has made of the effectiveness of issuing penalty notices for disorder in preventing shoplifters from re-offending. [234774]

Maria Eagle: No assessment has been made. A study of criminal histories and re-offending rates of PND recipients is under way and will be published in due course.

The aim of the PND Scheme is to provide the police with a swift financial punishment to deal with misbehaviour, including minor shoplifting, and a practical deterrent to future re-offending.

Political Parties: Finance

Mr. Maude: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice whether he plans to change the regulated limit for local candidate spending during election periods for (a) local elections, (b) devolved institution elections and (c) European Parliamentary elections; and if he will make a statement. [233385]

Mr. Straw: I have no such plans.

Prisoners: Suicide

Mr. Vara: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many (a) suicides and (b) self-harm incidents there have been in (i) HM prisons and (ii) young offender institutions in each of the last 10 years; and if he will make a statement. [235714]

Mr. Malik: The numbers of suicides and self-harm incidents since 1998 are contained in the following table.

The National Offender Management Service has a broad, integrated and evidence-based prisoner suicide prevention strategy that seeks to reduce the distress of all those in prison. This encompasses a wide spectrum of Prison and Department of Health work around such issues as mental health, substance misuse and resettlement. Any prisoner identified as at risk of suicide or self-harm is cared for using the Assessment, Care in Custody and Teamwork (ACCT) procedures. ACCT is the prisoner-centred flexible care-planning system introduced across the prisons estate in partnership with the Department of Health during 2005-07 to replace the old F2052SH system.

Any death in custody is a tragic event. The Government are committed to learning from such events and reducing the number of self-inflicted deaths in state custody. We are implementing many of the recommendations of Robert Fulton's Review of the Forum for Preventing Deaths in Custody. From April 2009, a new three tier Ministerial Council on Deaths in Custody will replace the existing forum and the Ministerial Roundtable on Suicide.

|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Self-inflicted deaths | Self-harm incidents | Self-inflicted deaths | Self-harm incidents |
| 1998 | 83 | n/a | 7 | n/a |
| 1999 | 91 | n/a | 11 | n/a |
| 2000 | 81 | n/a | 9 | n/a |
| 2001 | 73 | n/a | 7 | n/a |
| 2002 | 95 | n/a | 6 | n/a |
| 2003[2] | 94 | 11,833 | 2 | 1,467 |
| 2004 | 95 | 12,555 | 4 | 1,791 |
| 2005 | 78 | 14,405 | 9 | 1,955 |
| 2006 | 67 | 15,052 | 1 | 2,206 |
| 2007 | 92 | 15,229 | 4 | 2,050 |

[1] Due to the mixed roll (adult and young offender) of some prisons and re-rolling over the years there is more than one way to present figures for young offender institutions therefore caution needs to be taken when interpreting them.

[2] A new system for monitoring self-harm was introduced in December 2002, and as a result, recording of self-harm improved through 2003. Self-harm figures for 2003 and earlier are not comparable with later years.

Sentencing

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what the reasons are for the time taken to respond to the consultation on sentencing guidelines; [234877]

(2) what plans he has to revise guidelines on the co-ordination of evidence emanating from police, local government authorities, the probation services and others, which demonstrates a particular pattern of behaviour for the purposes of sentencing in the event of a conviction for retail theft; [234878]

(3) if he will undertake a regular review of the sentencing guidelines for shop theft conviction. [234879]

Mr. Straw: The independent Sentencing Guidelines Council is responsible for producing, publishing and reviewing definitive guidelines on sentencing for criminal offences. I understand that the definitive guideline dealing with retail theft will issue soon.

Shoplifting: Compensation

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice in how many cases court disposals have required full recompense to be made to the victims of retail theft in each of the last three years. [234873]

Mr. Straw: The available information is contained in the following table, which shows the number of compensation or restitution orders that have been imposed for shoplifting by criminal courts.

The information supplied is for the last three years for which data are available. 2007 data will be available in late November.

Offenders ordered to pay compensation or restitution orders as criminal court disposals for retail theft[1], 2004-06

|---|---|
| 2004 | 7,421 |
| 2005 | 7,356 |
| 2006 | 7,219 |

[1] These data are on the principal offence basis.

[2] These figures refer only to actions taken in criminal courts.

Note:
These figures have been drawn from administrative data systems. Although care is taken when processing and analysing the returns, the detail collected is subject to the inaccuracies inherent in any large scale recording system.

Young Offender Institutions: Per Capita Costs

Mr. Malins: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the average cost of providing a place in (a) a young offender institution for 18 to 21 year olds, (b) a young offender institution for 15 to 17 year olds and (c) a secure training centre for under 15 year olds was in the latest year for which figures are available. [236050]

Mr. Hanson: The average cost per annum of a place at a young offender institution (YOI) for 2007-08, as provided by the National Offender Management Service, was £32,799. There are a number of 'split site' young offender institutions which accommodate both 15 to 17-year-olds and 18 to 20-year-olds; and it is not possible, except at disproportionate cost, to split the overall costs between the two age groups.

The average cost a year of a place at a secure training centre (STC) for 2007-08, as provided by the Youth Justice Board (YJB), was £191,618. The age range for the young people in STCs is 12 to 17 years.

In comparing the two figures, account will need to be taken of variations in the methods of calculation. In particular, the YJB figure includes health care and education, whereas the YOI figure excludes those elements.

Young Offenders: Education

Mr. Malins: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what percentage of young offenders aged (a) under 16 years and (b) between 16 and 18 years returned to full or part-time education on release from custody in the last 12 months; [236044]

(2) how many young offenders aged between 18 and 21 were released from custodial sentences in the last 12 months for which figures are available; and what percentage went into full or part-time employment on release. [236046]

Mr. Hanson: Data that specifically identify the percentage of young offenders released to full-time or part-time education in the specified age groups are not available. However, the following figures show the percentage of young offenders released from custody into full or part time education or training from young offender institutions (YOIs) in the 12 month period from October 2007 to September 2008:

|---|---|
| YOI establishments holding 15 to 17-year-olds | 53 |
| YOI establishments holding 18 to 21-year-olds | 15 |
| YOI establishments holding both 15 to 17-year-olds and 18 to 21-year-olds | 26 |

Data for young offenders released from secure training centres (STC) and secure children's homes (SCH) are not available. However, data are available for young offenders released from STCs, SCHs and YOIs and at the end of the community element of their custodial sentence. During the 12 months period (July 2007-June 2008) 64.4 per cent. of young people of statutory school age were in full time education or training (for 25 hours and more). Of those above school age 64.5 per cent. were in suitable employment, training or education.

The number of young offenders aged between 18 and 21 who were released from custodial sentences and the percentage that entered employment in the 12 months period from October 2007 to September 2008[1] is shown in the following table.

Data of this nature are only available by entire establishment type, therefore some data relating to 18 to 21-year-olds are also included within those establishments that also hold 15 to 21-year-olds and it is not possible to separate out specific age ranges.

|---|---|---|
| YOI establishments holding 18 to 21-year-olds | 5,903 | 26 |
| YOI establishments holding both 15 to 17-year-olds and 18 to 21-year-olds | 4,240 | 19 |

[1] Data are provisional and subject to ongoing validation.
[2] Exclude temporary releases or prisoners that are deported upon release.

Mr. Malins: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how much time per week young offenders aged (a) under 15 years old, (b) between 15 and 17 years old and (c) between 18 and 21 years old spent on (i) education and training and (ii) sporting activities. [236045]

Mr. Hanson: I refer the hon. Member to my previous answers on 5 November 2008, Official Report, columns 629-30W. Data of this nature are only available by establishment type. The average number of hours spent on education or training activities and physical education and recreational sports per prisoner per week for each young offender institution (YOI) during the period April to September 2008 (latest figures available[1]) is shown in the table. It is not possible to breakdown the figures to the two age bands at tables 1 and 2 for the split sites (see table 3).

Secure training centres (STCs) have structures in place to provide each young person with the opportunity to receive a minimum of 25 hours a week of taught lesson time or vocational training. Providers do all that they reasonably can to ensure that young people take up the opportunity. In addition to taught education young people in STCs receive an hours a day of offending behaviour programmes and a range of training in social and domestic skills.

For secure children's homes (SCHs) the requirement is that they meet the Youth Justice Board's National Specification for Learning and Skills. This requires that young people are given the opportunity to receive 30 hours of timetabled activities based around a curriculum encompassing taught education, vocational work or offending behaviour work. In addition there is an expectation that young people engage in an hour a day of private study and 12 hours a week of activities such as hobbies or clubs.

Young people engage in sporting activities in STCs and SCHs as part of the school curriculum, as part of activities outside of the school day and as part of social activities. The levels of sporting activities engaged in by each young person are not recorded and collated so it is not possible to provide an average level of sporting activity.

[1] Data are provisional and subject to ongoing validation.

TRANSPORT

Airwave Service

Tom Brake: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what organisations for which his Department is responsible (a) use and (b) are planning to use Airwave handsets. [234694]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Department for Transport itself uses Airwave handsets. The following of the Department's executive agencies and sponsored non-departmental bodies are also users of Airwave handsets:

Highways Agency

Marine and Coastguard Agency

British Transport Police

The following two executive agencies have been made 'approved sharers' of Airwave by Ofcom, the radio spectrum regulator, but do not currently use Airwave handsets:

Government Car and Despatch Agency

Vehicle and Operator Services Agency.

Aviation: Oxygen

Mr. David Anderson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport pursuant to the Answer of 4 November 2008, Official Report, column 240W, on aircraft: oxygen, what consideration his Department gave to including in the Code of Practice on Access to Air Travel for Disabled Persons and Persons with Reduced Mobility a provision that air carriers should carry portable oxygen cylinders free of charge as medical equipment. [235440]

Jim Fitzpatrick: This matter was discussed by the working group which drafted the code of practice. As there is no specific obligation in the European regulation about the provision of oxygen, it was not considered appropriate to make a specific recommendation in the code about carriage of oxygen cylinders. Instead, the code reflects current guidance and practice in this area, in particular with regard to security considerations.

The code of practice makes clear that it cannot be an authoritative statement of the law since any question over the interpretation of the European law is ultimately a matter for the courts. The Department for Transport has, however, raised this matter with the European Commission in the context of other issues where interpretation of the Regulation is unclear and has led to practical difficulties or differences in practice among airlines.

Bus Services: Concessions

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many pensioners in Enfield North constituency have received a free bus pass since April 2008. [235435]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport is not responsible for issuing passes and so does not maintain records of how many applications individual authorities have received.

Enfield North is part of Greater London. Concessionary travel in London is administered by London Councils on behalf of the metropolitan boroughs. The last information held by the Department was that as of April this year, London had issued approximately 800,000 passes eligible for the statutory concession.

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) how many pensioners have claimed free bus travel (a) in Crosby constituency and (b) England in each year since the inception of the scheme; [236695]

(2) how many disabled people have claimed free bus travel in (a) Crosby constituency and (b) England in each year since the inception of the entitlement. [236697]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport is not responsible for issuing passes and so does not maintain records of how many passes individual authorities have issued.

Crosby is part of Merseyside Passenger Transport Executive, Merseytravel. The latest figures held by the Department is that as of June 2008 Merseytravel had issued approximately 272,000 concessionary passes to both elderly and eligible disabled people.

As of October 2008, approximately 7.2 million ITSO concessionary smartcard passes have been issued in England and approximately 900,000 London Freedom Passes have been re-stickered for national use.

We cannot currently break down the figure by disabled and elderly passes, but reports are being set up to allow us to do so in the future.

Dartford-Thurrock Crossing: Tolls

Mr. Scott: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will reverse the recent increases in toll charges on the Dartford river crossing. [236230]

Paul Clark: Over the weekend of 15 and 16 November we introduced a number of changes to the charging regime at the Dartford Crossing, an increase in daytime charges, the removal of night time charges when traffic is lighter and discount schemes for immediate residents in the vicinity of the crossing in Kent and Essex. The charges exist to address serious congestion pressures at the crossing, and the new arrangements we are introducing follow two consultation exercises. There are no plans to reverse the increases.

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Maude: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport pursuant to the answer of the hon. Member for Rochford and Southend, East of 6 October 2008, Official Report, columns 198-99W, on departmental buildings, what the cost of each refurbishment was. [233418]

Mr. Hoon: The requested information is provided in the following table.

| Property | Cost of refurbishment (£ million) |
|---|---|
| Driving Standards Agency HQ, Nottingham | 2.673 |
| Highways Agency, Lateral, Leeds | 2.412 |

Information on the cost of refurbishments undertaken by the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency cannot be provided for reasons of commercial confidentiality.

Departmental Conditions of Employment

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what percentage of employees in his Department are (a) on a flexible working contract, (b) on a job share employment contract and (c) work from home for more than four hours a week. [233820]

Mr. Hoon: The Department for Transport does not record this information centrally.

Staff may arrange such conditions with line manager agreement and subject to business needs.

Further information can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental ICT

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many (a) memory sticks, (b) laptop computers, (c) desktop computers, (d) hard drives and (e) mobile telephones were (i) lost by and (ii) stolen from his Department in each year since its inception. [234085]

Mr. Hoon: The Department for Transport was formed in 2002 and now includes seven agencies, a shared service centre and the central Department, with a total staff of over 19,000. The figures provided here for lost and stolen devices are for the entire Department including its agencies and shared service centre where that information is available. The figures provided do not include losses or thefts where records are not available, where equipment has not been procured centrally, or where such losses or thefts were not reported. The figures are as follows:

| Memory sticks lost | | | 4 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 2 |

| Mobile phones lost | 1 | 9 | 13 | 6 | 13 | 15 | 12 |
| Mobile phones stolen | 2 | 20 | 24 | 22 | 15 | 5 | 3 |

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport which organisations provided media monitoring services to (a) his Department, (b) its agencies and (c) its non-departmental public bodies in each of the last three years; and what the cost of each contract was. [230037]

Mr. Hoon: The Department for Transport commissions the production of press cuttings of national, regional and specialist media coverage of transport issues, and these services form the majority of media monitoring costs. The following table lists organisations that provided media monitoring services to the Department in each of the last three financial years and the cost.

Departmental Internet

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport for which Government websites his Department is responsible; how many visitors each received in the last period for which figures are available; and what the cost of maintaining each site was in that period. [235037]

Mr. Hoon: The Department for Transport maintains 66 public-facing websites, including those run by the Executive agencies.

Tables have been placed in the Libraries of the House showing unique visitor numbers and maintenance costs for the Department for Transport websites.

Unique visitor data are not provided for all sites as the statistical software used on those sites do not produce this level of detail, only providing page requests rather than unique visitor data.

Where annual maintenance costs are not available this is due to a number of reasons; either the site has only recently been available and maintenance costs are only applicable for the current financial year; the costs are part of a much larger contract and cannot be itemised; or the costs cannot be calculated without incurring disproportionate costs. Costs provided do not include staff costs.

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many page hits from how many visitors his Department's website received in 2007-08. [237141] received 30,913,738 page hits from 3,571,614 visitors in 2007-08.

Departmental Temporary Employment

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list the methods by which all contractors, consultants and staff from employment agencies working in DfT Human Resources and DfT(C) Human Resources were hired. [234782]

Mr. Hoon: Human Resources in the Department for Transport and in its Agencies use framework arrangements for the hire of agency staff. Consultants and contractors are generally hired through competitive tender using pre-negotiated frameworks.

Dial-a-Ride

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much (a) capital investment and (b) revenue funding has been spent on Dial-a-Ride in London in each of the last five years; and if he will make a statement. [235664]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The funding of Dial-a-Ride services in London is a matter for the Mayor of London and Transport for London.

Driving: Licensing

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) if he will commission research into the accuracy of information provided by drivers in each age group to the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency in relation to self-certification for fitness to hold a driving licence; [233150]

(2) what representations he has received on the accuracy of information provided by drivers on their (a) health and (b) eyesight when self-certifying their suitability to hold a driving licence; and if he will make a statement; [233151]

(3) what representations he has received from coroners on the procedures for the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency to obtain information on driving licence holders who have medical conditions which should disqualify them from driving; and if he will make a statement. [233166]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Individual drivers have a duty to ensure they are fit to drive before doing so. The Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency (DVLA), in conjunction with the Department for Transport, is reviewing the formal systems and procedures in place in Great Britain for ensuring that those who hold a driving licence are fit to do so. The issue of the accuracy of self-certification forms part of that review.

A formal record is not kept of individual representations. However, the issue has been raised by a range of stakeholders and those views have fed into the review. In addition, the Department has received one report from a coroner in relation to the procedures for DVLA to obtain information on driving licence holders who have a medical condition which would disqualify them from driving.

Ferries: Isle of Wight

Mr. Andrew Turner: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) what obligation Wightlink is under to provide ferry services at (a) Yarmouth and (b) Lymington; [236206]

(2) what consultation process (a) has been and (b) will be undertaken with residents of the Isle of Wight on the introduction of new W class ferries on the Yarmouth to Lymington service, with particular reference to the (a) economic well-being and (b) social needs of those residents; [236236]

(3) if he will make an assessment of the contribution of the Yarmouth to Lymington ferry service to the (a) residents and (b) economy of the Isle of Wight, with particular reference to the West Wight; and if he will make a statement; [236237]

(4) what restrictions are in place regarding the operation of the Yarmouth to Lymington ferry (a) above and (b) below the low water mark; and who is responsible for ensuring those restrictions are adhered to. [236238]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Department for Transport does not make assessments of the impacts of private ferry services, or conduct any related consultations, nor do we impose any obligations upon Wightlink to operate a ferry service between Lymington and Yarmouth.

The Maritime and Coastguard Agency is responsible for issuing a passenger safety certificate for ferries but the Department has no other role in respect of restrictions on ferry operations or for any further permissions required. I understand that works to berths or jetties to facilitate ferry operations are or have been the subject of applications for consent from DEFRA and the local planning authorities.

Freight

Mr. Goodwill: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many road haulage operators were trading in each of the last five years for which figures were available. [235596]

Jim Fitzpatrick [holding answer 13 November 2008]: The following number of road haulage operators were trading in each of the last five years:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 98,316 |
| 2006-07 | 99,794 |
| 2005-06 | 99,889 |
| 2004-05 | 102,746 |
| 2003-04 | 105,218 |

Mr. Goodwill: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many road haulage companies entered receivership in 2007 and how many have done so in 2008 to date. [235597]

Jim Fitzpatrick [holding answer 13 November 2008]: The Vehicle and Operator Services Agency (VOSA) does not record this information.

Grants

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what area-based grants his Department makes; and what the budget for each such type of grant is in 2008-09. [234909]

Mr. Hoon: The area-based grants made by the Department for Transport for the Comprehensive Spending Review period of 2008-11 are published in a table on the Department for Communities and Local Government website at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/documents/localgovernment/xls/770696.xls

The budget for each grant is included in the table.

Gulf of Aden: Piracy

Mr. Crabb: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what recent assessment his Department has made of the risks to UK-flagged merchant vessels from piracy in the Gulf of Aden. [235844]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Piracy is an international problem that requires an international solution. Piracy attacks in the Gulf of Aden are less than 0.1 per cent. of the estimated 16,000 vessels which pass through the region annually. The Government are however, very concerned by increasing numbers of incidents in and around Somali waters. The EU is planning a counter piracy operation to which the UK will provide the operation commander and operation headquarters. EU partners agree that any operation must be co-ordinated with NATO and Combined Task Force 150, themselves active to deter piracy off the Horn of Africa. The UK contributes to both. The UK Government are also tackling piracy at its roots on land. Through the Department for International Development, the UK has allocated £25 million to support efforts to tackle instability in Somalia. The instability creates the conditions allowing piratical activities to flourish.

The Department for Transport has issued advice to seafarers on the measures that can be taken to prevent acts of piracy and armed robbery in Marine Guidance Note 298. We have also urged masters to obtain up to date information about pirate attacks in order to plan their passage through the Gulf of Aden. This advice can be obtained from the Royal Navy's UK Maritime Trade Operation based in Dubai. The shipping industry has also been informed of the Maritime Security Patrol Area (MPSA) established by the Combined Maritime Forces. The MPSA does not eliminate the risk of criminal activity and shipping has been warned to exercise extreme caution and vigilance.

Highways Agency: Compulsory Purchase

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many properties the Highways Agency has acquired through compulsory purchase in each year since 1995; and what percentage of such properties have subsequently been (a) demolished and a road scheme progressed, (b) demolished without a road scheme being progressed, (c) resold and (d) retained. [235572]

Paul Clark [holding answer 13 November 2008]: Since 1995, the Agency has purchased 1,776 properties in advance of its immediate operational requirements. Of these 1,776 properties, 436 were agricultural, 1,114 were residential and 226 were commercial.

The Agency cannot separately identify the method of purchase but they were bought using compulsory purchase powers, the planning blight provisions of the Town and Country Planning Act or discretionary purchase powers under the Highways Act.

1,125 of these properties have been sold (63 per cent. of the total), 107 have been demolished (6 per cent.), and a further 88 (5 per cent.) have been removed for other reasons, for example, plots combined together with another property for a sale or taken into operational use. 456 properties (26 per cent.) are currently being retained, although 132 (29 per cent.) of these retained properties are surplus and will be sold.

We are unable to identify which properties may have been demolished for reasons other than a road scheme without referring to individual property files.

The following tables detail the breakdown of the purchases, demolitions and sales.

Properties purchased since 1 January 1995

| | | Sold | | Demolished | | Other removals | | Retained | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Bought | Number | Percentage | Number | Percentage | Number | Percentage | Number | Percentage |
| Commercial | 226 | 105 | 46 | 22 | 10 | 36 | 16 | 63 | 28 |
| Agric | 436 | 162 | 37 | 30 | 7 | 47 | 11 | 197 | 45 |
| Residential | 1,114 | 858 | 77 | 55 | 5 | 5 | 0.4 | 196 | 18 |
| Total | 1,776 | 1,125 | 63 | 107 | 6 | 88 | 5 | 456 | 26 |

Properties purchased by year since 1995

| | Agricultural | Commercial | Residential | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1995 | 67 | 20 | 451 | 538 |
| 1996 | 67 | 25 | 291 | 383 |
| 1997 | 36 | 26 | 126 | 188 |

| 2003 | 23 | 18 | 18 | 59 |
| 2004 | 47 | 26 | 13 | 86 |
| 2005 | 32 | 11 | 26 | 69 |
| 2006 | 28 | 7 | 24 | 59 |
| 2007 | 11 | 4 | 14 | 29 |
| 2008 | 2 | 1 | 14 | 17 |
| Total | 436 | 226 | 1,114 | 1,776 |

Of the retained properties bought since 1995, the following are now surplus and will be sold

|---|---|
| Residential | 15 |
| Commercial | 27 |
| Agricultural | 90 |
| Total | 132 |
| Percentage | 29 |

Consideration of any mitigation measures is still at an early stage and decisions on consultation arrangements will be made alongside any decisions on an eventual scheme.

M40: Noise

John Howell: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) what consultation arrangements will be made with regard to the Highways Agency's report into its estimates of the cost of noise barrier improvements on the M40 at Milton Common; and whether the data used in the production of the report will be published; [235369]

(2) when the Highways Agency will publish the report requested in March 2008 by the Department of Transport on the Agency's estimates for noise barrier improvements on the M40 at Milton Common. [235370]

Paul Clark [holding answer 13 November 2008]: The findings of the Highways Agency's study into noise barrier improvements on the M40 at Milton Common should be available by the end of December and we aim to publish them early in 2009.

Maritime and Coastguard Agency

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what projects the Maritime and Coastguard Agency is conducting; and from what budgets project expenditure is met in each case. [234902]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Maritime and Coastguard Agency's (MCA) current plans, activities and priorities are set out in the Agency's Annual Report and Accounts 2007-08, including its plans for 2008-09 and beyond. Current projects with defined start and end dates using project management methodology are:

Automatic Identification System (AIS) Service provision

Search and Rescue Helicopter (SAR-H) Harmonisation with the Ministry of Defence

Radio Equipment Replacement

Consolidated European Reporting System (CERS) development

Seafarer Records System development

Direction Finding replacement

Security accreditation for migrating to the Public Sector network

Estate Management and maintenance

The costs of these will be split between the Agency's published resource and capital budgets as appropriate.

Members: Correspondence

Mr. Burns: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when the Chief Executive of the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency plans to provide a substantive response to the letters from the hon. Member for West Chelmsford of 30 June and 20 August 2008 on his constituent, Ms J. Wood of Great Leighs, Chelmsford. [235251]

Jim Fitzpatrick [holding answer 12 November 2008]: The Chief Executive of the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency (DVLA) has not received any correspondence dated 30 June or 20 August from the hon. Member on behalf of his constituent, Ms Joanne Wood. He did receive a letter dated 23 June and a reply was sent on 8 July. If the hon. Member would care to re-submit his letter of 20 August to DVLA, its content will be given full consideration and a reply provided.

Performance Appraisal

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many staff in his Department did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235211]

Mr. Hoon: The central Department and its agencies recorded the following numbers of staff who were bottom ranked in their annual report for the period ending 31 March 2008.

| 2007-08 | Total number bottom ranked in annual report |
|---|---|
| DFTC | 24 |
| DSA | 8 |
| DVLA | 24 |
| HA | 11 |
| VCA | 0 |
| MCA | 0 |
| GCDA | 1 |
| VOSA | [1] |
| Total | 73 |

[1] The Vehicle and Operator Service (VOSA) do not have bon markings within their performance management arrangements and could not provide information.

Piracy

Mr. Crabb: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many incidents of piracy affecting UK-flagged merchant vessels his Department has been made aware of in each of the last five years. [235843]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The number of British-flagged or British-managed ships that have reported piracy incidents to the International Maritime Bureau in each of the last five years are as follows:

| | Ships flagged in UK |
|---|---|
| 2004 | 7 |
| 2005 | 4 |
| 2006 | 3 |
| 2007 | 1 |
| 2008 | 5 |

Railway Network: Greater London

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much capital has been spent on each central London overground passenger rail terminal in each year since 1997; and what the projected capital spend for each terminal is for the next five years. [235675]

Paul Clark: I am advised that this information does not exist in the format requested. However, Network Rail has indicated that it should be able to work out the figures for the period from 2004 to 2014. The hon. Member should therefore contact Network Rail's chief executive at the following address for a response to his questions.

Iain Coucher
Chief Executive Network Rail Kings Place
90 York Way
London N1 9AG

Rescue Services: Telecommunications

Annette Brooke: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what representations he has received on charges to the Royal National Lifeboat Institution for the use of very high frequency communications; and if he will make a statement. [235940]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The issues that have been raised about the charges for the use of the very high frequency communications by the Royal National Lifeboat Institution have been brought to the attention of the appropriate authority, the Office of Communications (Ofcom). Ofcom's consultation, "Applying spectrum pricing to the Maritime and Aeronautical sectors", finished at the end of last month and they will now evaluate these responses.

Roads: Accidents

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) how many accidents involved cars without a valid MOT certificate in the last 12 months; [234641]

(2) how many road traffic accidents involving uninsured drivers have been reported to his Department in the last 12 months. [234648]

Jim Fitzpatrick: I refer the hon. Member to my answer of 5 February 2008, Official Report, column 1010W.

Mrs. Hodgson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many (a) men and (b) women aged between 17 and 21 were killed in road traffic accidents in (i) Gateshead and (ii) Sunderland in each of the last three years. [235965]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The information requested is given in the table:

Number of fatalities

| | 2005 | | | 2006 | | | 2007 | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Male | Female | Total | Male | Female | Total | Male | Female | Total |
| Gateshead | 0 | 1 | 1 | 3 | 1 | 4 | 0 | 1 | 1 |
| Sunderland | 2 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 |

Schools: Transport

Willie Rennie: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what recent estimate his Department has made of the cost per seat of retrospective fitting of seat belts to school buses. [233355]

Jim Fitzpatrick [holding answer 5 November 2008]: National legislation, brought in during 1998, requires that all coaches and minibuses irrespective of their age, that carry groups of children aged three to 15 years on organised school trips, including dedicated home-to-school transport, are equipped with seat belts.

Since 1 October 2001, seat belts have been required to be installed in each forward and rearward facing seat in all new buses. There is derogation from these requirements for buses specifically designed for urban use with standing passengers, when used for scheduled commercial services, whether or not school children are being carried.

The Department for Transport has made no recent estimate of the cost of retrospectively fitting seat belts to all vehicles used for school transport.

The decision not to require the retrospective fitting of seat belts to urban buses was taken primarily on technical grounds. A review of the design of buses and of the materials used in their construction concluded that seat belts could not be easily installed in such a way as to be effective without very significant changes being made to the vehicle's construction.

While modern coaches are designed to accommodate seat belts, the strength of the important structural points in buses has generally remained unaltered.

Somerset Trust: Finance

Mr. Caton: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what payments have been made from his Department to the Somerset Trust for access easements for infrastructure projects. [226800]

Paul Clark: The Highways Agency has interrogated its Highways Agency Lands IT system (HALI), which is the tool for recording and managing all land compensation business, including financial management.

It has been unable to identify record of payment made directly to the Somerset Trust.

Speed Limits: Rural Areas

Mr. Laurence Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will review the speed limits on rural roads; and if he will make a statement. [235646]

Jim Fitzpatrick: National speed limits are kept under review to ensure they remain appropriate, and will be considered in developing the new Road Safety Strategy for the years beyond 2010.

In the meantime, local authorities have powers to introduce local speed limits on their roads, and the Department for Transport issued guidance on this in August 2006, asking local authorities to review the speed limits on all of their A and B roads, and implement any necessary changes, by 2011.

Transport: Advisory Bodies

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport which Government Office regions have established regional transport boards. [236097]

Paul Clark: All Government office regions have established committees or boards responsible for considering regional transport strategy. However not all of the regions use the term "regional transport boards", and the particular arrangements vary, for example on membership, to fit with other regional structures. There is no statutory requirement to establish a regional transport board.

LEADER OF THE HOUSE

Members: Pay

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Leader of the House how many hon. Members are not eligible for any additional salary granted for a Ministerial or other position in the House above the basic hon. Member's salary. [236052]

Chris Bryant: A total of 158 Members currently receive an addition to the basic Member's salary, listed as follows:

31 Select Committee Chairmen

32 Members of the Chairmen's Panel

one Speaker one Chairman of Ways and Means two Deputy Chairs of Ways and Means

The Leader of the Opposition and the Opposition Chief Whip.

There are currently 97 Ministers who are MPs, tabled as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| Cabinet | 21 |
| Minister | 27 |
| PUSS | 30 |
| Whip | 16 |
| Law officers | 1 |

Of these, eight are unpaid, making a total of 89 paid Ministers.

483 Members will therefore receive the basic salary only. (The figures exclude the five Sinn Fein Members who do not receive a salary).

Performance Appraisal

David Simpson: To ask the Leader of the House how many staff in her Office did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235217]

Chris Bryant: All staff in the Leader of the House's Office achieved an acceptable assessment grade in their annual appraisal report in the reporting year 2007 to 2008.

PRIME MINISTER

Bournemouth

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Prime Minister when he next plans to visit Bournemouth. [236235]

The Prime Minister: I have no current plans to do so.

Middle East

Mr. Hague: To ask the Prime Minister what the names and affiliations of the members of the business delegation that accompanied him on his recent visit to Saudi Arabia, Qatar, Abu Dhabi and Dubai are. [236378]

The Prime Minister: The following business leaders accompanied me on my trip to the Gulf states:

Mike Beaumont—Foster Wheeler Energy Ltd.;
Malcolm Brinded CBE—Shell (Royal Dutch Shell);
Professor Keith Burnett CBE FRS—Sheffield University;
Graham Cartledge—Bovis;
Philip Cox—International Power;
Tom Delay—The Carbon Trust;
Tony Douglas—Laing O'Rourke;
Professor Malcolm Grant CBE MA LLD—University College London;
Philip Green—United Utilities;
Dr. Tony Hayward—BP;
David Hodgkinson—HSBC Holdings;
Christopher Hyman—Serco Group plc;
Lady Barbara Judge—United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority;
Sam Laidlaw—Centrica;
Richard Lambert—CBI;
Lord Levene of Portsoken KBE—Lloyd's of London;
Neil MacGregor—British Museum;
Monisha Majidi—Foster + Partners;
John Mulfarnough—Carillion;
John Napier—Royal and Sun Alliance;
Ian L Olver—BAE Systems;
Anand Paul—Cupuro Group;
Leo Quinn—De La Rue;
Sir John Rose—Rolls-Royce;
Peter Sands—Standard Chartered Bank;
Sir Nicholas Serota—The Tate;
Right hon. Baroness Symons of Vernham Dean;
Ian Tyler—Balfour Beatty.

HOME DEPARTMENT

Alcoholic Drinks: Antisocial Behaviour

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps she plans to take to reduce the number of drunk and disorderly people being held in police custody; and if she will make a statement. [232753]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The National Alcohol Strategy 'Safe Sensible Social' sets out the Government's plan to minimise the health harms, violence and antisocial behaviour associated with alcohol, while ensuring that people are able to enjoy alcohol safely and responsibly. The Strategy focuses action on three groups most at risk which are 18-24 year old binge drinkers, young people under 18 who drink alcohol, and harmful drinkers whose drinking is damaging their health, often without them realising it. The Strategy contains a range of measures to tackle alcohol related crime and disorder, which will have an effect on the number of people becoming drunk and disorderly in public, therefore reducing the number who end up in police custody.

In particular, the Home Office has funded 13 alcohol arrest referral pilots around the country. Alcohol arrest referral schemes make provision, in suitable cases, for adults arrested for alcohol-related offences to be referred to brief advice sessions. Sessions are structured to inform arrestees about the links between unsafe drinking and offending. The schemes aim to reduce offending rates among binge drinkers who are not dependent on alcohol.

Additionally, the Government have also recently launched a new, hard-hitting £4 million national advertising campaign, under the Know Your Limits banner, to drive home the serious consequences of binge drinking. It poses the question:

"You wouldn't start a night like this, so why end it that way?"

Antisocial Behaviour Orders: Enfield

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many anti social behaviour orders have been issued in the London Borough of Enfield in each year since 1999. [235437]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Information on the number of antisocial behaviour orders (ASBOs) issued is not available below Criminal Justice System (CJS) area level.

The available information is shown in the following table.

Number of antisocial behaviour orders issued at all courts in the Greater London Criminal Justice System area, as reported to the Home Office by the Court Service, 1 April 1999 to 31 December 2006

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 1999-2000[1] | 28 |
| 2001 | 15 |
| 2002 | 21 |
| 2003 | 139 |
| 2004 | 446 |
| 2005 | 533 |
| 2006 | 359 |
| Total | 1,541 |

[1] 1 April 1999-31 December 2000.

Notes:

1. Previously issued data have been revised.
2. Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.

Arrests: Drugs

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people were (a) arrested and (b) charged with possession of Class (i) A, (ii) B and (iii) C drugs in each police force area in each year since 1997. [166808]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The information requested on arrests is not collected centrally.

The arrests collection held by the Home Office covers arrests for recorded crime (notifiable offences) only, broken down at a main offence group level, covering categories such as violence against the person, burglary, robbery and drug offences.

From these centrally reported data we are not able to identify specific offences from within the main offence groups.

Information on offenders charged by the police is not reported to the Home Office.

Community Policing

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department with reference to her Department's news release of 22 September 2008, what powers the proposed community crime fighters will have; and what accreditation they will undergo. [235088]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Community crime fighters will be members of the public who are already actively involved in their communities. They will not have any legal powers but will receive free training in things like getting the best services for victims and witnesses, what the policing pledge will mean on the ground and what powers can and should be employed by local services to tackle antisocial behaviour and crime.

Community Support Officers: Manpower

Mr. Crausby: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police community support officers there are in (a) Bolton and (b) England. [234103]

Mr. Coaker: There were 67 full-time equivalent police community support officers in the Bolton Basic Command Unit of Greater Manchester police and 15,108 full-time equivalent police community support officers in England as at 31 March 2008.

Control Orders

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many people have (a) been made the subject of a control order, (b) absconded whilst the subject of a control order and (c) otherwise breached the terms of a control order in each quarter since the inception of such orders; how many people have breached an order on (i) more than one occasion and (ii) more than two occasions; and how many people have absconded on more than one occasion; [233532]

(2) how many people who have absconded whilst subject to a control order have been arrested or otherwise located and returned to control; [233533]

(3) how many people have been (a) prosecuted and (b) convicted of breaching of a control order; and how many of those convicted have received a custodial sentence; [233534]

(4) how many people of each nationality have been made the subject of a control order since the inception of such orders. [233536]

Mr. Coaker: The Secretary of State reports to Parliament on the exercise of her powers under the Prevention of Terrorism Act 2005.

As of 10 September 2008, the last date covered by the most recent report, 38 individuals have been made subject to a control order. (The total number of control orders made is higher as some individuals have had more than one order made against them.)

These reports include the number of individuals subject to a control order, the number who are British citizens, and the number, if there were any, who have absconded from a control order. I refer the hon. Member to these reports, and in particular the reports of 11 December 2006, 16 January 2007, 22 March 2007, 24 May 2007, 21 June 2007 and 17 September 2007. These statements give as much information as we can provide about the individuals who have absconded given the national security sensitivities of these cases and the need to avoid publishing any information that could lead to the identification of an individual who is subject to an anonymity order.

The Home Office, Ministry of Justice and Attorney-General's Office are currently working with the National Coordinator for Terrorist Investigations to improve the quality of data relating to those arrested, charged, convicted and imprisoned under terrorist legislation and under other legislation but considered terrorist related. As soon as this is complete a Statistical Bulletin covering this information will be published by the Home Office. This Statistical Bulletin will include figures showing the number of people charged and convicted under the Prevention of Terrorism Act 2005.

Crime: EU Nationals

Mr. Mark Field: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many A2 nationals were arrested for crimes connected with automatic teller machines in (a) 2005, (b) 2006 and (c) 2007. [168005]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The information requested on arrests is not collected centrally.

The arrests collection held by the Home Office covers arrests for recorded crime (notifiable offences) only, broken down at a main offence group level, covering categories such as violence against the person, burglary, robbery and drug offences. From these centrally reported data we are not able to identify specific offences from within the main offence groups.

The data are also broken down by age group, gender, ethnicity and police force area. Information on the nationality of offenders does not form a part of this collection, therefore data on the number of arrests of A2 nationals (from Romania and Bulgaria) is not available.

Crime: Information and Communications Technology

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment she has made of the (a) reliability and (b) usefulness of headcam technology in tackling crime; if she will make resources available to make this technology more widely available to the police; and if she will make a statement. [234473]

Mr. Alan Campbell: A pilot programme for body worn video (which includes head cameras) ran in Plymouth from September 2006 to April 2007. During the pilot the following key points were identified:

Violent crime was reduced by 8 per cent in the pilot sectors (1 per cent. elsewhere);

More serious violence was reduced by 18 per cent. (no change elsewhere);

An increase of 85 per cent. in violent incidents resulting in an arrest;

An increase of 40 per cent. in the number of violent crimes detected.

A number of providers supply body worn video devices. Individual police forces negotiate the best device to fit their needs. Kent police have demonstrated some excellent work in developing a bespoke device with a commercial provider.

The Home Office made a fund of £3 million available specifically to enable police forces across the country to widen their use of body worn video devices. This announcement was made on 12 July 2007, when guidance on the use of this equipment was published by PCSD, which was compiled with the National Police Improvement Agency and the support of ACPO.

Suffolk police was awarded £60,000 of this fund, which was a mid-range allocation from the 38 bids awarded.

Departmental Public Expenditure

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department which programmes funded by her Department experienced a real-terms reduction in their budget between 2006-07 and 2007-08; and what the budget was in (a) 2006-07 and (b) 2007-08 in each case. [234457]

Mr. Coaker: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my right hon. Friend the Member for Harrow, East (Mr. McNulty) on 29 April 2008, Official Report, column 334W.

Departmental Telecommunications

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much (a) her Department and (b) its agencies spent on telecommunications in each year since 1997. [200498]

Mr. Woolas: The available information is in the following tables.

HO (Including UKBA)

| Account | | 2004/05 | 2005/06 | 2006/07 | 2007/08 | Total |

Domestic Violence

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what plans she has for the long-term funding of independent domestic violence advisers in (a) Hampshire and (b) England and Wales. [231626]

Mr. Alan Campbell [holding answer 30 October 2008]: The Government are committed to contributing towards funding independent domestic violence adviser (IDVA) services with funds derived from the victims surcharge. In 2008-09 125 IDVA services were allocated grants including the 104 services supporting the specialist domestic violence courts. This includes four sites in Hampshire at Alton, Andover, Portsmouth and Southampton. The Government also allocated funding in 2008-09 to Government offices for the expansion of IDVA services (and multi-agency risk assessment conferences) locally and anticipates that funding will be made available again in 2009-10.

Drinking Banning Orders

James Brokenshire: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate she has made of the cost of implementing drinking banning orders, including funding transfers to other departments. [232898]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The Impact Assessment in respect of drinking banning orders (DBOs) is available on the Home Office website at:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/documents/ria-violent-crime-bill-cov-0605/

The administrative costs of DBOs are assumed to be equivalent of an ASBO; £5 million to £30 million. The custodial costs of a DBO are lower (than an ASBO) since the shorter DBOs are assumed to have fewer breaches. This is estimated to be £0.5 million to £2.5 million or £2 million to £10 million, if the increased number requires new prison places to be constructed. This assumes an equal mix of two, six and 12-month DBOs. The additional construction costs are not expected to be necessary as the total impact is expected to be less than 100 prison places. Even this scenario allows for six times more DBOs than there are currently ASBOs.

This implies total costs in the range of £5.5 million to £32.5 million. These estimates do not take into account the possible impacts on the profits of businesses who may lose revenue from banned drinkers.

The production of the Impact Assessment pre-dates the creation of the Ministry of Justice, and therefore there is no separate costing for this Department.

Driving Offences: Fines

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many vehicle owners were fined for having a vehicle on the public roads without a valid MOT certificate in the last 12 months. [234649]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The court proceedings database held by the Ministry of Justice cannot separately identify the specific offence of driving a vehicle without a valid MOT certificate. The following table shows the total number of fines imposed at magistrates courts for all vehicle test offences. Data for 2007 are expected to be published at the end of November this year.

As vehicle test offences are also dealt with by the police with the issue of a fixed penalty notice, data on the number issued in 2006 are also included in the table.

Total number of court imposed fines[1] at magistrates courts and fixed penalty notices[2] issued by the police for vehicle test offences[3], England and Wales, 2006[4,5,6,7]

| | Total |
|---|---|
| Number of court imposed fines | 51,332 |
| Number of penalty notices issued by the police | 2,921 |

[1] Magistrates courts data only. Fines given at the Crown court total nationally (England and Wales) less than 10 each year.
[2] Paid, i.e. no further action.
[3] Offences aiding, abetting, causing or permitting vehicle test offences (except fraud) under the Road Traffic Act 1988 ss. 47(1), 51(2), 53(1) - (3), 63(1), 63(2), 67(9), 76(8), 165(3) and 175; Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles Act 1972 s.3(1) (c); Road Vehicles (Construction and Use) Regulations 1986 Regs. 70 and 73.
[4] It is known that for some police force areas, the reporting of court proceedings in particular those relating to summary motoring offences is less than complete.
[5] Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts and police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.

Emergency Services: Radio

Tom Brake: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many Airwave handsets have been lost in each year since introduced, broken down by organisation; [230972]

(2) how many (a) lost, (b) broken and (c) other airwave handsets have been disabled by Airwave Solutions Ltd in each year since the airwave handsets were introduced, broken down by police force. [231023]

Mr. Coaker: The number of Airwave radio terminals that have been reported lost or stolen by organisations responsible to the Secretary of State for the Home Department since 2002 is 2,699. Each year this represents a very small percentage of the terminals in circulation, for example, for 2008 the number of terminals lost or stolen is less than 1 per cent. of the estimated current terminal population. The breakdown across organisations is given in the following table. The figures for these questions have been compiled from data provided by forces.

Handsets that have been reported lost or stolen are disabled within a short period of time in accordance with a published code of practice. The total number of terminals that have been disabled is likely to be higher than the number reported lost or stolen. This is because the figures do not include broken terminals. Broken terminals are disabled; however, this figure is not held centrally.

Some terminals which are reported lost or stolen may later be found; however, these data are not collected centrally.

Essex Police Authority: Pay

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much each official employed by Essex Police Authority has received in bonuses in each of the last three financial years; and what the grade of each official was. [233916]

Mr. Coaker: This information is not held centrally.

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what criteria are used to determine whether staff employed by Essex Police Authority receive a bonus; and if she will make a statement. [233917]

Mr. Coaker: This information is not held centrally.

Fixed Penalties: Cycling

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many fixed penalty notices were issued for offences committed on pedal cycles in each of the last three years, broken down by police force area. [236188]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The information requested is not collected centrally.

Fixed Penalties: Proof of Identity

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people who received a fixed penalty notice in the last three years were later found to have given (a) a false address and (b) an incorrect address to the relevant authorities. [236066]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The information requested is not collected centrally.

Greater Manchester Police: Labour Turnover

Mr. Crausby: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police officers (a) were recruited to and (b) left Greater Manchester Police in each year since 2001. [234102]

Mr. Coaker: The available data are given in the following table.

Police officer recruits[1] and leavers[2] for Greater Manchester Police (FTE)[3] from 2002-03 to 2007-08[4]

| | Joiners | Leavers |
|---|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 113 | 106[5] |
| 2003-04 | 978 | 279 |
| 2004-05 | 233 | 316 |
| 2005-06 | 277 | 421 |
| 2006-07 | 362 | 403 |
| 2007-08 | 426 | 381 |

[1] This and other tables contain full-time equivalent figures that have been rounded to the nearest whole number. Because of rounding, there may be an apparent discrepancy between totals and the sums of the constituent items.

[2] Includes normal retirements, medical retirements, resignations, dismissals and death but not transfers to other England and Wales forces and officers leaving after a period of secondment.

[3] Full Time Equivalent figures that have been rounded to the nearest whole number. Because of rounding, there may be an apparent discrepancy between totals and the sums of the constituent items.

[4] Financial year runs 1 April to 31 March inclusive. Data are not available prior to 2002-03.

[5] Excludes quarter one, data not available.

Identity Cards: Biometrics

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate she has made of the number of records against which each biometric taken for the purpose of enrolment in the identity card scheme will need to be checked when the scheme is fully rolled out. [219762]

Meg Hillier: It is our intention to conduct checks on individual biometrics when people enrol, against those of other people who have previously enrolled.

The number of people eventually enrolled in the scheme will depend on the take up of identity cards, but the Identity and Passport Service currently holds some 43 million active passport records.

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether the process of verification of an individual's biometric identifiers for the identity card scheme will check the biometric against a local copy held on the card or against the biometric stored on the National Identity Register. [219764]

Meg Hillier: Verification checks of biometrics identifiers will be made against the card in most cases using the biometrics stored in the chip, for example if the facial image or fingerprint biometrics are verified as part of an immigration check at the border. Only in specific circumstances, for example if an ID card has been lost, would verification of identity take place against the biometrics held on the National Identity Register. Such checks will provide a very secure and reliable means of proving identity.

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate she has made of the number of false matches likely if fingerprint biometrics alone are used for the biometric verification for the identity card scheme after the enrolment of (a) one million, (b) six million, (c) 40 million and (d) 60 million individuals. [219765]

Meg Hillier: The Identity and Passport Service is still in the process of procurement of specific biometric systems, hence we are unable to give an estimate of false matches that may occur. In the event of an uncertain fingerprint match the scheme will make use of human fingerprint experts to resolve uncertain fingerprint matches from the automated fingerprint matching system.

This procedure is used in all large-scale fingerprint systems to control false matches and the process will apply irrespective of the size of the database.

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what response she has made to the views expressed in the annual report for 2007 from the Biometrics Assurance Group on exception handling and fingerprint biometrics of the over 75 year olds for the purposes of the identity card scheme. [224278]

Meg Hillier [holding answer 12 September 2008]: Responses were only made to the specific recommendations of the Biometrics Assurance Group and as no specific recommendation was made regarding exception handling or the collection of fingerprint biometrics for the elderly, no comment was made.

Independent Police Complaints Commission

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what recommendations of the Independent Police Complaints Commission have not been implemented in each of the last five years; what the reason was in each case; and if she will make a statement; [233899]

(2) what the Independent Police Complaints Commission's (IPCCs) target is for conclusion of investigation of a complaint against the police from the date of registration of the complaint; what the average time taken per case has been since the IPCC was set; and if she will make a statement. [233910]

Mr. Coaker: The Home Office does not hold the information requested. This is a matter for the Independent Police Complaints Commission.

Independent Police Complaints Commission: Finance

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what funding her Department provided to the Independent Police Complaints Commission (IPCC) in each of the last three years; what recent discussions she has had with the IPCC about future funding; and if she will make a statement. [233909]

Mr. Coaker: The Home Office has provided the following amounts towards the funding of the Independent Police Complaints Commission in the last three years:

| | Amounts provided towards funding (£ million) |
|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 31.2 |
| 2007-08 | 32.2 |
| 2008-09 | 34.2 |

We continue to work closely with the IPCC to ensure that they are sufficiently funded both now and in the future to achieve their objectives while ensuring value for money and appropriate efficiency and effectiveness.

Police National Missing Person Bureau

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent assessment she has made of the effectiveness of the operation of the Police National Missing Person Bureau; and if she will make a statement. [234476]

Mr. Coaker: The National Policing Improvement Agency's (NPIA) Missing Persons Bureau has been developing its services to police forces, partners and stakeholders. This includes examining the protocols for the capture, storage and matching of DNA in missing persons' cases, and work with the Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF) on their Action Plan on Young Runaways, launched in June 2008. The Bureau has a change programme with over 40 enhancements designed to develop its response to missing person investigations.

A new national child rescue alert system is being developed and will enable the Bureau to launch United Kingdom-wide alerts and to participate in launching cross-border alerts with other European Union (EU) member states.

The Bureau is involved in an EU-sponsored (Justice and Home Affairs Council) joint Anglo-French alert exercise to determine if a national scheme is viable for the United Kingdom and test a hypothesis of how such a scheme might work.

The Bureau is currently liaising with the National Centre for Missing and Exploited Children (USA) and with four EU member states in this development programme.

A review is currently being carried out of the state of 'unidentified body' cases within forces and encouraging forensic reviews. Work is also being done to establish an effective DNA strategy for missing persons' enquiries and the Bureau is developing its IT system (Hermes) to enable automatic and electronic transfer of data from police forces to the Bureau and onwards to the charity Missing People.

One of the key future priorities for the Bureau is the development of a code of practice to create a national 'picture' of missing people. A code will generate accurate and timely data to enable the new national indicator on runaways as part of the National Indicator Set for 2009-2010. This indicator (NI71) is designed to secure effective joint working between children's services, the police and other local partners to ensure that necessary data about young runaways is collected, analysed and used to assist in safeguarding children. This code of practice has been drafted and consultation ends on November 21.

A co-hosted event with the charity Missing People will be held in April 2009 to raise awareness and to share best practice.

Police Patrolling

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many hours were spent on patrol by police officers in each police force area in each year since 1997. [234106]

Mr. Coaker: It is not possible to answer this question except at disproportionate cost.

Police: Bureaucracy

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many hours were spent on paperwork or administrative duties by police officers in each police force area in each year since 1997. [234107]

Mr. Coaker: The information requested could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Police: Complaints

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department in what courts completed proceedings against police officers from Essex have taken place in each year since 1997. [233915]

Mr. Coaker: I have been informed by the Office for Criminal Justice Reform that the data held centrally on court proceedings do not contain information about the circumstances behind each case, beyond the description provided in the statute under which prosecutions are brought.

It is therefore not possible to identify the occupation of a defendant who has been prosecuted or convicted of a criminal offence. As a result the information requested on court proceedings is not available.

Sir John Stanley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what publications have been made available to the general public setting out the statutory police complaint procedure; by whom these publications have been published; and if she will place copies of each publication in the Library. [234974]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 13 November 2008]: The Independent Police Complaints Commission (IPCC), which has a guardianship role for the police complaints system under the Police Reform Act 2002, sets out on its website details of the complaints and appeals procedures at:

http://www.ipcc.gov.uk/index.htm

It also produces advice in hard copy and I am arranging for copies to be placed in the Library of the House.

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many complaints have been referred to the Independent Police Complaints Commission (IPCC) in (a) England and (b) Essex since the IPCC was established, broken down by police force; and how many have been upheld in each case; [233911]

(2) what complaints to the Independent Police Complaints Commission (IPCC) have been upheld since the establishment of the IPCC; what steps were taken in each case by the relevant police force to implement the relevant recommendations; and if she will make a statement; [233912]

(3) how many complaints have been made against police officers in (a) Southend and (b) Essex in each year since 1997; and what action has been taken against each of the officers concerned when complaints have been upheld. [233914]

Mr. Coaker: The Home Office does not hold the information requested. This is a matter for the Independent Police Complaints Commission.

Police: Crime

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many serving police officers have been (a) prosecuted and (b) convicted of a criminal offence in each month since June 2007, broken down by (i) sex, (ii) age and (iii) police force; and how many of those convicted were (A) suspended from duty, (B) demoted, (C) dismissed and (D) cautioned. [233900]

Mr. Coaker: I have been informed by the Office for Criminal Justice Reform that the data held centrally on court proceedings do not contain information about the circumstances behind each case, beyond the description provided in the statute under which prosecutions are brought.

It is therefore not possible to identify the occupation of a defendant who has been prosecuted or convicted of a criminal offence. As a result the information requested on court proceedings is not available.

Police: Enfield

Mr. Burrowes: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police officers there were in the London Borough of Enfield in (a) 1997 and (b) the latest period for which figures are available. [234580]

Mr. Coaker: Police service strength data have been centrally collected at the Basic Command Unit (BCU) level from 2003 onwards.

As at 31 March 2003 there were 490 full-time equivalent police officers in the Enfield BCU, increasing to 546 as at 31 March 2008.

As at 31 March 1997 there were 26,677 full-time equivalent police officers in the Metropolitan Police force, increasing to 31,014 as at 31 March 2008.

Mr. Burrowes: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many hours per day on average police officers in the London Borough of Enfield spent on patrol in the latest period for which figures are available. [234581]

Mr. Coaker: Data on officer activity are not collected centrally for individual boroughs.

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) police officers, (b) police constables, (c) police sergeants and (d) police community support officers were working in the London borough of Enfield in each year since 1997. [235436]

Mr. Coaker: The available data are given in the following table. Enfield is a Basic Command Unit (BCU) within the Metropolitan Police. Police personnel statistics were not collected at BCU level until 2002-03 and are not collected by rank of officer.

Police officer strength (FTE)[1] and police community support officer strength (FTE)[1] for the Basic Command Unit of Enfield[2]

| | Officers | PCSOs |
|---|---|---|
| 2003 | 490 | |
| 2004 | 538 | |
| 2005 | 575 | |
| 2006 | 560 | |
| 2007[3] | 582 | 119 |
| 2008 | 546 | 134 |

[1] These figures are based on full-time equivalents that have been rounded to the nearest whole number, due to rounding there may be an apparent discrepancy between totals and the sums of constituent items. Figures include those officers on career breaks or maternity/paternity leave.
[2] Figures as at 31 March in each of the given years.
[3] 2006-07 is the first year that that police community support officer strength by Basic Command Unit has been collected centrally.

Police: Recruitment

Mr. Crausby: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police officers were recruited in England in each year since 2005-06. [234158]

Mr. Coaker: The number of full-time equivalent police officer recruits in England for the requested financial years only are given as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 6,235 |
| 2006-07 | 6,250 |
| 2007-08 | 5,512 |

Recruits include those officers joining as Police Standard Direct Recruits and those who were previously special constables. This excludes police officers on transfers from other forces and those rejoining.

Shoplifting: Fines

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the monetary value of the default fine issued under a fixed penalty notice is for the offence of shoplifting goods of under £200 in value. [235046]

Maria Eagle: I have been asked to reply.

The fine for non-payment of a Penalty Notice for Disorder (PND) issued for shoplifting is £120.

Under the PND Scheme police can issue an £80 fixed penalty for shoplifting of goods under £200. The recipient has 21 days in which either to pay the penalty or have their case heard in court. If no action is taken, a fine of one and half times the penalty amount is registered by the courts. PNDs are issued for thefts of value of more than £100 exceptionally and normally where the goods have been recovered.

Speed Limits: Cameras

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many local authority CCTV cameras use her Department's automatic number plate recognition system. [235020]

Mr. Alan Campbell: This information is not held centrally as it is a matter for individual police forces and local authorities.

The Home Office provided £32.5 million from the Home Office 2005-06 capital investment to develop the use of automatic number plate recognition (ANPR) at the national, regional and local level. Consequently, it was a decision for police forces and their partners to decide how best to facilitate the linkages between ANPR and closed circuit television (CCTV) systems according to local policing needs.

Surveillance: Telecommunications

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether representatives of the interceptions of communications commissioner undertake inspections of local authorities. [235089]

Mr. Coaker: Representatives of the interception of communications commissioner's office are responsible for inspecting those local authorities which make use of the communications data provisions within the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000.

Terrorism

Patrick Mercer: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many charges brought against the individuals at, or awaiting, trial for terrorism-related offences referred to in the Report on the Operation in 2007 of the Terrorism Act 2000 and Part 1 of the Terrorism Act 2006, by Lord Carlile of Berriew QC, have since been dropped; [231612]

(2) how many charges brought for offences under anti-terrorism legislation committed in the United Kingdom, excluding Northern Ireland, (a) between 11 September 2001 and 31 March 2007 and (b) since 31 March 2007 have been dropped. [231613]

Mr. Coaker: We are unable to provide the information requested.

The Home Office, Ministry of Justice and Attorney-General's Office are currently working with the National Coordinator for Terrorist Investigations to improve the quality of data relating to those arrested, charged, convicted and imprisoned under terrorist legislation and under other legislation but considered terrorist related. As soon as this is complete a Statistical Bulletin covering this information will be published by the Home Office.

This Statistical Bulletin will include figures from 11 September 2001 to 31 March 2008 showing the number of people charged and convicted of terrorism related offences and the charge to conviction ratio. The remaining figure will therefore reflect those individuals not convicted whose case resulted in an alternative outcome. It is currently not possible to separately identify those individuals whose case has not been proceeded with, those acquitted and those at or awaiting trial.

Terrorism: Arrests

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many of those (a) arrested and (b) convicted in respect of (i) offences under the Terrorism Acts 2000 and 2006 and (ii) offences otherwise involving terrorism in each year since 2000 were foreign nationals; how many of them were (A) EU and (B) non-EU nationals; and what proportion of all terrorist offenders each category represents. [234350]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 10 November 2008]: We are unable to provide the information requested.

The Home Office, Ministry of Justice and Attorney-General's Office are currently working with the National Coordinator for Terrorist Investigations to improve the quality of data relating to those arrested, charged, convicted and imprisoned under terrorist legislation and under other legislation but considered terrorist related. As soon as this is complete a Statistical Bulletin covering this information will be published by the Home Office.

This Statistical Bulletin will provide a nationality breakdown of terrorist related prisoners, as at 31 March 2008, including individuals in prison either on remand and/or convicted, however, we are unable to provide this breakdown for all of those arrested.

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many days after arrest the evidence used to prosecute was available for all people convicted of offences under anti-terrorism legislation, who were held for more than 14 days before charge in the last three years. [235536]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 13 November 2008]: No one who has been held for more than 14 days has yet to be convicted although a number of cases are awaiting trial.

Terrorism: Criminal Proceedings

Patrick Mercer: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many of the individuals at or awaiting trial for terrorism-related offences referred to in the Report on the Operation in 2007 of the Terrorism Act 2000 and Part 1 of the Terrorism Act 2006 by Lord Carlile of Berriew QC have been tried; and what the outcome was in each case where legal proceedings have been completed; [230471]

(2) how many of the charges brought for terrorism-related offences in the United Kingdom, excluding Northern Ireland, between 11 September 2001 and 31 March 2007 proceeded to trial; and what the outcome was in each case where legal proceedings have been completed; [230472]

(3) how many charges have been brought for offences under anti-terrorism legislation committed in the United Kingdom excluding Northern Ireland since 31st March 2007; how many such charges proceeded to trial; and what the outcome was in each case where legal proceedings have been completed. [230473]

Mr. Coaker: We are unable to provide the information requested.

The Home Office, Ministry of Justice and Attorney-General's Office are currently working with the National Coordinator for Terrorist Investigations to improve the quality of data relating to those arrested, charged, convicted and imprisoned under terrorist legislation and under other legislation but considered terrorist related. As soon as this is complete a Statistical Bulletin covering this information will be published by the Home Office.

This Statistical Bulletin will include figures from 11 September 2001 to 31 March 2008 showing the number of people charged and convicted of terrorism related offences and the charge to conviction ratio. The remaining figure will therefore reflect those individuals not convicted whose case resulted in an alternative outcome. It is currently not possible to separately identify those individuals whose case has not been proceeded with, those acquitted and those at or awaiting trial.

Theft: Sheep

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment her Department has made of the effectiveness of measures it has taken to prevent sheep rustling in the last five years. [235365]

Mr. Alan Campbell [holding answer 13 November 2008]: Sheep rustling is a crime and is covered under the Theft Act 1968. The Government's Crime Strategy has now moved away from centrally imposed targets toward making local agencies accountable and responsive to the needs and priorities of the local community. Where sheep rustling emerges as a pressing local issue there is a local framework in place for local police forces and Crime and Disorder Reduction Partnerships to devote resources to tackling this crime.

The Home Office has recently presented a Tilley Award for innovation to a partnership between the police and industry in the Glens of Antrim, Northern Ireland, which tackled theft of sheep. This project used new technology to identify individual sheep through retinal scanning. It is reported that this has been very effective in the area in reducing the number of sheep stolen and assisting in successful prosecution. The Home Office has made no other assessment of sheep rustling.

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Child Minders

16. Mr. Lilley: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what assessment he has made of the likely effect on the supply of child minders of requiring them to be subject to inspection by Ofsted. [235771]

Beverley Hughes: Ofsted has been inspecting child minders since 2001. There is no evidence to suggest that Ofsted inspection has had any impact on the supply of child minders.

Ofsted inspects all child care providers to ensure that they comply with current requirements. In the three years up to March 2008 97 per cent. of the 35,800 child minders inspected were found to be satisfactory or better with 61 per cent. judged good or outstanding.

School Standards

19. Ms Keeble: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what steps he plans to take to support the programme by secondary school head teachers in Northamptonshire to raise educational standards in their schools. [235774]

Beverley Hughes: Standards in Northamptonshire have improved at key stage 4. Compared to 2007, the percentage of pupils achieving five good GCSEs has risen by 3.7 percentage points to 58.8 per cent. Taking account of English and mathematics, performance is up by three percentage points to 45.1 per cent.

Discussions have taken place with Northamptonshire local authority to agree the level of support for each of their National Challenge schools. National Challenge Advisers will begin work with individual schools this month.

National Challenge Programme

20. Kerry McCarthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what progress is being made in schools within the national challenge programme; and if he will make a statement. [235775]

Jim Knight: Since the National Challenge was announced in June we have been working with local authorities to develop bespoke plans to secure improvement at individual school level. We have now agreed National Challenge funding for 48 local authorities amounting to over £20 million which my right hon. Friend announced last week and are working to agree funding for the remainder with schools in the National Challenge. The sum announced includes £549,000 for secondary schools in Bristol.

Post-16 Education

21. Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what advice is provided to students at secondary school on post-16 education; and who provides this advice. [235776]

Jim Knight: We expect schools to provide young people with impartial advice on post-16 education that reflects the interests and needs of the individual. Young people also have access, from the age of 13, to local, independent external information, advice and guidance services delivered under the Connexions brand and to national, confidential online and telephone-based information and advice provided under the Connexions Direct brand.

Children's Trusts

22. Annette Brooke: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what his Department's assessment is of the changes in outcomes for children since the establishment of children's trusts. [235777]

Beverley Hughes: DCSF uses a range of evidence to assess children's outcomes, including the Every Child Matters outcomes framework. This contains 106 indicators, around half of which measure aspects of the quality of children's lives and the remaining half measure the quality of services provided to children. Key improvements over the period have been:

The conception rate of 15 to 17-year-old girls fell from 43 per 1,000 in 2004 to 41 in 2006;

Stability of care for looked after children has improved;

The number of schools with less than 30 per cent. of pupils with five A*-C GCSEs including English and Maths fell from 1,100 in 2003 to 638 in 2007 and record levels of educational attainment;

Increases in the number of five-year-olds achieving a good level of development as evidenced by 2008 foundation stage positive results, and reducing the gap between the 20 per cent. lowest achieving children and the rest.

Academies

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what plans he has for development of the academies programme. [235767]

Jim Knight: The Government are committed to continuing to develop the academies programme and establishing at least 400 academies nationwide. In addition to the 130 now open, four are projected to open in January 2009, up to 80 in September 2009 and up to a further 100 in 2010.

Youth Facilities

Mrs. Hodgson: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what funding his Department plans to provide for youth facilities in Gateshead East and Washington, West constituency in the next three years. [235772]

Beverley Hughes: The Department has allocated a total of £1.7 million through the Youth Capital Fund (YCF) to Gateshead and Sunderland local authorities for investment in youth facilities over the period 2008-11. YCF gives young people control over funding decisions for new facilities in their area, which has a genuine influence on empowering young people, their participation in positive activities, as well as the quality of provision on offer. In addition, over the next three years, all local areas will have the opportunity to bid for, and benefit from, £190 million of Government capital investment through myplace. myplace is being delivered by the Big Lottery Fund, and will fund world class youth facilities n cross-sector partnership, driven by the active participation of young people and their views and needs, through individual grants of £1 to 5 million.

Bullying

John Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what additional measures he has considered to reduce the incidence of bullying in schools; and if he will make a statement. [235773]

Beverley Hughes: We have a comprehensive strategy in place. Our guidance, 'Safe To Learn', advises schools on tackling bullying related to ethnicity, sexuality, disability and cyberbullying. We are funding the Anti-Bullying Alliance and National Strategies to ensure this work is embedded in schools.

Our future plans include developing our Peer Mentoring pilots, publishing guidance covering bullying outside school, bullying of school staff and bullying related to gender and gender identity, and re-launching our campaign against cyberbullying.

Contact Orders

Mr. Ian Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families when he plans to implement the provisions in Part 1 of the Children and Adoption Act 2006 relating to new powers for the courts to order contact activities and new enforcement powers. [233314]

Beverley Hughes: The implementation of the remaining provisions in Part 1 of the Children and Adoption Act 2006, sections 1 to 5 and 8, relating to new powers for the courts to order contact activities and new enforcement powers were announced on 4 November 2008, Official Report, column 22WS. The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Justice has made a written ministerial statement, outlining that the provisions will come into force on 8 December. The new arrangements will extend to England and Wales and have been agreed by Welsh Assembly Government Deputy Minister for Social Services, Gwenda Thomas.

Primary Education: Per Capita Costs

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what the average funding per primary school pupil was in (a) England and (b) Somerset in (i) 1979-80 and (ii) 1996-97. [236346]

Jim Knight: The available information on the net institutional funding per nursery and primary pupils in 1996-97 are (a) £1,730 and (b) £1,644. The figures are in cash terms. There are no comparable figures available for 1979-80.

Schools: Discipline

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what programmes provide funding to schools to deal with (a) behaviour and (b) inclusion matters; and how much funding is available under each programme in 2008-09. [235364]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry [holding answer 13 November 2008]: The main sources of funding for schools are Dedicated Schools Grant and School Development Grant. It is for schools to determine how much of these sources of funding they then spend on behaviour and inclusion, in the light of local priorities and schools' statutory duty to use their best endeavours to make the necessary provision for children with special educational needs.

In addition, the Department maintains a small number of centrally funded programmes which impact on behaviour in schools. Many of these programmes aim to improve school attendance as well as behaviour and it is not possible to disaggregate what is spent on each element. The main such programmes are:

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| Behaviour and attendance central co-ordination[1] | 13.9 |
| National Strategies targeted support in schools | 5.4 |
| Social and emotional aspects of learning (SEAL) | 10.6 |
| Tackling bullying in schools | 3.1 |
| Alternative Provision pilots[2] | 1.4 |
| Skillforce | 0.9 |
| Day 6 provision for suitable full-time education for excluded pupils[3] | 10.0 |
| A range of small programmes providing support for parents, and guidance on various aspects of school behaviour and attendance | 1.8 |
| Total | 47.1 |

[1] Standards Fund resources mainly to pay for local authority behaviour and attendance consultants

[2] Children's Plan

[3] £16 million of which £10 million is for schools and £6 million is for LAs included in the Dedicated Schools Grant

Schools: Standards

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what recent steps the Government has taken to improve (a) standards of cleaning in schools and (b) the quality of classroom furniture. [236058]

Jim Knight: School cleanliness is the responsibility of the head teacher and governors and the local authority where they are the employer. The Workplace (Health, Safety and Welfare) Regulations 1992 Regulation 9 and the Approved Code of Practice on the regulations issued by the Health and Safety Executive cover cleanliness. More specifically "Toilets in Schools" a recent departmental document on Teachernet makes clear the importance of well designed and well maintained facilities so that pupils can and will make regular use of them. The Government have made a number of steps. The BSF Furniture and Equipment (F & E) brief aims to encourage schools and bidders to recognise the role furniture can play within the transformational agenda. As part of this aim, it will make clear the expectations for furniture such as the need for improved strength and stability criteria as set out in part 2 of the new European standard EN1729. It is also proposed to include the ergonomic requirements of EN1729 part 1. A 30-month research project the Department has recently commissioned into the accommodation implications of personalised learning will examine the role furniture can play in ensuring flexible layouts. The Department has also published a website which gives ergonomic dimensions for furniture in order that designers have the most up-to-date data from which to work on new designs. Quality of furniture in schools can often lie in making the right choices of furniture, the Department's website aims to ensure that schools buy appropriately sized furniture. Many of our design guides give details on purchasing quality furniture and how to ensure it is 'fit for purpose', one of the key indicators of quality.

Secondary Education: Admissions

Mr. Bone: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many unfilled secondary school places there were in (a) Wellingborough constituency and (b) England on the latest date for which figures are available. [235930]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The Department collects information annually from each local authority on the number of surplus places which exist within maintained schools, as part of the Surplus Places Survey. The most recent data available relate to the position as at January 2008.

At January 2008 the number of unfilled school places in maintained secondary schools within Wellingborough constituency was 1,022 (13 per cent.) and the number of unfilled school places in maintained secondary schools in England as a whole was 299,538 (9 per cent.).

Young People: Alcoholic Drinks

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what recent steps the Government have taken to reduce alcohol addiction amongst teenagers. [234792]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry [holding answer 13 November 2008]:

The proportion of teenagers who drink regularly is falling but those who do drink are drinking a lot more. Young people who drink too much not only put their own health at risk, but are more likely to get involved in antisocial behaviour and contribute to insecurity on our streets. The Youth Alcohol Action Plan, published in June, sets out a number of actions to address the problems of young people's alcohol consumption. We will provide clearer health information for parents and young people about how consumption of alcohol, particularly at an early age, can affect children and young people. This will include the chief medical officer's guidelines on safer drinking by young people and a comprehensive communications campaign aimed at 11 to 15 year-olds to be launched in spring 2009.

In line with recommendations from an independent review of drug and alcohol education, Ministers announced on 30 October 2008 that Personal Health and Social Education (PHSE) would be made statutory subject. This would underline the key role PSHE has to play in young people's personal development.

Very few young people are addicted to alcohol but we know that a small proportion of young people do drink too much which puts them at risk of harm. DCSF are working closely with the National Treatment Agency (NTA) to continue to improve the accessibility and quality of substance misuse treatment for young people (under 18), with the aim of ensuring that effective treatment is available for any young person with alcohol problems that needs it.

Departmental Pensions

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many and what proportion of civil servants in his Department and its agencies are members of the (a) Classic, (b) Classic Plus, (c) Nuvos and (d) Premium civil service pension schemes. [229522]

Jonathan Shaw: The current numbers of Department for Work and Pensions and its agencies' staff who are members of the Principal Civil Service Pensions Scheme are as follows:

| Scheme | Number | Percentage |
|---|---|---|
| (a) Classic | 84,010 | 72.78 |
| (b) Classic Plus | 2,516 | 2.18 |
| (c) Nuvos | 4,263 | 3.69 |
| (d) Premium | 21,017 | 18.21 |

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much his Department spent on (a) entertainment, (b) advertising and promotion and (c) public relations consultancy in 2007-08. [228098]

Jonathan Shaw: The Department for Work and Pensions has incurred expenditure in 2007-08 on the following individual areas:

| | £000 |
|---|---|
| (a) Entertainment | 50 |
| (b) Advertising and promotion | 9,179 |
| (c) Public relations consultancy | 1,097 |
| Total expenditure | 10,326 |

All expenditure on entertainment, which falls within the classification 'Hospitality' is made in accordance with published departmental guidance on financial procedures and propriety, based on principles set out in Managing Public Money and the Treasury handbook on Regularity and Propriety.

Departmental Recruitment

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much (a) his Department and (b) its Executive agencies spent on (i) recruitment consultants and (ii) external recruitment advertising to recruit staff in each of the last five financial years; which recruitment consultants were employed for those purposes in each of those years; and if he will make a statement. [226804]

Jonathan Shaw: Over a period of four years, April 2004 to March 2008, the Department for Work and Pensions has, on average, recruited 8,200 new employees per year. The bulk of the new employees are recruited by Jobcentre Plus on behalf of both itself and other parts of the Department. The Department during the same period recruited, on average, 75 new employees per year into either the senior civil service, or into specialist or professional roles. In respect of these recruitments, the Department operates a framework agreement under which five suppliers have been selected to provide recruitment consultancy services. The suppliers are Hays, Capita, Assessment and Development Ltd., PricewaterhouseCoopers and Water for Fish.

The Department is also able to draw on a number of other suppliers from a framework agreement operated by the Cabinet Office for senior civil service recruitment. The suppliers in question are Rockpools, Moloney Search, Strategic Dimensions, Gatenby Sanderson, Egon Zehnder, Saxton Bampfylde Hever, Veredus, Hays, Penna, Whitehead Mann, Hoggart Bowers and Odgers Ray and Berndtson.

The amount spent on recruitment consultants are given as follows. Information for 20003-04 and 2004-05 could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 1,036,114 |
| 2006-07 | 1,107,158 |
| 2007-08 | 1,102,979 |

The aforementioned figures include the cost of recruitment advertising where that has been procured by the consultants concerned. Information on other recruitment advertising could be provided only at disproportionate costs.

Departmental Responsibilities

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the initial traffic light status of each project in his Department and its agencies which has been the subject of a gateway review was. [226197]

Jonathan Shaw: Gateway reports, including the findings and status, are conducted on a confidential basis for senior responsible owners (SROs). We do not make this information routinely public.

Departmental Telephone Services

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions whether his Department has considered changing its 084 telephone advice lines to 03 numbers; and if he will make a statement. [236167]

Jonathan Shaw: Our ambition is to provide our customers with straight forward and low cost access to our services, and our approach to the use of telephony numbers is based on that principle.

We have considered whether it would be better for our customers to switch to the use of 03xx but we believe that the use of 0800 and 0845 continues to provide the solution which is, on balance, most advantageous to our customers as a whole.

Deprivation Indicators

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the index of deprivation is in each of the principal seaside towns in England and Wales. [234938]

John Healey: I have been asked to reply.

The following tables list the codes for the least and most deprived lower super output areas in the principal seaside towns in England, on the overall measure of multiple deprivation and across the seven domains of the Index of Multiple Deprivation 2007. Information on deprivation in Welsh towns can be obtained from the Welsh Assembly Government Statistical Directorate.

Disability Living Allowance: Sight Impaired

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) how many people with a visual impairment are receiving (a) the lower rate and (b) the higher rate of the mobility component of the disability living allowance; [229459]

(2) how many people with a visual impairment have received the (a) lower rate and (b) higher rate of the mobility component of the disability living allowance in the last 12 months. [229460]

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many (a) blind and (b) partially sighted people received the mobility component of disability living allowance (i) at the higher rate and (ii) at the lower rate in each year since 1997. [229501]

Jonathan Shaw: It is not possible to breakdown the available data into blind and partially sighted people.

The available information is in the table.

Disability Living Allowance claimants with a main disabling condition of blindness: Great Britain

| As at February each year | Higher rate mobility component | Lower rate mobility component |
|---|---|---|
| 2008 | 7,800 | 58,000 |
| 2007 | 7,600 | 56,600 |
| 2006 | 7,500 | 55,000 |
| 2005 | 7,300 | 54,200 |
| 2004 | 7,500 | 52,700 |

Disability Living Allowance claimants with a main disabling condition of blindness: Great Britain

| As at February each year | Higher rate mobility component | Lower rate mobility component |
|---|---|---|
| 2003 | 7,600 | 51,200 |
| 2002 | 7,000 | 50,300 |
| 2001 | 6,200 | 48,900 |
| 2000 | 6,000 | 47,500 |
| 1999 | 6,100 | 45,600 |
| 1998 | 5,900 | 43,800 |
| 1997 | 5,800 | 41,400 |

Notes:

1. Figures are rounded to the nearest 100.
2. Totals show the number of people in receipt of an allowance, and exclude people with entitlement where the payment has been suspended, for example if they are in hospital.
3. Where the claimant is eligible for both care and mobility components, the disabling condition associated with the mobility component is shown here. Where more than one disability is present only the main disabling condition is recorded.
4. A diagnosed medical condition does not mean that someone is automatically entitled to Disability Living Allowance. Entitlement is dependent on an assessment of how much help someone needs with personal care and/or mobility because of their disability. These statistics are collected only for administrative purposes.
5. Caseload figures are given as at February for each year.
6. Figures are published on the Nomis website at www.nomisweb.co.uk.

DWP Information Directorate 5 per cent. sample.

Although the preferred data source for benefit statistics is 100 per cent. Work and Pensions Longitudinal Study, the 5 per cent. sample data has been used in this case because it provides some detail not yet available from the 100 per cent. data sources, in particular, more complete information on the disabling condition of Disability Living Allowance claimants.

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many (a) blind and (b) partially sighted people living in Southend West constituency received the mobility component of disability living allowance (i) at the higher rate and (ii) at the lower rate (A) in each year since 1997 and (B) at the latest date for which information is available. [229502]

Jonathan Shaw: It is not possible to breakdown the available data into blind and partially sighted people.

Notes:

1. Although the 5 per cent. sample data would normally be used to produce tables on DLA disabling condition as it contains more complete information on disabling condition, in this case the 100 per cent. Work and Pensions Longitudinal Study has been used. This is because for a small subset of the caseload such as those with one specific disabling condition in one parliamentary constituency, the sampling variation associated with figures produced from the 5 per cent. sample data would be such as to make the results unreliable.
2. Caseload figures are rounded to the nearest 10.
3. Figures are only available from 2002.
4. Figures show the number of people in receipt of an allowance, and exclude people with entitlement where the payment has been suspended, for example if they are in hospital.
5. Where the claimant is eligible for both care and mobility components, the disabling condition associated with the mobility component is shown here. Where more than one disability is present only the main disabling condition is recorded.

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) if he will review the adequacy of the eligibility criteria for the mobility component of the disability living allowance with regard to people with visual impairments; [229821]

(2) what factors were taken into account by his Department when it was decided not to provide £30 million of funding to allow visually impaired people to claim the higher rate of mobility component of the disability living allowance. [229823]

Jonathan Shaw: All Government spending is subject to competing priorities. We have had very constructive discussions with the Royal National Institute of Blind People (RNIB) and others on their proposal that we extend the higher rate mobility component of Disability Living Allowance to children and working age people with severe visual impairments. We understand the need to look at this important change to the arrangements for the mobility component of Disability Living Allowance. I look forward to working with RNIB to see how we could take this forward.

Employee Assistance Programme

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the cost of his Department's Employee Assistance Programme has been in each year since its inception; and how much has been spent on (a) central administration of the programme, (b) counsellors delivering the programme and (c) services supplied by accredited counsellors not employed directly by his Department. [236116]

Jonathan Shaw: The Employee Assistance programme is a wide-ranging service designed to provide advice, guidance and support on a range of issues. This includes counselling.

The Department for Work and Pensions does not employ any counsellors. All counsellors delivering the programme are employed by the contractor. All their costs are included in the figures in the following table:

| Contract year | Annual EAP costs | Central administration costs |
|---|---|---|
| July 2005 to June 2006 | 2,770,561 | 28,054 |
| July 2006 to June 2007 | 2,723,682 | 28,929 |
| July 2007 to June 2008 | 2,488,235 | 29,656 |

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many face to face meetings his Department's Employee Assistance Programme has had in each year since its inception; with how many departmental staff; and if he will make a statement. [236117]

Jonathan Shaw: The information is as follows

| July to June each year | Number of staff to receive face to face counselling | Number of meetings undertaken |
|---|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 3,234 | 17,198 |
| 2007-08 | 3,495 | 19,725 |

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many requests for services provided by his Department's Employee Assistance Programme were received (a) in total, (b) from jobcentre plus staff and (c) from each non-departmental public body for which his Department is responsible in each year since its inception; and if he will make a statement. [236119]

Jonathan Shaw: The current Employee Assistance Programme contract was awarded in July 2005. Information prior to that date could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

| | | | Non-departmental bodies public[1] | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| July to June each year | DWP total | Jobcentre Plus | Health and Safety Executive | The Pensions Regulator | The Pension Protection Fund |
| 2005-06 | 6,924 | 4,467 | 0 | 0 | 0[2] |
| 2006-07 | 5,148 | 3,344 | 104 | 5 | 0 |
| 2007-08 | 5,192 | 3,463 | 137 | 8 | 2 |
| Total | 17,301 | 11,274 | 241 | 13 | 2 |

[1] These are the only non-departmental public bodies within the Department's responsibility covered by the Employee Assistance Programme contract
[2] Not covered by the contract in 2005-06

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions whether the reasons for staff requests for services offered by his Department's Employee Assistance Programme are recorded. [236120]

Jonathan Shaw: All reasons for requests for services are recorded and reported in anonymous form to the Department's contract management team by the Employee Assistance Programme.

Employment and Support Allowance

Mr. David Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many medical practitioners have received training for the examination of claimants of employment and support allowance. [236730]

Jonathan Shaw: Atos Healthcare employs health care professionals to carry out medical examinations as part of the work capability assessment element of employment and support allowance. As of week ending 7 November 2008, there are one 123 health care professionals fully trained for the examination of claimants of employment and support allowance with others at various stages of their training programmes.

Mr. David Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions when his Department expects to issue guidance to medical practitioners in relation to examinations of claimants of employment and support allowance. [236731]

Jonathan Shaw: Health care professionals employed by Atos Healthcare carry out examinations on employment and support allowance customers from 27 October 2008. Guidance relating to examination of claimants of employment and support allowance has been issued to Atos health care professionals from 3 October 2008.

We have also undertaken a range of communication activities to ensure other health care professionals are aware of employment and support allowance and the new processes. These include direct mail to GPs, articles in various professional editorials, employment and support allowance web page and sponsored web links.

Employment Schemes

Danny Alexander: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate his Department has made of the demand for work-focused interviews in each of the next 12 months in each Jobcentre Plus (a) district and (b) region, broken down by benefit claimed. [235347]

Mr. McNulty: No such estimate has been made.

Employment: Disabled

John Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what steps he (a) has taken and (b) is planning to take to develop a cross-governmental national strategy on employment retention for disabled people, as set out in the Independent Living Strategy document; and which departments are involved in its production. [234847]

Jonathan Shaw: DWP along with the Office for Disability Issues will lead the development of a cross-government national strategy aimed at enabling people to remain in employment when they acquire an impairment or long-term health condition, or when an existing impairment or condition worsens/fluctuates. The Independent Living Strategy sets out a timetable of 2008-10 for the development of the strategy. Work to take this commitment forward will start in the new year.

Flexible New Deal

John Penrose: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what discussions he has had with the Chancellor of the Exchequer on the future budget for Flexible New Deal in the event of future increases in unemployment. [234507]

Mr. McNulty: The Department for Work and Pensions published its CSR 2007 three-year plan in February 2008. Copies are available in the Library. Any adjustments to that plan including, for example, potential future increases in unemployment are the subject of ongoing discussion between Department for Work and Pensions and Treasury Ministers.

The Department has been planning for the impact of higher levels of jobseeker's allowance claims in the coming months and is developing plans right across its areas of responsibility to assess and manage the impact of an economic downturn.

Housing Benefit

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what guidelines his Department has issued on direct payment of housing benefit to landlords in respect of claimants who are (a) mentally ill and (b) vulnerable; and what measures are in place to monitor the standards of accommodation offered in such cases. [235187]

Kitty Ussher: For information about the direct payment of housing benefit, I refer the hon. Member to the written answer I gave the right hon. Member for Oxford, East (Mr. Smith) on 28 October 2008, Official Report, columns 861-62W.

Information about standards of accommodation provided by local authorities is a matter for my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government.

Andrew Selous: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions pursuant to the answer of 10 November 2008, Official Report, column 911W, on housing benefit, how many days on average each of the 10 local authorities which took the (a) most and (b) least time to process new housing benefit claims in 2007-08 took. [235944]

Kitty Ussher: The available information is in the following tables:

Average time taken in calendar days to process new claims for housing benefit in 2007-08, 10 local authorities taking least time

| Local authority | Days |
|---|---|
| St Albans | 5 |
| South Norfolk | 11 |
| Maidstone | 11 |
| Crawley | 12 |
| Tendring | 14 |
| South Lanarkshire | 14 |
| Fenland | 14 |
| Sedgemoor | 14 |
| Chiltern | 15 |
| Cannock Chase | 15 |

Average time taken in calendar days to process new claims for housing benefit in 2007-08, 10 local authorities taking most time

| Local authority | Days |
|---|---|
| Weymouth and Portland | 41 |
| Newcastle upon Tyne | 42 |
| Hounslow | 44 |
| Blyth Valley | 44 |

| Ealing | 45 |
| East Devon | 48 |
| Rother | 49 |
| Luton | 62 |
| Isle of Anglesey | 74 |

Note

Claim processing performance data are supplied to DWP by local authorities and are un-audited. Where no data have been received for a particular quarter the average annual performance has been estimated from available data.

Incapacity Benefit

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions if he will make an assessment of the socio-economic background of those on incapacity benefit who are (a) actively seeking work and (b) not actively seeking work in the principal seaside towns in comparison to those such groups (i) nationally and (ii) locally; and if he will make a statement. [235532]

Jonathan Shaw: It would not be possible to make such an assessment as information on those on incapacity benefit who are, and who are not, actively seeking work is not available.

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions if he will make an assessment of the average level of educational qualification of (a) incapacity benefit claimants and (b) the long-term unemployed resident in the principal seaside towns in England and Wales in comparison to such claimants (i) nationally and (ii) in neighbouring communities; and if he will make a statement. [235534]

Jonathan Shaw: Information on the average qualifications of incapacity benefit claimants and the long-term unemployed is not available.

Incapacity Benefit: Coastal Areas

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the number of people on incapacity benefit who have recently moved into the principal seaside towns; and if he will make a statement. [235198]

Jonathan Shaw: No such estimate has been made.

Income Support: Mortgages

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what interest rate he assumes in determining assistance to mortgage holders receiving income support; and if he will make a statement. [235462]

Kitty Ussher: From December 2004, the standard interest rate used to calculate support for mortgage interest payments in income support, income-based jobseeker's allowance and state pension credit was changed to respond to changes in the Bank of England base rate. The standard interest rate is the Bank of England base rate plus an additional 1.58 per cent. This is more representative, transparent, easier to understand and easier to administer than the previous method, which was based upon an average of building society interest rates. The additional 1.58 per cent. recognises the fact that lenders' interest rates are set at a higher rate than the base rate and to ensure that no-one lost out when the method of calculation changed.

As with all parts of the benefits system, we keep this under review.

Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) if, following the recent consultation in relation to the Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit scheme, he will consider the merits of holding a further consultation on the new scheme relating to lump sum payments for those suffering from mesothelioma resulting from exposure to asbestos at work; [227442]

(2) what conclusions have been drawn from the recent consultation on the Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit scheme, on the merits of an extension of the period within which claims must be made after injury occurs in the light of the long gestation periods of some work-related illnesses such as mesothelioma; [227443]

(3) what conclusions have been drawn from the recent consultation on the Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit scheme with regard to benefits being awarded to those individuals who have retired from work or moved onto new employment and who later suffer disability as a result of injury at work; [227444]

(4) what conclusions have been drawn from the recent consultation on the Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit scheme in relation to those suffering from mesothelioma as a result of exposure to asbestos at work. [227445]

Kitty Ussher [holding answer 16 October 2008]: We have asked questions about the possible reform of the current Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit scheme, which includes those suffering from mesothelioma, in the consultation document, "No one written off: reforming welfare to reward responsibility" Cm7363. The consultation exercise ends on 22 October 2008. When the consultation has ended we will carefully consider the views that people have expressed before publishing a summary of the responses and our response.

Jobseeker's Allowance

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people claimed jobseeker's allowance for a period of (a) between six and 12 months, (b) between 12 and 24 months and (c) more than 24 months in each month in each of the last three years, broken down by the smallest geographical area for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [232152]

Mr. McNulty: The information requested has been placed in the Library.

Jobseeker's Allowance: Disqualification

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people claiming jobseeker's allowance were sanctioned in each of the last 60 months; and for what reasons. [226167]

Mr. McNulty: The information requested has been placed in the Library.

Jobseeker's Allowance: Employment

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what proportion of jobseeker's allowance claimants have been (a) referred and (b) sanctioned for not accepting a reasonable job offer in each of the last five years. [223248]

Mr. McNulty [holding answer 10 September 2008]: The available information is in the table.

Percentage of varied length jobseeker's allowance referrals, sanctioned for refusal of employment, 1 April 2003 to 31 March 2008 as a proportion of all jobseeker's allowance claims

Percentage

| | Refusal of employment | |
|---|---|---|
| Year ending (April to March) | Referrals | Varied sanctions |
| 2003-04 | 2.0 | 0.7 |
| 2004-05 | 1.8 | 0.6 |
| 2005-06 | 1.1 | 0.4 |
| 2006-07 | 0.4 | 0.2 |

Percentage of varied length jobseeker's allowance referrals, sanctioned for refusal of employment, 1 April 2003 to 31 March 2008 as a proportion of all jobseeker's allowance claims

Percentage

| | Refusal of employment | |
|---|---|---|
| Year ending (April to March) | Referrals | Varied sanctions |
| 2007-08 | 0.8 | 0.4 |

Note:
Individuals may have had more than one referral or more than one sanction applied against them and therefore be counted more than once, similarly individuals can have more than one jobseeker's allowance claim during the year.

Source:
DWP Information Directorate: Jobseeker's Allowance Sanctions and Disallowance Decisions Statistics Database.

During the period in question, the decline in decisions to apply sanctions for refusing employment coincides with an increase in decisions to apply sanctions to those who have either not done enough to find work or who are unreasonably restricting their availability for work.

Pensioners: Social Security Benefits

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) what steps he is taking to simplify the application form for pensioners wishing to claim pension credit; [232975]

(2) what steps his Department is taking to simplify the application (a) form and (b) process for (i) pension credit and (ii) other benefits to which pensioners are entitled; and if he will make a statement. [234030]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The pension credit application process has been simplified to make it easier to apply. Customers no longer need to sign and return their pension credit forms as applications can be made entirely over the telephone.

A further simplification has been introduced this November which enables claims to housing benefit and council tax benefit to be made over the telephone with the pension credit application and forwarded directly to the local authority without the need for a signature.

On completion of the application, customers are issued with a statement of details informing them of all the details used by the Pension, Disability and Carers Service in processing the application.

In February 2007 an additional question was introduced into the pension credit application process to identify customers with caring responsibilities which results in the customer being invited, where appropriate, to claim carer's allowance using a new, shortened, claim pack specifically designed for people of pension age.

These changes represent a significant improvement to the claim process and will enhance the overall customer experience for thousands of pensioners.

While the new method of applying by telephone is being promoted, customers can still request a clerical pension credit application form if they wish and will be sent an application pack. However, by answering a few simple questions, the application form can now be tailored to match their personal circumstances and will contain only the relevant questions to complete. Customer letters are also now available in Welsh and/or large print formats and are issued automatically, ensuring the customer receives the same speed of service as a customer requesting an English language standard print letter.

A number of partnership organisations such as Age Concern, North East Pensioners Association (NEPA) and Better Government for Older People (BGOP) were involved in the redesign process and provided input into the final products which were subject to scrutiny by the Social Security Advisory Committee.

The Pension, Disability and Carers Service continues to promote the take up of all pensioner benefits, entitlements and services through a range of marketing activities. Campaign activity in 2008-09 to promote the take up of pension credit has utilised direct mail, local partnership activity and regional radio, press and outdoor advertising.

Powers of Entry

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many powers of entry have been (a) introduced and (b) abolished through legislation sponsored by his Department since 1997. [228159]

Mr. McNulty: Since 1997, the Department for Work and Pensions has introduced five powers of entry. Since 1997, it has abolished two powers of entry.

The five powers of entry created are as follows:

(i) Social Security Administration Act 1992, s.109C (inserted by Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000, s.67);

(ii) Social Security Administration Act 1992, s.121A (inserted by Social Security Act 1998, came into force 1999);

(iii) Child Support Act 1991, s.15(4) (inserted by Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000, s.14, came into force 31 January 2001);

(iv) Pensions Act 2004, s.73, and

(v) Pensions Act 2004, s.192.

The two powers of entry abolished were:

(i) Pensions Act 1995, s.99, and

(ii) the provisions of the Social Security Administration Act 1992 which were repealed when s.109C of that same Act (see point (i) of the powers created, above) came into force.

Social Security Benefits: EC Enlargement

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions pursuant to the answer of 12 June 2008, Official Report, column 431W, on welfare state: EU enlargement, what progress has been made on the review of EEA nationals' access to benefits; and when he expects the report to be published. [236203]

Jonathan Shaw: The review of EEA nationals' access to benefits has been completed and the results are currently being considered. We expect to announce our conclusions in the new year.

Social Security Benefits: Economic Situation

Ms Keeble: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the likely change in his Department's expenditure in the next 12 months on benefits paid to families resulting from the economic downturn; and if he will make a statement. [228244]

Mr. McNulty: We have been planning for the impact of higher levels of jobseeker's allowance claims in the coming months, but do not forecast the future level of unemployment. The published benefit forecasts use the Treasury's budget planning assumption for claimant unemployment. Benefit forecasts include benefits going to families, but only explicitly identify families where this is a relevant factor in determining the amount of benefit payable.

New forecasts taking into account recent economic developments will be published at the pre-Budget report (PBR).

Social Security Benefits: Fraud

Lady Hermon: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people called the Benefit Fraud hotline in each of the last 12 months; how many of those calls were followed up with an investigation; and how many successful prosecutions for benefit fraud there have been over the same period. [234765]

Mr. McNulty: Every call to the National Benefit Fraud Hotline is examined by the Department. Where there is enough evidence the case is then passed to either the fraud Investigation Service for investigation or to our compliance teams in Jobcentres, who will scrutinise the relevant benefit claim and make adjustments to entitlements. Prosecutions take on average around nine months from investigation to the court case so many of the referrals this year are still under investigation with a view to determining whether a prosecution is in the public interest.

Available information is set out in the following table.

| Month | Number of calls to National Benefit Fraud Hotline | Referred to FIS (Intelligence) for further development | Referred for criminal investigation | Referred for customer compliance investigation |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| November 2007 | 23,364 | 2,648 | 5,455 | 3,083 |
| December 2007 | 10,948 | 3,394 | 1,711 | 3,985 |
| January 2008 | 26,516 | 4,553 | 2,630 | 5,238 |
| February 2008 | 21,236 | 3,334 | 2,843 | 6,517 |
| March 2008 | 18,890 | 973 | 2,250 | 6,114 |
| April 2008 | 18,482 | 4,764 | 3,613 | 5,659 |
| May 2008 | 21,346 | 6,974 | 3,085 | 5,683 |
| June 2008 | 18,737 | 7,678 | 3,037 | 5,366 |
| July 2008 | 24,935 | 9,142 | 3,746 | 6,536 |
| August 2008 | 17,400 | 8,095 | 3,101 | 5,289 |
| September 2008 | 18,709 | 4,995 | 3,220 | 5,141 |

| Month | Number of calls to National Benefit Fraud Hotline | Referred to FIS (Intelligence) for further development | Referred for criminal investigation | Referred for customer compliance investigation |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| October 2008 | 21,884 | 7,179 | 3,827 | 4,392 |

Notes:
1. Count for number of investigations includes both FIBS and FRAIMS data as final roll out was in February 2008.
2. Number of investigations is generated from the number of referrals/incidents accepted for investigation (those which result in a case being opened)
3. Figures represent GB only (do not include NI).

Social Security Benefits: Lone Parents

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) whether the provision of additional flexibilities in the Social Security (Lone Parents and Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2008 for those lone parents who face circumstances that need special consideration will include those who home educate out of necessity rather than choice; [234618]

(2) what provision has been made in the Social Security (Lone Parents and Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2008 for those lone parents who home educate their children out of necessity rather than choice; what estimate he has made of the number of children who are home educated out of (a) necessity and (b) choice; and if he will make a statement. [234619]

Kitty Ussher: The proposed Regulation changes will not apply to lone parents who: are in receipt of Carer's Allowance; have a child for whom they are receiving the middle or higher rate care component of Disability Living Allowance; foster children. These lone parents will be exempt and continue to be eligible for Income Support.

Lone parents in these circumstances who are also home educators are included in this group. Those lone parents who do not qualify for exemption and are capable of work will have to claim Jobseeker's Allowance, where they will be required to actively seek and be available for work of at least 16 hours a week.

However, it is recognised that lone parents who home educate may face unique and varied circumstances. Therefore we are ensuring that Jobcentre Plus Personal Advisers will have the appropriate training and guidance to deal with home educators when they make a claim for Jobseeker's Allowance. This will include making use of the proposed additional flexibilities to the Jobseeker's Allowance regime where the individual circumstances of home educators make this necessary. In addition home educators, like all other lone parents, will not be penalised if they have good cause for not taking up a job and the availability and suitability of childcare will be central to such a decision.

As there is no requirement for parents to register as home educators there are no official statistics on the number of children who are being home educated. Therefore, it is not possible to provide any breakdown of lone parents who home educate whether through necessity or choice. Research carried out by York Consulting in 2006 estimated that around 20,000 children from all types of families were then registered with their local authority as being educated at home. We recognise that the figure could be substantially higher.

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what assessment he has made of Jobcentre Plus's capacity to implement the reforms outlined in the Social Security (Lone Parents and Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2008; and if he will make a statement. [234620]

Mr. McNulty: We have made a comprehensive assessment of Jobcentre Plus's capacity to implement the changes and are satisfied that the plans Jobcentre Plus has in place will enable the organisation to manage the change. Plans include: additional resources to manage the move of lone parents from Income Support on to other benefits; supporting lone parents in receipt of Jobseeker's Allowance or Employment and Support Allowance; communicating with staff; and learning and development for staff.

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what procedures he has put in place to ensure Jobcentre Plus considers individual circumstances on a case by case basis, with particular reference to cases of lone parents seeking special consideration under the Social Security (Lone Parents and Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2008. [234621]

Mr. McNulty: Lone parents impacted by these changes will be invited to an interview, six weeks before they are due to lose their income support, where they will be provided with specific advice and support to move into work or claim another benefit. Those who subsequently claim jobseekers allowance will have a further meeting with an adviser to agree a Jobseekers Agreement, which sets out the sort of work they will look for, their hours of availability and when they need to attend the Jobcentre to confirm they have been available for and actively seeking work. At this meeting the individual circumstances of each lone parent will be considered. Those who claim employment and support allowance will have a series of six work-focused interviews to help them focus on what work they are able to do.

Unemployed

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the number of (a) incapacity benefit claimants and (b) long-term unemployed who are actively seeking work; and if he will make a statement. [235197]

Jonathan Shaw: Information on the number of incapacity benefit claimants who are actively seeking work is not available.

It is a requirement for all claimants of jobseeker's allowance to be available for and actively seeking work.

At October 2008, 96,160 people had been in receipt of jobseeker's allowance for over 52 weeks.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions when he expects to answer Question 228496, on carers, tabled on 15 October 2008. [235624]

James Purnell [holding answer 13 November 2008]: I replied to the hon. Member's question on 12 November 2008, Official Report, column 1254W.

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Agriculture: Finance

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the average income was of farms in (a) Ribble Valley, (b) Lancashire and (c) England in each of the last 10 years. [235510]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 13 November 2008]: Farm income figures are not available for the Ribble Valley. The following table shows average farm business income per farm in (a) Lancashire and (b) England for 2003-04 to 2007-08, the years for which it can be calculated. To provide a longer time series the earlier income measure of net farm income, which adjusts all farms to a tenanted basis, is shown for the last 10 years.

Farm Business Survey

Net farm income is defined as the return to the principal farmer and spouse for their manual and managerial labour and on the tenant type capital of the business.

Farm business income represents the financial return to all unpaid labour (farmers and spouses, directors[1], non-principal partners and their spouses and family workers) and on all their capital invested in the farm business, including land and buildings.

[1] Paid directors are treated in the same way as unpaid labour, i.e. their wages are not deducted in the derivation of FBI.

Agriculture: Subsidies

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the (a) lowest, (b) highest, (c) median and (d) mean time taken to process claims made under the 2007 Single Payment Scheme was. [234101]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 10 November 2008]: While some preliminary checks on claims under the Single Payments Scheme (SPS) can be completed in advance, the full range of processing checks can only be undertaken once all applications have been received following the closure of the SPS application window on 9 June. The regulatory payment window then opens on 1 December and during 2007 RPA made the first payments to farmers on 10th December. This period between 9 June and 10 December therefore represents the shortest period within which applications were processed to completion during the 2007 SPS scheme year.

Each SPS case is individual and validated as soon as possible. Some will take longer than others, for example if they involve businesses that transfer land and entitlements every year, or have energy crops which require confirmation of processing before payment can be made, and which may not become available until February or March. There are still a number of 2007 payments outstanding for legal reasons, predominantly involving the settlement of probate.

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the (a) lowest, (b) highest, (c) median and (d) mean monetary value of claims under the 2007 Single Payment Scheme was. [234406]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 10 November 2008]: The lowest, highest, median and mean values of the 2007 Single Payment Scheme (SPS) Payments are set out in the following table:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| Lowest | 0.01 |
| Highest | 2,191,054.026 |
| Median | 4,593.99 |
| Mean | 13,920.94 |

The lowest value is a result of a non compliance penalty.

These figures are subject to change as we still continue to make 2007 SPS payments.

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many single farm payment claims under 250 euros he expects to receive in respect of the years (a) 2008, (b) 2009, (c) 2010, (d) 2011 and (e) 2012. [234408]

Jane Kennedy: The number of single payment scheme (SPS) claims under 250 euros for the SPS years 2008 to 2012 will depend on the number of claims submitted and fully validated within that payment category.

Animal Welfare: Codes of Practice

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much his Department spent on the consultation process on new codes of practice on the welfare of (a) cats, (b) dogs and (c) equines. [234769]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 11 November 2008]: The total cost of DEFRA's consultation exercise on the three codes of practice is estimated to be in the region of £10,000. This covers pay and administration costs.

The consultation runs until 31 December 2008 and comments on the draft codes are invited.

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much his Department spent on research for the consultation on (a) The Code of Practice for the Welfare of Cats, (b) The Code of Practice for the Welfare of Dogs and (c) The Code of Practice for the Welfare of Equines. [234784]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 11 November 2008]: No 'research' as such was done. The draft codes were prepared drawing on contributions from representatives of non-government organisations and others.

Badgers

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many badger re-location licences have been (a) granted and (b) rejected by each of his Department's offices in each of the last three years. [225434]

Jane Kennedy: In England, Natural England delivers licensing under the Protection of Badgers Act 1992.

There have been no licences issued by Natural England to re-locate badgers in the last three years.

Although some applicants choose to specify what action they wish to take in their licence application, the actual licensed action is often different following careful discussion with Natural England of the circumstances of the case and the available management options. For this reason, statistical records relating to the applicants' initial proposed solutions are not kept.

Bats: Rabies

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate he has made of the existence of rabies in the live bat population; and if he will make a statement. [234771]

Jane Kennedy: European bat lyssaviruses (EBLVs) 1 and 2, commonly referred to as bat rabies, are two strains of rabies-related lyssaviruses found in bats across northern Europe. Since 1986 DEFRA has tested over 9,000 dead bats for EBLV and to date only eight infections with EBLV type 2 have been confirmed in bats in the UK.

Combined data from studies undertaken in 2003-2006, indicate that the overall prevalence of antibodies to EBLV-2 in Daubenton's bats in England is estimated to be about 2 per cent. The presence of antibodies indicates that they have been exposed to the rabies virus at some time during their lives.

Batteries: Recycling

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many tons of batteries were recycled in each of the last 10 years. [231942]

Jane Kennedy: Detailed information is not held centrally. As estimated from the impact assessment (carried out in 2007 as part of the consultation exercise for the transposition of the Batteries Directive) 900 tonnes of portable batteries are recycled. There are no figures available with regard to portable batteries for preceding years.

In terms of automotive and industrial batteries, estimates are that 150,000 tonnes are recycled annually.

Bees: Disease Control

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what consideration he has given to licensing alternative treatments of the varroa mite available in the European Union. [234785]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 11 November 2008]: Veterinary surgeons currently have the authority to import and administer veterinary medicines which are authorised in another member state under the prescribing cascade. In addition, the Veterinary Medicines Directorate (VMD) within DEFRA has proposed a change to the EU regulations on the cascade to allow nationally qualified bee experts to decide on the use of medicines in bees, in place of veterinarians.

In the meantime, the VMD has allowed a product authorised elsewhere in the EU to control varroosis to be imported and used in the UK under the VMD's Special Import Scheme. VMD has also contacted the French authorities to establish if a mutual recognition procedure could be applied so that this product could be quickly authorised in the UK.

The VMD have negotiated with a manufacturer to agree an extension to their application to authorise a bee product for the control of varroa in other member states to include the UK.

Bees: Diseases

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate he has made of the percentage of bee colonies lost in winter 2007-08 to the varroa mite and its associated virus. [234586]

Jane Kennedy: No such estimate into the losses directly attributable to the varroa mite or the viruses associated with it has been made. However, investigations into colony losses show these are mainly attributable to the poor weather, especially during last summer. This is accompanied by poor husbandry, which often includes to failure to feed bees when they lack nutrition and failure to take appropriate action against the varroa mite.

Bees: Research

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the Government have spent on research into bee health in each of the last five years; and what plans he has for expenditure on such research in future years. [234587]

Jane Kennedy: The following list shows the funding allocated by DEFRA for honey bee health research. This includes funding for specific honey bee health projects and elements of other funded research which benefits honey bee health.

| 2003-04 | 273.1 |
| 2004-05 | 282.1 |
| 2005-06 | 254.4 |

Future research priorities are addressed in the draft Bee Health Strategy which is expected to be published early in 2009. Commissioned research will be considered in the light of priorities identified in the agreed strategy and the recommendations made by the NAO following its study into the work of DEFRA in safeguarding the health of honey bees.

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the outcome was of research undertaken into bee health by Brenda Ball and others at Rothamsted Research Institute; and what steps he is taking to enable this research to continue. [234588]

Jane Kennedy: Results of completed research projects undertaken by Rothamsted Research have regularly been published in scientific literature and articles associated with that work may have helped increase beekeeper awareness of bee health issues.

Future research priorities are addressed in the draft Bee Health Strategy which is expected to be published early in 2009. Commissioned research will be considered in the light of priorities identified in the agreed strategy and the recommendations made by the National Audit Office following its study into the work of DEFRA in safeguarding the health of honey bees.

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the outcome was of his consultation on his Department's draft bee health strategy; and when he will announce policy decisions following the consultation. [234589]

Jane Kennedy: The consultation on the draft bee health strategy closed on 29 August 2008.

The National Audit Office (NAO) are carrying out a study into the work of DEFRA in safeguarding the health of honey bees and their report is expected to be published in January. DEFRA's response to the Strategy consultation will need to take into consideration any recommendations from the NAO.

Bluetongue Disease

Robert Key: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what assessment he has made of the risk of the BTV1 strain of bluetongue reaching the UK from France; and if he will make a statement. [234851]

Jane Kennedy: France has confirmed 3,408 cases of BTV-1 during 2008. These cases are predominantly contained within the BTV-1 and 8 restricted zone in south-west France. The first case in northern France (Brittany) was confirmed on 28 October 2008 and the departments of Finistère and Morbihan in the Brittany region were subsequently declared as a further restricted zone for BTV-1 and 8.

DEFRA remains alert to the spread of BTV-1 through France and monitors the risk carefully. In addition to the movement controls on animals from BTV-1 zones on the continent, implemented under EU legislation, DEFRA continues to conduct post-import tests on all animals imported from any area in continental Europe, for all Bluetongue serotypes. This means that all types of Bluetongue can be detected through routine testing.

DEFRA has an agreed policy for controlling incursions of any new serotypes under the existing Bluetongue control strategy, published last year, and are working with experts and vaccine manufacturers to review preparedness for incursions of any serotype of Bluetongue.

DEFRA also continues to urge the livestock industry to consider the risks and check the health and vaccination status of animals when sourcing any animals, from within the UK or abroad.

Robert Key: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what percentage of livestock have been vaccinated against bluetongue in (a) East Anglia, (b) the South West and (c) the North of England. [234852]

Jane Kennedy: Vaccination against bluetongue in England and Wales is voluntary. Vaccine is delivered through existing veterinary medicine supply chains, an approach agreed with the livestock industry to ensure the simple, rapid roll-out of vaccine to protect animals earlier this year. Because the approach to vaccination is voluntary, no definitive figures can be provided on the numbers of livestock actually vaccinated.

Vaccine was rolled out incrementally as it became available from the manufacturers in 2008, beginning with the south-east in May, and gradually westward and northward throughout the summer, until vaccine was available to the counties in northern England in September.

However, to date, sales data from the supply chain suggest the overall uptake of vaccine across the whole of England is around 60 per cent. Sales data indicate that uptake in (a) East Anglia may be in the region of 80 per cent. or above, (b) in the south-west may be slightly lower than this, and (c) in the north of England may be less than 40 per cent.

Robert Key: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many unused doses of bluetongue vaccine there are in England; and what their value is. [234855]

Jane Kennedy: Out of 28 million doses purchased by DEFRA, approximately 12 million doses of Bluetongue serotype 8 vaccine remain in the supply chain (i.e. are not yet sold to veterinary practices). The value of this unsold vaccine is approximately £5,011,713.

DEFRA are working with the farming industry and supply chain to plan for the use of existing stocks of vaccine to vaccinate animals ahead of the 2009 risk period.

Bovine Tuberculosis: Disease Control

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs when the decision to set up the Bovine TB Eradication Group was taken; and when the group's title was agreed. [236222]

Jane Kennedy: The Secretary of State made clear in July that he wanted to put in place arrangements to enable Government and industry to work together to make progress on bovine TB in cattle in England. The Bovine TB Eradication Group, which was announced on 3 November, will do just that.

The remit of the group was developed with the English cattle industry and the group's title was finalised during October.

Coastal Areas: Environment Protection

Mr. Peter Ainsworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what sea defence projects have been deferred for more than 12 months in the last five years. [228250]

Jane Kennedy: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to the hon. Member for South-East Cambridgeshire (Mr. Paice) on 27 October 2008, Official Report, column 614W.

Compost: Fees and Charges

Mr. Maude: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs with reference to the consultation on revised waste exemptions from environmental permitting, whether charities will be charged to have permits for compost heaps. [233407]

Jane Kennedy: Charities operating composting plants must currently either do so under an environmental permit or an exemption from the need for a permit registered with the Environment Agency.

All operators of permitted operations are subject to fees and charges.

No decisions have yet been made on whether to introduce charging for some or all registered exempt waste operations. The Government have no intention of allowing changes that might discourage composting activity, by charities, schools or any other organisations.

Departmental Conditions of Employment

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what percentage of employees in his Department (a) are on a flexible working contract, (b) are on a job share employment contract and (c) work from home for more than four hours per week. [233826]

Huw Irranca-Davies: DEFRA has in place a process to allow employees to apply to work flexibly in line with recent legislation. Flexible working incorporates a wide variety of working patterns and includes:

part-time working;

job-sharing;

compressed hours;

staggered hours;

term-time working.

As at 30 September, 9.6 per cent. staff in the core Department worked part-time. Information on other types of flexible working is not held centrally and could be provided only by incurring disproportionate cost. Many requests for flexible working may be made informally between managers and staff and therefore will not be formally recorded.

No specific data are held by the Department on the precise extent of home working by staff. Anecdotal evidence suggests that home working is on the increase due to the promotion of flexible working.

Departmental Waste Disposal

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many pieces of redundant electrical and electronic equipment was (a) recycled, (b) destroyed and (c) disposed by other means by his Department in each of the last five years. [231414]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 29 October 2008]: DEFRA's contract for electrical and electronic equipment is outsourced to IBM. IBM's third-party supplier, Northern Realisations Ltd., provides a service fully compliant with the Waste Electronic and Electrical and Energy Regulations (WEEE) and Reduction of Hazardous Waste directives.

The following table provides a breakdown of the information held by Northern Realisations Ltd. relating to DEFRA.

| | Total (all equipment types) | Schools[1] | Sale[2] | Reclamation[3] |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Y/e September 2008 | 8,794 | 3,665 | 2,317 | 812 |

Dogs: Animal Welfare

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the Answer of 22 November 2006, Official Report, columns 361-2W, when the Minister of State plans to meet representatives of the Kennel Club and the Dogs Trust. [233121]

Jane Kennedy: Meetings with both organisations will take place shortly.

Domestic Waste: Waste Disposal

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what powers waste collection authorities have to restrict (a) the size of a bin provided to a household and (b) the number of bins provided in circumstances where a householder is prepared to pay for an additional bin to be provided; and what changes the provisions in the Climate Change Bill amending the Environmental Protection Act 1990, if enacted, are expected to make to existing practices. [224619]

Jane Kennedy: Section 46 of the Environmental Protection Act 1990 (EPA) allows waste collection authorities to determine arrangements for the collection of household waste, including requiring occupiers to place waste for collection in receptacles of a specified size . They must do this by way of a section 46 notice, usually in the form of a leaflet, issued to residents.

The authority's choice of the type and number of receptacles provided will depend on the collection methodology it is employing and its view on the capacity of the receptacles required by households, based on its experience of waste collection in the area.

If a resident is fulfilling the requirements of the section 46 notice, by separating out recyclates and placing them in the correct receptacles and yet still generates too much residual waste to fit in the receptacle provided for residual waste, the authority may make arrangements with the household for a larger or additional receptacle to be used.

A waste collection authority must collect all household waste presented in the manner it has specified in the section 46 notice. Provisions in the Climate Change Bill do not alter this duty.

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what amount of household waste per person was (a) recycled and (b) not recycled or composted in each of the last 20 years. [234493]

Jane Kennedy: The following table shows the amounts of household waste recycled or composted and household waste not recycled or composted by English local authorities. Prior to 1995-96 estimates are only available for 1983-84,1991-92 and 1993-94.

Kilograms per person per year

| | Waste recycled/composted | Waste not recycled/composted |
|---|---|---|
| 1983-84 | 3 | 394 |
| 1991-92 | 11 | 417 |
| 1993-94 | 15 | 430 |
| 1995-96 | 29 | 421 |
| 1996-97 | 35 | 430 |
| 1997-98 | 39 | 440 |
| 1998-99 | 44 | 439 |

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what schemes relating to UK household waste prevention have been funded by the EU Interreg programme. [235066]

Jane Kennedy: We are aware of three schemes relating to UK household waste prevention that have been funded by the EU Interreg programme:

1. Rethinking Rubbish: Tackling our Waste issues together;
2. Community Challenge: Take Part, Make a Difference; and
3. Waste in Action.

The schemes are part of the Franco-British Interreg IIIA 2000-06 and the 4A (Manche) programmes.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will place in the Library a copy of the report commissioned by the Waste and Resources Action Programme from Eunomia entitled Managing Biowastes from Households in the UK: Applying Life-cycle Thinking in the Framework of Cost-benefit Analysis. [235092]

Jane Kennedy: This report is publicly available on WRAP's website at:

www.wrap.org.uk

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what guidance the Waste and Resources Action Programme has issued to local authorities on the operation of weekly collections of residual household waste. [235131]

Jane Kennedy: No such guidance has been issued by the Waste and Resources Action Programme.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what his policy is on co-mingling in the collection of household recycling and the use of materials recycling facilities. [235135]

Jane Kennedy: How waste is collected and sorted affects the end markets for which it is suited and the value it will achieve. Both kerbside sorted collections and the commingled collection of materials for sorting at materials recycling facilities (MRFs) have roles to play in the appropriate circumstances and are capable of producing materials of a satisfactory quality if properly managed.

The Government believe local authorities are better placed to make decisions on the waste management strategy for their area, and that they should be as well informed as possible when making decisions.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what information is collated (a) locally, (b) centrally and (c) by the Environment Agency on the processing, destinations and locations of household rubbish collected for recycling. [235136]

Jane Kennedy: Local authorities are required to report data on municipal waste to WasteDataFlow. This includes details of the amounts of waste collected and the location to which this waste is sent for reprocessing or disposal.

The Environment Agency have access to information reported through WasteDataFlow by local authorities and they monitor and audit this as part of their duties under the landfill allowance trading scheme.

Facilities licensed under waste permits are also required to report to the Environment Agency on the amounts of waste they manage, by type of waste.

Domestic Wastes

Robert Neill: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the Answer to the hon. Member for Beckenham of 9 October 2008, Official Report, column 746W, on Waste and Resources Action Programme, (1) if he will place in the Library a copy of the remit and specification for the public affairs work undertaken by Chelgate Ltd.; and what public policy makers and opinion formers, outside established stakeholders, the company has been tasked with reaching; [232589]

(2) who the established stakeholder groups referred to in the Answer are. [232590]

Jane Kennedy: WRAP's remit is to promote resource efficiency. This involves helping individuals, businesses and other organisations to reduce waste, recycle materials and find effective end markets for them.

These activities are of wide public and political interest, and the remit given to Chelgate Ltd. was to help WRAP communicate with parliamentarians and local authority leaders to inform them about progress being made, opportunities for further progress, and some of the innovative approaches WRAP has developed successfully in recent years.

The established stakeholder groups referred to in the answer given to the hon. Member for Beckenham (Mrs. Lait), 9 October 2008, Official Report, column 746W, are the organizations and individuals that WRAP works with in order to fulfil its remit, including DEFRA and the devolved Governments, the waste industry, local authorities, and the construction, manufacturing and retail sectors.

Environment Agency: EA Geomatics

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much the Environment Agency receives from commercial work undertaken by EA Geomatics. [231311]

Jane Kennedy: Environment Agency annual accounts 2007-08 indicate that £348,000 was received from the commercial work undertaken by the Geomatics Group.

Fly Tipping: Chelmsford

Mr. Burns: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many incidents of fly-tipping there were in (a) West Chelmsford constituency and (b) the Chelmsford local authority area in each of the last five years; and how many people were prosecuted in each year for such offences. [232776]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 4 November 2008]: The number of fly-tipping incidents and enforcement actions taken are not recorded at parliamentary ward level.

The number of incidents of fly-tipping recorded on the Flycapture database by the borough of Chelmsford and the number of prosecutions taken by the authority against fly-tippers are only available for the last four years.

| | Number of incidents | Number of prosecutions |
|---|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 1,048 | 1 |
| 2005-06 | 517 | 2 |
| 2007-08 | 561 | 1 |

Prosecution action would only be taken as a last resort or against particularly serious cases, as there are several other types of enforcement activity that can be taken. Warning letters, serving of statutory notices, fixed penalty notices and formal cautions are also available to local authorities to use against fly-tippers.

Fly-tipping

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many fly-tipping offences were recorded by Flycapture in 2007-08; at what cost to local authorities; and what proportion of those offences related to household waste. [235075]

Jane Kennedy: Local authorities recorded 1.28 million incidents of fly-tipping on the Flycapture database as having occurred in 2007-08, these range from fly-tipped single black bags to 'significant multiple loads'. 60 per cent. of these incidents were recorded as relating to household waste.

The estimated cost of clearing these incidents was £73.8 million. This does not always constitute a direct cost to taxpayers as some authorities have framework contracts in place which include the clearance of fly-tipped material.

More detailed information on the data recorded on the Flycapture database is available on the DEFRA website.

Landfill

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much waste was disposed of in landfill sites in each of the last 20 years. [234492]

Jane Kennedy: The amount of waste disposed of in landfills in England in years for which data are available is shown in the following table. Prior to 1998-99 national data were not compiled, and until 2005 estimates of total deposits were made every other financial year.

Total landfill deposits in England

|---|---|
| 1998-99 | 74,676 |
| 2000-01 | 79,923 |
| 2002-03 | 75,671 |
| 2004-05 | 68,942 |
| 2005 | 67,889 |
| 2006 | 64,937 |

Source:
Environment Agency

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs whether residual waste collected from businesses by (a) local authorities and (b) private contractors is subject to the Landfill Allowance Trading Scheme. [235009]

Jane Kennedy: Waste from business premises collected by a local authority, or by a private contractor operating on behalf of the local authority, will be subject to the Landfill Allowance Trading Scheme.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (1) what assessment he has made of the likelihood of meeting the 2013 landfill diversion target; and if he will make a statement; [235094]

(2) what assessment he has made of progress by the United Kingdom towards the 2013 landfill diversion target; and if he will make a statement. [235139]

Jane Kennedy: England is making good progress towards meeting its share of the UK's landfill diversion targets set in the EU landfill directive. The 2013 target remains challenging, but achievable.

The Devolved Administrations are responsible for delivering their proportion of the UK targets, and are best placed to make assessments of progress made in their respective areas.

Maps: Environment Agency

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what proportion of the area of (a) England and (b) Wales has been mapped by the Environment Agency using light detection and ranging technology. [231308]

Jane Kennedy: 51 per cent. of the total area of England and 66 per cent. of the total area of Wales has been mapped using light detection and ranging.

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much the Environment Agency spent on using light detection and ranging technology to prepare flood maps in (a) each region of England and (b) Wales in each of the last three years. [231309]

Jane Kennedy: Environment Agency expenditure on light detection and ranging surveys for flood mapping is as follows:

| Region | 2008-09 | 2007-08 | £0002006-07 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Anglian | 412 | 414 | 445 |
| Midlands | 126 | 287 | 153 |
| North East | 158 | 638 | 106 |
| North West | 48 | 136 | 218 |
| Southern | 50 | 226 | 35 |
| South West | 113 | 125 | 284 |
| Thames | 31 | 259 | 262 |
| Wales | 31 | 150 | 131 |
| National programme (£ million) | 2 | n/a | n/a |

Milk: Prices

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what forecast he has made of trends in the future price of milk; and whether he has assessed the likely effects of falling prices in Northern Ireland. [233872]

Jane Kennedy: Farmgate milk prices are determined by a number of factors, including the time of year; exchange rates; prices of dairy commodities prices on world and community markets; supply and demand; the value of the product mix; and for some contracts, production costs are taken into account.

With production in its seasonal trough, farmgate prices are likely to have reached the peak of this cycle. As production increases towards the spring, farmgate prices will fall. How far and fast they will fall will depend on the adjustments needed to the downside of the commodity cycle. Prices for products such as butter and milk powders are currently falling on EU and world markets. The global economic downturn is also likely to have an impact on dairy commodity prices and demand. In time, this will feed through to farmgate prices. However, because of exchange rates and the large liquid milk market in Great Britain, the full effects of the downturn in commodity markets are unlikely to be fed through into farmgate prices.

The exception is Northern Ireland, which is more reliant on the trade in commodity products than the rest of the UK. Northern Irish producers are therefore the first to benefit from increasing commodity prices and the first to experience falling farmgate prices as commodity prices weaken.

Looking to the longer term, prices will recover as demand increases. However, farmgate prices are likely to become more volatile in future as the market is further deregulated.

Oil: Waste Management

Dr. Richard Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (1) pursuant to the Answer of 21 October 2008, Official Report, column 178W, on oil: waste management, what measures are in place to give priority to the regeneration of waste oil above its combustion; [232287]

(2) what assessment he has made of the implications of the European Court of Justice ruling in Case No. C-424/02, European Commission v United Kingdom for the UK's management of waste oil; and if he will make a statement. [232288]

Jane Kennedy: The European Court of Justice in its judgment of 15 July 2004 in case C-424/02 found that the UK had failed to take the measures necessary to give priority to the processing of waste oils by regeneration to fulfil the requirement in the Waste Oils Directive (75/439/EEC as amended). However, since that time a revised Waste Framework Directive (WFD) has been developed which repeals the Waste Oils Directive, and includes a revised waste hierarchy. The text of the revised WFD was adopted by the Environment Council of Ministers on 20 October 2008, and following its publication in the Official Journal, the UK and other member states will have two years to transpose its requirements.

Dr. Richard Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what assessment he has made of the likely effect of the rate of duty to apply to waste derived fuel oil from 1 November on the achievement of complete recovery of waste oil to produce product equivalent fuel. [232290]

Jane Kennedy: The Government have considered the effects of the rate of duty on the management of waste oil as a whole.

In applying for a renewal of the derogation on waste oil reused as fuel, the Government were concerned about the impact of ending the derogation at a time when the future of the waste oil market was uncertain. This was due to the introduction of the EC Waste Incineration Directive and the review of the EC Waste Framework Directive. It was also felt that the benefits to be gained from ending the derogation would be disproportionate to the compliance and administrative costs involved.

The UK is required to impose duty on waste oils reused as fuel and the duty rate to be applied is consistent with the relevant EU Directive.

The Government's assessment of the revenue and administrative cost implications is set out in the "Impact Assessment of the implementation of the Energy Products Directive (EPD) on the use of waste oils reused as fuel", published on 20 February 2008.

Recycling

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs whether materials for recycling collected from municipal (a) litter bins and (b) recycling bins will count toward targets for domestic recycling. [235117]

Jane Kennedy: Materials collected for recycling from municipal litter bins and recycling bins by, or on behalf of, a local authority will count towards its household recycling targets.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what guidance (a) his Department and (b) the Waste and Resources Action Programme has provided on recycling in an office environment. [235141]

Jane Kennedy: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to the hon. Member for Beckenham (Mrs. Lait) on 9 October 2008, Official Report, column 752W.

Waste and Resources Action Programme: Manpower

Robert Neill: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many press, communications and marketing staff are employed by the Waste and Resources Action Programme. [232801]

Jane Kennedy: The Waste and Resources Action Programme employs a staff of 26 working on press, communications and marketing. Five staff work in the press team, four staff supporting its websites, 10 marketing officers, three people on the Love Food Hate Waste campaign and three on its Recycle Now campaign. These staff are led by a Director of Communications.

Waste Disposal: Fees and Charges

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will remove from registered charities any liability to pay waste charges under the Controlled Waste Regulations 1992. [233703]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 6 November 2008]: DEFRA is currently considering whether Schedule 2 of the Controlled Waste Regulations is due for review. Any such review would consider the position of charities in relation to this legislation.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the answer of 21 July 2008, Official Report, column 757W, on waste disposal: fees and charges, if he will place in the Library a copy of the Flycapture Enforcement Course module on the issuing of fixed penalty notices for waste offences. [235114]

Jane Kennedy: I refer the hon. Member to the answer provided by my hon. Friend the Member for Lewisham, Deptford (Joan Ruddock) on 14 January 2008, Official Report, column 858W.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs whether the selection or designation of the pilot authorities for pilot waste incentive schemes for the collection of household waste will be subject to parliamentary scrutiny. [235147]

Jane Kennedy: The Government will select pilot areas on the basis of the criteria set out in the guidance on application and designation.

Waste Disposal: Fines

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the maximum fixed penalty fine is that can be levied by a waste collection authority against a household for a waste disposal offence. [235133]

Jane Kennedy: The maximum fixed penalty fine that can be levied by a waste collection authority for a breach of section 46 of the Environmental Protection Act 1990 is £110.

Waste Disposal: Offices

Robert Neill: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the Answer to the hon. Member for Beckenham of 9 October 2008, Official Report, columns 751-53W, on waste disposal: offices, what advice or guidance has been provided to firms in relation to removing or reducing the number of residual waste bins in office environments. [232592]

Jane Kennedy: The DEFRA funded Waste and Resources Action Programme (WRAP) does not make any specific comments on reducing or removing residual waste bins in offices. WRAP does suggest putting recycling bins where material arises, eg positioning paper recycling bins near photocopiers. WRAP also recommends that bins are clearly labelled by material types.

Waste Management

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs on what dates his Department's Advisory Group on Joint Waste Authorities has met to date; and what the membership of the group is. [235072]

Jane Kennedy: The Advisory Group on Joint Waste Authorities met on 12 November 2007, 9 January 2008, 13 February 2008, 30 April 2008, 29 July 2008 and 17 September 2008.

The membership of the Advisory Group consists of individuals from organisations and local authorities with experience of joint working and improving efficiency in provision of local authority waste services, who provide DEFRA with knowledge and expertise.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what guidance (a) his Department and (b) the Waste and Resources Action Programme has issued on the replacement by waste collection authorities of stolen waste receptacles for household waste. [235073]

Jane Kennedy: No such guidance has been issued by either DEFRA or the Waste and Resources Action Programme.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will place in the Library a copy of the report commissioned for his Department entitled Municipal Waste Management Strategies and the Land Use Planning System for Waste in England - A Report to DEFRA and ODPM. [235090]

Jane Kennedy: I am arranging for a copy of the Department's report entitled Municipal Waste Management Strategies and the Land Use Planning System for Waste in England - A Report to DEFRA and ODPM to be placed in the Library.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs whether (a) his Department, (b) the Environment Agency and (c) the Waste and Resources Action Programme has provided support to local authority schemes for recruiting volunteers to monitor local environmental quality. [235116]

Jane Kennedy: DEFRA part-funds ENCAMS (Environmental Campaigns) who provide advice and can offer training on how community groups can help to clean up their local areas and link with others interested in improving local environmental quality, for example through the 'Big Tidy Up' campaign. Local authorities have a statutory requirement to monitor and report on the cleanliness of their area but community groups may be able to assist authorities in fulfilling this obligation.

The Environment Agency and WRAP have not provided any support.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what representations his Department has received on making joint waste authorities precepting authorities. [235134]

Jane Kennedy: The Government did not consult on this specifically and our position remains that Joint Waste Authorities will not have precepting powers. Precepting was raised by a number of respondents to the recent consultation on draft regulations and guidance for proposals for Joint Waste Authorities. In addition the issue has been raised by stakeholders as part of wider informal discussions.

Water Supply

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for North East Hertfordshire of 10 September 2008, Official Report, columns 1998-9W, on water supply, what the titles are of the research reports and studies undertaken by the Environment Agency on household water use. [235003]

Mr. Iain Wright: I have been asked to reply.

As set out in my previous answer there are a series of studies that have been undertaken by various different organisations, including the Environment Agency, into water consumption in the UK. Some of these studies are in the public domain, others, which include commercially sensitive data, are not. Environment Agency reports include; "The Environment Agency's advice to Ministers on the final water resources plans submitted by water companies as part of the 2004 periodic review". This was published July 2004 and available to download from;

http://publications.environment-agency.gov.uk/pdf/GEHO0704BLUV-e-e.pdf?lang=_e

In developing the water consumption levels set out in the Code for Sustainable Homes, the Building Research Establishment (BRE) also used information and data that were published in Environment Agency's report titled "Assessing the cost of compliance with the code for sustainable homes".

This was published January 2007 and available to download from;

http://www.environment-agency.gov.uk/commondata/acrobat/scho0107bltree_1746081.pdf

ENERGY AND CLIMATE CHANGE

Arctic

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what recent research he has evaluated on the volume of Arctic ice. [233616]

Joan Ruddock: Recent and current research and monitoring studies have identified further losses in both the thickness and extent of Arctic ice.

Sea ice

Last month, scientists from University College London reported that the thickness of Arctic sea ice was significantly lower (by an average of 10 per cent.) during the winter of 2007-08 than during the previous five winters, indicating that the total volume of sea ice has decreased significantly. Though based only on satellite data (which are not ideal for measuring sea ice thickness), this result confirms previous evidence of decreasing sea ice thickness over the past three decades from U.S. and U.K. submarine sonar measurements.

Satellite monitoring since 1979 also shows there has been a long-term decline in the extent of summer Arctic sea ice and this decline has accelerated over the last decade. The summer minimum in 2008 was slightly greater than the record low in 2007, but was still the second lowest year on record, despite relatively cool temperatures this year. The latest generation of climate models developed by the Met Office Hadley Centre, under its joint DECC and MOD-funded Integrated Climate Programme, appears to capture the recent trend well and indicates that this decline will continue over coming years.

Greenland Ice Sheet

UK researchers have been using satellite data and other observations to monitor changes in the Greenland Ice Sheet. The longer term results show that the total ice mass has decreased over the past few decades and recent observations indicate that the duration and total area of surface melting on the ice sheet was higher during summer 2007 than during any other summer since records began in 1973. This year, there has been significant loss of ice from Petermann and Jakobshavn Isbrae glaciers. Continuing ice sheet loss has major implications for sea levels rise and DECC is working with UK researchers to understand and model ice sheet dynamics better, to improve estimates of where the Greenland ice sheet 'tipping point' might be in relation to global temperature increase.

British Energy: EDF

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the monetary value of the contract between the Government and UBS Limited for advice provided in regard of the sale of British Energy to EDF was. [231241]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: It would not be appropriate to disclose the value of the contract between the Government and UBS for their advice in relation to the potential sale of British Energy as the contract remains open pending completion of the deal, and the information is commercially confidential.

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the monetary value of the contract between the Nuclear Liabilities Fund and Lazard and Co for advice provided in regard of the sale of British Energy to EDF was. [231242]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The value of the contract between the NLF and Lazard and Co. for advice provided with regard to the sale of British Energy is a matter for the NLF Trustees, and I have been advised by them that they consider the information to be commercially confidential.

Carbon Emissions

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change whether he plans to place a limit on the use of credits generated through the Kyoto mechanisms for emissions reduction. [234399]

Joan Ruddock: The Government have tabled an amendment to the Climate Change Bill which would require a limit to be set on the purchase of credits for each budgetary period in secondary legislation, subject to the affirmative procedure, and taking into account the Committee on Climate Change's advice on the appropriate balance between action at domestic, European and international level, for each carbon budget.

The European Commission has made proposals on how access to project credits should be limited in its legislative package on Climate and Energy. The current proposal is that, on the basis of sharing a 20 per cent. EU reduction target, member states have an annual project credit allowance in the years 2013-20 equal to 3 per cent. of their non-emissions trading scheme (ETS) emissions in 2005. In the EU ETS, and again for a 20 per cent. reduction target, no new access to project credits is envisaged for phase III (2013-20) of the scheme.

For a 30 per cent. target, the Commission's proposal allows for half the additional reduction to be met through project credits in both the EU ETS and the sectors of the economy not covered by the EU ETS.

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he has made of the proportion of efficiency measures installed under the (a) first and (b) second phase of the energy efficiency commitment which were installed in rural areas. [234713]

Joan Ruddock: Under each phase of the Energy Efficiency Commitment, Ofgem, who regulate the scheme for the Government, were only required to monitor energy suppliers' activity across Great Britain as a whole. Data are not collected by region or any other local area.

Carbon Emissions Reduction Target

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he has made of the proportion of efficiency measures installed under the Carbon Emissions Reduction Target which were installed in rural areas. [234714]

Joan Ruddock: Under the Carbon Emissions Reduction Target programme, Ofgem, who regulate the scheme for the Government, is only required to monitor energy suppliers' activity across Great Britain as a whole. Data are not collected by region or any other local area.

Carbon Emissions: Construction

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many energy efficiency measures were installed in England under the (a) first and (b) second phase of the Energy Efficiency Commitment in each (i) Government Office region, (ii) local authority and (iii) constituency. [234712]

Joan Ruddock: Ofgem's report 'A Review of the Energy Efficiency Commitment 2002-2005', published in August 2005, states that 66,923,178 measures were installed in England over this three-year period. Included within this figure were 1,945,749 cavity wall and loft insulation measures, plus 39,737,570 compact florescent lamps (CFLs)—energy efficient light bulbs.

Ofgem's report 'A Review of the Energy Efficiency Commitment 2005-2008', published in August 2008, states that 163,277,782 measures were installed in England over this three-year period. Included within this figure were 3,324,545 cavity wall and loft insulation measures, plus 101,876,023 CFLs.

Under the Energy Efficiency Commitment, Ofgem, who regulated the schemes for the Government, were only required to monitor energy suppliers' activity across Great Britain as a whole and data were not collected by region or any other local area.

Carbon Emissions: Housing

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many energy efficiency measures have been installed under the (a) Warm Front and (b) Home Energy Efficiency schemes in each (i) Government Office region, (ii) local authority area and (iii) constituency. [234688]

Joan Ruddock: As fuel poverty is now a devolved matter, the answer refers only to measures installed in England through the Warm Front scheme.

A spreadsheet illustrating the number of measures delivered through the Warm Front scheme, by scheme year for the last three full years (2005-08) split by (i) Government Office region, (ii) local authority area and (iii) constituency has been placed in the House Libraries.

Carbon Emissions: International Cooperation

Sir John Stanley: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change if he will list in descending order of magnitude the percentage contribution that each county, including the UK, is making to global carbon dioxide emissions. [234973]

Joan Ruddock [holding answer 13 November 2008]: A table produced by the World Resources Institute listing the latest data available for global carbon dioxide emissions in 2004 has been placed in the House Libraries. The figures are listed as both percentages and thousand metric tonnes of carbon dioxide equivalent and are listed by country in order of the magnitude of its contribution to the global total as requested.

The latest figure for total global carbon dioxide emissions in 2004 is approaching 30 billion metric tonnes of carbon dioxide (27,251,186 thousand metric tonnes).

The United States is the greatest contributor to global carbon dioxide emissions in 2004, being responsible for over 20 per cent. of the global total. The UK is ranked 7th overall for its contribution to global carbon dioxide emissions in 2004 with just over 2 per cent. of the global total.

Climate Change: Public Appointments

Alan Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what progress the Government have made in appointing a new Chair of the Committee on Climate Change; and when he expects an appointment to be announced. [234281]

Joan Ruddock [holding answer 13 November 2008]: The recruitment process is well under way but at present we do not have a specific date for making an announcement.

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what buildings are occupied by his Department; and what other buildings his Department plans to use. [229118]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: DECC has just announced that it intends to move all of its London staff into 3 Whitehall Place. Currently staff are working in 1 Victoria Street, Ergon House and 3 Whitehall Place.

Departmental Marketing

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what assessment he has made of the cost effectiveness of Government-commissioned advertising in the last 12 months relating to matters falling within the remit of his Department. [226521]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform was previously responsible for energy policy. It commissioned press advertising in the financial year 2007-08 from COI to raise awareness of the consultation on the future of nuclear power in the UK. This involved placing advertisements in major national newspapers.

Cost effectiveness was assessed by the potential audience size reached, calculated by the circulation of each newspaper and the discount on advertising rates achieved by COI against standard rate card costs.

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what costs have been incurred in creating his Department's brand identity. [228254]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Department has spent approximately £18,000 to date on branding, including temporary signage and letterhead to identify the building and correspondence from the Department in its early weeks, as well as developing the Department's long term brand identity.

Departmental Older Workers

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many people aged over (a) 55 and (b) 60 years who work in his Department were recruited in 2007-08; and what percentage in each case this was of the number of staff recruited in that year who work in his Department. [228757]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Department of Energy and Climate Change was created recently and as yet information on final staff numbers are not available and have not been agreed. This information will be released as soon as possible.

Departmental Pensions

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many civil servants working in his Department and its agencies have pensions with a cash equivalent transfer value of over £1 million. [229554]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: It is not the Department's policy to disclose pension information for civil servants other than Board Members whose details will be shown in the Remuneration Report in annual Resource Accounts. A copy of the DECC Resource Accounts will be placed in the Libraries of the House when they are published.

Fuel Poverty

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the implications of the recent High Court judgment are for his Department's statutory duty to end fuel poverty for vulnerable households by 2010 and for all households by 2016. [234626]

Joan Ruddock: Tackling fuel poverty remains a priority for the Government. Since 2000, the Government have spent £20 billion on fuel poverty benefits and programmes. Significant spending will continue.

The UK Government remain committed to the eradication of fuel poverty in vulnerable households as far as reasonably practicable by 2010 with the overall aim that as far as reasonably practicable no household in the UK should live in fuel poverty by 2016.

Despite the considerable resources already committed to tackling fuel poverty, recent rises in energy prices have made the challenge of tackling fuel poverty more difficult. Therefore, while the current mix of fuel poverty measures will not eradicate fuel poverty in all vulnerable households by 2010, the package announced 11 September underlines the Government's commitment to do all that is reasonably practicable to ensure that those households, and others, do not live in fuel poverty.

The recent judicial review concerned the Government's statutory duty to do all that is reasonably practicable to eradicate fuel poverty in England in vulnerable households by 2010 and in all households by 2016. The Government remain committed to that duty.

Warm Front Scheme

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the budget for the Warm Front scheme (a) is in the current financial year and (b) will be in each of the next five financial years. [234401]

Joan Ruddock [holding answer 11 November 2008]: The Warm Front budget for the current financial year is set at approximately £345 million.

The budgets for 2009-10 and 2010-11 are approximately £274 million and £250 million respectively.

At present, no budget has been set beyond this period.

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many pensioners aged below 70 have participated in the Warm Front scheme in each of the last five years. [234403]

Joan Ruddock [holding answer 11 November 2008]: The following table illustrates, by scheme year from 2005-06, the number of households assisted by Warm Front where the customer was aged 60 to 69 at the point of application.

Prior to 2005 the scheme was administered by two scheme managers. The data retained by the present agency are not sufficient to provide the data for the 2004-05 period to the necessary level of detail.

| Scheme year | Eligible customer aged 60 to 69 |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 27,441 |
| 2006-07 | 59,555 |
| 2007-08 | 63,733 |
| 2008-09 (to 31 October) | 25,269 |

BUSINESS, ENTERPRISE AND REGULATORY REFORM

Arms Trade: Democratic Republic Of Congo

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what equipment on the military list has been sold or transferred to (a) the Democratic Republic of Congo and (b) Rwanda in each of the last three years. [235358]

Ian Pearson [holding answer 13 November 2008]: The Government publish detailed information on export licences issued, refused and revoked, by destination, including the overall value and a summary of the items covered by these licences, in its annual and quarterly reports on strategic export controls.

The Government's Annual Reports, published since 1997, and quarterly reports, published since 2004, are available from the House of Commons Library and the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) website at:

http://www.fco.gov.uk/en/about-the-fco/publications/publications/annual-reports/export-controls

Broadband

Dan Rogerson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what assessment he has made of the merits of introducing a universal service obligation for broadband provision; and if he will make a statement. [229370]

Ian Pearson: The European Commission is currently consulting member states as part of the European Union's periodical review on the scope of universal service in electronic communications networks and services. The question of whether broadband should be included under a universal service obligation (USO) forms part of this process. The European Commission recently published a Communication in which they concluded that there was not a case currently for introducing a USO in respect of broadband but that this was an important issue that needs to be kept under review, and about which there needs to be a debate.

Broadband: Rural Areas

Dan Rogerson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what recent discussions he has had with Ministerial colleagues on the provision of broadband in rural areas. [229371]

Ian Pearson: On 17 October the Government announced that "The Digital Britain Report" will develop a comprehensive strategy to further the UK's digital economy and society. Part of this work on broadband development will involve examining options for maximising participation and levels of service across the UK.

Dan Rogerson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what representations his Department has received on provision of broadband in rural areas in the last 12 months. [229372]

Ian Pearson: In the last 12 months, this Department has received many representations in the form of inquiries and questions from the public and fellow Members of Parliament on broadband in rural areas. The focus of them has been on issues such as impact on businesses, rural economic activity caused by problems around broadband supply, lack of competition and speed of broadband.

Coal Fired Power Stations: Carbon Emissions

Mr. Meacher: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform if he will require all new coal plants to capture at least 90 per cent. of their carbon dioxide emissions by 2020 if they are to continue operating. [223985]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I have been asked to reply.

The EU emissions trading scheme sits at the heart of our strategy for reducing emissions from the power sector. All power plants have to operate within the cap on emissions set by the EU ETS and we are actively supporting current proposals to tighten the cap year on year to 2020 and beyond, setting us on a pathway to achieve our 2020 and longer term emission goals.

Although the separate processes involved in CCS—capture, transport and storage—have been proven on an individual basis over many years, the application of the full chain of CCS technology on a commercial-scale power station has not yet been demonstrated. Until the operation of the full chain of CCS in conjunction with a power station has been proven, it would not be prudent to require new coal plants to be fitted with CCS or to set a date by which this would be required. The urgency for demonstrating the foil chain of CCS is why the UK Government are supporting one of the world's first commercial-scale demonstration projects.

Electronic Equipment: Waste Disposal

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what estimate he has made of the cost to UK industry of implementing the EU Waste Electrical and Electronic Equipment Directive to date. [234838]

Ian Pearson: These data are not available. However, the estimated costs of implementing the waste electrical and electronic equipment (WEEE) directive were set out in the final regulatory impact assessment which was published when the WEEE regulations were laid before Parliament on 12 December 2006.

Energy: Companies

Harry Cohen: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what information the Government has on the level of profit of gas and electricity energy companies arising from activities in the UK in the last five years; and how much profit was made by such companies in each of those years. [223729]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I have been asked to reply.

Information on the profits of energy companies operating in the UK can be obtained from the published financial statements of these companies.

In addition, a further source of information is the Value Added Scoreboard:

www.innovation.gov.uk/value_added/

published annually by DIUS and BERR (and previously by DTI), lists operating profit for the largest UK-based energy firms, including UK subsidiaries of non-UK firms. This information is compiled from company accounts.

Exports: Israel

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform if he will put in place procedures to record the export of products to illegal Israeli settlements in the occupied Palestinian territory separately from those relating to Israel. [229938]

Ian Pearson: We have no reason to believe that strategically controlled products have been exported to illegal Israeli settlements in the occupied Palestinian territory in contravention of the Consolidated EU and National Arms Export Licensing Criteria.

Financial Services: EU Action

Ann Winterton: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what assessment he has made of the effect of the provisions of EU Directive 2006/49/EC in relation to mark to market, with particular reference to annex VII. [235939]

Ian Pearson: On 15 October 2008 the European Commission adopted amendments to EFRS 39 and IFRS 7, with the unanimous support of member states. These amendments ensured that EU companies have the same flexibility as their American competitors to reclassify assets held-for-trading into the held-to-maturity category. The current financial crisis justifies the use of reclassification by companies. In these circumstances, financial institutions in the EU would no longer have to reflect market fluctuation in their financial statements for these kinds of assets. These changes will apply as from the third quarter of 2008.

Oil Companies

Harry Cohen: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what (a) statistics and (b) other information his Department holds on the financial performance of oil and petroleum companies arising from activities in the UK in the last five years. [223998]

Mr. Mike O'Brien [holding answer 17 September 2008]: I have been asked to reply.

The Department conducts no surveys on petroleum companies' financial performance which is not in the public domain.

Twice a year the Department conducts a survey of UK upstream operators which provides information on income and expenditure relating to the oil and gas fields they operate. It also collects information on their exploration expenditure. The information is collated and aggregated data are published at:

https://www.og.berr.gov.uk/information/bb_updates/appendices/Appendix7.htm

The published data for the last five years are in the following tables.

The Department also requires certain types of applications for the Secretary of State's consent, e.g. for consent to petroleum field development plans, to be supported by evidence that the company or companies concerned has sufficient financial resources to meet the expenses and liabilities consequent on or related to that project.

Trade: Commonwealth

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what recent discussions have taken place between his Department and Commonwealth governments to encourage intra-Commonwealth trade. [229386]

Mr. Thomas: The Department has many discussions with Governments of Commonwealth countries in support of the Department's key objective of delivering free and fair trade. These have included in the past three months discussions with the New Zealand high commissioner and Trade Minister, the Jamaican Minister for Commerce and Investment, Jamaica Trade and Invest, the Sri Lankan Minister for Commerce, the Commonwealth Business Council the UK/Caribbean Forum and the Cameroonian Prime Minister.

Waste Disposal: EU Law

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many and what tonnage of waste products were (a) recycled and (b) sent for energy recovery under the Waste Electrical and Electronic Equipment Directive in the first compliance period, broken down by region. [235464]

Ian Pearson: The level of waste electrical and electronic equipment (WEEE) which is treated and reprocessed on behalf of UK producers is only recorded at a national level. During the first compliance period (1 July to 31 December 2007), 184,334.13 tonnes of WEEE was separately collected, sent for treatment, recovery and recycling or re-used as whole appliances.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Mr. Malins: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform when he plans to reply to question 232194, tabled by the hon. Member for Woking on 28 October 2008, on branded golf balls. [236049]

Mr. McFadden: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 11 November 2008, Official Report, column 1128W.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Afghanistan

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what the standard tour of duty is for personnel sent to Afghanistan; and how much decompression time is provided at the end of each tour. [236208]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Department for International Development (DFID) has employees operating in both Kabul and in the Helmand region of Afghanistan. The standard tour length for employees posted to Kabul is one year and for Helmand it is six months. Employees may be offered the option of extending their tour by up to a further one year in Kabul and six months in Helmand.

At the end of their posting employees who have served one year in Afghanistan must take a minimum of four weeks annual leave (accumulated while at post) to ensure an acceptable decompression period before taking up their next posting. Employees who have served for 18 months should take a minimum of five weeks, and those who have been in country for two years should take a minimum of six weeks.

Democratic Republic of Congo: Overseas Aid

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what humanitarian assistance the Government are providing to citizens of the Democratic Republic of Congo. [235374]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Department for International Development (DFID) is one of the largest and most active humanitarian donors in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC). A recent additional £5 million contribution for the crisis in North Kivu brings our total contribution in 2008 to £42 million. We are also engaged with humanitarian contacts, not least as current chair of the Good Humanitarian Donorship Group in DRC, to help assess the situation, co-ordinate donors and ensure that together donors respond to priority needs.

Following a request from the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), the Department for International Development (DFID) is organising relief flights with plastic sheeting, blankets, water purification tablets and buckets for immediate distribution to those in need. DFID funded partners are able to get some assistance to those displaced and in need in and around Goma and some of the secure outlying areas. The International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC), UNICEF, the World Food Programme (WFP) and non-governmental partners such as Medecins Sans Frontieres (MSF), Merlin and the International Rescue Committee (IRC) have been providing immediate relief aid such as emergency food, health, shelter and non-food items.

Departmental ICT

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many (a) memory sticks, (b) laptop computers, (c) desktop computers, (d) hard drives and (e) mobile telephones were (i) lost by and (ii) stolen from his Department in each year since 1997. [234095]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: Central accounting records detailing write-off and lost information are held by the Department for International Development (DFID) for up to seven years. On this basis we have detailed property lost or stolen since financial year 2001-02. Information is provided in the following table.

All DFID laptops have secure encryption technology and no data have been put at risk. All losses and thefts are investigated by our Business Solutions Division and Security section for breach of security practice.

Departmental Older Workers

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many people recruited by his Department in 2007-08 were aged over (a) 55 years and (b) 60 years; and what percentage this represented of the number of new recruits in each case. [235242]

Mr. Thomas: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given on 3 November 2008, Official Report, columns 109-10W to the hon. Member for Upper Bann (David Simpson).

Departmental Procurement

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what proportion of invoices for goods and services procured from small and medium-sized businesses were paid within 30 days of receipt by (a) his Department and (b) the agencies for which his Department is responsible in 2007-08; and if he will make a statement. [226497]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Department for International Development (DFID) does not currently publish information about size of suppliers as this does not fully reflect the number and size of businesses engaged in supplying to Government. We do not discriminate by size of business because many SMEs can be found within larger supply chains. Alongside speeding up Government payment we are also looking to lead contractors to pass on the benefits to smaller suppliers in their supply chains.

The proportion of invoices for all goods and services paid within 30 days of receipt by DFID in 2007-08 was 94.5 per cent.

I welcome the statement by the Prime Minister at Prime Minister's Questions on 8 October 2008, Official Report, column 268-9 and will ensure that DFID works towards making payment of all invoices as soon as possible and within 10 days.

Developing Countries: Education

Annette Brooke: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what steps his Department is taking to reduce the number of out-of-school disabled children in developing countries. [236733]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The UK Government are spending £8.5 billion over the period 2006-07—2015-16 in support of education in developing countries. This will help support partner countries' plans, policies and programmes to ensure that children, including those with disabilities, benefit from quality education. We are working with partners to ensure inclusive education strategies are integral to these plans and specifically that access to education by children with special needs is addressed.

The Department for International Development's (DFID) policy in support of the disadvantaged is laid out in the paper "Reducing poverty by tackling social exclusion". The paper is available in the House Library and on the DFID website:

http://www.dfid.gov.uk/pubs/files/social-exclusion.pdf

and recognises that certain groups of children including girls, are more likely to be excluded from school on basis of caste, ethnicity, religion or disability and that children with special needs constitute a significant group that is denied education.

Development Aid: Conferences

Mr. Moore: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what his Department's objectives are for the Financing for Development Conference in Doha; what Ministerial and official level representation there will be from his Department as part of the British delegation to the summit; what discussions he has had with the (a) Prime Minister and (b) Chancellor of the Exchequer about this summit; and if he will make a statement. [234962]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Department for International Development (DFID) wishes to see the Doha Conference reconfirm the commitment of developed, emerging and developing countries, originally expressed in 2002 at Monterrey, to work together to meet the challenges of financing for development and to meet the Millennium Development Goals. In support of this, developed countries should reaffirm that, despite current economic difficulties, they will meet their aid commitments and will work with developing countries to help them respond to current challenges.

I will represent the UK Government at the conference, accompanied by a small delegation of officials from my Department.

There is considerable ongoing co-ordination across Whitehall in preparation for the conference, with regular engagement from all relevant Departments.

Iraq and Afghanistan: Armed Conflict

Ann Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what instructions his Department gave to its staff in (a) Iraq and (b) Afghanistan during 2005 on (i) the use of and (ii) travelling in Snatch Land Rovers; and when those instructions were issued. [235466]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Department for International Development (DFID) does not comment on specific issues of staff security overseas.

Overseas Aid: Expenditure

Mr. Moore: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what estimate he has made of the (a) number of remittances and (b) monetary value of remittances sent from the UK to each recipient developing country in each of the last three years. [234961]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: Estimates of total personal remittance flows from the UK are included in the UK Balance of Payments "Pink Book", table 5.1, within the published series for "other receipts of and payments by households and non-profit institutions serving households (NPISH)". This is available online:

http://www.statistics.gov.uk/downloads/theme_economy/Pink Book_2008_final.pdf

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) has estimated that remittances comprise at least 75 per cent. of the series published in the Pink Book for total payments and receipts by households and NPISH. The estimates for remittances from the UK, excluding the NPISH element, are given in the following table for each of the last three years. However, the ONS stresses that these estimates are highly uncertain. DFID is working closely with the ONS and multilateral partners to improve the data on remittances.

Total personal remittances from the UK 2005-07

| | Remittances (£ billion) |
|---|---|
| 2005 | 3.7 |
| 2007 | 4.1 |

According to DFID funded research, the five largest recipients of remittances from the UK to developing countries are India, Pakistan, Nigeria, Jamaica and Ghana. On average, black and minority ethnic (BME) households send remittances three and a half times a year, although this varies by ethnic group. DFID recognises the positive impact that these money transfers can make on people's lives in developing countries, and has an active agenda to improve the developmental impact of remittances, seeking to help make remittances cheaper, safer and more accessible. Further information on DFID funded research into remittances is available on the DFID website:

http://www.dfid.gov.uk/Pubs/files/ukremittancesurvey.pdf

Performance Appraisal

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many staff in his Department did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235219]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Guidance on performance management arrangements for the senior civil service (SCS) is issued annually by the Cabinet Office. Currently there are four performance groups with Performance Group 4 being used for the Bottom 5 to 10 per cent. of performers. People in this group should not receive a bonus and have action taken to address under performance or ongoing poor performance, including the drawing up of a Performance Improvement Plan.

For performance during the reporting year 2007-08, 10 DFID senior civil servants were rated under Performance Group 4.

For staff below the SCS, DFID operates a three tier performance management system the lowest tier being allocated to those who are "Most In Need of Development". This rating is used for the poorest performers and those who have contributed least.

For performance during the reporting year 2007-08, 73 members of staff below the SCS received a "Most In Need of Development" rating.

Programme Development Fund

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many applications were made to (a) the Programme Development Fund and (b) the Travel Bursary Fund in each of the last five years; how many successful applications were made to each in each year; and what the (i) value, (ii) destination, (iii) purpose and (iv) outcome was of each award made. [232823]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Department for International Development (DFID) provides funding to the Commonwealth Broadcasting Association (CBA) to run a scheme to raise development awareness via the broadcast media. The scheme includes a Programme Development Fund (PDF) and a Travel Bursary Fund (TBF). The number of applications to the two funds in each of the last five years, and the number of successful applications with their value, destination and outcome is given in the following table.

Programme Development Fund

| Year | Applications[1] | Awards given | Value[2] (£) | Destination of successful awards | Outcome of awards given |

Many programmes and media outputs contributed to coverage of the 60th anniversary of Indian Independence. Other outputs ranged from a major documentary due for release in 2009 on Burmese refugees living in Thai camps and their relocation to the UK, slash and burn culture in Latin America, poverty and its effects in Haiti and health care in east Africa. |
| 2008 | Awards made to 11 bursars from 10 applications. | 2,000-10,000 | 3 India, 1 Latin America, 2 Malawi, 1 Haiti, 1 Afghanistan, 1 Bulgaria. 4 African producers came to the UK. | One series of shorts has already been broadcast, one series of shorts produced for broadcast in January 2009. All others are in production/development as would be expected with recent awards. |

[1] Applications to the PDF are made annually. All applications which are eligible for the funding are short-listed and evaluated. Only the short-listed applications are shown here.
[2] Awards from the PDF were up to a maximum of £8,000 in 2004, and £10,000 from 2005. The range of values of awards made is shown' here, not the value
[3] To date.
[4] Applications to the TBF can be made at any time. Inquiries to the TBF are received in very large numbers, usually by phone or email, and are not logged. The scheme staff work with all potential applicants to help them develop their ideas until peragrinal applicants are ready to submit a formal application. Only formal applications are shown here.
[5] TBF awards are up to a maximum of £10,000.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Audit Commission

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what reserves the Audit Commission holds; for what purpose the reserves are held; what the Commission's policy is on the management of its reserves; and if she will make a statement. [234424]

John Healey: This is an operational matter for the Audit Commission and I have asked the chief executive of the Audit Commission to write to the hon. Member directly.

Letter from Steve Bundred, dated November 2008:

Parliamentary Question on what reserves the Audit Commission holds; for what purpose the reserves are held; and what the Commission's policy is on the management of its reserves

Your Parliamentary Question on what reserves the Audit Commission holds; for what purpose the reserves are held; and what the Commission's policy is on the management of its reserves has been passed to me for reply.

The Audit Commission is a public corporation primarily funded by fees paid by audited and inspected bodies (AIBs). The Commission holds revenue reserves to fund working capital and meet expenditure in unforeseen and exceptional circumstances.

The Commission's financial statement for the year ended 31 March 2008 show a revenue reserve of £28.152 million.

The Commission's policy on the management of its reserves is to manage its cash in such a way as to avoid exceptional fees, or the need to borrow for revenue purposes. In addition, our policy is to invest our reserves with institutions with a credit rating of at least F1, subject to a maximum of £5 million with any institution.

A copy of this letter will be placed in Hansard.

Council Housing: Rents

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the average change in rents set by (a) local authorities and (b) registered social landlords was in (i) 2007-08 and (ii) 2008-09; and in which year she expects the rents set by each category of landlord to converge. [234369]

Mr. Iain Wright: We cannot control actual rent increases by local authorities, we can only set guideline rents which they can choose to follow or not.

Average actual rent increases for local authorities in 2007-08 were 6.2 per cent. which equates to £3.56 per week, and for 2008-09 are 4.5 per cent. or £2.72 per week. These figures are based on un-audited housing subsidy claim forms submitted by local authorities to the Department.

Average increases in registered social landlord rents in 2007-08 were 4.9 per cent. which equates to an average increase of £3.27 per week. These figures are based on the Housing Corporation's latest annual Regulatory Statistical Return (March 2008). The increase in rents for 2008-09 will not be known until the March 2009 Regulatory Statistical Return is available.

We remain committed to the principle of rent restructuring, and forecast future falls in RPI should allow convergence to be achieved within a reasonable timeframe.

Deprivation Indicators

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the (a) highest and (b) lowest level is for education, skills and training average achievement at lower super output level in each of the principal seaside towns in England and Wales in descending order, giving the name of the lower super output area affected. [235544]

John Healey: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer I gave him today (PQs 234939, 234950, 234944, 234943,234938, 234941 and 234942).

Fire Services

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will place in the Library a copy of the minutes of the FireGuard project board meeting of 27 October 2008. [236067]

Mr. Khan: The FireGuard project is led by the Chief Fire Officers Association, and not by Communities and Local Government.

Home Ownership Incentive Schemes

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what targets her Department has adopted for take-up rates of (a) shared ownership and (b) shared equity products. [236093]

Mr. Iain Wright: We remain committed to the delivery of affordable housing. Our aspiration is to help 75,000 households into home ownership through our shared ownership and shared equity schemes by the end of 2010-11. We have not set individual targets for our products to ensure flexibility within the programme in light of current market conditions.

Homelessness

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many applications for a main homelessness duty were (a) accepted and (b) not accepted in each local authority area in each of the previous five years, broken down by the applicant's (i) age, (ii) ethnicity, (iii) priority need category and (iv) reason for loss of last settled home. [234668]

Mr. Iain Wright: Information about English local housing authorities' actions under the homelessness legislation (part 7 of the Housing Act 1996) is collected quarterly at local authority level. Data collected include all decisions made on applications by eligible applicants, and the number of applicants accepted by local housing authorities as eligible for assistance, unintentionally homeless and in priority need, and therefore owed a main homelessness duty (to secure that suitable accommodation is available). These households are known as 'accepted' households.

Data on accepted households are collected by age-band, ethnicity, priority need category and reason for loss of last settled home. A table showing data for the last five years, as reported by local authorities, has been placed in the Library. There are only three years of data for age-band as this was only collected from financial year 2005-06 onwards.

Data on households not accepted as owed a main duty are collected by ethnicity, but not the other variables requested. A table showing acceptances by reason for non-acceptance, by ethnicity, as reported by local authorities, has been placed in the Library.

Homelessness: Enfield

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many (a) homeless people and (b) rough sleepers there were in the London Borough of Enfield in each year since 1997. [235445]

Mr. Iain Wright: Information about English local authorities' actions under the homelessness legislation (part 7 of the Housing Act 1996) is collected quarterly at local authority level. Data collected include the number of households accepted by local housing authorities as eligible for assistance, unintentionally homeless and in priority need, and therefore owed a main homelessness duty (to secure that suitable accommodation is available). If a settled home is not immediately available, the authority must secure temporary accommodation until a settled home becomes available.

Summary tables showing the total number of households (a) accepted as owed a main homelessness duty and (b) in temporary accommodation, from 1997-98 to 2007-08, and (c) rough sleeper estimates from 1998 to 2007, for Enfield local authority, are as follows:

Table A: Number of households accepted[1] as owed a main homelessness duty during the year, 1997-98 to 2007-08—Enfield local authority

Housing: Construction

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many new build homes constructed by registered social landlords were sold (a) outright and (b) under Home Buy and other schemes in each year since 1997. [234930]

Mr. Iain Wright: The first table shows the number of new affordable homes in England that were sold outright via the right to acquire scheme, or under homebuy or other shared ownership and shared equity schemes, by registered social landlords each year since 1997-98. The second table shows the number of homes sold outright though the right to buy and preserved right to buy schemes by registered social landlords.

Number of homes sold outright under the right to acquire or under homebuy and other schemes by registered social landlords

| | Outright sales—right to acquire | Homebuy and other sales[1] |

Housing: Enfield

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many council homes have been improved to the decent homes standard in the London Borough of Enfield in each year since 1997. [235443]

Mr. Iain Wright: Information specific to the number of homes which have been improved to the Decent Homes Standard is not collected by the Department. However, the Department collects statistics on non-decent social sector local authority (LA) homes through the Business Plan Statistical Appendix (BPSA) annual return.

These data are published by Communities and Local Government and can be obtained from the Department's website:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/housing/housingresearch/housingstatistics/housingstatisticsby/localauthorityhousing/dataforms/357553/databyregion/

Number of local authority owned non-decent stock by year

| Enfield | Number |
|---|---|
| 2000-01 | 5,138 |
| 2001-02 | 4,195 |
| 2002-03 | 3,938 |
| 2003-04 | 3,710 |
| 2004-05 | 3,242 |
| 2005-06 | 3,099 |
| 2006-07 | 2,864 |

Notes:
1. The BPSA is a non-statutory collection from local authorities. Figures are as reported.
2. 2007-08 data not yet available

Source:
Local authority figures from the Business Plan Statistical Appendix (BPSA) as at 1 April each year. The collection commenced in 2001.

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many affordable new homes have been built in Enfield North constituency in each year since 1997. [235444]

Mr. Iain Wright: Information on affordable homes by constituency is not available. The following table shows the number of new affordable homes built in Enfield local authority for each year from 1997-98. The figures include new build social rent and intermediate affordable housing; they exclude affordable housing acquisitions.

New affordable homes built in Enfield local authority

| | New affordable homes built |
|---|---|
| 1997-98 | 90 |
| 1998-99 | 100 |
| 1999-2000 | 80 |
| 2000-01 | 210 |
| 2001-02 | 450 |
| 2002-03 | 310 |
| 2003-04 | 220 |
| 2004-05 | 240 |
| 2005-06 | 240 |
| 2006-07 | 330 |

Sources:

Not all affordable housing is provided by new build completions, as some supply can come from acquisitions. In 2006-07, an additional 160 affordable homes in Enfield local authority were provided by acquisitions which are not included in the figure above.

Housing: Floods

Annette Brooke: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what criteria she will apply in terms of building on a flood plain in her consideration of the South West Regional Spatial Strategy. [235872]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Secretary of State will take account of all relevant evidence that has come forward throughout the preparation of the regional spatial strategy (RSS), including the strategic flood risk assessment and any new evidence included in responses to the consultation on the RSS proposed changes. The proposed changes have also been subject to sustainability appraisal which has taken detailed account of the regional flood risk assessment while all such evidence will be considered against the Government's policy set out in Planning Policy Statement 25.

Local Government Services

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many times her Department and its predecessors have used the powers of the Secretary of State to take over local authority services under the Local Government Act 1999. [236752]

Hazel Blears: This Department has used powers available to the Secretary of State under the Local Government Act 1999 to take over local authority services on two occasions. Hull was subject to a Direction in November 2003 following a second adverse corporate governance inspection. Hackney was subject to Directions issued in September 2001 and January 2002.

Local Government: Procurement

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the (a) highest and (b) lowest ranking on the barrier to housing and services domain on the index of multiple deprivation is of each of the principal seaside towns in England and Wales in descending order and giving the name of each lower super output area included. [235535]

John Healey: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer I gave him today (PQs 234939,234950, 234944, 234943, 234938, 234941 and 234942).

Multiple Occupation: Coastal Areas

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many houses of multiple occupation are (a) registered and (b) not registered in each of the 37 principal seaside towns in England. [235253]

Mr. Iain Wright: The information requested is not held centrally.

Non-domestic Rates

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what representations she has received from local businesses on the effect on payable rates of installing shutters, security cameras and other security measures. [234863]

John Healey: I am not aware of any recent representations to Ministers on this subject.

Non-domestic Rates: Business

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how long the Valuation Office took on average to decide a new rateable value for a business in (a) 2005-06, (b) 2006-07 and (c) 2007-08. [236529]

John Healey: For cases involving normal updating of the rating lists in England and Wales—involving of the order of 250,000 cases per year—the average elapsed times in number of working days were as follows:

| | Days |
|---|---|
| (a) 2005-06 | 22 |
| (b) 2006-07 | 17 |
| (c) 2007-08 | 11 |

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent discussions she has had with the Treasury on the Valuation Office's ability to increase business rates; and if she will make a statement. [236620]

John Healey: None. The VOA has a statutory duty to compile and maintain accurate rating lists. Alterations to the rateable value of non-domestic properties are notified to the relevant billing authority who reassess liability for business rates and issue bills to ratepayers.

I and my officials have however been in discussions with Treasury Ministers and officials over the position of businesses as a result of the VOA's Ports reviews.

Non-Domestic Rates: Business

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) what powers are available to the Valuation Office to make retrospective decisions on business rates for more than two past years; [236527]

(2) what authority the Valuation Office has to make its decisions retrospective. [236528]

John Healey: Valuation officers are required to maintain accurate rating lists. When they become aware a change is needed, they must make the alteration and also specify the date from which the change should be effective for rates charging purposes. The date of the change is governed by (legislative) regulations. Where the correction is to insert a property which existed on or before 1 April 2005, into the list, these require the alteration to be made from the start of the rating list, currently 1 April 2005. Valuation officers do not legally have discretion on the effective date.

Regional Development Agencies

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the timetable for the designation of regional development agencies as regional planning bodies is; and whether additional legislation will be required to effect this change. [236178]

Mr. Iain Wright: The consultation on the Review of Sub National Economic Development and Regeneration included proposals to give regional development agencies responsibility for regional planning. We intend to publish our response to that consultation shortly.

Regional Loans Partnerships

Robert Neill: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what funding (a) her Department and (b) the Government Offices for the Regions have given to regional loans partnerships; and how many such partnerships exist. [230666]

Mr. Iain Wright: £10.2 billion has been allocated by my Department for 2008-11 for regional housing capital programmes including those which address the condition of private sector housing stock. Of this almost £2 billion is for improvements and regeneration to the existing stock (both local authority owned and private sector). We have issued guidance to Regional Assemblies which asks them to continue to prioritise those most in need with the expectation that packages of assistance including grants, loans, and equity release schemes are made available to individual homeowners.

Any loans scheme receiving public funding should have the long-term objective of becoming self-financing. Schemes should not necessarily operate within a single government office geographical region but should build on existing good practice, and have regional or sub-regional coverage.

The regions are at various stages of developing equity release and loan products.

Sleeping Rough: Cornwall

Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many people were recorded as sleeping rough in Cornwall in each year since 1979. [235193]

Mr. Iain Wright: Annual rough sleeping figures have been collected since 1998 and are shown in the following table. These show the significant reductions in rough sleeping over the past 10 years.

Number of rough sleepers in Cornwall based on rough sleeper counts by individual local authorities

| | District council | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Caradon | Carrick | Kerrier | North Cornwall | Penwith | Restormel | Total for Cornwall |

Social Housing Grants

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when she expects to allow councils to apply for social housing grants. [234331]

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many councils have applied for funding to buy vacant properties for local housing purposes in the last six months; and whether funding has been made available to local authorities on the same basis as to registered social landlords. [234282]

Mr. Iain Wright: I refer the hon. Members to our 2 September 2008 statement on the package of measures responding to housing market conditions which confirmed that the social housing grant would be opened up to all stock-owning local authorities as well as local authorities with arms length management organisations. We are working with the Housing Corporation on the practicalities and the timetable for delivering this. No local authorities have applied for funding so far.

We have also introduced other measures to create incentives for councils to build and acquire new homes. S313 of the Housing and Regeneration Act 2008 provides that councils can keep the full rental income from new council homes (including newly built and newly acquired properties). We also intend to make changes to the capital regulations, in order to allow councils to keep the full receipts from new council homes. We expect to consult shortly on the use of S313 power and the capital receipts regulations which aim to enable councils to benefit in full from rental income or sales receipts from properties that have been built or acquired since this planned change to these rules.

Social Services: Haringey

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what inspections the Audit Commission has undertaken of Haringey Council's social services department since 2000. [236670]

Hazel Blears: The chief executive of the Audit Commission has today written to the hon. Member explaining that although responsibility for inspecting social services lies primarily with other inspectorates, the Commission was represented on the Joint Area Review of children's services in Haringey that reported in October 2006. The findings of the Joint Area Review were reflected in the Commission's corporate assessment of Haringey council, also published in 2006.

DEFENCE

Afghanistan: Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many attacks there were by insurgents against British armed forces in Helmand province in Afghanistan in (a) 2006-07 and (b) 2007-08. [227974]

Mr. Hutton: The number of direct engagements (regardless of the instigator) involving the international security assistance force (ISAF) and insurgents in Helmand province for the last three years are as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2006 | 736 |
| 2008 (as of 15 October) | 1,475 |

ISAF forces operating in Helmand come from a number of different nations, which often operate closely alongside each other. These forces also operate very closely alongside Afghan Army and police units. Without undertaking a detailed assessment of each engagement, it is not possible precisely to define in every case whether an attack was aimed at UK forces, at our ISAF partners, or against Afghan units. Data are therefore collected on the number of incidents involving ISAF forces in Helmand without attempting to identify the nationality of the forces actually being attacked. The environment also makes it extremely difficult precisely to distinguish between incidents initiated by insurgent forces and those initiated by ISAF.

These data are based on information derived from a number of sources and can only be an estimate, not least because of the difficulties in ensuring a consistent interpretation of the basis for collating statistics in a complex fast-moving multinational operational environment.

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the answer of 27 October 2008, Official Report, column 622W, on Afghanistan, what his reasons were for not stating which of Helmand's districts are under the control of the International Security Assistance Force, the Afghan National Security Forces and the Government of Afghanistan. [231822]

Mr. Hutton [holding answer 30 October 2008]: The Government of Afghanistan, Afghan national security forces and the international security assistance force maintain a significant presence across Helmand Province as referred to in my answer of 27 October 2008, Official Report, column 622W.

Counter-insurgency operations, like our operation in Afghanistan, are more complex in nature than traditional warfare. Control of territory is not simple to define in a situation with no easily identifiable front-line.

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many Snatch Land Rovers are in use in Helmand province; and how many have been written off in Afghanistan in the last three years. [234054]

Mr. Hutton [holding answer 10 November 2008]: I am withholding the information requested as its disclosure would, or would be likely to prejudice the capability, effectiveness or security of our armed forces.

Mr. Swire: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many (a) Lynx and (b) Gazelle helicopters are deployed in Afghanistan. [234394]

Mr. Hutton: There are currently no Gazelle helicopters deployed in Afghanistan. I am withholding detailed information on the number of Lynx helicopters deployed to Afghanistan as its disclosure would, or would be likely to prejudice the capability, effectiveness or security of the armed forces.

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the cost of the ordinance expended by UK armed forces in Afghanistan was in 2007-08. [235171]

Mr. Hutton: We do not keep information specific to the cost of ordnance. In the year 1 April 2007 to 31 March 2008 expenditure in Afghanistan on Guided Weapons, Missiles and Bombs was £57 million and expenditure on Armament Stores, which included small arms ammunition and shells, was £121 million.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what estimate he has made of the anticipated cost of urgent operational requirements for the Tornado aircraft in order to meet theatre entry requirements for Afghanistan. [235904]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The anticipated cost of urgent operational requirements for Tornado to meet theatre entry requirements for Afghanistan is up to £40 million.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence when the Harrier aircraft is due to be withdrawn from Afghanistan. [235905]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: As announced by the then Secretary of State on 16 June 2008, Official Report, columns 677-78, the Harrier force is due to be withdrawn from Afghanistan by spring 2009.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many (a) pilots and (b) ground crew of each trade are deployed in support of Harrier aircraft in Afghanistan. [235982]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: There are 12 pilots and 86 ground crew deployed. The breakdown of ground crew personnel is detailed in the following table.

| | Number |
|---|---|
| Aircraft engineering personnel | |
| Aircraft Maintenance Mechanic | 42 |
| Other ground personnel | |
| Avionics (including Weapons) | 16 |
| Mechanics | 19 |
| Engineering Officer | 1 |
| Survival Equipment | 2 |
| Administration | 1 |
| Operations | 4 |
| Intelligence | 1 |

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many (a) air crew and (b) ground crew personnel will be deployed in support of the Tornado aircraft due to replace Harriers in Afghanistan. [235983]

Mr. Hutton: It is planned that 24 aircrew and 122 ground crew will be deployed.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much has been spent on urgent operational requirements for the Harrier force in Afghanistan. [236001]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: A maximum of £42 million has been approved for spend on urgent operational requirements for the Harrier force in Afghanistan.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether the Harrier force has been deployed continuously on operations since the start of Operation Telic. [236002]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Harrier force has never been deployed on Operation Telic. However, Harrier aircraft have been deployed continuously on Operation Herrick since September 2004.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what effect the participation of Harriers on Operation Herrick has had on their out-of-service date. [236003]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: None. The Harrier out of service date remains 2018.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many hours per week on average Harriers have flown (a) on Operation Herrick and (b) on peace time training in the latest period for which figures are available. [236004]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Figures for the hours flown by Harrier aircraft are collated on a monthly basis. The flying statistics, for the last three months for which figures are available are detailed in the following table:

| | | Hours |
|---|---|---|
| Months | Operation Herrick | Peacetime training |
| August 2008 | 505 | 535 |
| September 2008 | 410 | 885 |
| October 2008 | 520 | 705 |

Note:
Figures have been rounded to the nearest five hours.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many Tornado aircraft would be required to undertake the close air support being provided by Harriers in Afghanistan. [236005]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: 8 Tornado aircraft will replace the 8 Harrier aircraft deployed in Afghanistan.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence for what reasons the Harrier force is being withdrawn from Afghanistan. [236194]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: As announced by the then Secretary of State on 16 June 2008, Official Report, columns 677-78, the Harrier force has been continuously operational in Afghanistan since November 2004 and has proven time and again its value in defending the lives of our troops, our allies and those they are there to protect. Mindful of the strain that this extended deployment has put upon the crews, their families and the wider role of Joint Force Harrier we have decided to withdraw the Harriers from Afghanistan and replace them with an equivalent force of Tornado GR4s.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what estimate he has made of the cost additional to that of normal peacetime flying tasks of (a) continuing to sustain eight Harrier GR9 aircraft on Operation Herrick and (b) deploying and sustaining eight Tornado GR4 aircraft on Operation Herrick. [236548]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The financial costs for continuing to sustain eight Harrier GR9 on Operation Herrick are estimated to be £30 million p.a. This cost includes, for example, fuel, forward and depth maintenance, associated equipment support and is based on current levels of activity. The costs associated with sustaining eight Tornado GR4 on Operation Herrick are estimated to be £31 million p.a. on an equivalent basis. The cost of deploying Tornado GR4 to Operation Herrick is up to £40 million.

Normal peacetime flying is reduced commensurate with the amount of flying conducted on the deployed operation.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment he has made of the aircraft performance differences between Harrier and Tornado experienced during their deployment in Afghanistan over the summer months. [236549]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Tornado aircraft have yet to deploy to Afghanistan.

Armed Forces: Blood Transfusions

Mr. Laxton: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what recent advice the Surgeon General has received on adopting pathogen inactivation for treating blood products for UK armed forces. [229596]

Mr. Kevan Jones: As I explained in my answer on 20 October 2008, Official Report, column 120W, the majority of blood products used on deployed operations overseas by the Defence Medical Services is supplied by the UK National Blood Services, who also supply the NHS hospitals where service personnel are treated in the UK. The Surgeon General has received advice that current pathogen inactivation technology is not suitable for use in deployed UK operational facilities. He will continue to monitor developments in this area, including the practices adopted by our allies and the future review of pathogen inactivation that will be undertaken by the UK Advisory Committee on the Safety of Blood, Tissues and Organs.

Armed Forces: Death

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what steps in cases of a death where a significant event analysis in primary care has been completed according to instructions outlined in Director General of Army Medical Services Policy Letter 62/03 are taken to make that analysis available to (a) the commanding officer of the deceased, (b) the service inquiry and (c) HM Coroner. [236163]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Commanding Officer receives limited medical information about an individual where this is justified in order to protect the patient, in accordance with the Director General of Army Medical Services Policy Letter 62-03.

Once an individual has been designated at risk of suicide, he/she is placed on the unit Suicide Vulnerability Risk Management (SVRM) Register. A care assessment plan is also completed by the Commanding Officer. The Commanding Officer would therefore be aware of actions taken in primary care prior to a death.

A service inquiry and HM Coroner may request and be provided with the medical information necessary for them to complete their investigations.

Armed Forces: Fire Services

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what resources his Department would make available in the event of a firefighters' strike. [236787]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) on 1 September 2008, Official Report, column 1440W.

Armed Forces: Pensions

Mr. Blunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what pension is payable to a soldier who retired after 22 years in the British Army on 30 April 1997 as a sergeant in (a) a Gurkha regiment and (b) a regiment recruited in the UK. [233766]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The comparison requested is not possible as, under the then Gurkha Terms and Conditions of Service, a Gurkha sergeant would not serve beyond the 18 year point. He would have been awarded a pension under the Gurkha Pension Scheme, payable straight away, while his regular Army counterpart would have been awarded a preserved pension under the Armed Forces Pension Scheme 1975 (AFPS 75) payable at age 60. Assuming that both individuals were aged 40 when they left, the ex-Gurkha sergeant would have received 20 years pension before his regular Army counterpart was entitled to receive his pension benefits.

I should mention that under the new Gurkha Terms and Conditions of Service, all sergeants transferred to the same engagement as British personnel which means that they, too, could potentially serve to the 22 year point, with pension benefits under either AFPS 75 or AFPS 05, depending on which they chose.

Armed Forces: Resignations

Christopher Fraser: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many officers left the armed forces from (a) the Army, (b) the Navy and (c) Royal Air Force in each year from 1997 to 2007. [236456]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The following table shows the number of officers who left the armed forces in each financial year from 1997-98 to 2007-08:

Officer outflow to civilian life from UK Regular Forces

| | All Services | Naval Service | Army | RAF |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1997-98 | 2,280 | 620 | 1,040 | 620 |
| 1998-99 | 2,490 | 540 | 1,290 | 660 |
| 1999-2000 | 2,290 | 570 | 1,120 | 600 |
| 2000-01 | 2,290 | 480 | 1,150 | 660 |
| 2001-02 | 2,300 | 530 | 1,090 | 670 |
| 2002-03 | 2,070 | 510 | 980 | 580 |
| 2003-04 | 2,040 | 470 | 950 | 620 |
| 2004-05 | 2,310 | 510 | 1,100 | 700 |
| 2005-06 | 2,290 | 520 | 1,070 | 700 |
| 2006-07 | 2,680[1] | 500[1] | 1,330[1] | 850 |
| 2007-08 | 2,820[1] | 580[1] | 1,490[1] | 760[1] |

[1] Denotes provisional. Due to ongoing validation of data from the Joint Personnel Administration System, all Naval Service and Army flow statistics for financial year 2006-07 and 2007-08 and all RAF flow statistics for financial year 2007-08 are provisional and subject to review.

Notes:

1. Figures show outflow from UK Regular Forces including recalled reservists on release and outflow to the Home Service battalions of the Royal Irish Regiment. The Royal Irish Regiment disbanded on 31 March 2008.
2. UK Regular Forces includes all trained and untrained personnel. Gurkhas, Full Time Reserve personnel, and mobilised reservists are excluded.

Due to the rounding methods used, totals may not always equal the sum of the parts. When rounding to the nearest 10, numbers ending in five have been rounded to the nearest multiple of 20 to prevent systematic bias.

Armed Forces: Self-mutilation

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many revisions have been made to the Royal Military Police document Guidelines for Commanding Officers following an Incident of Self Harm since 2003; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the most recent version of these guidelines. [236170]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Royal Military Police Guidelines for Commanding Officers following an incident of self harm were withdrawn following the publication on 20 July 2006 of Army General and Administrative Instructions Chapter 110—The Suicide Vulnerability Risk Management (SVRM) Policy, a copy of which is available in the Library of the House. They had not been revised prior to this.

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence at what rank the military chain of command receives information from the Army Medical Service chain of command communicating confidential medical information on service personnel considered at risk of self-harm. [236186]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Disclosure guidelines for medical officers are set out in Policy Letter 62-03 (Army Suicide Prevention Policy: Guidelines for Medical Officers—Confidentiality and Consent) by the Director General of Army Medical Services. This states that, 'limited medical disclosure to the Commanding Officer may be justified to protect the patient'. A commanding officer would typically be of Lieutenant Colonel rank.

I will place a copy of Policy Letter 62-03 in the Library of the House.

Armed Forces: Suicide

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library a copy of document AGAI 110 on suicide vulnerability risk management. [236165]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Yes, I will place a copy of Volume 3, Chapter 110 of the Army General Administrative Instruction (AGAI) which contains the Army Suicide Vulnerability Risk Management (SVRM) policy in the Library of the House.

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) how many case histories the Army Suicide Prevention Group has considered in each year since its inception; and what reports the Group has produced; [236171]

(2) on what date the Army Suicide Prevention Group examined the papers relating to the death of Lance Corporal Derek McGregor in Catterick barracks in 2003; and what recommendations the Group made following this examination. [236173]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Army Suicide Prevention Working Group (ASPWG) does not examine or make recommendations or produce reports on individual cases.

The ASPWG has three main functions:

to shape the Army's self harm and suicide prevention policies and procedures; to promote awareness of self-harm and suicide prevention by developing training and educational programmes throughout the Army; and audit the delivery, application and effectiveness of self harm and suicide preventative measures.

Armed Forces: Vehicles

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many vehicles of each type in the armed forces are able to transport fuel; what the capacity of each is; and how many of each type of vehicle are (a) in service and (b) fit for purpose. [214342]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Details of the MOD bulk fuel carrying capabilities which are currently in service and fit for purpose are set out in the following table. Fit for purpose has been defined as being those vehicles which are capable of being used in whatever capacity they are required for.

| Vehicle type | In service | Fit for purpose | Capacity (Litres) |
|---|---|---|---|
| Combat Support Tanker (Fuel) (CST(F)) | 218 | 218 | 20,000 |
| Combat Support Tanker Tactical Aircraft Refueller (CST TAR) | 82 | 82 | 15,000 |
| 32,000 Litre Fuel Tanker (TTF) | 54 | 54 | 32,000 |
| Unit Bulk Refuelling Equipment (UBRE)[1] | 425 | 425 | 2,100 |
| | | | 4,200 |
| | | | 6,300 |
| Unit Support Tanker (UST) | 102 | 102 | 7,000 |
| Pennman Fuel Flatrack | 10 | 10 | 10,000 |
| Truck Tanker Ground Fuel | 19 | 15 | 5,000 |
| Truck Tanker Ground Fuel, Bulk Carrier | 1 | 0 | 18,200 |
| Small Capacity Aircraft Refueller | 29 | 29 | 5,000 |
| Small Capacity Aircraft Refueller | 14 | 10 | 9,000 |
| Large Capacity Aircraft Refueller | 35 | 30 | 18,200 |
| Large Capacity Aircraft Refueller | 111 | 92 | 20,000 |
| Trailer Tanker | 6 | 1 | 18,200 |
| Large Capacity Aircraft Refueller Trailer | 63 | 47 | 24,000 |
| Out of Area Refueller | 55 | 39 | 20,000 |
| Truck Fuel Servicing | 39 | 39 | 5,000 |

[1] The unit bulk refuelling equipment is carried by 4 tonne or 8 tonne cargo vehicles, which can carry two or three modules respectively, of 2,100 litres per module.

Mr. Dhanda: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the reasons are for the time taken to develop protective equipment for service vehicles. [236199]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The time taken is dependent on the nature of the threat being addressed and the frequency with which the threat changes. Contributory factors include the level of technological complexity of the protective equipment and the difficulty of integrating the solution onto the base vehicle.

Astute Class Submarines

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the estimated (a) completion and (b) in-service date is for each of the planned Astute-class submarines. [235628]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The MOD currently plans to procure seven Astute submarines. Four submarines are on contract, and in various stages of production at BAE Systems Submarine Solutions facilities at Barrow-in-Furness.

The planned in-service-dates for HMS Astute, the First of Class, Ambush, Artful and Audacious are subject to continuing detailed review by MOD, BAE Systems and other key stakeholders.

AWE Aldermaston

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what role the management consortium of the Atomic Weapons Establishment Aldermaston, AWEML, has played in responding to the improvement notice served by the Nuclear Installations Inspectorate of the Health and Safety Executive on 3 April 2008. [235575]

Mr. Quentin Davies: Through its contract with the Ministry of Defence, AWEML is responsible for the safety of operations at AWE sites. This it discharges through its subsidiary, AWE plc, which holds the necessary Nuclear Site Licences and discharge authorisations issued by the external regulators. AWEML provides strategic guidance and direction to AWE plc, particularly in respect of safety and compliance with the regulatory regime. The AWEML board includes an independent safety director, who is engaged specifically to help ensure the correct emphasis and priorities are brought to bear on safety matters at AWE.

With regard to the Improvement Notice issued on 3 April 2008, AWEML scrutinised and endorsed the plan agreed between AWE plc and the Nuclear Installations Inspectorate in response to the issues raised. The AWEML board will be closely monitoring AWE plc's progress to ensure that the plan is achieved.

Ballistic Missile Defence

Mr. Kilfoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the UK's role in the American missile defence programme is; and if he will make a statement. [235988]

Mr. Hutton: The UK provides support to the US missile defence programme by allowing both early warning information from the radar at RAF Fylingdales, and early warning satellite data via a satellite downlink at RAF Menwith Hill, to be routed into the US missile defence command and control system. The UK also has a well-established missile defence technical co-operation programme with the US.

Colombia: Armed Forces

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether his Department has provided military training to personnel of the 14th Brigade of the Colombian army; and if he will make a statement. [235630]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 11 November 2008, Official Report, column 99W to the hon. Member for Birmingham, Selly Oak (Lynne Jones).

Democratic Republic of Congo: Armed Conflict

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the Oral Answer to the urgent question from the right hon. Member for Richmond, Yorkshire, of 4 November 2008, Official Report, columns 121-30, on the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), what military contingencies are being considered for the deployment of UK armed forces personnel to DRC. [234138]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth [holding answer 10 November 2008]: We are carrying out contingency planning across a range of scenarios relating to the Congo.

We will consider all requests for additional support from the United Nations, but large scale deployments are unlikely in view of our operational commitments elsewhere.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the cost is of maintaining his Department's website for the 2007-08 financial year; and what the forecast costs for maintaining websites within his responsibility are in the 2008-09 financial year. [232804]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Ministry of Defence and armed forces collectively maintain four corporate websites. Identified direct expenditure on running these in the financial year 2007-2008 was as follows:

| Website | URL | FY 2007-08 (£) | Forecast of costs FY 2008-09[1] (£) |
|---|---|---|---|
| MOD Corporate website[2] | www.mod.uk | 325,600 | 330,000 |
| Royal Navy[3] | www.royalnavy.mod.uk | 283,000 | 283,000 |

| Royal Air Force[5] | www.raf.mod.uk | 155,000 | 140,000 |

[1] Forecast costs for 2008-09 are based on the best available information.
[2] Figures include staff costs, hosting, licences and maintenance contracts.
[3] Costs of site maintenance, staff costs and hosting the RN site.
[4] Figures reflect hosting, licences, development costs and for FY 2007-08 site re-launch activities. Staff costs are not included as these are shared. Both figures are inclusive of VAT.
[5] Maintenance figures only not including the cost of building new areas on the site or update projects.

The following are the websites for which MOD is responsible, based on an update to the Central Office of Information on 29 Aug 2008.

EC Defence Policy

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what discussions he has had with his French counterpart on the creation of (a) a separate EU military headquarters and (b) a European rapid reaction force. [234219]

Mr. Hutton: I have had no discussions with my French counterpart on either of these points.

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the UK's share of the approved budget for EUFOR Tchad/CAR is according to the EU's Special Committee ATHENA; and how much had been paid as of 10 November 2008. [235433]

Mr. Hutton: The UK's share of the approved budget for EUFOR Tchad/CAR according to the EU's ATHENA financing mechanism, is 17.14 per cent.; as of 10 November 2008 the UK has paid £13.9 million.

EU Carrier Group

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what recent discussions he has had with his EU counterparts on participation in the EU Carrier Group; which (a) Royal Navy and (b) Fisheries Protection Squadron vessels he expects to participate in the Group's activities; and if he will make a statement. [235563]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: My right hon. Friend, Baroness Taylor, the Minister, with responsibility for international defence and security with responsibility attended the EU General Affairs and External Relations Council on 10 November where she signed the declaration of intent to establish a European Carrier Group Interoperability Initiative on behalf of the UK.

This is a high level declaration of intent aiming to increase interoperability between countries operating aircraft carriers or with naval vessels able to support carrier operations. There is no intention to create a standing carrier group and as such no standing commitment of either Royal Navy or fishery protection vessels is envisaged.

Ex-servicemen: Mental Health

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will include a mental health assessment in discharge medical reports for retiring servicemen and women. [233653]

Mr. Kevan Jones: A discharge medical assessment is undertaken 90 days prior to discharge. This detailed examination is undertaken by a doctor and the results are recorded on an F Med 1 form. The F Med 1 contains a specific assessment of the mental capacity and emotional stability of the individual. A re-assessment is carried out at seven days prior to discharge to ensure there have been no changes.

A summary of each individual's medical history whilst in the armed forces, including the results of the discharge medical, is contained in an F Med 133 form which is given to the individual to pass on to their civilian GP. The F Med 133 also contains information on how the GP can gain access to the individual's complete service medical records if required.

Frigates

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the Answers of 3 September 2007, Official Report, column 1632W and 6 November 2008, Official Report, columns 677-78W, when the decision was taken to extend the service life of the Type 22 and Type 23 Frigates; how much such an extension to their service lives will cost; and if he will make a statement. [235645]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth [holding answer 13 November 2008]: Adjustments either to extend or shorten the assumed service lives of the Royal Navy's Type 22 and Type 23 Frigates have been made in several recent planning rounds. In most cases the financial impact of these adjustments has fallen beyond the planning period in question and hence the net cost or saving to the defence budget has not been estimated in any detail.

Gulf of Aden: Piracy

Mr. Crabb: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what recent assessment his Department has made of the risks to UK-flagged merchant vessels from piracy in the Gulf of Aden. [235645]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Government's stance on piracy has moved to a more proactive stance where Royal Navy units are conducting counter-piracy missions through Combined Task Force 150, NATO and the forthcoming EU mission. Advice and guidance to UK-flagged merchant ships is issued by the Department for Transport. We continue actively to monitor the situation through our units in the region, the UK Maritime Trade Organisation in Dubai and the UK Maritime Component Command Headquarters in Bahrain.

Iraq: Peacekeeping Operations

Adam Price: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) whether representatives of Her Majesty's Armed Forces have held meetings with Jaish-al-Mahdi independently of the Iraqi government during 2008; [236122]

(2) pursuant to the Answer of 4 November 2008, Official Report, column 304W, on Iraq: peacekeeping operations, whether the discussions with representatives of Jaish-al-Mahdi included the matter of prisoner release. [236210]

Mr. Hutton: In 2007, with the full knowledge and support of our Coalition partners and the Iraqi Government, UK forces conducted a dialogue with a range of militia leaders in Basra, including Jaish al-Mahdi. All discussions between UK forces and unreconciled groups have been conducted as part of the shared reconciliation strategy of the Coalition and the Government of Iraq and this national reconciliation strategy includes a scheme for prisoner release. Across Iraq, dialogue continues between the Coalition, the Government of Iraq and unreconciled groups.

Military Aircraft

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the technical ground abort rate was for (a) Harrier and (b) Tornado aircraft in (i) operational and (ii) non-operational environments in each of the last five years. [236195]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The information requested is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how long it takes to scramble the (a) Harrier GR9 and (b) Tornado GR4 from the time of requirement to the notification of the aircraft, when those aircraft are held on GCAS alert. [236550]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The International Security Assistance (ISAF) requirements for Ground Close Air Support (GCAS) alert are met by both aircraft. I am withholding details of the time it takes to scramble these aircraft, as its release would, or would be likely to, prejudice the capability, effectiveness or security of our armed forces.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what offensive and defensive capabilities the Harrier GR9 has additional to those held by the Tornado GR4; and when the Tornado GR4 will be fitted with these capabilities. [236551]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: There are no significant differences in the offensive and defensive capabilities provided by the two aircraft. Like Harrier, the Tornados deploying to Afghanistan will be equipped with theatre specific enhancements. These are being taken forward urgently for the planned deployment next year.

Military Attachés

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the (a) expenditure on and (b) number of defence attachés was in each year since 2003. [234921]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The expenditure on attachés for each year since 2003 is shown in Table 1. Individual attaché costs cannot be disaggregated from the overall budget dating back to 2003 as the associated support costs are given as an overall total for the Defence attaché budget. These additional costs include support staff, travel and subsistence, medical and dental costs and provision for the cost of living allowance for each country.

The number of attachés for each year since 2003 is shown in Table 2.

Notes:
1. The Defence Section in Afghanistan opened in November 2007. There are no costs available from that date as the Defence Section is funded through operational funds which cannot be disaggregated from the overall budget.
2. These costs include estimated costs for personnel funded by the single service funds which cannot be disaggregated from their overall budgets.
3. Final costs for financial year 2008-09 will not be available until after 31 March 2009.
4. All the costs in the table exclude pre-post preparation training costs that fall to the single service budgets; these are assessed to be in the order of £8.7 million at FY 2007-08 prices.
5. All the costs in the table are at their respective financial year prices.

Military Police

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence on how many occasions the Royal Military Police has activated a Home Office Large Major Enquiry System Major Incident Room since Her Majesty's Inspectorate's recommendation of April 2006. [236155]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Royal Military Police have activated the Home Office Large Major Inquiry System once during an investigation into the death of Lance Corporal Alipate Naitaukei Tuisawau in Germany in 2007.

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment he has made of the Royal Military Police major crime case review policy published in the Provost Manual in October 2006; and if he will place a copy of the policy in the Library. [236156]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Police criminal case reviews are conducted to identify and develop opportunities to progress an investigation; to act as a form of quality assurance in relation to the content and process of an investigation; and to identify, develop and disseminate good investigative practice. The Royal Military Police's (RMP) Review Policy for Serious Criminal Investigations and Critical Incidents explains why, when, how and by whom the RMP's review process will be conducted. The Review Policy was published on 1 November 2006 and I will place a copy in the Library of the House.

Nuclear Submarines

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence in what year each successor submarine for the next generation of the nuclear deterrent is planned to enter service. [235626]

Mr. Quentin Davies: As previously stated, the first of the new class of submarines is forecast to enter service in around 2024. Also, as explained in the December 2006 White Paper 'The Future of the United Kingdom's Nuclear Deterrent', a final decision on the number of submarines that will be procured will be made when we know more about their detailed design. That decision will determine the timetable for entry into service of further submarines.

Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what estimate he has made of the effects on the (a) size, (b) force structure, (c) manning and (d) annual flying task of the Harrier force which would result from committing the Tornado GR4 Force to the Operation Herrick and Operation Telic theatres concurrently. [236547]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: There are currently no plans to alter the size, force structure, manning and annual flying task of the Harrier Force as the result of the concurrent deployment of the Tornado GR4 Force to Operation Herrick and Operation Telic.

Piracy

Mr. Crabb: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much the Royal Navy spent on activities to counter piracy in each of the last five years. [235846]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Counter piracy is conducted as part of routine Royal Navy Maritime Security tasking on a continuous basis. It is not currently recorded as a discreet activity.

Mr. Crabb: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what recent steps he has taken to ensure that UK-flagged merchant vessels are protected from piracy. [235847]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Government's stance on piracy has recently been reviewed. This has resulted in a move to a more proactive posture whereby Royal Navy (RN) units in the region will actively seek out pirates, and we have issued them with more robust guidance to deal with any pirates encountered. The RN will contribute to counter-piracy operations through three international efforts.

The UK is already engaged in efforts to combat acts of piracy off Somalia, through the Combined Task Force (CTF) 150, which has established a Maritime Security Patrol Area (MSPA) in the Gulf of Aden. CTF 150 units in this area, including RN vessels, are actively conducting operations to counter de-stabilising activities primarily aimed at deterring and disrupting acts of piracy against merchant vessels of all nations.

Standing NATO Maritime Group 2, including attached RN units, has also deployed to the region with a mandate which allows it to conduct counter-piracy operations from mid-October. NATO is considering the ways in which this mandate can be implemented including the escorting of World Food Programme shipping into port in Mogadishu.

We have also supported EU planning for a counter-piracy naval operation off the coast of Somalia, and on 14 October the EU Political and Security Committee decided to accept the offer made by the UK to provide the Operation Commander (Rear Admiral Phil Jones) and the Operation HQ (the Multinational Headquarters at Northwood). On 10 November EU Foreign and Defence Ministers met at the General Affairs and External Relations Council and agreed a joint action to set up the operation. A separate decision is expected in December to launch the operation. The UK offer is subject to sufficient forces being generated for an operation likely to begin in December.

RAF Welford

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence for how long the interim complement of the Ministry of Defence Police Agency will be stationed at RAF Welford. [236361]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Ministry of Defence Police will not be withdrawn from RAF Welford until the necessary security enhancements have been put in place at the base by the United States visiting force. This includes removing munitions that are currently stored in the open.

Officials are monitoring the situation and are in close contact with the United States visiting force.

Snatch Land Rovers

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what (a) financial and (b) EU regulatory factors were considered when deciding to use Snatch Land Rovers; and whether alternative US-produced vehicles were assessed against the same criteria. [235308]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The decision to deploy Snatch Land Rovers on operations in Iraq and Afghanistan took into account a range of factors, including the nature of the mission and the theatre specific threats at the time. Given that these vehicles were already available in our inventory, no EU regulatory or "financial factors" applied. As my right hon. Friend, the Defence Secretary's written statement on 29 October 2008, Official Report, column 28-30WS made clear, senior operational commanders were clear that they need a vehicle of the size, weight and profile of Snatch Land Rover, capable of transporting men, to fulfil their tasks in theatre.

We have set in train a programme to carry out a series of modifications to enhance Snatch's mobility and protection. This effectively generates a new variant, Snatch Vixen, which will offer the highest levels of protection for its size and weight class.

Snatch Vixen

Ann Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the unladen weight is of (a) the Snatch Vixen and (b) each of its variants. [235469]

Mr. Quentin Davies: I am withholding the information requested, as its disclosure would, or would be likely to prejudice the capability, effectiveness or security of the armed forces.

Submarines: Safety

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment he has made of the safety of fire suppressant gas used in Royal Navy submarines. [235632]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: All materials introduced to Royal Navy (RN) submarines, including fire suppressant gases, are subject to a rigorous and robust toxicity assessment process.

The design of RN submarine systems is such that any leak would be quickly detected and emergency actions taken, including the use of back up breathing systems, before the atmosphere within the submarine became un-breathable.

The fire suppressant gases used in RN submarines are halon 1301, carbon dioxide and nitrogen. The quantities of halon and carbon dioxide held onboard are such that, even if the total volume is discharged into the submarine atmosphere, it remains safe to breathe. Nitrogen is not a toxic gas, but has the potential to asphyxiate if there is sufficient volume. The risks associated with nitrogen have, however, been assessed against the safeguards in system design and mitigating procedures, and are as low as reasonably practicable.

Trafalgar Class Submarines

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence in what year the final Trafalgar-class submarine will go out of service. [235625]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: On present plans, which are routinely updated as required, the last Trafalgar class submarine to be withdrawn from service will be HMS Triumph in 2022.

Turks and Caicos Islands: Hurricanes and Tornadoes

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the (a) nature and (b) duration of the assistance provided by Royal Navy vessels to the Turks and Caicos Islands was in the aftermath of Hurricane Ike. [235580]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Royal Navy vessels HMS Iron Duke and RFA Wave Ruler provided humanitarian assistance to Turks and Caicos in the aftermath of Hurricane Ike for a period of five days. Teams from both vessels were ashore during this period helping repair infrastructure. At the same time, assets from HMS Iron Duke and Wave Ruler undertook a damage assessment of the islands as well as transporting fuel, water and supplies to some outlying islands.

Warships

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what work has been carried out continuously to record the gapping of ships; [235423]

(2) how many ships have experienced gapping during the last 12 months; and what (a) ships and (b) percentages were involved. [235424]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Detailed statistics of manpower gapping for individual Royal Navy ships are not recorded centrally. Manning levels of ships are adjusted according to their task. They routinely operate gapped posts, but the operational task on which a ship is deployed (or for which it is being generated) will determine its manning priority profile. This ensures that the unit has the appropriate manpower for the task.

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many (a) surface ships, (b) submarines and (c) auxiliary vessels are available for deployment; and what the equivalent numbers were in 1997. [235431]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The following figures indicate the number of vessels in service with the Royal Navy and Royal Fleet Auxiliary as at 1 April of each year. All vessels in service at any given time are available for deployment at periods of notice appropriate to their states of readiness:

| | Surface ships | Submarines | Auxiliary vessels |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2008 | 74 | 13 | [1]16 |
| 1997 | 101 | 15 | 21 |

[1] An additional six roll-on/roll-off vessels available for charter when required.

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the current tasks set by his Department are for the Royal Navy's (a) destroyers and frigates and (b) submarines; and how many of each of these classes of warship are required to be on station to fulfil each task. [235627]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The current tasks for destroyers, frigates and submarines are as shown.

I have included the number of destroyers and frigates on station but I am withholding detailed information on the numbers of submarines on task as its release would, or would be likely to prejudice national security.

| DIIFF current tasks | Number on station |
|---|---|
| Op TELIC[1] (Nth Arabian Gulf) | One permanently committed |
| Op CALASH (Indian Ocean - counter terrorism and capacity building coalition) | One permanently committed |
| NATO Response Force | One nominated and permanently assigned to a standing force |
| Atlantic Patrol Task (South) | One permanently committed |
| Support to Strategic Deterrence | One nominated, at extremely high readiness and activated when required |
| Atlantic Patrol Task (North) | One core hurricane season only (May to November) |
| Integrity of the UK | Three nominated, one immediate, two extremely high readiness and activated when required |
| UKMP Counter Piracy | One temporarily assigned pending confirmation of the requirement |

| Submarines | |
|---|---|
| Strategic Intelligence | |
| Support to Strategic Deterrence | |
| Integrity of the UK | |
| Op TELIC and CALASH | |
| Falkland Islands Contingency | |

The number of units on station does not reflect the generation factors which are the number of hulls essential to produce the required units for each station. These factors vary and are dependent on whether a task is routed (continuous) or non-routed. The figures also exclude the units held at very high readiness for contingent operations.

TREASURY

Audit: Standards

Frank Dobson: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what recent discussions he has had with (a) individual firms of accountants and (b) representatives of the accountancy profession of the standard of auditing of the accounts of (i) Northern Rock, (ii) Bradford and Bingley, (iii) HBOS and (iv) Royal Bank of Scotland respectively. [235560]

Ian Pearson: Treasury Ministers and officials have meetings and discussions with a wide variety of organisations as part of the process of policy development and delivery. As was the case with previous administrations, it is not the Government's practice to provide details of all such meetings and discussions.

Bank of England: Accountability

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether the Bank of England's executive will be accountable to the Financial Stability Committee. [231014]

Ian Pearson: The Financial Stability Committee will be established as a sub-committee of the Court of Directors of the Bank of England. The committee will include all the executive members of the Court, and will be chaired by the Governor. In addition to the Bank's executive, the Committee will include a majority non-executive membership, bringing outside expertise and insight to the Committee. Executives, and the Financial Stability Committee as a whole, will be accountable to the Court—the Bank's governing body—for their performance.

Bank Services

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) what estimate he has made of the sums of money (a) frozen and (b) otherwise unavailable to depositors held in (i) Kaupthing, Singer and Friedlander Ltd, (ii) Kaupthing, Singer and Friedlander (Isle of Man) and (iii) Landsbanki; [233581]

(2) what estimate he has made of the number of accounts in Icelandic banks which have been (a) frozen and (b) otherwise rendered inaccessible as a result of the operation of the Landsbanki Freezing Order 2008; and what estimate he has made of the sums involved; [233582]

(3) how many assets owned by Icelandic proprietors have been frozen under the terms of the Landsbanki Freezing Order 2008 and related Ministerial decisions; and which Minister in his Department is responsible for matters relating to Icelandic banks in the UK; [233584]

(4) what the reason was for the time taken to issue his Department's financial sanctions notice of 17 October 2008 on the Landsbanki Freezing Order 2008 following the issue of the initial notice on 8 October 2008; and for what reason it was necessary to clarify that only the funds of Landsbanki were the subject of the Order; [233585]

(5) what steps he took to ensure that imports of fish from Iceland could be paid for by bank transfer after 17 October 2008; what steps his Department took to ensure that the contents of the statement of that date on Icelandic banks were communicated to bank branches and other financial institutions handling payments for fish imports; and what steps he took (a) before and (b) after 17 October 2008 to ensure that banks remitted payment for fish imports to Icelandic banks; [233586]

(6) when he was made aware that UK banks were prohibited from transferring money to Iceland in payment for imports of Icelandic fish; what steps he took in consequence; and if he will make a statement; [233754]

(7) what (a) warnings were given to the government of Iceland and (b) consultations he had with the government of Iceland before the freezing of Icelandic bank accounts under the Landsbanki Freezing Order 2008; and what prior notice he gave of his intention to make the order; [233759]

(8) for what reason he took action against the assets of Landsbanki Bank using powers under the Anti-Terrorism, Crime and Security Act 2001. [231629]

Ian Pearson: On 8 October HM Government made the Landsbanki Freezing Order 2008. This requires all persons in the UK (and UK persons elsewhere) to freeze funds owned, held or controlled by Landsbanki, including those owned held or controlled in relation to Landsbanki by certain Icelandic Authorities or the Government of Iceland. The Order was made because the Icelandic Government, its authorities and Landsbanki appeared to be on the brink of action which would be to the detriment of the UK economy, including detrimental treatment of UK depositors.

The effect of the Order is that all funds owned, held or controlled by Landsbanki in the UK are frozen. Landsbanki funds may only be released from frozen accounts in the UK under the authority of a licence granted by HMT. No freezing orders have been made in respect of other Icelandic banks.

The Order was made under a power contained in the Anti-Terrorism, Crime and Security Act 2001. This Act includes a broad range of provisions and is not only about countering terrorism. The power enables the Treasury to make a freezing order where the Treasury reasonably believe that action to the detriment of the UK economy (or part of it) has been or is likely to be taken by a foreign government or resident of a foreign country or territory. As we have made clear the UK's action was not taken on the basis of the anti-terrorism provisions in the Act.

As envisaged by the 2001 Act, the Landsbanki Freezing Order also gives the Treasury power to licence exceptions to the freeze. Granting licences is an integral part of the Treasury's ongoing role in relation to the freezing order, in particular, in minimising potential harmful consequences, while providing the necessary safeguards.

The Treasury's approach has been to publish general licences and guidance to deal with industry concerns. A general licence was granted on 9 October. This dealt with the concern of allowing the London branch of Landsbanki to continue its commercial finance operations, on which a number of UK businesses depend for their immediate cash flow. This licence also confirmed a broad range of transactions that were permitted, including that third parties could set-off and net out arrangements where Landsbanki was the counterparty. A further licence was granted on 13 October, to provide reassurance to a wide range of market participants who might otherwise be in a position of dealing with frozen funds.

In response to inquiries received, the Treasury published a series of notices to ensure the scope of the Freezing Order was clear to UK financial institutions. The notice published on 17 October provided detailed guidance and reiterated that other Icelandic banks and companies were not affected by the Freezing Order. It was published on the Treasury's website and was also sent to financial institutions in the UK via the financial sanctions e-mail notification service.

In response to a request from certain financial institutions, the Treasury granted a licence on 7 November in relation to securities settlement through exchanges where there is no central counterparty.

In addition, the Treasury liaised with the major UK banks to ensure that the freezing order was not preventing payments to Icelandic companies; discussed individual transactions with banks that advised transactions had been blocked because of the Order; and made clear that the Order does not prohibit UK banks from transferring money to Iceland in payment for imports of Icelandic fish (as long as they are not unlicensed "frozen funds").

The Chancellor announced the Order was being made in his statement to the House on the morning of 8 October. As is generally the case in relation to asset freezes, prior notice was not given to the persons designated under the Order, so as not to prompt asset flight.

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the basis was for his statement of 8 October 2008 that the Icelandic government had no intention of paying compensation to UK investors in Icelandic bank accounts. [233630]

Ian Pearson: I refer my hon. Friend to the comments the Chancellor of the Exchequer made at the Treasury Select Committee hearing in response to the hon. Member for Sevenoaks (Mr. Fallon's) question (Q116) on 3 November.

Peter Bottomley: To ask Mr Chancellor of the Exchequer what recent representations he has received on the situation of UK depositors in (a) the Isle of Man and (b) the Channel Island branches of Kaupthing Bank; what protection applies to deposits in such financial institutions made by British citizens resident (i) in and (ii) outside the UK; and if he will make a statement. [233753]

Ian Pearson: In line with usual constitutional arrangements, the UK Government will represent the Crown Dependencies in their negotiations with Iceland.

However, arrangements for depositors in banks in the Isle of Man remain a matter for the Government of the Isle of Man. Deposits with Kaupthing Singer and Friedlander, Isle of Man, will be subject to the Isle of Man Deposit Compensation Scheme.

Arrangements for depositors in banks in the Channel Islands are a matter for the Government of the Channel Islands.

The Financial Services Compensation Scheme would pay compensation to eligible claimants up to the limit of £50,000 per person per authorised institution in the UK. The Financial Services Compensation Scheme does not cover deposits with banks outside the UK other than deposits with branches of UK banks established in other EEA states under EEA rights. Other deposits, including those made by UK residents or by British citizens resident outside the UK would be covered by any locally operated deposit-guarantee schemes.

Treasury Ministers and officials have meetings and discussions with a wide variety of organisations in the public and private sectors as part of the process of policy development and delivery. As was the case with previous Administrations, it is not the Government's practice to provide details of all such meetings and discussions.

Bank Services: Iceland

Annette Brooke: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what recent steps he has taken to assist those with money deposited in Icelandic banks. [234969]

Ian Pearson: I refer the hon. Member to the statement made by the Chancellor on 8 October 2008, Official Report, columns 279-80.

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what discussions were held with the Icelandic government before freezing the assets of Icelandic banks and businesses. [235174]

Ian Pearson: On 8 October HM Government made the Landsbanki Freezing Order 2008. The effect of the Order is that all funds owned, held or controlled by Landsbanki in the UK are frozen. Landsbanki funds may only be released from frozen accounts in the UK under the authority of a licence granted by HMT. No freezing orders have been made in respect of other Icelandic banks.

Treasury Ministers and officials have meetings and discussions with a wide variety of organisations in the public and private sectors as part of the process of policy development and delivery. As was the case with previous Administrations, it is not the Government's practice to provide details of all such meetings and discussions.

Bank Services: Local Government

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will make it his policy to extend to local authorities the same level of assurances regarding funds deposited with Landsbanki as those offered to individual savers. [232569]

Ian Pearson: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the statement made by the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government on 14 October 2008, Official Report, column 35WS.

Bank Services: Rural Areas

Mr. Heald: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will make it his policy to encourage banks to share facilities in rural areas. [235602]

Ian Pearson: The Government have no plans to make shared banking facilities in rural areas a matter of policy.

Bank Services: Standards

Mr. Amess: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what discussions his predecessor had with the US Administration between 1997 and 2001 on the effects on the United Kingdom economy of banks in the United States lowering their lending standards; and if he will make a statement. [229514]

Ian Pearson: Treasury Ministers and officials have meetings with a wide variety of organisations and international partners. As was the case with previous Administrations, it is not the Government's practice to provide details of all such meetings.

Banking Supervision

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will direct his appointees as non-executive directors on the boards of banks in receipt of recapitalisation from the public purse to establish lending rules which prohibit the provision of sub-prime mortgages; and if he will instruct the Financial Services Authority to oversee implementation of this instruction. [227924]

Ian Pearson: As part of its investment, the Government have agreed a range of commitments with banks accessing the recapitalisation scheme. The Government expect boards to appoint new independent non-executive directors, in consultation with Government.

These banks are committed to offering a wide range of products at competitive rates, which will be made available to customers with good credit ratings. Decisions on the terms and pricing of specific products are commercial decisions for the individual institutions.

It is important that all lenders lend responsibly and fulfil their regulatory obligations. Since 2004, the Financial Services Authority has held responsibility for the regulation of first charge residential mortgages, helping to ensure that lenders lend responsibly and borrowers are afforded appropriate protections.

Banks: EC Law

Ann Winterton: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the effect of Commission Regulation (EC) No. 1004/2008 of 15 October 2008 on levels of equity and liquidity of British banks. [233563]

Ian Pearson: Commission Regulation (EC) No. 1004/2008 of 15 October 2008 adopts the amendments to International Accounting Standard 39 and International Financial Reporting Standard (IFRS) 7 made by the International Accounting Standards Board. The purpose of these amendments was to align the treatment on valuation and classification of certain financial instruments between IFRS and US Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). UK banks will be required to utilise the amended standards in preparing their accounts, which will in turn be subject to audit scrutiny.

Banks: Iceland

Mr. Dunne: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will make provision for British citizens living overseas who are unable to access their deposits in subsidiaries of Icelandic banks following the Government's decision to freeze the assets of Landsbanki bank. [229869]

Ian Pearson: On 8 October HM Government made the Landsbanki Freezing Order 2008. This requires all persons in the UK (and UK persons elsewhere) to freeze funds owned, held or controlled by Landsbanki, including those owned held or controlled in relation to Landsbanki by certain Icelandic Authorities or the Government of Iceland. The Order was made because the Icelandic Government, its authorities and Landsbanki appeared to be on the brink of action which would be to the detriment of the UK economy, including detrimental treatment of UK depositors.

The Financial Services Compensation Scheme does not cover deposits with banks outside the UK other than deposits with branches of UK banks established in other EEA states under EEA rights. Other deposits, including those made by UK residents or by British citizens resident outside the UK would be covered by any locally operated deposit-guarantee schemes.

Banks: Public Appointments

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether the experience and qualities sought in Government directors of UK banks where the Government has a shareholding will include time spent working in a mutual. [227517]

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) whether he has considered placing a Minister or departmental representative on the board of directors of those banks in receipt of public funds and support; [226914]

(2) if he will consider appointing as non-executive directors to the boards of banks in receipt of public funds for recapitalisation representatives from (a) the Bankworkers' Trade Union and (b) the third sector. [228371]

Ian Pearson: As part of the recapitalisation scheme, it is intended that new non-executive directors will be appointed to the boards of each of RBS and, provided it proceeds, the merged Lloyds TSB/HBOS. These will be independent non-executive directors appointed by the board of each bank. UK Financial Investments, the company which will manage the Treasury's shareholding, will work with those boards to ensure the individuals have appropriate commercial experience. The purpose behind their appointment is to strengthen the board of each bank and to provide independent oversight in respect of governance and other matters in the interests of all the shareholders of each bank.

Child Benefit

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what checks his Department makes to establish the accuracy of information provided by nationals of EU member states on applications forms for child benefit; and if he will make a statement. [235586]

Mr. Timms: I refer the right hon. Member to the answers given to him on 26 November 2007 and 19 March 2008, Official Report, columns 48W and 1217W respectively.

Child Trust Fund

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what percentage of Child Trust Fund accounts had a lower monetary value than the day upon which they were opened on the latest date for which figures are available. [235560]

Ian Pearson: The information requested is available only at disproportionate cost.

Christmas

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many Christmas functions (a) he, (b) officials from his Department and (c) officials from its executive agencies (i) hosted and (ii) attended in 2007-08; what the cost to the public purse was; and if he will make a statement. [226948]

Angela Eagle: The information requested is not available.

Council Tax: Tax Yields

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he has made of gross revenue from council tax, including domestic rates where applicable, in England in each of the next three years. [230675]

Yvette Cooper: Council tax increases are determined annually by local authorities, not by the Government. Council tax projections are based on assumptions made for public finance purposes and are not Government forecasts.

The most recent council tax projection is detailed in the Budget 2008 document on page 187, Table C6.

Credit

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the Answer of 20 October 2008, Official Report, column 137-8W, on credit, if he will list those meetings with respect to which he thinks it is appropriate to release details; if he will place copies in the Library of the (a) agenda, (b) list of attendees and (c) minutes of each such meeting; and what criteria he applies in determining whether it is appropriate to release such details. [235538]

Ian Pearson [holding answer 13 November 2008]: Treasury Ministers and officials meet and correspond with representatives of the banking sector on a regular basis to discuss a wide range of financial issues—including the provision of affordable credit—as part of the process of policy development and delivery. As was the case with previous Administrations, it is not the Government's practice to provide details of all such meetings.

The Government remain committed to supporting the provision of affordable credit, which is a central strand of our financial inclusion strategy. We will continue to engage with a wide range of stakeholders to ensure that this issue remains high on the agenda of the banking sector.

Departmental Catering

Mr. Moore: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the Answer of 1 February 2008, Official Report, column 733W, on the Fairtrade Initiative, how much his Department spent on refreshments for official departmental meetings and engagements in each of the last three financial years; and what percentage of this was spent on Fairtrade products. [208713]

Angela Eagle: Spending on official departmental meetings and engagements in the past three financial years was £499,000 in 2005-06, £394,000 in 2006-07 and £424,000 in 2007-08. While there is no central record of the proportion of Fairtrade products used at departmental meetings and engagements, all tea and coffee offered at such events is certified Fairtrade.

Departmental Leave

Dr. Fox: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will place in the Library a copy of his Department's rest and recuperation leave policy for civilians working in operational theatres. [235419]

Ian Pearson: HM Treasury do not have staff working in operational theatres.

Departmental Marketing

David Simpson: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the cost effectiveness of Government-commissioned advertising in the last 12 months relating to matters falling within the remit of his Department. [226511]

Angela Eagle: The majority of advertising undertaken by the Treasury in the last 12 months was for the purposes of recruitment. The advertising is evaluated to ascertain the volume and quality of responses and is used, together with advice from the Department's advertising agency, to ensure the most effective medium is used.

Departmental Pay

Dr. Cable: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many and what proportion of staff in his Department received bonus payments in each of the last five years; what the total amount of bonuses paid has been; what the largest single payment was in each year; and if he will make a statement. [213294]

Angela Eagle: The requested information for 2007-08 is shown in the following table.

| | 2007-08 |
|---|---|
| Performance bonuses (£000) | 1,083 |
| Special bonuses (£000) | 177 |
| Number of staff: | |
| Special bonus | 382 |
| Performance bonus | 461 |
| Percentage of staff[1]: | |
| Special bonus | 34 |
| Performance bonus | 41 |
| Highest amount | 18,000 |

[1] Based on fte headcount at end of each financial year

For information on prior years I refer the hon. Member to the answer the then Financial Secretary, my right hon. Friend the Member for Wentworth (John Healey) gave him on 20 June 2007, Official Report, column 1881W.

Dr. Fox: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what bonuses are paid to staff in his Department for working in (a) Iraq and (b) Afghanistan. [235418]

Ian Pearson: HM Treasury do not have any staff working in (a) Iraq or (b) Afghanistan.

Departmental Pensions

Jenny Willott: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many civil servants working in his Department and its agencies have pensions with a cash equivalent transfer value of over £1 million. [229543]

Angela Eagle: It is not appropriate to disclose pension information for civil servants other than board members whose details are shown in the remuneration report in annual resource accounts. A copy of the HM Treasury's resource accounts for financial year 2007-08 which includes Debt Management Office (DMO) and OGC can be found in the Library or accessed electronically using the following link:

http://www.hm-treasury.gov.uk/d/annualreportandaccounts200708050808.pdf (pages 29-34 refer)

OGC Buying Solutions are a trading fund of OGC and publish their own accounts. These can be accessed using the following link:

http://online.ogcbuyingsolutions.gov.uk/downloads/tinymce_uploads/corporatepublications/ARA%2007-08.pdf (refer to page 36).

Departmental Procurement

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what proportion of invoices for goods and services procured from small- and medium-sized businesses were paid within 30 days of receipt by (a) his Department and (b) the agencies for which his Department is responsible in 2007-08; and if he will make a statement. [226488]

Angela Eagle: As the size of suppliers is not identified in the accounting systems of the Treasury and its agencies, the information requested is not available. Data relating to payment performance to all suppliers for the Treasury Group are included in paragraph 48 of the Management Commentary section of the 2007-08 Resource Account (HC 539).

Departmental Public Expenditure

Chris Ruane: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much his Department has spent on targeted initiatives in (a) inner cities, (b) rural areas and (c) seaside towns in each of the last 16 years. [235699]

Angela Eagle: There is no centrally held record of where particular departmental initiatives may have been targeted and the cost of obtaining any such information would exceed the disproportionate costs threshold. Details of the Treasury's total spending by region is published annually in the Country and Regional Analysis section of 'Public Expenditure Statistical Analyses', the latest edition is HC 489.

Deprivation Indicators

Chris Ruane: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) what the (a) most and (b) least deprived lower super output area is in each of the principal seaside towns in England and Wales; [234939]

(2) what the (a) highest and (b) lowest ranking lower super output area on the crime domain for multiple index of deprivation is in each of the principal seaside towns in England and Wales. [234950]

John Healey: I have been asked to reply.

The following tables list the codes for the least and most deprived lower super output areas in the principal seaside towns in England, on the overall measure of multiple deprivation and across the seven domains of the Index of Multiple Deprivation 2007. Information on deprivation in Welsh towns can be obtained from the Welsh Assembly Government Statistical Directorate.

Economic Policy

Peter Bottomley: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what account has been taken by his Department of New Economics and post neo-classical endogenous growth theory in the formulation of economic policy since 1997. [235481]

Ian Pearson: The Government take into account all relevant factors in their formulation of economic policy.

Economic Situation: Coastal Areas

Chris Ruane: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the gross value added per head was in the principal seaside towns in England and Wales in the latest period for which figures are available. [235189]

Kevin Brennan: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician I have been asked to reply to your recent question about gross value added (GVA) per head in the principal seaside towns in England and Wales in the latest period for which figures are available. (235189)

The Office for National Statistics publishes regional GVA using official statistical geographies known as Nomenclature of Units for Territorial Statistics (NUTS)[1]. NUTS3 boundaries (the lowest level at which the ONS publishes regional GVA) do not directly correspond to the principal seaside towns of the United Kingdom, but some towns are included as individual regions.

Regional GVA per head can be found in table 3.2 of the link:

http://www.statistics.gov.uk/downloads/theme_economy/GVA_NUTS3_Excel_Tables_1995-2005.xls

Regional GVA estimates are expressed at current basic prices and do not allow for changes in prices over time (inflation) or differences in regional price levels (purchasing power).

The full range of regional GVA estimates is available on the ONS website:

http://www.statistics.gov.uk/statbase/Product.asp?vlnk=14650

[1] The Nomenclature of Units for Territorial Statistics (NUTS) provides a single uniform breakdown for the production of regional statistics for the European Union. Regional GVA data are produced at three levels of NUTS in the UK. These are:

NUTS 1: Government Office Regions of England and the devolved administrations of Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.

NUTS2: 37 areas—sometimes referred to as sub-regions.

NUTS3: 133 areas—generally groups of unitary authorities or districts, also known as local areas.

EU External Trade: Israel

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the Answer of 28 October 2008, Official Report, columns 883-84W, on EU external trade: Israel, what action was taken on the requests for information not answered by the Israeli authorities; and whether the consignments in question were permitted to be sold in the UK with the preference applied under the EU-Israel Association Agreement. [234372]

Mr. Timms: Four late replies to requests for information were received from Israel after 10 months had elapsed, leaving only eight cases where the authorities did not provide an answer. In seven of those cases the preference was refused and the full rate of customs duty was demanded.

There was insufficient evidence in the remaining case to confirm whether the goods had originated in a settlement.

European Coalition for Responsible Credit Conference

John Battle: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if his Department will participate in the European Coalition for Responsible Credit Conference to be held in London on 13 to 14 November; and if he will make a statement. [233108]

Ian Pearson: The Government want to see all lenders meeting the highest standards and welcomes all contributions to discussions of these issues, including at events relating to credit issues. Government officials attended the European Coalition for Responsible Credit Conference.

Government Shareholding

Anne Main: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he has made of the value of UK bank shares held by (a) HM Treasury and (b) the Treasury Solicitor. [231784]

Ian Pearson: As shown in HM Treasury 2007-2008 resource accounts, shares in Northern Rock held by the Treasury Solicitors on behalf of HM Treasury are being carried at historic cost. This is currently shown as nil, since the historic cost to HM Treasury will be dependent on the valuation of the company by the valuer appointed in accordance with the Northern Rock plc Compensation Scheme Order 2008. This valuation is pending.

A Compensation Order to determine the amount of any compensation payable to former shareholders of Bradford and Bingley will be laid before Parliament in due course. That will decide the historic cost to HM Treasury of the shares it holds in Bradford and Bingley.

As the Chancellor announced on 13 October, the Treasury has agreed to invest up to £37 billion to recapitalise the Royal Bank of Scotland Group plc, HBOS plc, and Lloyds TSB Group plc, by underwriting ordinary and preference shares. No public money has yet been invested in these banks to date.

Income Tax: Prisoners

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer of 21 October 2008, Official Report, column 338W, on income tax: prisoners, whether income tax paid by prisoners working on the Barbed project in Coldingley prison was returned to them. [236415]

Mr. Timms: As for other individuals, the personal tax affairs of prisoners are covered by rules of confidentiality.

Kaupthing Singer and Friedlander

Norman Baker: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to oral Statement of 8 October 2008, Official Report, column 278, on the banking system, what steps he is taking to ensure that investors who have placed funds with Kaupthing Singer and Friedlander (Isle of Man) Limited are able to reclaim those investments without loss; and what steps his Department has taken in respect of such funds following the seizure of the assets of this company. [234880]

Ian Pearson [holding answer 11 November 2008]: Arrangements for depositors in banks in the Isle of Man are a matter for the Government of the Isle of Man.

Deposits with Kaupthing Singer and Friedlander, Isle of Man, will be subject to the Isle of Man Deposit Compensation Scheme.

In line with usual constitutional arrangements, the Government will represent the Crown Dependencies in their negotiations with the Icelandic authorities.

Mr. MacNeil: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what advice he received from the Financial Services Authority on the position of Kaupthing, Singer and Friedlander Limited prior to the decision to bring the Landsbanki Freezing Order 2008 into force. [230731]

Ian Pearson: The FSA intensified its supervision of deposit-taking by Icelandic banks (including through increased contact with firms, more frequent visits and enhanced reporting requirements) from the beginning of 2008. As the economic situation deteriorated during the year and particularly since September, the FSA worked increasingly with the banks concerned. As the Memorandum of Understanding between HM Treasury, the Bank of England and the FSA sets out, the FSA informs the Tripartite Standing Committee of its concerns on a regular basis.

Mr. MacNeil: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the effect on the operations of Kaupthing, Singer and Friedlander Limited of the operation of the Landsbanki Freezing Order 2008. [230733]

Ian Pearson: On 8 October, the Treasury made Landsbanki Freezing Order 2008 in order to freeze funds and financial assets relating to Landsbanki. Landsbanki is the only Icelandic bank which has been made the subject of a freezing order.

Landsbanki

Mr. MacNeil: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) what information his Department received on the financial position of Landsbanki between February and October 2008; [229766]

(2) what information his Department received on Icesave accounts between Landsbanki between February and October 2008. [229767]

Ian Pearson [holding answer 23 October 2008]: The FSA intensified its supervision of deposit-taking by Icelandic banks (including through increased contact with the banks themselves and the Icelandic regulator) from the beginning of 2008. As the macroeconomic situation deteriorated during the year and particularly since September the FSA has worked increasingly intensively with the banks concerned.

As the Memorandum of Understanding between HM Treasury, the Bank of England and the FSA sets out, the FSA informs the Tripartite Standing Committee of any concerns about individual financial institutions on a regular basis.

Lloyds TSB: Halifax Bank of Scotland

Mr. Bone: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will bring forward proposals to halt the merger of Lloyds TSB plc and HBOS plc; and if he will make a statement. [229577]

Ian Pearson [holding answer 23 October 2008]: The decision as to whether the merger proceeds is a matter for shareholders of Lloyds TSB and HBOS.

Loans: Small Businesses

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what steps the Government plans to take to encourage banks which are in receipt of money from the public purse to lend money to small businesses. [229851]

Ian Pearson: As part of their investment, the Government have agreed a range of commitments with banks accessing the recapitalisation scheme. The Government expect banks to restore and maintain the availability and active marketing of competitively priced lending to SMEs, at a level at least equivalent to that of 2007, until the end of 2011.

UK Financial Investments Limited (UKFI), which is wholly owned by the Government, will also oversee the conditions attached to subscribing to the Government's recapitalisation fund, including in relation to SME lending.

On 30 October, the Chancellor announced that Britain's small and medium-sized businesses stand to benefit from up to £4 billion in loans from the European Investment Bank (EIB) over the next four years. The Government have secured commitments from UK's largest SME lenders that they will maximise use of this funding.

Lost Working Days

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many working days have been lost due to industrial action by employees for which his Department is responsible in each year since 1997. [218048]

Angela Eagle: The information requested in respect of HM Treasury is as follows:

| Date of industrial action | Number of employees absent |
|---|---|
| 5 November 2004 | 12 |
| 31 January 2007 | 26 |
| 1 May 2007 | 13 |

Maternity Pay

Susan Kramer: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he has made of the cost to the public purse of statutory maternity pay expressed as (a) reduced tax income from employers, (b) reduced national insurance income from employers and (c) compensation paid to small employers in each year since it was introduced. [215204]

Mr. McNulty: I have been asked to reply.

The information is not available in the format requested. The available information is in the following tables.

Department for Work and Pensions expenditure on statutory maternity pay: Great Britain

Notes:

1. The nature of employers' interaction with the national insurance system leaves all figures open to revision.
2. Compensation of employers information is not available for 1987-88.
3. There was a change in the SMP arrangements in 1994 (see The SMP (Compensation of Employers) and Miscellaneous Amendment Regulations 1994) to restrict additional compensation to small employers only.
4. Historical figures prior to 1999-2000 have been provided by the Government Actuary's Department. Figures thereafter are taken from a sample of records from the National Insurance Recording System 2.

Members: Correspondence

Ann Winterton: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he plans to reply to the letter of 8

September 2008 from the hon. Member for Congleton on behalf of her constituent Mr. Peter Carr. [236240]

Ian Pearson: The former Economic Secretary to the Treasury my hon. Friend the Member for Burnley, (Kitty Ussher) replied to the hon. Lady on 18 September.

Non-domestic Rates: Ports

Robert Neill: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer of 7 October 2008, Official Report, column 594W, on non-domestic rates: ports, which ports have been affected by the decision to backdate the higher rateable values. [231870]

Mr. Timms: Hereditaments situated within the following ports in England and Wales, and occupied other than by the designated port operator, have been affected:

Ammouth
Barrow
Barry
Boston
Blyth
Cardiff
Dover
Falmouth
Felixstowe
Fishguard
Fleetwood
Folkestone
Garston
Goole
Great Yarmouth
Grimsby
Harwich
Heysham
Holyhead
Hull
Immingham
Ipswich
King's Lynn
Liverpool
Lowestoft
Milford Dock Company
Mostyn
Newport
Portsmouth
Port Talbot
Seaham
Sharpness
Sheerness
Shoreham
Southampton
Southampton Container Terminal
Sunderland,
Swansea,
Teesport
Teignmouth
Thamesport
Tilbury
Tilbury Container Terminal
Tyne
Workington

The only assessment of a hereditament occupied by a designated port operator which has experienced backdated increases is Harwich Dock.

Individual occupiers have the right of appeal against rateable values. The outcome of such appeals may affect the overall picture.

Public Sector: Pensions

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what representations have been made by his Department in connection with the treatment of state pension liabilities and public service pension liabilities under the revisions to the System of National Accounts 1993 being prepared by the UN Statistics Commission. [233237]

Kevin Brennan: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking what representations have been made in connection with the treatment of state pension liabilities and public service pension liabilities under the revisions to the System of National Accounts 1993 being prepared by the UN Statistics Commission. (233237)

The Office for National Statistics has responsibility for contributions to the revision of the System of National Accounts 1993. The ONS has been an active participant in the process to update the System of National Accounts. Comments from the UK and other countries on the draft Volume 1 of the SNA can be found at:

www.unstats.un.org/unsd/sna1993/draftingghost/ChapterIssueMatrix-V1.asp.

The proposed change to the treatment of pension liabilities in the new System of National Accounts aims to quantify and recognise future pension benefits as liabilities of social security schemes or unfunded employer schemes. The discussion is ongoing and no final position has yet been agreed.

Public Works Loan Board: Interest Rates

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment has been made of the effect of (a) rates of inflation, (b) the banking situation and (c) the increase in Government borrowing on Public Works Loan Board interest rates. [236087]

Angela Eagle: The PWLB's rates are determined according to the price of gilts in the secondary market, with a margin to prevent loss to the National Loans Fund.

Revenue and Customs: Public Appointments

Danny Alexander: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when the decision to appoint Lesley Strathie as the new Chief Executive of HM Revenue and Customs was made. [235357]

Mr. Timms: The Chairman of HMRC, Mike Clasper announced on 13 October 2008 that Lesley Strathie was to become the new chief executive officer, and she took up her new post on 10 November.

Tax Havens

Frank Dobson: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what his Department's most recent estimate is of the reduction in UK tax revenues consequent upon the existence of overseas tax havens. [235546]

Mr. Timms: In March 2008 HMRC released details of some analysis from 2005 that attempted to derive estimates of the direct tax gap at the start of the decade—see:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/research/direct-tax-gaps.pdf

Since the Offshore Disclosure Facility was launched in 2007 it is estimated that over £400 million unpaid tax has been collected.

Trade Unions

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many civil servants in his Department were seconded to work for (a) trade unions and (b) the Trades Union Congress in each year since 2003. [229699]

Angela Eagle: None.

Valuation: Information and Communications Technology

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much the Valuation Office Agency has spent on IT projects in the last 24 months, broken down by project. [235998]

Mr. Timms: The amounts spent by the Valuation Office Agency on IT projects during the period October 2006 to September 2008 were as follows:

| Project title | £000 (exc. VAT) |
|---|---|
| Appeals Direct | 340 |
| Computer Assisted Design ( CAD ) | 100 |
| Deployment of hand held devices for VOA executives | 27 |
| Electronic Billing Authority Reports | 150 |
| Electronic interface with OGDs | 282 |
| Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) | 5,163 |
| Geographical Information System (GIS) | 1,500 |
| Handicaps records | 667 |
| Internet service level revision | 78 |
| Mass appraisals techniques (1 and 2) | 2,871 |
| Minerals | 294 |
| Mobile computing (homeworkers) | 173 |
| NESR Rural 2010 | 4,252 |
| Offline data capture | 439 |
| Secure UAT access | 75 |
| Web access from the desktop | 5 |
| Working in advance | 10 |
| Procurement of laptops | 346 |
| Replacement of personal computers | 692 |
| Replacement file and print servers | 286 |

Written Questions: Government Responses

Justine Greening: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he plans to answer question (a) 227155, (b) 227156, (c) 227157 and (d) 227158 on the Zanzibar eProcurement Service, tabled by the hon. Member for Putney on 9 October 2008. [236200]

Angela Eagle: I very much regret not having answered the hon. Lady's questions and hope to be in a position to do so very shortly.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH OFFICE

Administration of Justice

Lorely Burt: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) when he expects the guiding principles for dealing with cases of extraterritoriality, referred to by the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State on 25 October 2007, Official Report, column 510, to be (a) finalised and (b) published; [219511]

(2) what he expects to be included in the guiding principles for dealing with cases of extraterritoriality, as referred to by the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State on 25 October 2007, Official Report, column 510; and what account will be taken of these principles in formulating and implementing the Government's extraterritorial policy. [219512]

Gillian Merron: Whitehall discussions on a set of guiding principles are continuing.

Admiralty House: Utilities

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much was spent on (a) electricity, (b) heating and (c) water bills in each of the flats in Admiralty House in each of the last five years. [221192]

Gillian Merron: Costs associated with each of the flats (including costs for electricity, heating and water) are calculated on the basis of percentages of the total costs for Admiralty House, which includes the common parts. It is not possible, within the overall total, to identify separately the costs for electricity, heating and water that arise from the three flats.

Afghanistan: Reconstruction

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the UK's objectives are for the Paris 2008 Conference on Afghanistan to be held on 12th June 2008. [204089]

David Miliband: The UK saw the Paris Conference as an important occasion to reaffirm international and Afghan Government commitment to Afghanistan's future. This commitment was demonstrated by the launch of the Afghanistan National Development Strategy and the $20 billion pledged by the international community to support the reconstruction and development of Afghanistan.

The $20 billion pledged at Paris included £613 million of UK support to Afghanistan (over the period up to 2012-13). This support is in addition to the £500 million we pledged at the London Conference in 2006.

The UN Secretary General, myself and others also used the opportunity to stress the urgent need for the Afghan Government to tackle corruption. The conference also reiterated the importance of the role played by the UN in coordinating the civilian effort in Afghanistan and made clear its support for the UN Special Representative, Kai Eide.

British Nationality: Overseas Residence

Mr. Dunne: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what his most recent estimate is of the number of British expatriates resident in each country outside the UK. [223175]

Gillian Merron: Our network of posts overseas is asked each year to provide an estimate of the number of British nationals resident in their consular areas. The results of this survey for April 2006 to March 2007 are as follows.

| Country | Estimated size of the British national community 2006-07 |
|---|---|
| Afghanistan | 285 |
| Albania | 196 |
| Algeria | 645 |
| Angola | 1,500 |

China: Politics and Government

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what estimate he has made of the number of Tibetans held in detention in China following the protests of March and April 2008; and what representations he has made to the Chinese authorities on obtaining due process for these detainees. [207811]

David Miliband: There has been no official confirmation of the number of Tibetans held in detention following the protests in March and April 2008. Unofficial estimates vary considerably—International Campaign for Tibet, for example, gives a figure of 4,000 people detained, of whom 2,000 had been released by 14 April.

We continue to urge the Chinese authorities to ensure due process for all Tibetan detainees, including that they be allowed access to lawyers of their choice. We have also stressed the need to differentiate between those who peacefully express their views and those who commit violent crimes. I have spoken to Chinese Foreign Minister Yang on several occasions since the protests emphasising the need to respect human rights. My officials have raised the detentions directly with the Chinese authorities both in Beijing and London.

At the end of March, EU Foreign Ministers called for all Tibetan detainees to be treated in conformity with international standards. The rights of the Tibetan detainees were also raised at the EU-China Human Rights Dialogue which took place in Slovenia on 15 May.

Committee on the Grant of Honours, Decorations and Medals

Mr. Touhig: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many members of the Committee on the Grant of Honours, Decorations and Medals hold honours. [198078]

Gillian Merron: The following members of the Committee on the Grant of Honours, Decorations and Medals hold honours as shown:

Sir Gus O'Donnell KCB
Sir Bill Jeffrey KCB
Sir Peter Ricketts KCMG
Jeremy Heywood CB CVO
Sir David Normington KCB
Right hon. Christopher Geidt CVO OBE

Democratic Republic of Congo: Overseas Residence

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what estimate has been made of the number of British citizens believed to be in critical areas in the Democratic Republic of the Congo; and what steps have been made to ensure their safety. [213864]

David Miliband: Foreign and Commonwealth Office travel advice advises against all travel to eastern and north eastern Democratic Republic of Congo, including North Kivu. British nationals in the affected areas are likely to be working with international aid agencies and UN agencies. These organisations have their own security systems in place for evacuation of staff and take advice from MONUC locally. The British embassy in Kinshasa is able to provide limited consular assistance to British nationals in need of emergency assistance. The embassy also has a diplomat based in Goma who, as part of his role, is able to offer ad hoc consular advice and assistance.

Democratic Republic of Congo: Peace Negotiations

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what proposals the UK has put forward on mediation to secure a ceasefire in the Democratic Republic of the Congo; and if he will make a statement. [233066]

David Miliband: A ceasefire was declared in eastern Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) on 29 October. While the situation in the region remains uncertain, it appears to be holding. During my visit to the region on 1-2 November with my French counterpart, I urged the Presidents of DRC and Rwanda to find a political solution to the problems of the region, including through the full implementation of the Nairobi Agreement. I also offered full support for President Kikwete of Tanzania's initiative to hold a regional meeting, which would include Presidents Kabila and Kagame.

I also welcome the UNSG's appointment of former Nigerian President Olusegun Obasanjo as his special envoy to the DRC on 3 November. I look forward to working with former President Obasanjo in his efforts to bring about a lasting settlement in the region.

Democratic Republic of Congo: Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with his French counterpart on the crisis in the Democratic Republic of the Congo; and what initiatives are being considered. [233071]

David Miliband: I have remained in close contact with my French counterpart since the recent upsurge in fighting in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) on 16 October. On 1-2 November, I visited DRC, Rwanda and Tanzania with M. Kouchner. During the visit, we urged President Kabila of DRC and President Kagame of Rwanda to seek a political solution to the problems in eastern DRC, including through the full implementation of the Nairobi and Goma agreements. We also discussed with President Kikwete of Tanzania his initiative to hold a regional meeting, which would include Presidents Kabila and Kagame.

I will continue to work closely with my French colleague and other partners to bring about a lasting settlement in the region.

Democratic Republic of Congo: Politics and Government

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations he has made to the government of Rwanda on steps to alleviate the crisis in the Democratic Republic of the Congo; and if he will make a statement. [233063]

David Miliband: I met President Kagame on 1 November with my French counterpart Bernard Kouchner. I urged President Kagame to support efforts to find a political solution to the problems in the eastern Democratic Republic of Congo. My noble Friend Lord Malloch-Brown attended the Nairobi Summit on 7 November and will be visiting Kigali on 19 to 20 November where he plans to discuss the crisis further with the Government of Rwanda.

Departmental Air Travel

James Duddridge: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether staff of (a) his Department and (b) its agencies who are entitled to business class or first class air travel are permitted to (i) travel in a cheaper class to the destination and (ii) benefit in monetary terms or kind from the saving. [222105]

Gillian Merron: All official travel by the Department and its agencies is carried out in accordance with the requirements of the Civil Service Management Code and Foreign and Commonwealth Office Human Resources Guidance.

Staff are permitted to travel in a cheaper class to their destination, both in the UK and overseas. They receive no benefit except as shown below.

Staff who are travelling to and from their posting at a British mission overseas on transfer and on leave journeys can choose to travel in a cheaper class than the approved route entitlement and may use any additional savings made for additional travel when taking leave during that posting. Unused entitlements remain available to the officer until the end of the posting but are then cancelled. This allows staff to travel in a way which best meets operational and personal needs, and involves no additional cost to the taxpayer.

Departmental Appeals

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs on how many occasions his Department has instructed the Treasury Solicitor to seek leave to appeal to the House of Lords from (a) the Court of Appeal and (b) the House of Lords itself in each of the last 10 years; and on how many occasions the application was rejected. [220821]

Gillian Merron: The information requested is not held centrally and could be provided only at a disproportionate cost.

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Betts: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) what his Department's policy is on improving the energy efficiency of the buildings which it (a) rents and (b) owns; what changes there have been in the energy efficiency of such buildings in the last (i) five and (ii) 10 years; and whether his Department has adopted targets on energy efficiency improvements in the buildings it occupies over the next (A) five and (B) 10 years; [221082]

(2) what account his Department takes of the level of energy efficiency of buildings before entering into agreements to (a) rent and (b) purchase those buildings. [221098]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) sets environmental objectives for our UK estate which are in accordance with UK Government-wide Sustainable Operations on the Government Estate (SOGE) targets. These targets cover carbon emissions, energy efficiency, waste management, recycling, water consumption, and utilisation of low-carbon or renewable sources of energy.

One of the SOGE targets is to increase energy efficiency per square metre of both owned and rented buildings by 15 per cent. by 2010 and 30 per cent. by 2020, compared to a 1999-2000 baseline. Detailed figures for the FCO's energy efficiency performance since 1999-2000 can be found on the Sustainable Development Commission website. The relevant figures from the Fifth and Sixth Annual Sustainable Development in Government Reports are at:

www.sd-commission.org.uk/sdig2006/images/Results_Energy.xls and pages 52 to 62 of:

http://www.sd-comission.org.uk/publications/downloads/sdig report 2007.pdf

By 1 October, all FCO sites in the UK were displaying Display Energy Certificates (DECs). The FCO is using the information obtained through DECs to further improve the energy efficiency of our buildings.

The FCO is working to fully integrate environmental factors into the design, construction and management of all new buildings and major refurbishments in the UK and overseas. For buildings in the UK we use the Building Research Establishment Environmental Assessment Method (BREEAM). We have developed a bespoke BREEAM model for all new builds and major refurbishments in our overseas estate. Two recently completed office buildings—the British embassy in Manila and the ICT building in Hanslope Park—have both achieved a BREEAM rating of 'Very good' for their sustainability.

We have worked with the Carbon Trust to establish targets for improving the energy efficiency of the operations of our overseas trust and are in the process of developing a programme of actions to achieve these targets by 2012.

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs which organisations have received (a) free and (b) discounted room hire from (i) his Department and (ii) its agencies in each of the last five years; and what the commercial value of the discount was in each case. [221583]

Gillian Merron: The information requested is not held centrally by the FCO and to obtain it for the last five years would incur disproportionate cost.

Departmental Databases

James Duddridge: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what use (a) his Department and (b) its agencies make of (i) MOSAIC data and (ii) ACORN data. [222103]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office has no central record to indicate that MOSAIC or ACORN data have been used. To provide more detailed information would require a search by all directorates and posts which would incur a disproportionate cost.

Departmental Disciplinary Proceedings

Mr. Redwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many staff in his Department and its agencies have been (a) dismissed and (b) disciplined for their conduct in the last two years. [217409]

Gillian Merron: From 1 April 2006 to 31 March 2008, seven Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) staff and four FCO services staff were dismissed for their conduct.

During the same period, 39 FCO staff and 14 FCO services staff were disciplined for their conduct, including those dismissed.

Departmental Equality

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether his Department met the Civil Service diversity targets set out on page 51 of the Cabinet Office Annual Report 2007 by April 2008. [204706]

Gillian Merron: As at 1 April 2008, the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) fell short of its diversity targets for the Senior Management Structure (SMS), as set out in the Cabinet Office Annual Report 2007. We aimed for 25 per cent. women (achieved 19.4 per cent.), 4 per cent. ethnic minority staff (achieved 3.7 per cent.) and 3.2 per cent. of staff with a declared disability (achieved 2.4 per cent.).

Departmental Expenses

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much Ministers in his Department claimed in expenses in each of the last three years. [222819]

Gillian Merron: Expenses reimbursed to Ministers in each of the last three financial years are as follows:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 916.16 |
| 2006-07 | 460.58 |
| 2007-08 | 602.76 |

Departmental Information

James Duddridge: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what types of data have been sold by (a) his Department and (b) its agencies under the Re-use of Public Sector Information Regulations in the last 12 months. [222106]

Gillian Merron: Core information provided by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office can be re-used free of charge under the terms of the PSI Click-Use Licence which is administered by the Office of the Public Sector Information in accordance with the Re-Use of Public Sector Information Regulations.

During the last 12 months the Documents of the British Foreign Policy 1919-39, Third Series, Vols II, III and IV has been re-used under the Click-Use Value Added Licence for which re-use fees are charged.

Departmental Information and Communications Technology

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much his Department spent on upgrading its IT in each of the last three financial years. [228425]

Gillian Merron: The following table summarises the gross information technology additions to the Foreign and Commonwealth Office's tangible and intangible fixed assets in the past three financial years, as reported in its Resource Accounts:

| | Addition (£ million) |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 25.692 |
| 2006-07 | 20.621 |
| 2007-08 | 31.355 |

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Redwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the change in the number of employees in his Department and its agencies has been since July 2006. [217063]

Gillian Merron: The following table records the monthly change in the number of UK civil servants employed by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) and FCO Services between July 2006 and July 2008. Due to the way in which central records are kept, it is not possible to give a separate breakdown of FCO and FCO Services figures without incurring disproportionate cost.

| | UK civil servants |

Departmental Overtime

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many hours of overtime were worked by staff in each pay grade in his Department in each of the last 12 months. [221240]

Gillian Merron: The following tables set out the total number of hours of overtime worked by civil servants employed by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) during the period 1 July 2007 to June 2008 broken down by grade:

| FCO Grade | Civil Service Grade | Figures in hours |
|---|---|---|
| A1 | AA | 7,805 |
| A2 | AO | 34,378 |
| B3 | EO | 30,414 |
| C4 | HEO | 41,625 |
| C5 | SEO | 17,510 |

| Cleaner | 110 | -- | 111 | 29 | 36 | 31 | 24 | 71 | 47 | 65 | 53 | 94 |

Departmental Pay

Miss Kirkbride: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the average pay of (a) male and (b) female full-time equivalent staff of his Department who were recruited as fast-stream entrants was (i) five, (ii) 10, (iii) 15, (iv) 20 and (v) 25 years after their recruitment at the most recent date for which figures are available. [198711]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) does not differentiate fast streamers from other staff following their first two home postings. It is not therefore possible for us to supply the information requested without incurring disproportionate cost.

Dan Rogerson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the cost of (a) salaries for permanent Civil Service posts, (b) salaries for permanent non-Civil Service posts and (c) payments to temporary or agency workers in his Department was in each month since May 2005. [199535]

Gillian Merron: The following table sets out the annual cost of salaries paid by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) to permanent civil servants, to permanent non-civil servants and to temporary, agency or fee-paid workers during the last three years.

| | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|
| UK Civil Servants | 254,713,000 | 258,826,000 | 262,746,000 |
| Non- Civil Servants | 426,000 | 640,000 | 781,000 |
| Temporary/agency/ fee paid staff | 12,239,000 | 13,022,000 | 14,832,000 |

Unfortunately the data are not stored in a form which enables us to break the figures down into monthly totals.

James Duddridge: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the pay bands for senior civil servants in his Department are. [221889]

Gillian Merron: Pay arrangements for staff in the Senior Management Structure/Senior Civil Service of the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) follow a framework set centrally for Whitehall Departments by the Cabinet Office based on recommendations from the Senior Salaries Review Body.

For the year 1 April 2008 to 31 March 2009, the SMS/SCS pay bands are:

| | From | To |
|---|---|---|
| Pay band 1 | 57,300 | 116,000 |
| Pay band 2 | 81,600 | 160,000 |
| Pay band 3/Senior Head of Mission | 99,960 | 205,000 |

Departmental Procurement

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what his Department's policy is on requesting discounts from its suppliers in return for swift payment of invoices. [220435]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) does not have a policy of negotiating discounts for early payment to suppliers. The FCO attempts to pay suppliers within 30 days of receipt of an invoice and is now seeking to comply with the latest policy of paying within 10 days of receipt of an invoice.

Departmental Public Expenditure

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much was spent on (a) new furnishings, (b) art and (c) new vehicles by his Department in each of the last three years. [213526]

Gillian Merron: The following expenditure, on art and new vehicles, has been recorded in the Foreign and Commonwealth Office's fixed assets register in the last three financial years.

| | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Antiques and works of art | | | |
| Total | 2,597 | 69,967 | |
| Vehicles | | | |
| Heavy Commercial | 60,827 | 72,251 | 108,593 |
| Light Commercial | 267,783 | 367,449 | 231,181 |
| Motor Cars | 4,249,522 | 17,628,125 | 11,248,651 |
| Total | 4,578,132 | 18,067,825 | 11,588,425 |

Furnishings are not recorded in the fixed assets register. It would not be possible to provide the information required without incurring a disproportionate cost.

Departmental Temporary Employment

Mr. Todd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many full-time posts in his Department were filled on a temporary basis for a period in excess of six months in each of the last three years. [200662]

Gillian Merron: In September 2006, the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) devolved responsibility for hiring temporary staff to Directorates. The FCO does not maintain central records of temporary appointments of any length and could collate such information only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Translation Services

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much was spent by his Department on translation and interpretation services in 2007-08, broken down by language. [205183]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) procures translation and interpretation services from a range of suppliers, in the UK and overseas. Information on the total spent by the FCO on these services, and the languages involved, is not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

The FCO procures some translation and interpretation services from FCO Services: Translating and Interpreting, a business team within the FCO Services Trading Fund. In the financial year 2007-08 FCO Services: Translation and Interpreting delivered 171 translation assignments to the FCO to the value of £58,455. It arranged interpreters for events arranged by staff in the FCO for a total of 46 events at an overall cost of £77,816.

Departmental Working Hours

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many hours (a) in total and (b) on average per employee were worked by civil servants in his Department in the last year for which records are available. [195821]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) operates around the world 24 hours a day seven days a week, requiring careful management of staff time. Our terms and conditions of service require full-time staff in the UK to work 41 hours a week in London (and 42 hours elsewhere) including five hours paid meal breaks. Staff and their managers are expected to ensure that they are able to keep to this pattern as far as possible. The precise hours actually worked by individual staff above the conditioned hours are not recorded centrally. Where staff below senior management are required to work in excess of their conditioned hours for a particular period, they may claim overtime or time off in lieu (TOIL) by agreement with their line managers.

Except in exceptional circumstances, UK civil servants employed by the FCO at diplomatic missions overseas work similar hours to their counterparts in London.

Diego Garcia: Detainees

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs who was responsible for carrying out the modifications to prison facilities on Diego Garcia required under orders issued in December 2001. [228499]

David Miliband: In exercise of powers conferred on him by the Prisons Ordinance 1981 of the British Indian Ocean Territory, the Commissioner for the Territory declared certain specified premises in Diego Garcia to be a prison. In December 2001, the Commissioner declared that the fenced compound containing tended or other accommodation facilities, adjacent to the British Indian Ocean Territory Police Station on Diego Garcia, to be a prison.

Diego Garcia: Police Stations

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs for what reasons a police station is maintained on the island of Diego Garcia. [228466]

David Miliband: The UK is responsible for maintaining law and order in the British Indian Ocean Territory and, therefore, a police station is maintained on Diego Garcia. Adjoining the police station is a detention facility operated by the UK authorities. It has primarily been used for the detention of Sri Lankan fishermen caught fishing illegally in the British India Ocean Territory's Fishing and Conservation Management Zone (FCMZ).

Diplomatic Service: Education

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many members of his Department's advisory board on the appointment of British ambassadors and high commissioners were educated at (a) private school, (b) state school, (c) the universities of Oxford and Cambridge and (d) other universities. [219008]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) does not hold information on the educational backgrounds of its employees as a matter of course. The information here has been compiled in order to answer this question. Figures are given for the members of the three selection boards which appoint ambassadors and high commissioners (excluding the non-executive board members of the Number 1 Selection Board).

Of six members of the Number 1 Selection Board, responsible for senior management structure (SMS) 2-4 appointments: five were educated at private school and one at state school; four were educated at Oxford or Cambridge University and two at other universities.

Of 23 members of the Number 2 Selection Board, responsible for SMS 1 appointments: 11 were educated at private school, 10 at state school, and school details are not available for the other two; 15 were educated at Oxford or Cambridge University, seven at other universities, and university details are not available for the other one.

Of seven members of the Band D Selection Board, responsible for Grade 6/7 appointments: five were educated at private school and two at state school; five were educated at Oxford or Cambridge University and two at other universities.

Diplomatic Service: Manpower

Dr. Murrison: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs in which overseas posts overseas security officer positions are filled by (a) private contractors and (b) employees of his Department; and if he will make a statement. [203484]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) stopped employing overseas security officers following the 2002 FCO review of overseas security management, which recommended separating security management and guarding duties.

Disciplinary Proceedings

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many (a) UK-based officials and (b) local employees have been dismissed from positions at UK posts for disciplinary reasons since 2000. [223705]

Gillian Merron: The number of UK-based officials that were dismissed from the FCO for disciplinary reasons while serving in positions at UK posts (overseas) are:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2000 | 0 |
| 2001 | 0 |
| 2002 | 0 |
| 2003 | 0 |
| 2004 | 0 |

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2005 | 0 |
| 2006 | 2 |
| 2007 | 2 |
| 2008 | 0 |

Records are not held centrally on the number of local staff dismissed for disciplinary reasons. This information could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Discrimination

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many claims for discrimination, based on (a) sex, (b) race and (c) sexual orientation, were brought by members of his Department and settled (i) in and (ii) out of court in each of the last five years. [194980]

Gillian Merron: The information is as follows.

In 2003, there were no employment tribunal claims based on discrimination on grounds of sex, race or sexual orientation against the Foreign and Commonwealth Office.

In 2004, there were two tribunal claims based on discrimination on grounds of sex and one on grounds of race brought against the FCO. The two sex claims were dismissed by the tribunal. The race claim was withdrawn. There were no claims based on sexual orientation.

In 2005, there were six tribunal claims based on discrimination on grounds of race brought against the FCO. The Home Office was a joint respondent in two of these. Two claims were dismissed by the tribunal. Four were settled out of court. There were no claims based on discrimination on sex or sexual orientation.

In 2006, there were five tribunal claims based on discrimination on grounds of race that included one joint sex/race claim brought against the FCO. The tribunal dismissed all five race claims and ruled that it did not have territorial jurisdiction to hear the sex discrimination claim. There were no claims based on discrimination on sexual orientation.

In 2007, there was one claim based on discrimination on the grounds of sex and one joint claim based on discrimination on grounds of sex and race brought against the FCO. The sex claim was settled out of court. The joint sex/race claim was dismissed by the tribunal. There were no claims based on discrimination on sexual orientation.

To date in 2008, there have been two tribunal claims based on discrimination on grounds of race brought against the FCO. Both claims were withdrawn. There have been no claims based on discrimination on grounds of sex or sexual orientation.

Dorneywood

James Duddridge: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the answer to the right hon. Member for Horsham of 19 June 2008, Official Report, column 1187W, on Dorneywood: official hospitality, what use his Department has made of Dorneywood for official engagements in the last 12 months. [222082]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office has made no use of Dorneywood for its official engagements in the past 12 months.

EDF Energy

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what contracts (a) his Department and (b) its agencies have with EDF; and how much (i) his Department and (ii) its agencies paid to EDF in each of the last 10 years, broken down by the purpose of the payment. [221842]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) have six contracts with EDF to supply its UK offices with electricity. This includes five for its London estate, and one for its office in Hanslope Park. These contracts incorporate FCO Services, as they share its premises with the FCO.

Information relating to the amount paid to EDF, by the FCO and its agencies, is only available from 2004, following the introduction of a central management information system. Information pre-dating the introduction of this system could therefore be provided only at a disproportionate cost.

Please see the following table for further details on the FCO's expenditure with EDF.

| | £ | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Electricity | Metering contracts | Other | Comments |
| 2003-04 | 190,632.69 | — | — | Year only partially accounted for on new management information system. |
| 2004-05 | 1,254,618.74 | 3,037.40 | — | — |
| 2005-06 | 1,809,299.51 | 2,058.63 | 63,689.96 | Other expenditure was a connection charge and £621.94 for two charges incurred by our European posts. |
| 2006-07 | 2,391,364.77 | 2,019.84 | — | — |
| 2007-08 | 2,082,117.03 | 4,783.46 | — | — |
| 2008-09 | 549,865.74 | 4,267.69 | — | Financial year up to August 2008. |

Embassies: Foreign Workers

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many positions in UK posts overseas have been localised in each of the last five financial years; and if he will make a statement. [216304]

David Miliband: Statistics on positions being localised in UK posts have only been compiled since 1 October 2007. The figures include localisations since 1 January 2007.

115 UK-based positions in our posts overseas have been, or are about to be, localised.

Internet: Regulation

John Bercow: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations he has received on regulation of access to the internet in other countries. [204319]

Gillian Merron: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary regularly receives representations on freedom of expression including access to information. The Government remain concerned that access to information is greatly restricted in many countries around the world. We continue to raise our concerns on this and other related issues as part of our ongoing human rights dialogue with other countries, both bilaterally and in international fora.

Iraq: Prisoners

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations he has received on the treatment of Khaled al-Magtari by UK personnel in Iraq; and if he will make a statement. [196313]

Gillian Merron: No representations have been received in respect of the treatment of Khaled al-Magtari by UK personnel in Iraq. We are nonetheless aware of the report published by Amnesty International in March 2008 concerning his alleged mistreatment while in detention.

Israel: Armed Conflict

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps he (a) has taken and (b) plans to take at the United Nations on the reported storage of (i) rockets and (ii) arms by Hamas in civilian areas in Gaza; and if he will make a statement. [196141]

Gillian Merron: The import and storage of rockets and other weapons in Gaza is of grave concern. We and the Quartet (of which the UN is a member) call on Hamas to accept the Quartet principles: non-violence, recognition of Israel, and acceptance of previous agreements and obligations.

Jerusalem: Railways

Mr. Breed: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent representations he has made to the Israeli government on the construction of the Jerusalem Light Railway; and if he will make a statement. [221699]

Gillian Merron: No representations have been made recently but we have raised our concerns about the construction of the Jerusalem Light Railway on occupied land with the Israeli authorities in the past. We believe that any actions that facilitate the transfer of population onto occupied land are illegal under international law.

Mexico: Trade Unions

Mr. Hepburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations he has made to the Mexican government on the position of the National Miners' and Metalworkers' Union of Mexico; and if he will make a statement. [202823]

Gillian Merron: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has made no representations to the Mexican government on the position of the National Miners' and Metalworkers' Union of Mexico.

The explosion at the Pasta de Conchas mine in Mexico in 2006, which killed 65miners from the National Miners' and Metalworkers' Union, was a tragedy. We expect the unions and the Government of Mexico to continue to work to improve the safety of mine workers.

Middle East: Armed Conflict

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions (a) he, (b) Ministers and (c) officials in his Department have had with (i) governments of Arab states and (ii) the government of Israel to secure the release of the Israeli soldiers kidnapped by (A) Hamas and (B) Hezbollah in June and July 2006; what response was received from each; and if he will make a statement. [214056]

Bill Rammell: We welcome the swift implementation of the agreement made on 1 July between the Israeli Government and Hezbollah, which ensured the return of the remains of Eldad Regev and Eldad Goldwasser who were kidnapped in July 2006.

My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary and my hon. Friend the Minister for the Middle East meet regularly with representatives from Arab states and Israel. We urge all parties to remain committed to the cease-fire and resolve all outstanding issues, including the return of Corporal Shalit.

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions his Department has had with (a) the governments of Arab states and (b) the government of Israel on adherence by Hamas and Israel to the agreement on a six-month ceasefire; what response was received from each; and if he will make a statement. [216198]

Gillian Merron: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary and my hon. Friend the Minister for the Middle East regularly meet representatives from Arab States and Israel. We urge all parties to remain committed to the ceasefire, and to reinforce it by, on Israel's part, increasing the flow of goods through the crossings into Gaza, and for Arab states to press Hamas to reconcile with the Palestinian Authority and accept the Quartet principles. We have found broad support for the ceasefire and the relief it has brought to the people of Gaza and southern Israel.

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps he (a) has taken and (b) plans to take at the United Nations on compliance by Hamas and Israel with the agreement for a six-month ceasefire; and if he will make a statement. [216200]

Gillian Merron: During the last five months the Egyptian brokered ceasefire has brought relative calm for the people of Gaza and southern Israel. The recent rocket attacks and Israeli incursions have fractured that calm. It is in both sides' interests to seek to reinforce the ceasefire. We have not and do not intend to take measures at the UN on compliance, which is best discussed between Egypt and the parties.

Middle East: Peace Negotiations

James Duddridge: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the written Ministerial Correction of 3 July 2008, Official Report, column 7MC, on the Middle East: peace negotiations, what the pay band is of the senior Civil Service equivalent who has been seconded to work in the right hon. Tony Blair's office. [225096]

Gillian Merron: The pay band for the senior civil servant (pay band one) equivalent who is seconded to work in the right hon. Tony Blair's office, ranges from £57,300 to £116,000. These figures are effective as of 1 April 2008.

Official Cars

Stephen Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs which make and model of car he has chosen as his Ministerial car to be provided by the Government Car and Despatch Agency. [217761]

Gillian Merron: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Transport, my hon. Friend the Member for Poplar and Canning Town (Jim Fitzpatrick) on 16 July 2008, Official Report, column 414W.

Rackspace

Mr. Hands: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the total value was of each contract awarded to Rackspace by (a) his Department and (b) its agencies in each of the last nine years. [197505]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) and FCO Services have no record of any contracts being awarded to Rackspace since the introduction of PRISM, our financial and management information system in 2004-05.

Science: Manpower

Willie Rennie: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many (a) scientists and (b) engineers are employed in scientific and engineering roles in his Department. [220331]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) and Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills (DIUS) jointly fund the UK's international Science and Innovation Network. The network has 94 staff (21 civil servants and 73 locally-recruited staff) and operates in 39 diplomatic missions in 24 countries overseas. Not everyone in the network is a professional scientist or engineer; but their remit is to help the Government achieve their aims in the field of science and innovation. It would incur disproportionate cost to ascertain figures of how many staff in the network is a professional scientist or engineer.

FCO Services (a trading fund of the FCO) employs 319 engineers in engineering roles. In addition it currently employs 22 engineering apprentices.

Shares: Sales Methods

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions he has had on co-operation to tackle boiler room fraud with his counterparts in (a) the United States, (b) Ireland, (c) Hong Kong, (d) Singapore, (e) Gibraltar, (f) Canada, (g) Belize, (h) Nevis, (i) Cyprus, (j) Tanzania, (k) Lebanon, (l) Latvia and (m) Spain. [207271]

Gillian Merron: To date, my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has not had direct discussions on boiler room fraud with the countries mentioned.

Somalia: International Assistance

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received on the effects of the Dutch government's withdrawal of military aid from Somalia. [222734]

Gillian Merron: We are not aware of any Dutch military aid programmes for Somalia but they are currently providing naval escorts for World Food Programme (WFP) shipments to Somalia. In September the EU established a small team to co-ordinate support to European shipping in the region. In addition plans are advanced for a wider EU operation that aims, with full co-operation and co-ordination with ongoing NATO and Combined Task Force 150 activity, to disrupt and deter pirate activity in the region: EU partners have accepted the UK's offer to lead this operation.

Somalia: Politics and Government

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the Government's role was in negotiating the recent agreement between the Transitional Federal Government of Somalia and the opposition Alliance for the Re-Liberation of Somalia. [212288]

Gillian Merron: United Kingdom officials supported Ahmedou Ould Abdalla, the UN Secretary-General's Special Representative for Somalia, who led the series of UN-sponsored talks in Djibouti. We welcome the peace agreement between the Transitional Federal Government and the Alliance for the Re-Liberation of Somalia on 9 June. This is a positive step and we hope all parties will fulfil their 26 October commitment to implement a ceasefire from 5 November.

Special Representative on Climate Change

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what activities the Special Representative on Climate Change has undertaken since his appointment; what progress has been made towards meeting the objectives associated with the post; and if he will make a statement. [225001]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) supports the Government's goal of achieving an ambitious and equitable agreement in Copenhagen by building the necessary political conditions.

To do this, my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has set the building of a high-growth, low-carbon global economy as a strategic priority for the FCO. The role of the Foreign Secretary's Special Representative for Climate Change is to help build the political conditions for the transition to a low-carbon economy. So far six targeted diplomatic campaigns have been established in support of this objective. My right hon. Friend The Foreign Secretary's Special Representative for Climate Change is closely involved in the design and implementation of the campaigns and represents my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary with key partners.

Progress has been made in building more favourable political conditions. For example, there is now much greater awareness among partner governments that a successful and rapid transition to low carbon is a requisite condition for security and prosperity; there is a stronger consensus in the EU that it should be an early mover in the transition; and momentum is building on the need for an the early deployment of Carbon Capture and Storage. In addition, progress is being made in building a conversation between the EU and China which looks at opportunities in the low carbon transition, and considers how the economic relationship between the two can help accelerate the transition. Building the necessary political conditions will be critical in ensuring a successful outcome at the UN conference in Copenhagen at the end of next year.

Syria: Nuclear Weapons

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the answer of 12 May 2008, Official Report, column 1403W, on Syria: nuclear weapons, whether the government of Syria has provided full access to International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) inspectors to sites of concern in Syria; and when the IAEA Secretary General is expected to report the findings of his investigation. [207813]

David Miliband: The Deputy Director General of the IAEA, Olli Heinonen, visited Syria on 22-24 June to hold talks with the Syrian Government and investigate the Al Kibar site, where environmental samples were taken. The Syrian Government did not provide the IAEA with unfettered access to all the sites the Agency requested to inspect during that visit. We regret that a follow-up visit to Syria as requested by the IAEA has not taken place.

We understand that Dr. El Baradei, the IAEA Director General, intends to report formally on the matter at the next IAEA Board of Government from 27-28 November.

Taxis

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much (a) his Department and (b) its agencies spent on taxis in the last financial year for which figures are available. [223032]

Gillian Merron: In the UK, the Foreign and Commonwealth (FCO), and its agencies, have spent £547,094.40 on taxis in the last financial year. Taxi expenditure for the FCO's overseas posts is not held centrally and could be provided only at a disproportionate cost.

Treaty of Lisbon

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what his policy is on ratification of the Lisbon Treaty if another two EU countries announce their refusal to ratify. [218636]

Caroline Flint: Twenty-four member states have completed their parliamentary process to approve the Lisbon treaty. The UK ratified on 16 July, following Royal Assent to the EU (Amendment) Bill. The Irish Government have made clear to us their respect for the right of other countries to complete their ratification process. The Government do not comment on other member states' ratification processes. We have made clear that ratification is going ahead because the Lisbon treaty represents a good deal for the UK and will make the EU operate in a more efficient and effective way.

USA: Internet

Mr. Swire: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make representations to the United States authorities to create a central list of internet service providers to assist arrangements for the speedy removal of websites containing images of child abuse. [189331]

Bill Rammell: The US National Centre for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC) collates reports of child sexual abuse imagery, and works closely with US law enforcement and US internet service providers to close down sites in the US. The Government, and UK law enforcement agencies, work closely with their US counterparts to tackle online images of child sexual abuse. The UK and US also work together through the G8 and other fora to tackle this issue.

Zimbabwe: United Nations

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps are being taken to secure agreement on the appointment of a UN envoy to Zimbabwe; and if he will make a statement. [204844]

Gillian Merron: My right hon. Friend the Prime Minister called for the UN Secretary General to appoint a formal UN envoy or mission to investigate the human rights situation in Zimbabwe in June when meeting President Bush. The UK also raised this at the UN Security Council on two occasions since 29 March and my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has discussed this with the UN Secretary General. We welcome the ongoing engagement of UN Assistant Secretary General Mekerios as the UN Secretary General's senior representative dealing with Zimbabwe.

HEALTH

Arachnoiditis

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the number of people who have arachnoiditis as a result of having previously undergone medical procedures involving Myodil. [235656]

Ann Keen: We have made no estimate.

Association of Greater Manchester Primary Care Trusts: Grants

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much the Association of Greater Manchester Primary Care Trusts has given to (a) the Greater Manchester Centre for Voluntary Organisations, (b) Greater Manchester Voluntary Sector Support and (c) the Greater Manchester Voluntary Sector Learning Consortium in the last 24 months. [233215]

Phil Hope: The information requested is not collected centrally. It is the responsibility of local primary care trusts to determine how best to use the resources allocated to them to meet the health needs of their local populations.

Cancer: Health Services

Andrew George: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 28 October 2008, Official Report, column 900W, on cancer: health services, whether any areas are not covered by a cancer network. [235598]

Ann Keen: The whole of England is covered by one of 28 cancer networks. We cannot comment on behalf of the devolved Administrations for Scotland, Wales or Northern Ireland.

Care Homes: Inspections

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) improvement plans, (b) warning letters, (c) statutory requirement notices, (d) changes to conditions of registration and (e) cancellations of registration were issued by the Commission for Social Care Inspection in each category of care in 2007-08. [232370]

Phil Hope: I am informed by the Commission for Social Care Inspection (CSCI) that it is unable to provide information relating to warning letters or improvement plans, as these are held within individual service records and not specifically recorded in CSCI's central registration and inspection database.

CSCI is unable to specify the number of imposed changes to conditions of registration prior to 1 November 2007, as its previous database did not make the distinction between changes to registration made by the service provider and changes which had been imposed by CSCI. Between 1 November 2007 and 31 March 2008, there were six imposed changes to conditions of registration, all of which were related to care homes.

The following table shows numbers of statutory requirement notices issued and non-urgent and urgent cancellations of registration between 1 April 2007 and 31 March 2008.

| Type of service | Statutory requirement notices issued | Non-urgent cancellations of registration | Urgent cancellations of registration[1] |
|---|---|---|---|
| Domiciliary care agency | 45 | 22 | 0 |
| Nursing agency | 9 | 17 | 0 |
| Care home | 440 | 27 | 9 |
| Adult placement scheme | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Total | 494 | 66 | 9 |

[1] These are applications under Section 20 of the Care Standards Act 2000, which provides a vehicle for making urgent or emergency applications in circumstances where CSCI staff consider that there is a serious risk to a person's life, health or well-being. There were 11 section 20 applications in 2007-08, of which nine resulted in a cancellation of registration. The remaining two relate to impositions of conditions.

Community Hospitals

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the average length of stay in community hospitals was (a) in England and (b) in each primary care trust in the last year for which figures were available. [236724]

Ann Keen: Where a community hospital is part of an NHS acute trust, or an NHS foundation trust, figures for length of stay are collected for the whole trust and it is not possible to disaggregate those data.

The following table shows the median figure for length of stay for each primary care trust in England for 2006-07, where the primary care trust is the provider. Information about health services in Wales is a matter for the Welsh Assembly.

Departmental NDPBs

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether the regulatory (a) agencies and (b) non-departmental public bodies sponsored by his Department will recover their full costs of regulation from fees in the 2008-09 financial year. [232449]

Mr. Bradshaw: The information is as follows:

Agencies

Medicines and Healthcare Regulatory Agency (MHRA):

The MHRA will recover the full cost of regulation from fees.

Non-departmental public bodies

Commission for Social Care Inspection (CSCI):

The CSCI will not recover the full cost of regulation from fees.

CSCI have no power to set their fees.

General Social Care Council (GSCC):

The GSCC will not recover the full costs of regulation from fees.

It is Government policy as set out in debates on the Care Standards Act that the GSCC should not break even with regard to the fees it charges to those registered.

Healthcare Commission (HC):

The HC will recover the full costs of regulation from fees.

Human Fertilisation and Embryology Authority (HFEA):

The HFEA will recover the full costs of regulation from fees.

Human Tissue Authority (HTA):

The HTA will recover the full cost of regulation from fees.

Independent Regulator of NHS Foundation Trusts (Monitor):

Monitor will not recover the full costs of regulation from fees.

Although Monitor has the power to require NHS foundation trusts to pay a reasonable annual fee, to date these powers have not been exercised.

Postgraduate Medical Education and Training Board (PMETB):

The PMETB will not recover the full costs of regulation from fees.

The aim was that PMETB would be self-financing from April 2010 but the function of PMETB will now transfer to the General Medical Council in 2010 subject to legislation.

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when his Department last reviewed the work of (a) Monitor, (b) the Standard Dental Advisory Committee, (c) the Doctors and Dentists Review Body, (d) the NHS Litigation Authority, (e) the NHS Institute for Innovation and Improvement, (f) the NHS Business Services Authority and (g) the NHS Purchasing and Supply Agency; and if he will place copies of each such review in the Library. [232455]

Mr. Bradshaw: The following five bodies listed are Arm's Length Bodies (ALBs) and were reviewed as part of the Department's Review of ALBs in 2004:

Independent Regulator of NHS Foundation Trusts (Monitor);

NHS Litigation Authority;

NHS Institute for Innovation and Improvement;

NHS Business Services Authority; and NHS Purchasing and Supply Agency.

The report, 'Reconfiguring the Department of Health's Arm's Length Bodies', which was issued on 25 November 2004 has been placed in the Library and is published on the Department's website:

http://www.dh.gov.uk/en/Publicationsandstatistics/Publications/PublicationsPolicyAndGuidance/Browsable/DH_4095954

Since 2004 the following further reviews have taken place:

The NHS Litigation Authority has recently undergone a 'fitness for purpose' review that is due to report soon.

The NHS Institute for Innovation and Improvement is currently undergoing a review that is due to complete in January 2009.

The following two bodies listed are advisory non-departmental public bodies:

The Standing Dental Advisory Committee; and

The Doctors and Dentists Review Body.

Following a public consultation which ended in January 2008 a decision has been made to abolish the Standing Dental Advisory Committee.

The response to the consultation has been placed in the Library and published on the Department's website and can be found at:

http://www.dh.gov.uk/en/Consultations/Responsestoconsultations/DH_086586

The Doctors and Dentists Review Body (DDRB) is one of six independent Pay Review Bodies which advise the Prime Minister and various Secretaries of State on matters referred to them, primarily making annual recommendations about pay levels.

The DDRB was established in 1971 with changes to the terms of reference introduced in 1998, 2003 and 2007.

The Department keeps under review the system of setting pay for doctors and dentists and the membership of the DDRB and is satisfied with the current arrangements.

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many full-time equivalent staff are employed by the British Pharmacopoeia Commission; [235181]

(2) how many full-time equivalent staff are employed by the Human Medicines Commission; [235182]

(3) how many full-time equivalent staff are employed by the Committee on the Safety of Devices Committee; [235185]

(4) what (a) capital, (b) revenue and (c) other funding his Department has given to the Borderline Products Independent Review Panel since its inception; [235206]

(5) what (a) capital, (b) revenue and (c) other funding his Department has given to the Commission on Human Medicines Commission since its inception; [235209]

(6) what (a) capital, (b) revenue and (c) other funding his Department has given to the Committee on the Safety of Devices since its inception. [235254]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department does not provide any Capital, funding or revenue for the Commission for Human Medicines (CHM) or the Borderline Products Independent Review Panel. Members are paid a preparation and attendance fee and travel costs for turning up to meetings. CHM Commissioners are paid a taxable preparation and attendance fee of £275 and any travel and accommodation expenses for a meeting. The Chairman is paid a taxable preparation and attendance fee of £400 plus travel and accommodation expenses.

Borderline Products Independent Review Panel Members are paid a preparation and attendance fee of £150 (taxable) and any travel and accommodation expenses for a meeting. The Chairman is paid a preparation and attendance fee of £275 (taxable) plus travel and accommodation expenses.

The costs for these are entirely funded from the statutory fees raised on medicines licences, which are collected by the Medicines and Health care products Regulatory Agency.

The Commission on Human Medicines (CHM) does not employ any full time whole equivalent staff. The Commission meets monthly and the Secretariat for those meetings is provided by the Commission Secretariat who are employed by the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA).

There are no full-time equivalent staff employed by the Committee on the Safety of Devices. Members are paid a taxable preparation and attendance fee of £168.50 and any travel and accommodation expenses for a meeting. The Chairman is paid a taxable preparation and attendance fee of £210 and any travel and accommodation expenses for a meeting.

The British Pharmacopoeia Commission (BPC) does not employ any full time whole equivalent staff. The Commission meets three times a year and the Secretariat for those meetings is provided by the British Pharmacopoeia Secretariat who are employed by the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA).

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many Questions for written answer were tabled to his Department in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04, (c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235393]

Mr. Bradshaw: The numbers of written parliamentary questions for each Session since 2002 are show in the following table.

| | Number of written parliamentary questions |
|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 9,929 |
| 2003-04 | 8,356 |
| 2004-05 | 3,270 |
| 2005-06 | 14,893 |
| 2006-07 | 8,621 |
| 2007-08 (as of 12 November 2008) | 9,164 |

We do not record separately how many answers referred to the disproportionate cost threshold. Written answers are however a matter of public record and published in the Official Report.

Diabetes

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much funding his Department is providing to charitable or non-governmental organisations and projects which raise awareness of type 2 diabetes in 2008-09. [235045]

Ann Keen: Through the Section 64 General Grant scheme (now known as Third Sector Investment Programme), we gave a total of £80,952 in support of two projects that include raising awareness of Type 2 diabetes in 2008-09.

The organisations that were awarded Section 64 funding to take forward their projects are as follows:

In 2007, the Sikh Community Care Project was granted a total of £198,000 over three years for their Diabetes Intervention and Prevention Programme to raise awareness of Type 2 diabetes among local south Asian community groups. The amount received in 2008-09 was £65,000.

In 2007, Speak Up Self Advocacy was awarded at total of £48,567 for a two year project to develop and distribute a DVD on Type 2 diabetes prevention to people with learning disabilities. The amount received in 2008-09 was £15,952.

As part of the 'Change4Life' campaign, we will be providing £500,000 in 2008-09 to Diabetes UK, the British Heart Foundation and Cancer Research UK to highlight the health consequences of obesity. This will include an advertising campaign that will raise awareness of the problems caused by our sedentary lifestyles and poor diets, such as Type 2 diabetes.

Direct Payments

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what assessment he has made of the potential effects of the lack of requirement in the draft Direct Payments Regulations to (a) vet friends involved in the provision of care to become a suitable person for individuals who lack capacity and (b) vet staff directly employed by the family and friends of individuals who lack capacity; [236252]

(2) what (a) support and (b) information his Department proposes to make available to the suitable person identified in the draft Direct Payments Regulations as the person responsible for managing direct payments on behalf of an individual who lacks capacity; [236253]

(3) what steps he has taken to ensure adequate availability of professionals with specialist knowledge to advise families who will manage direct payments on behalf of an individual who lacks capacity under the provisions of the draft Direct Payments Regulations; and if he will make a statement. [236254]

Phil Hope: The majority of 'suitable persons' will either be court-appointed deputies, donees of lasting powers of attorneys or friends or relatives who may already be involved in managing and organising the care of the direct payment recipient. It would not be appropriate to vet these people who have been chosen by the person without capacity themselves or the Court of Protection. However, it is up to local authorities to satisfy themselves that identified suitable persons are able to act in the best interests of the person who lacks capacity, even where they are not fully vetted.

The Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006 introduces further safeguards where the 'suitable person' is not a friend or family member of the individual whose direct payment they are managing. Where the council engages someone to provide services for that individual, then they become a regulated activity provider. These issues were fully debated during the passage of the Act. In practice, this means that the council must ensure that the individual they engage has undergone a vetting and barring check, as specified in the Act. If the suitable person is a friend or family member, the council will be able to apply for vetting information about potential carers but checks will not be mandatory.

Guidance recommends that this is a good option currently for Direct Payment recipients and we would envisage that the new guidance would mirror this advice for suitable people. Furthermore, regulation 16 of the draft regulations sets out that the local authority must review the making of the direct payment at certain intervals and under certain circumstances.

Until the safeguards included in the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006 are brought into force, safeguards are being provided through Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) checks. Through a registered body, such as a local authority, a 'suitable person' will be able to apply for a CRB disclosure on the person they wish to employ. This facility is currently available to people managing their own direct payment.

In relation to support and information available to the person managing direct payments on behalf of an individual who lacks capacity, the Department will issue guidance after analysing responses to the 'Putting People First—Transforming Adult Social Care—Consultation on Direct Payments Regulations' in spring 2009. This guidance will also support suitable persons identified in the Health and Social Care Act 2008 and draft Direct Payments regulations made under the provisions in this Act. Furthermore, as part of 'Putting People First', we have encouraged councils to explore different support mechanisms to support people to access Direct Payments.

Finally, we are taking action to ensure advice is made available to families who will manage direct payments on behalf of an individual who lacks capacity. The Government are making resources available under the Mental Capacity Act (MCA) grant to councils and primary care trusts to train professionals on all aspects of working with people who lack capacity and taking best interest decisions on their behalf. Councils decide how best to use these resources on training, awareness raising and appointing specialist MCA professionals.

Drinking Water: Standards

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Health to what extent the Food Standards Agency has implemented the provisions relating to (a) bottled and (b) tap water of the EU Drinking Water Directive; and if he will make a statement. [235788]

Dawn Primarolo: European Council Directive 98/83/EC on the quality of water for human consumption is fully implemented in England for bottled waters by the Natural Mineral Water, Spring Water and Bottled Drinking Water (England) Regulations 2007. These Regulations are the responsibility of the Food Standards Agency. Similar regulations exist in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.

In relation to tap water the Drinking Water Directive (98/83/EC) has been implemented by the Water Supply (Water Quality) Regulations 2000 which apply to water supplies provided by water companies in England. These regulations are the responsibility of the Department of Environment, Food and Rural Affairs. Similar Regulations exist in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.

Drugs: Rehabilitation

Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many people in Cornwall entered into a drug addiction treatment programme in each year since 1979; and what percentage of those people successfully completed the treatment; [235191]

(2) how many people in Cornwall were in contact with drug treatment services in each year since 1979. [235192]

Dawn Primarolo: Since 2003-04, the National Drug Treatment Monitoring System (NDTMS) has collected data from local drug services about clients in structured drug treatment and the treatment they receive, with information on new people entering treatment being collected from 2004-05 onwards.

The following table shows the number of new people entering drug treatment programmes covered by the Cornwall and Isles of Scilly Drug Action Team for each of the years for which we have available data.

Number of individuals with new presentation to treatment in Cornwall and Isles of Scilly Drug Action Team area, 2004-05 to 2007-08

| | Number of individuals |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 532 |
| 2005-06 | 764 |
| 2006-07 | 795 |
| 2007-08 | 731 |

Source:
NDTMS

NDTMS does not track individuals through their treatment, so information is not available on how many of these people have successfully completed their treatment. The following table shows the number of people who successfully completed treatment within Cornwall and Isles of Scilly Drug Action Team area for each year since 2004-05. The year of completion is likely in most cases to be later than the year in which treatment was commenced.

Number of individuals successfully completing treatment in Cornwall and Isles of Scilly Drug Action Team area, 2004-05 to 2007-08

Gastrointestinal System: Cancer

Andrew George: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 3 November 2008, Official Report, column 93W, on upper gastrointestinal cancer, what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of this policy in respect of the contrast between outcomes in those areas where the improving outcomes in upper gastrointestinal cancer had been implemented and those where it had not been implemented. [235600]

Ann Keen: An assessment of the extent to which outcomes have improved for patients with uppergastrointestinal cancer since the implementation of "Improving Outcomes for Upper Gastrointestinal Cancers" will be undertaken in due course, when national data are available.

Gene Therapy Advisory Committee

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many full-time equivalent staff are employed by the Gene Therapy Advisory Committee; [235183]

(2) what (a) capital, (b) revenue and (c) other funding his Department has given to the Gene Therapy Advisory Committee since its inception. [235208]

Dawn Primarolo: The Gene Therapy Advisory Committee is an advisory committee to the Department and does not employ any staff. There has been no capital funding. The committee's secretariat, approximately two full-time equivalent posts, are civil servants employed by the Department. These, and other running costs, are accounted for as part of general administration budget expenditure, where it is not customary to separate the running costs of individual advisory committees.

General Practitioners: Finance

Mr. Moss: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what proportion of savings under the practice-based commission scheme a GP practice is allowed to spend in (a) the next financial year following the making of the savings and (b) subsequent years; [235697]

(2) what the recommended list of service initiatives is on which a GP practice could spend savings made under the practice-based commission scheme. [235698]

Mr. Bradshaw: Practice Based Commissioning guidance ("Practice-based commissioning: practical implementation," November 2006) establishes that practice based commissioners should be allowed to use a minimum of 70 per cent. of any savings achieved through the innovative redesign of services. The remaining 30 per cent. is for the primary care trust (PCT) to use at their discretion. The proportion of savings which can be used by practice based commissioners relate to both the financial year following the making of the savings and to subsequent years where savings are achieved. A copy of the guidance has been placed in the Library.

The guidance also establishes that practice based commissioners should use the savings achieved as a result of practice based commissioning activities for the benefit of patients and to be reinvested in patient care. The use of the savings is at local discretion and should be agreed with the PCT. There is no national recommended list of service initiatives on which the savings should be used.

Health Centres

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 3 November 2008, Official Report, column 83W, on health centres, what assessment he has made of any possible negative consequences that could arise from the provision of a minimum income guarantee to a new GP-led health centre. [235606]

Mr. Bradshaw: It is for each primary care trust to determine locally the funding for their health centre depending on the range of services and staff required. For some, this will also include what percentage of income should be guaranteed to the provider, and for how long. If the income guarantee is set too high it could reduce the risk on the provider who may not be incentivised to provide a high quality service and reduces value for money. If set too low the general practitioner-led health centre provider may not obtain sufficient income in the early period of the contract to deliver a high quality and usable service 8am to 8pm, 365 days a year.

Health Services: Discrimination

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps the Government has taken to reduce ageism in the provision of healthcare. [233811]

Phil Hope: The Department is taking a number of steps to tackle age discrimination, such as work on older people's mental health services by the Care Services Improvement Partnership. Other initiatives such as Dignity in Care are also having an impact on services used by older people. The Government will shortly make a statement setting out a detailed programme of work to tackle age discrimination in the health and social care sectors and to help service providers prepare for legislation.

Health Services: Overseas Visitors

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will increase the quota of Montserratian people allowed to travel to the UK for health care in each year. [236111]

Dawn Primarolo: There is no limit on the number of Montserratian people allowed to travel to the UK for health care, provided they pay for it in line with any other overseas visitors. There are no plans to review the quota of patients that the overseas territories can refer to the UK under a bilateral agreement.

Hearing-Impaired: Screening

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what data from the Newborn Hearing Screening Programme is collected by (a) primary care trusts, (b) strategic health authorities and (c) his Department; and if he will make a statement. [236125]

Ann Keen: The NHS Newborn Hearing Screening Programme (NHSP) collects data on behalf of the Department through a single national screening information system which has the functionality to provide screening management and performance data at provider, primary care trust, strategic health authorities and national level.

The main data collected, which are published quarterly, include coverage and outcomes of screening and diagnostic pathways including the numbers of children identified with permanent hearing impairment.

The NHSP Annual Report and Quality Assurance (QA) Peer Review Report are due to be published later this month.

Heart Diseases

David Maclean: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what the quality outcomes framework exception reporting rates for coronary heart disease were for (a) primary care trusts (PCTs) and (b) spearhead PCTs in the latest period for which figures are available; what research he has (i) commissioned and (ii) evaluated on the reasons for differences in the rates; and if he will make a statement; [234221]

(2) what assessment he has made of the impact of the variation in high exception rate reporting on the (a) health and (b) working capacity of patients at risk of coronary heart disease in spearhead areas. [233549]

Ann Keen: A copy of the information requested on exception rates for coronary heart disease by primary care trust (PCT) with spearhead PCTs identified has been placed in the Library.

The latest research by the National Primary Care Research and Development Centre (NPCRDC) shows that although practices in deprived areas are slightly more likely to exception report patients than practices in affluent areas, deprivation-related variation in reported quality of care for measured activities reduced during the first three years of the Quality and Outcomes Framework, resulting in more equitable delivery of health care for these activities.

The NPCRDC conclude that general practitioners in deprived areas achieved high scores without high rates of exception reporting, and the differences in scores between affluent and deprived areas are small and of relatively little clinical significance. This is a considerable achievement for practices in deprived areas.

There is evidence that some practices, whether in deprived or affluent areas, may be using exception reporting inappropriately. Manipulating QOF data in order to increase rewards without delivering the required level of quality for patients is clearly unacceptable—and also unfair on the majority of practices who comply with QOF requirements. PCTs are responsible in England for verifying evidence for QOF achievement. They should analyse exception rates and recorded prevalence, investigating any outliers, correcting QOF payments where necessary and taking action if they uncover any actual fraud.

The Government are committed to ensuring, in consultation with the profession, that QOF continually develops and supports leading edge quality of care for patients based on best available evidence. We want to look with the profession at how we can reduce exception reporting in order to ensure that all patients who would benefit receive good quality of care, including those who are hard to reach.

Heart Diseases: Health Services

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what plans he has to develop a successor to the current National Service Framework for coronary heart disease. [235635]

Ann Keen: Although the Coronary Heart Disease National Service Framework (CHD NSF), launched in March 2000, was a 10-year plan of action, heart services must continue to develop after March 2010. The Department is currently considering how it might best support the national health service to build on the considerable success of the CHD NSF.

Hepatitis: Vaccinations

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the average cost is for a hepatitis B vaccination; what the average cost was in each year since 1997; what plans he has to reduce the cost; and if he will make a statement. [235522]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department does not centrally supply the hepatitis B vaccine. The price of the hepatitis B vaccines are available in the "British National Formulary", which is published biannually. Pages 168-172 of the "Immunisation against infectious disease (Green Book)" states which patients are recommended to receive the Hepatitis B vaccine. The "Green Book" has already been placed in the Library.

Influenza: Vaccinations

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the level of take-up of influenza vaccinations in (a) Southend West constituency, (b) Essex and (c) England in each of the last five years for which figures are available, broken down by age group. [235523]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department collects data on influenza uptake for age groups within the national influenza vaccination programme. These are people aged 65 and over and those aged under 65 in a clinical risk group. The Department does not collect data on uptake for those outside these groups. Influenza uptake data are collected by primary care trust (PCT) rather than by constituency.

Uptake figures by PCT are contained in the following documents which have already been placed in the Library.

Vaccination uptake among the 65 years and over and under 65 years at risk in England 2007-08.

Vaccination uptake among the 65 years and over and under 65 years at risk in England 2006-07.

Influenza vaccine uptake in patients aged 65 years and over and under 65s at risk, England 2005-06

Influenza vaccine uptake in patients aged 65 years and over and under 65s at risk, England 2004-05

Data for the 2008-09 season will be available in the new year.

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps are being taken by his Department to ensure that influenza vaccines are made available free of charge to essential workers in nursing homes; what criteria are used by his Department in determining who receives influenza vaccines free of charge; what recent representations he has received on this issue; and if he will make a statement. [235524]

Dawn Primarolo: The national policy is that influenza vaccine should be offered to the following groups:

all those aged 65 years and over; all those aged six months or over in a clinical risk group;

those living in long-stay residential care homes or other long-stay care facilities where rapid spread is likely to follow introduction of infection and cause high morbidity and mortality (this does not include prisons, young offender institutions, university halls of residence etc.); and those who are in receipt of a carer's allowance, or those who are the main carer of an elderly or disabled person whose welfare may be at risk if the carer falls ill. This should be given on an individual basis at the GP's discretion in the context of other clinical risk groups in their practice.

As stated in the Chief Medical Officer letter of 31 March 2008, responsibility for immunisation for occupational staff rests with employers and should be provided by occupational health services. A copy of the letter has been placed in the Library.

The Department has recently published a new leaflet, fact sheet and poster encouraging health care professionals to get vaccinated against the flu.

The Department's policy on flu vaccination is regularly reviewed by an expert panel of the Joint Committee on Vaccination and Immunisation in the light of all relevant evidence.

The Department has received letters relating to the influenza policy. In all responses the policy was clearly stated as per the Chief Medical Officer letter of 31 March 2008.

Midwives

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many midwives were working in the National Health Service in (a) England and (b) Portsmouth in (i) each year between 1997 and 2001 and (ii) 2003 expressed as both (A) headcount and (B) full-time equivalent. [235576]

Ann Keen: The number of registered national health service midwives in England and working in Portsmouth Hospital NHS Trust in the years requested is detailed in the following table.

NHS hospital and community health services: qualified midwifery staff in England, the south central strategic health authority area and Portsmouth Hospitals NHS Trust as at 30 September each specified year

Headcount

| | 1997 | 1998 | 1999 | 2000 | 2001 | 2003 |

1. Full time equivalent figures are rounded to the nearest whole number.
2. Data Quality
Workforce statistics are compiled from data sent by more than 300 NHS trusts and primary care trusts (PCTs) in England. The NHS Information Centre for health and social care liaises closely with these organisations to encourage submission of complete and valid data and seeks to minimise inaccuracies and the effect of missing and invalid data. Processing methods and procedures are continually being updated to improve data quality. Where this happens any impact on figures already published will be assessed but unless this is significant at national level they will not be changed. Where there is impact only at detailed or local level this will be footnoted in relevant analyses.

NHS Pharmacy Education and Development Committee: Finance

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what (a) capital, (b) revenue and (c) other funding his Department has given to the NHS Pharmacy Education and Development Committee since its inception. [235255]

Dawn Primarolo: None.

NHS: Finance

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether the Government plan to top-slice surpluses in NHS organisations in 2008-09. [235615]

Mr. Bradshaw: The 2008-09 National Health Service Operating Framework clearly states that in 2008-09, strategic health authorities (SHAs) may determine and agree locally with their primary care trusts (PCTs) arrangements for the transfer and lodging of resources with the SHA, provided this is within the limit of the overall SHA planned surplus. SHAs will be accountable for the management of this flexibility.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what guidance his Department has issued to strategic health authorities on the repayment of funds top-sliced from primary care trusts in the last two years. [235616]

Mr. Bradshaw: In the Operating Framework for 2007-08 (which has already been placed in the Library) the Department stated that contributions from primary care trusts (PCTs) required to deliver the financial plans within their economy must be subject to locally agreed transparent rules, clearly covering the purpose of the reserves and the timescale over which each organisation would recover its contribution.

The Operating Framework for 2008-09 also stated that each strategic health authority (SHA) would determine locally the arrangements for transfer and lodging of resources with the SHA.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the Answer of 3 November 2008, Official Report, column 87W, on NHS finance, whether NHS organisations that generated a surplus in 2007-08 are permitted to count this towards the surplus they are expected to generate in 2008-09. [235720]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department has made clear in the 2008-09 Operating Framework that the surplus delivered by strategic health authorities and primary care trusts in 2007-08 will be carried forward to 2008-09. As a result, this surplus relating to the 2007-08 financial year is included within the financial position reported in 2008-09.

We also made clear in the 2008-09 Operating Framework that we expect the national health service should plan for a surplus at least equivalent to the surplus achieved in 2007-08.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the Answer of 3 November 2008, Official Report, column 87W, on NHS finance, whether his Department expects that the 2007-08 surplus will be spent by the end of 2008-09. [235721]

Mr. Bradshaw: We made it clear in the Operating Framework 2008-09 for that surpluses generated in 2007-08 will be carried forward to 2008-09, and that the national health service should plan for a surplus at least equivalent to the surplus achieved in 2007-08.

As reported in the 2008-09 quarter 1 edition of "The Quarter", the NHS (excluding Foundation Trusts) was forecasting an overall surplus of £1.75 billion. This forecast enables the full deployment of baseline and additional resources for 2008-09, and continues with our strategy for flexibility to respond to fluctuations in demand, while maintaining sufficient funds for investment in new services.

The surplus generated within the NHS during 2008-09 will be carried forward to 2009-10.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the Answer of 3 November 2008, Official Report, columns 88-89W, on NHS finance, whether any restrictions are placed on NHS organisations as to how they spend surpluses which are carried over into the next financial year. [235728]

Mr. Bradshaw: We made clear in the Operating Framework 2008-09 that surpluses generated in 2007-08 will be carried forward to 2008-09, and that the national health service should plan for a surplus at least equivalent to the surplus achieved in 2007-08.

"The Operating Framework for 2008-09" clearly states that strategic health authorities have the flexibility to determine within their economies, the level of contingency necessary to ensure delivery of their financial plans, and where this contingency is best held.

Aside from this, the Department has placed no restrictions (further to the normal accounting rules) on how NHS organisations spend their surpluses.

NHS: Personal Records

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the Answer of 3 June 2008, Official Report, columns 909-10W, on NHS: personal records, how many of the incidents recorded in the table took place on 25 December in each year. [233732]

Ann Keen: The number of incidents reported to the National Reporting and Learning System relating to nutritional care, which occurred on 25 December during 2005, 2006 and 2007 are shown in the following table:

| | Number of incidents |
|---|---|
| 2005 | 5 |
| 2006 | 9 |
| 2007 | 11 |

NHS: Private Sector

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to page 9 of his Department's consultation document on Guidance on NHS patients who wish to pay for additional private care, which relevant national audits he expects clinicians to contribute to. [235612]

Mr. Bradshaw: Recommendation 11 of Professor Richards's report, 'Improving Access to Medicines for NHS Patients', states that:

"The Department of Health should take a lead on commissioning a national audit of demand for unfunded drugs and on the outcome of treatments, working closely with professional organisations and NHS managers."

A copy of the report has been placed in the Library.

On 4 November, my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State accepted this recommendation, and asked Professor Richards to lead this piece of work. The reference in the consultation document to "relevant national audits" is therefore a reference to the outcome of this work.

NHS: Telephone Numbering

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much revenue the national health service received from the use of revenue sharing telephone numbers in each of the last five years. [236297]

Mr. Bradshaw: This information is not held centrally.

NHS: Temporary Employment

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what contracts the NHS negotiates with employment agencies regarding the pay of agency staff (a) in England and (b) at regional level. [235620]

Mr. Bradshaw: This information is not collected centrally. It is the responsibility of local national health service organisations to plan and manage their demand for agency staff in the context of local business and work force planning. Many NHS organisations use the NHS Purchasing and Supplies Agency (PASA), Agency Framework Agreements to contract some of their agency staff as the PASA uses the NHS's buying power to negotiate lower pay rates with agencies.

Obesity: Health Services

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether he plans to introduce national guidelines for the way NHS staff deal with bariatric people. [235633]

Dawn Primarolo: The National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) has produced "Guidance on the prevention, identification, assessment and management of overweight and obesity in adults and children", available at http://www.nice.org.uk/CG43.

This guidance is for both health and non-health professionals, and contains guidance on when bariatric surgery may be considered as an option.

It is up to primary care trusts as local commissioners and providers of services to determine the most appropriate methods to deliver health care to their populations, based on clinical need and effectiveness, and following medical advice.

The care and treatment of individual patients who undergo surgery remains a matter for their clinical team who will base the treatment on the most appropriate clinical evidence, and the wishes of the patient.

Organ Donation Taskforce

Gordon Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when he expects the Organ Donation Taskforce next to report. [236070]

Ann Keen: The Organ Donation Taskforce has today published its report 'The potential impact of an opt out system for organ donation in the UK'. I refer the hon. Member to the written ministerial statement on the report issued today.

Primary Care Trusts

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what reports he has received on the late payment of bills by primary care trusts (PCTs); and what representations his Department has received from (a) cleaning contractors and (b) hospital food contractors on the late payment of bills by PCTs. [234657]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department routinely collects data from the national health service on the payment of bills. The latest data available for quarter 1 of 2008-09 is as follows, shows the number of NHS and non-NHS bills that were paid by each primary care trust.

NHS trusts and primary care trusts are required to comply with the Confederation of British Industry's "Better Payment Practice Code" target of paying 95 per cent. of undisputed invoices within contract terms of 30 days where no terms have been agreed.

The Department does not collect information on the payment of bills to specific contractors.

Prostate Cancer

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people received treatment for prostate cancer in (a) the UK, (b) the North East, (c) Tees Valley district and (d) Middlesbrough South and East Cleveland constituency in each of the last 10 years. [229866]

Kevin Brennan: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question asking how many people received treatment for prostate cancer in (a) the UK, (b) the North East, (c) Tees Valley District and (d) Middlesbrough South and East Cleveland constituency in each of the last 10 years. [229866]

The latest available figures for newly diagnosed cases of cancer (incidence) are for the year 2006 for England and Wales, and the year 2005 for Scotland and Northern Ireland. The number of prostate cancer cases receiving treatment in the United Kingdom (UK) is only available for the year 2001. There are no figures for the UK for the other years requested because the number of prostate cancer cases receiving treatment is only available for the year 2001 for Northern Ireland.

Table 1 gives the number of newly diagnosed cases of prostate cancer that have received treatment for 2001 for (a) the United Kingdom, and for the years 1997 to 2006 for (b) the North East Government Office Region, (c) Tees Valley District, and (d) Middlesbrough South and East Cleveland Parliamentary Constituency. In 2001, for 41 per cent of prostate cancer cases in the UK, either no treatment information was recorded or patients were recorded as having no treatment.

Table 1: Registrations of newly diagnosed cases of prostate cancer[1] receiving treatment[2], males: United Kingdom[3], north east government office region, Tees Valley District[4], and Middlesbrough South and East Cleveland parliamentary constituency[5], 1997 to 2006

| | 1997 | 1998 | 1999 | 2000 | 2001 | 2002 | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| United Kingdom | .. | .. | .. | .. | 19,130 | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| North East | 447 | 911 | 1,038 | 1,060 | 1,180 | 1,163 | 1,227 | 1,066 | 1,165 | 1,010 |
| Tees Valley | 88 | 229 | 309 | 298 | 291 | 288 | 330 | 272 | 293 | 238 |
| Middlesbrough South and East Cleveland | 13 | 45 | 56 | 64 | 47 | 42 | 65 | 62 | 55 | 42 |

[1] Prostate cancer is coded to C61 in the International Classification of Diseases, Tenth Revision (ICD-10).
[2] Number of cases that have one or more treatments recorded.
[3] The number of prostate cancer cases receiving treatment in the United Kingdom is only available for the year 2001. There are no figures for the UK for the other years requested because the number of prostate cancer cases receiving treatment is only available for the year 2001 for Northern Ireland.
[4] Tees Valley is defined as the Hartlepool, Middlesbrough, Redcar and Cleveland, Stockton-on-Tees and Darlington local authorities.
[5] Based on boundaries as of 2007.
[6] Cancer registration data for 1997 are not sufficiently robust to accurately identify treatment in prostate cancer patients. In 1997, for 30 per cent. of all prostate cancer cases in the north east government office region, either no treatment was recorded or patients were recorded as having no treatment, this compares to an average of 18 per cent. for the years 1998 to 2006. A Radical Therapy for Localised Prostate Cancer audit, that included all patients in the northern and Yorkshire region diagnosed with prostate cancer during 1998, was published in 2004.

Social Services

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what specialist areas of work are of each official in his Department that works on social care. [235611]

Phil Hope: The strategic objectives of the Department are better health and well-being for all, better care for all and better value for all. Every official within the Department contributes, through their personal objectives, to achieving those goals for both health and social care.

The social care, local government and care partnerships directorate has the specific responsibility for the development of policy on adult social care, and on mental health and health services for offenders. In meeting this responsibility, the directorate is supported by the rest of the Department. The directorate has an establishment of 149.01 whole time equivalent officials. Of these 100.66 whole time equivalents work exclusively on adult social care policy. The specialist areas of work of these officials are in the following table.

|---|---|---|
| Social care policy and innovation | To develop policies and support innovative practices that promote equality, human rights and social inclusion by embedding choice, control and personal safety in social care services. | 50.43 |
| Social care leadership and performance | To improve the quality, performance and status of social care through strengthening the performance framework, increasing the capacity and capability of the work force, enhancing leadership and providing a local government perspective in the Department. | 22.88 |
| Social care strategy unit | To provide overall strategic direction on priorities for social care and developing the green paper on reform to care and support. | 17.80 |
| Social care finance | To lead on the key issues related to the funding of social care in England. | 3.95 |

Social Services: Standards

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps the Government have taken to (a) improve social care provisions for people with disabilities and (b) raise standards in social care provision for the elderly; and what further steps the Government plan to take to improve social care provision. [236055]

Phil Hope: In 'Putting People First', (2007), the Government, and their partners in the sector, set out their commitment to transform social care to meet the needs and expectations of those who need support and their families. A copy of this document has been placed in the Library.

We have provided £520 million through the Social Care Reform Grant to help councils undertake the necessary reforms. The Department of Health is working closely with key stakeholders to deliver this agenda and a new National Director for Transforming Adult Social Care has been appointed to help councils achieve a systemic shift in adult care towards user control, prevention and enhanced information and advice services.

In addition, the Office for Disability Issues published the Independent Living Strategy in March 2008. The strategy sets out a five-year plan that seeks to realise the Government's aim that all disabled people should be able to live autonomous lives, and to have the same choice, freedom, dignity and control over their lives as non-disabled people.

The Department, together with the Office for Disability Issues, is leading work on the 'Life Chances' commitment that, by 2010, there should be a user-led organisation (ULO) modelled on existing Centres for Independent Living in every local authority area with Social Services responsibilities. ULOs are led and controlled by disabled people and are key to both delivering personalisation and achieving independent living for disabled people.

Southmead Hospital: PFI

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the implications for the viability of the private finance initiative project to replace Southmead hospital of the current economic situation; and if he will make a statement. [235904]

Mr. Bradshaw: The two consortiums competing to be appointed preferred bidder on the private finance initiative scheme at North Bristol NHS Trust for the redevelopment of the Southmead hospital site are currently finalising their bids. The Trust, the Department and the bidders are holding discussions about current economic conditions and how these should be factored into the bids as part of the competitive process.

As with all private finance initiative schemes, appointment of the preferred bidder is then dependent on a business case demonstrating value for money and affordability being submitted to and approved by the Department.

Vaccinations

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what plans he has to review the (a) hepatitis B and (b) influenza immunisation programme; when each was last reviewed; with what results; what recent representations he has received on each programme; and if he will make a statement. [235520]

Dawn Primarolo: The hepatitis B and influenza immunisation programmes are kept under review by the Joint Committee on Vaccination and Immunisation (JCVI), who provide expert impartial advice to my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Health.

JCVI last considered the hepatitis B vaccination programme in June 2008. The minutes of the meeting can be found at the following website, and also been placed in the Library.

http://www.advisorybodies.doh.gov.uk/jcvi/JCVI_draft_minutes_final_17_June_08.pdf

The committee will consider hepatitis B vaccination again after the completion of an independent peer-review of the cost-effectiveness of introducing hepatitis B vaccine as a routine infant, routine adolescent or as a selective infant immunisation programme.

JCVI last considered the influenza (flu) vaccination programme in February 2008 when the recommendations for the current flu campaign were discussed. The committee noted that there would be no changes to the risk groups for the current flu campaign. The minutes of the meeting can be found at the following website, the minutes have also been placed in the Library.

http://www.advisorybodies.doh.gov.uk/jcvi/jcvimin130208.htm

A JCVI influenza subgroup will meet on 10 December 2008.

An independent panel was appointed by the Department in 2005 to review the arrangements for the seasonal influenza programme in England. This report was published in March 2007. The report is available at the following website, and has also been placed in the Library.

http://www.dh.gov.uk/en/Publicationsandstatistics/Publications/PublicationsPolicyAndGuidance/DH_072767

The Department has received correspondence relating to the clinical at risk groups. The response to these letters stressed the importance of reducing morbidity in high risk groups and made clear the independent advice from the JCVI. Further to this, senior officials from the Department meet with the UK Vaccine Industry Group (UVIG) on a six monthly basis to discuss flu vaccine supply.

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health which groups of workers are eligible for the (a) hepatitis B vaccination and (b) vaccination against influenza; which groups were eligible in each year since 1997; what recent representations he has received on this issue; and if he will make a statement. [235127]

Dawn Primarolo: Details of workers who are recommended to receive a hepatitis B immunisation are provided in the "Immunisation against infectious diseases, 2006 'Green Book'" chapter 18, page 172. A copy of this has already been placed in the Library. These groups were also recommended in the "Immunisation against infectious diseases 1996 'Green Book'" chapter 18, pages 101-102. A copy of this is in the Library. Further information on hepatitis B immunisation can be found in the "Health clearance for tuberculosis, hepatitis B, hepatitis C and HIV New healthcare workers, 2007 guidance". The guidance can be found at the following website and it has also been placed in the Library.

http://www.dh.gov.uk/en/Publicationsandstatistics/Publications/PublicationsPolicyAndGuidance/DH_073132

Influenza immunisation was first recommended for health and social care workers in a letter from the Chief Medical Officer (CMO) in 2000 (PL/CMO/2000/3). This letter can be downloaded from the following website and it has been placed in the Library.

http://www.dh.gov.uk/en/Publicationsandstatistics/Lettersandcirculars/Professionalletters/Chiefmedicalofficerletters/DH_4004974

Information on influenza policy is published in annual CMO letters. They can be downloaded from the following website.

http://www.dh.gov.uk/en/Aboutus/MinistersandDepartmentLeaders/ChiefMedicalOfficer/CMOPublications/CMOLetters/index.htm

Vaccination for poultry workers was introduced by the Department at the end of the 2006-07 influenza season. Guidance on this programme can be found at the following website and it has also been placed in the Library.

http://www.dh.gov.uk/en/Publicationsandstatistics/Publications/PublicationsPolicyAndGuidance/DH_063506

The Department has received very low levels of correspondence on this issue.

Alcoholic Drinks: Young People

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps his Department is taking to reduce alcohol consumption among 11 to 15 year olds who drink regularly. [234957]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry [holding answer 13 November 2008]: I have been asked to reply.

The proportion of teenagers who drink regularly is falling but those who do drink are drinking a lot more. Young people who drink too much not only put their own health at risk, but are more likely to get involved in antisocial behaviour and contribute to insecurity on our streets. The Youth Alcohol Action Plan, published in June, sets out a number of actions to address the problems of young people's alcohol consumption. We will provide clearer health information for parents and young people about how consumption of alcohol, particularly at an early age, can affect children and young people. This will include the chief medical officer's guidelines on safer drinking by young people and a comprehensive communications campaign aimed at 11 to 15 year-olds to be launched in spring 2009.

In line with recommendations from an independent review of drug and alcohol education, Ministers announced on 30 October 2008 that Personal Health and Social Education (PHSE) would be made statutory subject. This would underline the key role PSHE has to play in young people's personal development.

Very few young people are addicted to alcohol but we know that a small proportion of young people do drink too much which puts them at risk of harm. DCSF are working closely with the National Treatment Agency (NTA) to continue to improve the accessibility and quality of substance misuse treatment for young people (under 18), with the aim of ensuring that effective treatment is available for any young person with alcohol problems that needs it.

INNOVATION, UNIVERSITIES AND SKILLS

Electricity: Research

Mr. Willis: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what research the Government are sponsoring into static inverters for the conversion of (a) alternating to direct current and (b) direct to alternating current. [236063]

Mr. Simon: The Engineering and Physical Sciences Research Council (EPSRC) and the Technology Strategy Board, funded through the Science and Research, and Innovation Budgets respectively, support a portfolio of research grants focused on low carbon energy technologies.

EPSRC has not identified any projects that it funds which contain the words 'static inverter' in the title or abstract, but within the broad area of 'Power Electronics' and 'Electrical Motor and Drive Systems' it has a current research portfolio of £13.5 million.

The Technology Strategy Board has not funded any research projects focused solely on static inverters. However, static inverters are a part of the systems issues considered in funded projects relevant to, for example, the storage and integration of wind energy.

Higher Education Funding Council for England: North West

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what assessment has been made by his Department of the effectiveness of the Higher Education Funding Council for England's work with (a) regional higher education associations in the North West and (b) the North West Universities Association. [235917]

Mr. Lammy: We welcome the close and effective collaboration between the Higher Education Funding Council for England and the regional higher education associations in the North West and the North West Universities Association. We are confident that they will continue to succeed in their efforts to increase and widen participation in higher education and to equip learners with the skills that will enable them to flourish during new economic circumstances.

Higher Education: Admissions

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much the Higher Education Funding Council for England spent (a) in England and (b) in the North West in (i) 2006-07 and (ii) 2007-08 on initiatives to widen participation in higher education. [235916]

Mr. Lammy: The Higher Education Funding Council for England spent the following on widening participation activities:

| | | £ |
|---|---|---|
| | England | North West |
| 2006-07 | 381,126,970 | 54,096,138 |
| 2007-08 | 408,737,978 | 57,102,561 |

Tom Brake: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what recent representations he has received on the financial accessibility of universities; what response he has made in each case; and if he will make a statement. [236468]

Mr. Lammy: My right hon. Friend, the Secretary of State has not received any recent representations on this issue.

This Government are firmly committed to widening participation in higher education (HE) for those from poorer and other under-represented backgrounds. The availability of finance should not present a barrier to students who have the ability and wish to study in higher education, as there is a generous package of support available in the form of grants and loans. For full-time students, the package includes a means-tested grant and loan for living costs plus a non means-tested fee loan. In addition, targeted financial support is provided for particular groups, for example, the disabled and students with childcare responsibilities.

Vocational Education: North West

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what discussions (a) he and (b) his officials have had with educational institutions in the north west on improving opportunities for vocational learners to enter higher education institutions. [235919]

Mr. Lammy: Ministers and officials speak to many institutions and organisations about issues that affect individuals' progression to higher education. Progression to higher education for vocational learners is an important element in our drive to capture, enrich and exploit the talents and potential of all learners; and the Lifelong Learning Network programme has been established precisely to focus on progression and widening opportunity for vocational learners, putting them on the same footing as those following more traditional academic pathways.

The Higher Education Funding Council for England (HEFCE) has invested over £100 million across 2005-11 in 30 Lifelong Learning Networks (LLNs). These networks make an important contribution to a number of the Government's strategic objectives including lifelong learning, credit transfer, articulation arrangements between higher education programmes and the Qualifications and Credit Framework, employer engagement and workplace learning, and progression from the 14-19 diplomas. HEFCE officers, including those from widening participation teams, meet with senior staff from institutions in the north west in the normal course of HEFCE business and progression for vocational learners and widening participation forms part of that dialogue. HEFCE officers were involved in discussions with the Greater Merseyside and West Lancashire LLNs about additional student numbers for 2009-10 and how they should be distributed and targeted in priority areas.

Since Blackpool college's proposal to develop a Higher Education Centre, HEFCE have maintained close strategic engagement with the college, undertaking regular visits and meetings with the senior management team. That activity is also ongoing with the Blackburn and Burnley Higher Education Centre developments.

DUCHY OF LANCASTER

Census

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster (1) what assessment has been made of the accuracy of the last national census; [234991]

(2) what questions will be included in the next census which were not in the last census; [234992]

(3) what the estimated cost of production of a single national address register for use in the 2011 census will be; what sources will be used to compile the register; and whether the register will be single-use. [235103]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician I have been asked to reply to your recent questions asking (a) what assessment has been made of the accuracy of the last national census, (b) what questions will be included in the next census which were not in the last census, and (c) what the estimated cost of production of a single national address register for use in the 2011 Census will be; what sources will be used to compile the register; and whether the register will be single-use. (234991, 234992, 235103)

ONS has reported fully on the accuracy and quality of the 2001 Census in the 2001 Census Quality Report, a copy of which is available in the House of Commons library and on the National Statistics website at:

http://www.statistics.gov.uk/census2001/proj_gr.asp

In conjunction with the 2001 Census General Report it provides a comprehensive evaluation of the strengths and weaknesses of the Census operation. The General Report is also available in the House of Commons library and on the website at:

http://www.statistics.gov.uk/census2001/proj_gr_grasp

In addition, further information about local and national response rates is available on the website at:

http://www.statistics.gov.uk/census2001/methodology.asp

Separate reviews of the accuracy of the 2001 Census were conducted by the Treasury Select Committee, the Local Government Association and the Statistics Commission.

(b) It will not be possible to confirm what questions and response categories are to be included in the 2011 Census until formal approval is given by Parliament in 2010. Current proposals for questions will be published in a White Paper shortly. The proposals include a number of new questions and these are:

civil partnership status citizenship (passports held)

month and year of entry into UK intended length of stay for migrants who have arrived in the last 12 months national identity language

second residence

a number of bedrooms

a type of central heating.

In addition we are planning to ask basic demographic questions from visitors in households on census night.

(c) The cost of developing an Address Register for the 2011 Census is estimated to be about £10 million over the years 2008-11. The primary sources of address lists, namely the Royal Mail Postcode Address File (PAF), the Ordnance Survey MasterMap Address Layer 2 (AL2), and the National Land and Property Gazetteer (NLPG), which is administered by the local authority community through the Local Government Information House (LGIH), will be matched to find the common elements and to identify differences for more research and verification. Although the Address Register strategy takes account of other national addressing initiatives it is only being developed for the 2011 Census. Subject to having appropriate data sharing agreements in place, it should provide a one-off quality improvement to each of the main address sources. It is also hoped that the development of processes and delivery partnership models could be used to support the wider agenda for a single National Address Register in the future.

Charities

Mr. Laurence Robertson: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster (1) how many registered charities there were in each of the last five years; [236362]

(2) what the gross income was of registered charities in each of the last five years. [236363]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the Charity Commission. I have asked the Commission to reply.

Letter from Rosie Chapman, dated 14 November 2008:

Parliamentary Questions 236362 and 236363 (numbers of registered charities)

As Executive Director of Policy and Effectiveness at the Charity Commission I have been asked to respond to your written Parliamentary Questions, both tabled for answer on 17 November.

Below is a table which details the number of charities registered with the Charity Commission, and their gross income, for each of the last five years. Please be aware that the Charity Commission only registers charities based in England and Wales; Scotland and Northern Ireland have their own regulators. In addition, as of April 2007, only charities with an income of £5,000 a year or more have been required to register with us.

| | Number of registered charities | Gross income (£s billion) |
|---|---|---|
| 2007 | 169,297 | 44.55 |
| 2006 | 168,609 | 41.26 |
| 2005 | 167,466 | 37.86 |
| 2004 | 166,136 | 34.86 |
| 2003 | 164,781 | 31.62 |

I hope this is helpful. If you have any further questions then please do contact me directly.

Children

Tim Loughton: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many children there are in each age group, broken down by (a) local authority and (b) constituency. [234689]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your question about how many children there are in each age group, broken down by (a) local authority and (b) constituency. (234689)

Table 1 shows the estimated resident population for the United Kingdom by local authority for children aged 0-15 by single year of age.

Table 2 shows the estimated resident population for the United Kingdom by parliamentary constituency for children aged 0-15 by single year of age (total numbers only for Scottish parliamentary constituencies).

Copies of the tables have been placed in the Library of the House.

Death: Weather

Jenny Willott: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many excess winter deaths of people with (a) terminal illnesses and (b) disabilities there were in each of the last five years. [235926]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Dennis Roberts, dated November 2008:

The National Statistician has been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many excess winter deaths of people with (a) terminal illnesses and (b) disabilities there were in each of the last five years. I am replying in her absence. (235926)

The information requested is not available. The particulars recorded at death registration include the underlying cause of death and any contributory causes, but not whether the deceased had (a) a terminal illness or (b) a disability at the time of death. Whether an illness is considered terminal is a matter of clinical judgement in each individual case, and cannot be inferred from the mention of a condition at death registration alone.

Departmental Buildings

Robert Neill: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 7 October 2008, Official Report, column 557W, on departmental buildings, which contractors provided goods and services for the expenditure on (a) 10-12 Downing Street, (b) 70 Whitehall, (c) Admiralty Arch and (d) minor furniture and fittings. [232960]

Kevin Brennan: The names of the contractors that provided goods and services recorded as departmental building fixed assets on page 106 of the Cabinet Office annual report and accounts 2007-08 can be provided only at a disproportionate cost.

Ecovert FM

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster pursuant to the answer of 14 July 2008, Official Report, column 155W, on Ecovert FM, what his definition is of minor works; and what the level of the threshold is. [235048]

Kevin Brennan: Minor works are any reactive maintenance works that fall below the contractual financial threshold. The threshold level is commercial in confidence.

Elderly: Coastal Areas

Chris Ruane: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what percentage of the population is over state pension age in each of the principal seaside towns in England and Wales. [234933]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your question regarding what percentage of the population is over state pension age in each of the principal seaside towns in England and Wales. (234933)

The attached table shows the percentage of persons of pensionable age for principal seaside towns in England and Wales for mid-2006, the latest year for which estimates are available.

Employment: Enfield

Joan Ryan: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster (1) how many people were employed in Enfield North constituency in each year since 1997; [235447]

(2) how many people were unemployed in Enfield North constituency in each year since 1997. [235451]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Dennis Roberts, dated November 2008:

The National Statistician has been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Questions asking how many people were employed in Enfield North constituency in each year since 1997, and how many people were unemployed in Enfield North constituency in each year since 1997. I am replying in her absence. (235447, 235451)

The Office for National Statistics compiles employment statistics for local areas from the Annual Population Survey (APS) and its predecessor the annual Labour Force Survey (LFS) following International Labour Organisation definitions.

Table 1, attached, shows the number of people aged 16+, resident in the Enfield North constituency, who were in (a) employment since 1997 and (b) unemployment since 1997. Estimates are provided for 12 month periods ending in February from 1997 to 2004 from the annual LFS and for 12 month periods ending in March from 2005 to 2008 from the APS.

As these estimates are for a subset of the population in small geographical areas, they are based on small sample sizes, and are therefore subject to large margins of uncertainty.

These figures along with a wide range of other labour market data for parliamentary constituencies and local authorities are also published on the Office for National Statistics' Nomis® website: www.nomisweb.co.uk.

Table 1: Number of parsons employed and unemployed[1] resident in Enfield North

[1] Levels of employment and unemployment are provided for persons aged 18 and over. The figures presented are weighted to population estimates published in 2007.

[2] Coefficients of Variation have been calculated for the latest period as an indication of the quality of the estimates. See Guide to Quality below.

Guide to Quality

The Coefficient of Variation (CV) indicates the quality of an estimate, the smaller the CV value the higher the quality. The true value is likely to lie within +/- twice the CV—for example, for an estimate of 200 with a CV of 5 per cent. we would expect the population total to be within the range 180-220.

Key Coefficient of Variation (CV) (%) Statistical Robustness

* $0 \leq CV < 5$ Estimates are considered precise

 $5 \leq CV < 10$ Estimates are considered reasonably precise

 $10 \leq CV < 20$ Estimates are considered acceptable

* $CV \geq 20$ Estimates are considered too unreliable for practical purposes

Annual Population Survey and annual Labour Force Survey

Foreign Workers

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster pursuant to the answer of 27 October 2008, Official Report, columns 765-6W, on foreign workers, what estimate the Office for National Statistics has made of the number of foreign workers in employment in the UK who are living in communal establishments. [233180]

Kevin Brennan [holding answer 4 November 2008]: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question on the number of foreign workers in employment in the UK living in communal establishments. (233180)

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) compiles its most timely employment statistics from the Labour Force Survey (LFS) following International Labour Organisation definitions. Statistics for the number of foreign workers in employment living in communal establishments are not available from the LFS.

An alternative estimate of the number of jobs, known as Workforce Jobs, is available from surveys of businesses. As part of the reconciliation between the two sources, ONS has estimated the total number of workers living in communal establishments as 80,000, based on a pilot survey carried out in 2000. In addition, the number of temporary foreign workers not covered by the LFS has been estimated as 170,000, based on ONS experimental short term migration estimates. An estimate of the number of foreign workers living in communal establishments is not explicitly made.

ONS is undertaking a programme of work to test the feasibility of a communal establishments' survey. Part of the work programme will establish the content of the survey. One requirement for the survey, if feasible, will be to estimate the number of people in employment living in communal establishments.

Government Communications

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what progress has been made on appointing a new Permanent Secretary for Government Communication; and if he will make a statement. [229117]

Mr. Byrne: An announcement was made on 12 November 2008 on the appointment of Matt Tee as the new Permanent Secretary for Government Communications.

Home Information Packs

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many home information packs have been commissioned by his Department or its representatives to market a residential property; for which properties; at what cost; and whether a voluntary home condition report was purchased as part of the packs. [235002]

Kevin Brennan: The Cabinet Office is not marketing any residential properties and has not commissioned any home information packs.

Members: Correspondence

John Howell: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster when he plans to reply to the letter of 2 September 2008 from the hon. Member for Henley on a complaint made against a civil servant by a constituent, Mr Geoff Weir. [231745]

Kevin Brennan [holding answer 30 October 2008]: On 30 October 2008 the Cabinet Secretary replied to the hon. Member for Henley's letter on behalf of his constituent, Mr. Geoff Weir, dated 2 September 2008.

Minimum Wage: Bexley

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many people received no more than the national minimum wage in Bexleyheath and Crayford constituency in each year since its introduction. [235999]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Dennis Roberts, November 2008:

The National Statistician has been asked to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question asking how many people received no more than the national minimum wage in Bexleyheath and Crayford constituency in each year since its introduction. I am replying in her absence.

(235999)

Estimates for the number of jobs paid at the national minimum wage are not available from the Office for National Statistics. However, estimates for the number of all employee jobs paid below the national wage are available by Government Office Region. This is the lowest geographical breakdown published by ONS.

I attach a table showing the number of jobs earning less than the national minimum wage for London region for all employees in each year since 1998.

A guide to measuring low pay and associated articles can be found on the National Statistics website at:

Ministerial Policy Advisors

Mr. Maude: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster pursuant to the written ministerial statement of 22 July 2008, Official Report, columns 99-102WS, on special advisers, what expenditure the Government incurred in (a) pension contributions on behalf of and (b) severance payments to special advisers in 2007-08. [234021]

Kevin Brennan: I refer the right hon. Member to the statement made by my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister on 22 July 2008, Official Report, columns 99-102WS, which included £993,329 in severance payments to special advisers in line with the contractual provisions set out in the model contract for special advisers. It also included an estimate of £546,000 for pension contributions.

Non-profit Making Associations

Margaret Moran: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many Government contracts have been awarded to social enterprises in each of the last three years, broken down by Department. [236225]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested is not held centrally. Businesses that are awarded contracts by the Government are not currently required to state whether they are social enterprises and no detailed central record of contracts awarded is held.

Productivity

Chris Ruane: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what the productivity levels per worker were in each of the last 17 years. [234496]

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question on what the productivity levels per worker in the UK economy was in each of the last 17 years. (234496)

The Office for National Statistics compiles quarterly productivity statistics for the UK. Output per worker is the ratio of Gross Value Added (GVA) at basic prices and Labour Force Survey (LFS) total employment.

Table 1 provides estimates of the index value with 2003 = 100 of Output per Worker for the United Kingdom for the years 1991 to 2007.

Public Bodies

Mr. Maude: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what criteria the Office for National Statistics uses to decide whether a publicly funded body may be classified as a private sector organisation. [233370]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question asking what criteria the Office for National Statistics uses to decide whether a publicly-funded body may be classified as a private sector organisation (233370).

ONS produces the United Kingdom's National Accounts. The National Accounts are an internationally comparable accounting framework that describes the activities in a national economy, including the transactions that take place between sectors of that economy. The relevant international manuals are the System of National Accounts 1993 (SNA93) and the European System of Accounts 1995 (ESA95) in particular.

As part of the process of producing the National Accounts, ONS decides on the classification of institutions and transactions within the economy. This well-established process is set out in Annex A of the National Statistics Protocol on Statistical Integration and Classification available at: http://www.ons.gov.uk/about-statistics/ns-standard/cop/protocols/index.html.

Paragraphs 19-24 of the protocol annex provide a brief description of the classification criteria used when classifying an institution to the public or private sector. The paragraphs are reproduced below for ease. 'NACC' in paragraph 22 refers to the National Accounts Classification Committee, which is described in detail within the protocol.

Classification criteria: the basic approach to classification

19. Each classification decision is taken on its own merits and in line with international statistical guidance. Cases of public interest tend to be one of two types:

i. whether an entity, an organisation or financing vehicle for example, is in the private or public sector;

ii. whether government receipts are a charge for a service or a tax

i. Classification of an entity to the public or private sector

20. The guidance is extensive but two main stages can be identified when classifying an entity to an institutional sector. The first involves a decision on whether the entity is within the public or private sectors, and the second a decision on whether it is a market or non-market producer.

21. In summary the difference between the public and private sectors is determined by where control lies, rather than by ownership or whether or not the entity is publicly financed. International guidance defines control as the ability to determine general corporate policy. For example, this control can be exercised through the appointment of directors, control of over half of the shareholders voting power, through special legislation or decree, or through regulation.

22. As a result NACC will examine an entity to see whether there are any factors that enable any part of the public sector, either individually or collectively, to determine the general corporate policy of the entity. This includes recognition that government, or other sectors, may also control a unit through contractual arrangements. If this control is established the entity is classified to the public sector.

23. Having decided whether an entity is part of the public or private sectors, the second important aspect for sector classification is to determine whether it is a market or non-market entity. Public sector market entities are classified as public corporations (for example Royal Mail and Manchester Airport Group); public sector non-market entities are classified in the general government sector (for example government departments and the BBC). General government is then sub-divided into sub-sectors, including central government, state government and local government. Private sector market entities are classified as private corporations, and private sector non-market entities are generally classified to a sector known as Non Profit Institutions Serving Households.

24. The borderline between market and non-market classification is defined in the international guidance by whether more than fifty per cent of the production costs are covered by sales of goods and services.

Deprivation Indicators

Chris Ruane: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster (1) what the lower super output areas are with the (a) highest and (b) lowest rankings on the living environment domain for the multiple index of deprivation in each of the principal seaside towns in England and Wales; [234944]

(2) what the lower super output areas are with the (a) highest and (b) lowest average income level for each of the principal seaside towns in England and Wales; [234941]

(3) what the lower super output areas are with the (a) highest and (b) lowest employment levels in each of the principal seaside towns in England and Wales. [234942]

John Healey: I have been asked to reply.

The following tables list the codes for the least and most deprived lower super output areas in the principal seaside towns in England, on the overall measure of multiple deprivation and across the seven domains of the Index of Multiple Deprivation 2007. Information on deprivation in Welsh towns can be obtained from the Welsh Assembly Government Statistical Directorate.

WALES

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many external consultants work for his Department. [237144]

Mr. Paul Murphy: None.

Departmental Land

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much surplus land his Department owns; and what the (a) area and (b) estimated monetary value of each site is. [236424]

Mr. Paul Murphy: None.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many full-time equivalent staff in his Department assist special advisers; and what the cost of employing such staff was in each of the last three years. [237497]

Mr. Paul Murphy: None.

HOUSE OF COMMONS COMMISSION

Portcullis House: Repairs and Maintenance

Michael Fabricant: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission on what percentage of sitting days in the last 12 months have (a) one and (b) both water features in the Portcullis House Atrium been out of operation; for what reason the water features have not been in operation; what steps have been taken to restore them to working order; and if he will make a statement. [235313]

Nick Harvey: Both Portcullis House Atrium water features were out of service for one sitting day during the last 12 months on 10 November 2008, which represents 0.67 per cent. of sitting days. The water features were decommissioned for routine maintenance and repairs over the weekend of 8 and 9 November and the contractor failed to recommission them at the prescribed time, prior to the start of business on 10 November.

SCOTLAND

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many Questions for written answer were tabled to him in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04, (c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235384]

Ann McKechin: Details are as follows:

| Session | Number of written PQs tabled | Number not fully answered on grounds of disproportionate cost | Number answered half factually and half at disproportionate cost |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 128 | 1 | 0 |
| 2003-04 | 121 | 0 | 2 |
| 2004-05 | 120 | 0 | 3 |
| 2005-06 | 185 | 1 | 2 |
| 2006-07 | 258 | 1 | 1 |
| 2007-08[1] | 381 | 0 | 2 |

[1] Until 31 October 2008

LEADER OF THE HOUSE

Committees

Grant Shapps: To ask the Leader of the House what estimate she has made of the annual cost of the proposed (a) regional Select Committees and (b) regional Grand Committees, including remuneration for Committee Chairs. [236179]

Chris Bryant: The House of Commons Management Board has produced estimated costs of regional select committees, which were distributed in the Vote Office in advance of the debate in the House on 12 November, as an Explanatory Memorandum relating to the Government's motions.

The House decided on 12 November that there should be no pay for regional Select Committee Chairs.

The estimated costs, excluding pay for Select Committee Chairmen, are as follows:

(a) select committees: £924,348

(b) grand committees: £312,080

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Leader of the House how many Questions for written answer were tabled to her and her predecessors in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04, (c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235388]

Chris Bryant: The information is as follows:

| Session | Total number of questions answered | Number of questions where whole or part of the answer could not be provided due to disproportionate cost |
|---|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 146 | 8 |
| 2003-04 | 106 | 3 |
| 2004-05 | 53 | 0 |
| 2005-06 | 261 | 3 |
| 2006-07 | 205 | 9 |
| 2007-08 (to date) | 228 | 11 |

Early-Day Motions

David Taylor: To ask the Leader of the House what recent assessment she has made of the methods by which hon. Members may add their names to early-day motions. [235325]

Chris Bryant: Hon. Members may add their names to an early-day motion by signing a copy of the motion or a piece of paper with the EDM number; by asking another hon. Member to sign on their behalf; or by asking in person in the Table Office for their name to be added.

The Procedure Committee recommended in May 2007 that there should be no move towards the electronic tabling of early-day motions without significantly stronger authentication than is currently required for parliamentary questions (First Report of 2006-07, HC 513, paragraphs 93 to 96).

The House endorsed this approach in its debate on the Committee's Report on 25 October 2007.

The Procedure Committee is currently considering the issue of authentication as part of its inquiry into written questions.

Parliamentary Questions

Mr. Hollobone: To ask the Leader of the House if she will bring forward proposals to allow hon. Members to table no more than one Question for oral Answer to each Department which answers substantive and topical Questions in respect of each answering day. [236847]

Chris Bryant: I have no current plans to do so but I will keep the operation of topical questions under review.

CULTURE, MEDIA AND SPORT

Arts Council England: Employment Agencies

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much Arts Council England spent on recruitment consultants in each of the last five years; and which companies provided these services. [231370]

Barbara Follett: Arts Council England has provided the information in the table for spend on recruitment consultants.

Cost of recruitment consultants

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 141,381 |
| 2004-05 | 108,366 |
| 2005-06 | 77,669 |
| 2006-07 | 189,733 |
| 2007-08 | 190,027 |
| Total | 707,176 |

The recruitment consultants used by Arts Council England were: Adept Recruitment, AEM International, Accountancy Addit, Advantage Placement, Anderson Leigh Associates, Ann Pettengell Gold Helm Ltd, Baskenoch and Clark, Barkers Human Resources, Brand Recruitment Ltd, Buckley Prichard International Ltd, Capita Resourcing Ltd, Crystal UK Ltd, Eden Brown, Eventus Ltd, Facilities Recruitment Limited, Hays, HR Resourcing, Hudson Global Resources, Huntress Search Ltd, International Resources Group, JR Personnel, Key Personnel, Law Absolute, Macmillan Davies, Michael Page UK, Northern Recruitment Group PLC, Office Angels Ltd, Pan European Recruitment, Payroll Partnerships, Pure Resourcing Solutions, Robert Half Ltd, Roberts Knight SE, Select Appointments plc, Solutions Recruitment, Spherion UK, Synergy, Tate Appointments, The ID Group Ltd, The Principle Partnership, TFPL, Volt Europe.

Departmental Internet

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport for which Government websites his Department are responsible; how many visitors each received in the last period for which figures are available; and what the cost of maintaining each site was in that period. [235041]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The information requested is as follows:

(a) Visitor figures for the period 2007-08 were supplied in my answer to the hon. Member for North East Hertfordshire the (Mr. Heald) on 17 November 2008, Official Report, columns 8-10W. Visitor figures for Breakout site are counted in the Culture (main departmental) website figures.

(b) Maintenance costs for DCMS websites are covered under one contract. In 2007-08 this figure was £8,741, in addition £4,800 was spent on editorial costs for the Breakout minisite.

English Heritage: Planning

Mr. Robathan: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport which planning applications for renewable energy projects English Heritage have objected to in the last five years. [234843]

Barbara Follett: English Heritage has a statutory role in the planning process to provide advice to local authorities on planning applications that impact on the historic environment. English Heritage is consulted on approximately 16,000 planning cases a year. Since May 2004, English Heritage estimates it has been consulted on approximately 100 renewable energy projects and has raised concerns about just over 20 of these. Figures prior to this period are available only at disproportionate cost. The projects are set out in the following table.

| Region | Formal applications consulted on | Number for which concerns raised | Project |
|---|---|---|---|
| Yorkshire | 41 | 5 | Ivy House, Rectory Road, Rowe, East Riding |
| | | | Hall Farm, Routh, East Riding |
| | | | Chelker Reservoir, Craven, North Yorks |
| | | | Brightenber Hill, Skipton, Craven, North Yorks |
| | | | Grange Wind Farm, Flixborough Grange, North Lincs |

| Region | Formal applications consulted on | Number for which concerns raised | Project |
|---|---|---|---|
| North West | 4 | 2 | Brownrigg Hall, Allonby, Allerdale, Cumbria |
| | | | Howes Farm, Skelton, Cumbria |
| North East | 11 | 4 | Green Rigg Fell, Ray Farm and Steadings, Tyneside (originally a single application but effectively became three interlinking schemes) |
| | | | Kiln Pit Hill, Tyneside |
| East Midlands | 8 | 3 | Thackson's Well Wind Farm, Long Bennington, South Kesteven, Lincs |
| | | | Ellands Farm, Barnwell Road, Hemington, East Northants |
| | | | Swinford Farm, Stanford, Leics |
| West Midlands | 3 | 1 | Lower Farm, Bearstone, Market Drayton, Shrops |
| South East | 6 | 2 | North Downs Wind Farm, Langdon, Dover |
| | | | Gas Pressure Reducing Station, Juggs Road, Kingston Near Lewes, East Sussex |
| East of England | 15 | 3 | Bradwell Wind Farm |
| | | | Hemsby, Yarmouth |
| | | | Nr Toseland Hall, Cambs |
| South West | 13 | 2 | Batsworthy Cross, Knowstone, North Devon |
| | | | Morwenstow, North Cornwall |
| London | 0 | 0 | |

Mr. Robathan: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what the policy is of English Heritage on planning applications for renewable energy projects. [234844]

Barbara Follett: English Heritage has a statutory role in the planning process to provide advice to local authorities on planning applications that impact on the historic environment. Within that context, English Heritage is supportive of renewable energy projects. It has been successfully encouraging pre-application discussion for all development proposals, including for renewable energy schemes, with the aim of ensuring that by the time a formal application is submitted, it takes full account of the historic environment and is therefore more likely to be successful.

Public Libraries

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many public libraries have opened in the last 10 years. [233046]

Barbara Follett: Information on the number of public library openings is not held centrally. But the data on the number of libraries open more than 10 hours is collected as part of the Chartered Institute of Public Finance and Accountancy (CIPFA), Public Library Statistics. Therefore, the only way to obtain an accurate figure for the balance between library openings and closures is to consider the CIPFA statistics over this period, copies of which are available in the House Library.

In 1996-97, 3,572 libraries were open more than 10 hours. In 2006-07, 3,494 libraries were open more than 10 hours, a net difference of 78.

Racial Harassment

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many complaints of racial abuse relating to staff for which his Department is responsible have been (a) investigated and (b) upheld in the last 12 months. [236891]

Mr. Sutcliffe: There have been no complaints of racial abuse relating to DCMS staff in the last 12 months.

Television: Licensing

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many pensioners in Enfield North constituency received a free television licence in each year since the introduction of the scheme. [235412]

Andy Burnham: TV Licensing, which administers free television licences for people aged 75 or over as agents for the BBC, is not able to provide geographical breakdowns of the number of free licences issued.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what powers the Television Licensing Authority has to instruct bailiffs to collect unpaid television licence fees. [236181]

Andy Burnham: The Television Licensing Authority does not have powers to instruct bailiffs to collect unpaid television licence fees.

OLYMPICS

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Maude: To ask the Minister for the Olympics pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Rochford and Southend East of 6 October 2008, Official Report, columns 635W, on departmental buildings, what the cost of this refurbishment was. [233880]

Tessa Jowell: The rooms in 26 Whitehall were redecorated as part of the redecoration programme covering the whole of the building (26 Whitehall). Further additional costs specifically relating to the relocation into the building by the Office of the Minister for the Olympics were incurred to a value of £8,485 plus VAT.

Since then, my office has moved to co-locate with officials from the Government Olympic Executive in 2-4 Cockspur street to enable more integrated and efficient work. Here a new office was constructed and furnished between July and September 2008, at a cost of £40,625 plus VAT. These costs cover both my own ministerial office and that occupied by my private office.

Members: Correspondence

Mr. Winnick: To ask the Minister for the Olympics when she plans to respond to the letter from the hon. Member for Walsall North of 30 September 2008 regarding a constituent. [234487]

Tessa Jowell [holding answer 10 November 2008]: A letter of response has been sent to the hon. Member for Walsall, North today.

Olympic Games 2012: Caravan Sites

Mr. Amess: To ask the Minister for the Olympics (1) what steps she (a) has taken and (b) plans to take to provide stop-overs for caravans on (i) the M20 and (ii) other routes from Channel ports to the Olympic venues; what recent representations she has received on this issue; and if she will make a statement; [235489]

(2) what steps she (a) has taken and (b) plans to take to provide campsites to cater for caravans, motor caravans and trailer tents for persons attending the Olympic Games in 2012; what recent representations she has received on this issue; and if she will make a statement; [235490]

(3) what recent discussions she has had with the Caravan Club about the provision of caravan sites for those attending the Olympic Games in 2012; and if she will make a statement; [235491]

(4) what discussions she has had since January 2008 with (a) the Mayor of London and (b) Transport for London on the provision of caravan sites for those attending the Olympic Games in 2012; and if she will make a statement. [235688]

Tessa Jowell: Along with the Greater London Authority, Transport for London and others the Government will be considering visitor plans as host city for the games.

We recognise that motor home and caravan users may wish to visit the UK for the 2012 games. The Olympic Delivery Authority has had initial discussions with the Caravan Club about existing and possible caravan sites with a view to considering how the provision of public transport and licensed sites can be integrated for 2012.

Olympic Games 2012: Contracts

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Minister for the Olympics which contractors have won landscaping contracts for the London 2012 Olympics; in which (a) country and (b) county each is based; and what proportion of landscaping work on the site has been awarded to each. [235921]

Tessa Jowell: The landscaping management contract for the north of the Olympic Park has been awarded to BAM Nuttall Ltd., a UK-based company with offices in Surrey.

The contract covers approximately 42 hectares of hard and soft landscaping works on the Olympic Park. It is worth noting that this award provides for the Tier 1 management function only; the tier 2 works packages are yet to be let by BAM Nuttall and will offer the landscape industry further London 2012 opportunities.

The landscaping contract for the south of the Olympic Park is due to be awarded in 2009.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Minister for the Olympics what (a) environmental and (b) other criteria were considered in deciding on the bids for landscaping contracts for the London 2012 Olympics. [235922]

Tessa Jowell: The North Park has been evaluated to date and environmental considerations taken into account in the selection of BAM Nuttall Ltd. as contractor for management of delivery the North Park.

The evaluation criteria used to award that contact fall under two main headings of Commercial and Technical. Under these two headings, the Technical evaluation is further broken down to consider Quality and Functionality, Experience and Capability and Project Delivery whilst the Commercial evaluation is further broken down to consider Price and acceptance of Contractual Terms.

Tier 2 works packages are yet to be let by BAM Nuttall and will be evaluated under ODA criteria for inclusion, equality and diversity, environment, and sustainability.

Olympic Games 2012: Finance

Hugh Robertson: To ask the Minister for the Olympics what outstanding requests from the Olympics Delivery Authority for resources from contingency funding are under consideration; and if she will make a statement. [229333]

Tessa Jowell [holding answer 23 October 2008]: The next London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games Annual Report will be produced in January and will include fully updated financial information, including the outcomes of agreed contingency requests. Thereafter, we will publish a quarterly financial update which will include any changes to published budgets.

Hugh Robertson: To ask the Minister for the Olympics pursuant to the answer of 27 October 2008, Official Report, column 690W, on Olympic Games: finance, how much is to be given to each Home Country Sports Council; and to what types of projects the money will be allocated. [232277]

Mr. Sutcliffe [holding answer 3 November 2008]: I have been asked to reply.

The Home Country Sports Councils' contribution of £290 million to elite and community sport as part of the overall Olympic budget is from their existing national lottery resources.

It is for the Home Country Sports Councils to determine how this money is spent on support for elite athletes and coaches, facilities for elite and community use, and community sport programmes. Sport England, for example, have provided funding for the Lee Valley Athletics Centre, which is used by the local community and elite athletes, contributing to our world class performance goals as well as to the legacy goal of getting 2 million people more active by 2012, including 1 million through sport.

Performance Appraisal

David Simpson: To ask the Minister for the Olympics how many staff for whom she is responsible did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235215]

Tessa Jowell: None.

Racial Harassment

David Simpson: To ask the Minister for the Olympics how many complaints of racial abuse relating to staff for which her Office is responsible have been (a) investigated and (b) upheld in the last 12 months. [236903]

Tessa Jowell: There have been no complaints of racial abuse investigated or upheld in relation to any of my staff in the last 12 months.

NORTHERN IRELAND

Departmental Older Workers

Mr. Paterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many people over the age of (a) 55 and (b) 60 were recruited to his Department in the last 12 months; and what percentage of all recruits this represented in each case. [234256]

Paul Goggins: Of the 58 people recruited to the Northern Ireland Office in the last 12 months, one (1.7 per cent.) has been aged between 55 and 60 years of age. None has been over the age of 60.

Until recently, age requirements for appointment to the Civil Service were that appointees should have reached the age of 16 on or before 1 July prior to the date of appointment, and be less than 65 years of age at the date of appointment. This policy has recently been reviewed and, with effect from 1 September 2008, there is no longer an upper age limit for appointees.

Departmental Sick Leave

Mr. Paterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what estimate he has made of the number of hours of work lost through sickness absence on the part of staff working in his Department in the last 12 months. [234258]

Paul Goggins: The Northern Ireland Office records sickness absence in days and not in hours; the estimated figure relating to working days lost by NIO staff for the 12 month period from 1 October 2007 to 30 September 2008 is 15,287.57 days.

Drugs: Crime

Mr. McGrady: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what recent assessment he has made of the effectiveness of measures to combat drug-related crime in Northern Ireland. [233492]

Paul Goggins: Drug misuse in Northern Ireland, which has a lower incidence of Class A drug use than elsewhere in the UK, is falling. However, Government take the harm caused by drugs very seriously and will continue to prioritise the targeting of criminal gangs involved in the supply of illegal drugs.

The PSNI is committed to building on recent successes in disrupting the supply of drugs in Northern Ireland with an increased number of significant arrests and seizures. During 2007-08 the PSNI were responsible for frustrating, disrupting and dismantling 58 crime gangs involved in importing drugs into Northern Ireland and supplying them onto the streets. The PSNI and NIO work in partnership with devolved Departments, agencies and community and voluntary organisations to tackle alcohol and drug misuse, as part of the DHSSPS 'New Strategic Direction for Dugs and Alcohol'.

Tackling the supply and sale of illegal drugs in Northern Ireland is a key priority for the Organised Crime Task Force (OCTF). OCTF partners work closely together with their counterparts in the rest of the UK and the Republic of Ireland to tackle the scourge of drugs. Government's focus is on closing down the supply chain and stopping drugs reaching our streets.

Since the beginning of 2008 the PSNI have uncovered 77 cannabis factories; as a result of these operations, drugs to the value of £15.5 million have been seized and 72 people charged.

Olympic Games 2012

Mr. Paterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what recent discussions he has had with the (a) First Minister and (b) Deputy First Minister on Northern Ireland's contribution to the 2012 Olympics. [234296]

Mr. Woodward: I have had had no recent discussions with the First and Deputy First Ministers on this matter.

Plain English

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how much his Department has spent on Plain English Campaign training courses in each year since 2005. [231234]

Paul Goggins: The Northern Ireland Office has not commissioned or delivered Plain English Campaign courses from 2005 to date.

Saville Inquiry

Mr. Paterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how much the Saville Inquiry has cost to date; and how much it is expected to cost. [234177]

Mr. Woodward: I am advised that the cost of the Bloody Sunday Inquiry is £184.9 million up to the end of October 2008. The Inquiry's most recent estimate of the final cost is £191 million. The Inquiry is working with the Northern Ireland Office to introduce additional measures controlling future costs as a matter of urgency. If this estimate alters, I undertake to notify the House.

TRANSPORT

Airports: Construction

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what his Department's planned spend on matters related to the expansion of Heathrow and Stansted airports is in (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [234800]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The 2003 Future of Air Transport White Paper made clear that the Government would not fund airport development. That would be the responsibility of the airport operator. However, we are committed to the delivery of the policies in the White Paper and for 2008-09 our non-staff costs for Heathrow and Stansted expansion related work is budgeted at £1.5 million. This includes provision for follow-up work to the "Adding Capacity at Heathrow Airport" consultation exercise and preparation for the Department's potential involvement in the Stansted second runway planning inquiry.

Resources for subsequent years are currently the subject of internal business planning which will take account of the latest position on developments with both airports.

Aviation

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) what [illegible]rage number of passengers on internal flights [illegible]n Great Britain in the last period for which figures are available is, expressed (a) in passenger numbers and (b) as a percentage of passenger-carrying capacity; [234340]

(2) how many internal flights within Great Britain there were in 2007; and what estimate he has made of the overall number of passengers who travelled on such flights. [234341]

Jim Fitzpatrick: In 2007, there were 293,000 passenger flights departing airports in Great Britain to fly to another airport in Great Britain. These flights carried 17.2 million passengers. This equates to an average of 59 passengers per flight, equivalent to 64 per cent. of estimated seat capacity.

Aviation: Certification

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) how many type approval certificates for aircraft were issued by the Civil Aviation Authority in each of the last three years; [236845]

(2) what the average time taken for the Civil Aviation Authority to give type approval for usage to an aircraft has been in the last three years. [236846]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Under EC Regulation 216/2008 the type certification of the majority of aircraft manufactured or registered in EU member states is the responsibility of the European Aviation Safety Agency. This has been the position since 2003 when the agency came into being. However, certain aircraft types listed in Annex II to the regulation are not covered by the agency's remit. The aviation authority of the member state in which any such aircraft is registered remains responsible for its type certification or, in the case of aircraft not eligible for a type certificate, the approval of a permit to fly.

The CAA has not issued any type certificates for aircraft covered by Annex II to Regulation 216/2008 in the last three years. However, the CAA has issued seven type approvals for a permit to fly in that time. The time taken to process applications for such type approvals is very much dependent on the quality of information provided by the applicant. For CAA type approvals involving a UK manufacturer, past experience shows that the average time taken for the approval process is approximately nine months.

British Railways Board (Residuary): Finance

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what funding his Department provided to the British Railways Residuary Board in 2008-09. [234897]

Paul Clark: As at 11 November 2008, British Railways Residuary Board Ltd. has required no funding from the Department for Transport in this financial year.

Bus Services: Concessions

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport which local authorities offer free bus travel before 9.30 am to pensioners. [234996]

Paul Clark: A list of the 186 authorities in England that offered free travel before 9.30 am as at 30 June 2008 has been placed in the House Library.

Concessionary travel schemes in Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales are the responsibility of the devolved administrations.

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what recent discussions he has had with local authorities on the provision of central Government funding to local authorities for free bus travel for pensioners. [236274]

Paul Clark: Written representations have been received from a number of local authorities but to date there have been no direct meetings. Officials have met with several local authorities, and representatives from local government are present at our regular stakeholder working groups, where funding is a regular subject for discussion.

The Government remain confident that the total funding package of approximately £1 billion funding for statutory concessionary travel is sufficient, in total, to meet the cost to local authorities.

Congestion Performance Reward Fund

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the criteria are for making awards from the Congestion Performance Reward Fund. [234899]

Paul Clark: The Congestion Performance Fund was established to incentivise the 10 largest urban areas in England to outperform their local congestion targets.

Reward funding is available from the fund, up to a total of £60 million over four years. The first set of payments, totalling £5 million, were made in 2007-08, reflecting the fact that areas had produced delivery plans giving confidence that their targets would be met or exceeded.

The first set of performance-related payments was announced in 2008-09 to areas that statistically significantly exceeded their expected performance, based on 2006-07 journey time data. Areas that did not exceed their target trajectory were eligible for a reduced payment if they could demonstrate that they were actively delivering the programme of work set out in their delivery plans.

Future payments from the fund will reflect the extent to which an area's performance data show that they are on track to do better than their local target.

Driver and Vehicle Licensing Authority: Telephone Numbering

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport whether the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Authority has considered changing its 084 telephone numbers for the public to 03 numbers; and if he will make a statement. [236166]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency has never provided public services that are accessed by use of an 084 number.

Driver and Vehicle Licensing Centre: Databases

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many local authorities accessed records held by the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency via the web enabled enquiry system in 2007-08; and for what purposes. [235014]

Jim Fitzpatrick: During the financial year 2007-08, DVLA vehicle records were accessed by 355 local authorities via the web enabled inquiry system. The purposes for the requests were for investigations into:

Abandoned vehicles;
Fly tipping;
Untaxed vehicles;
Noise nuisance as a result of the vehicle/its use;
Dog fouling;
Fly posting;
Bus lane violations
Nuisance vehicles;
Damage to street furniture.

Electric Vehicles

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will place in the Library a list of attendees at the International Experts' Meeting held (a) in London on 27 October 2008 and (b) at Millbrook, Bedfordshire on 28 October 2008. [234720]

Ian Pearson: I have been asked to reply.

A copy of the list of attendees at the International Experts Meeting on Electric Vehicles, held on the 27 and 28 of October 2008, will be placed in the Libraries of the House.

Freedom of Information

Justine Greening: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) when he expects his Department to complete the internal review regarding the freedom of information request E0004045; and if he will make a statement; [236797]

(2) when he expects his Department to complete the internal review regarding the freedom of information request (a) E0004073 and (b) E0004295; and if he will make a statement. [236798]

Mr. Hoon: These requests for an internal review of previous freedom of information decisions are being handled in accordance with departmental procedures. A decision will be reached as soon as possible, within the timescale allowed for in the Information Commissioner's guidance.

Heavy Goods Vehicles

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many miles heavy goods vehicles of over 3.5 tonnes travelled in Great Britain in (a) 2006 and (b) 2007. [234339]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Goods vehicles of over 3.5 tonnes gross weight travelled 18.1 billion vehicle miles in 2006 and 18.3 billion vehicle miles in 2007.

Road traffic by vehicle type data are published in table 2.1 of "Road Statistics 2007: Traffic, Speeds and Congestion" annual bulletin. Copies of the bulletin have been deposited in the Libraries of the House. This table can also be found on the Department's website at the following web address:

http://www.dft.gov.uk/pgr/statistics/datatablespublications/roadstraffic/speedscongestion/roadstatstsc/roadstats07tsc

Motor Vehicles: Crime

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what recent steps the Government has taken to reduce the numbers of road users who drive without valid (a) driving licences and (b) MOT certificates. [236331]

Jim Fitzpatrick: It is clearly important to keep unlicensed drivers and unroadworthy cars off the road—and we do all that we can to assist the police in detecting and prosecuting offenders.

A significant step has been in providing 24-hour roadside access for the police to driver licensing information (including access to a photograph where one is available). Another followed the introduction of central computerised records of MOT test results—which means that the police can also check MOT status at the roadside. This means the police are able to identify unlicensed drivers and vehicles without a valid MOT and take appropriate action.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what steps the Government has taken to prosecute vehicle owners who do not have valid car tax. [236332]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency (DVLA) operates a comprehensive package of measures to make vehicle excise licensing easy to comply with but very hard to evade. DVLA's approach to combating vehicle excise duty (VED) evasion ranges from the issue of penalties directly from the vehicle record, out of court settlement letters and magistrates court prosecution of evaders, through to direct roadside enforcement action to wheel clamp and impound unlicensed vehicles. DVLA also works in close partnership with the police and local authorities on initiatives to tackle evaders. This approach is proving highly effective as demonstrated by the results of the most recent statistical survey showing an overall compliance rate of 98.5 per cent. by revenue collected.

Official Cars

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the annual budget of the Government Car and Despatch Agency is for providing transport for (a) Ministers, (b) senior civil servants, (c) other members of the Government and (d) the wider public sector. [234904]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Government Car and Despatch Agency (GCDA) is an executive agency of the Department for Transport and is required to recover all the cost of its activities through charges to its customers. It does not therefore have an annual budget. GCDA has to compete with others to provide services to its customers, ensuring that the Agency operates as efficiently and as cost effectively as possible.

In addition, I refer the hon. Member my answer of 6 November 2008, Official Report, columns 643-4W.

Public Transport

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what work has been conducted by his Department to encourage and facilitate the use of intelligent transport systems; and from which budgets such work has been funded in each case. [234901]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport is one of three sponsor partners of the Future Intelligent Transport Systems (FITS) programme which is looking into innovative ways to solve transport problems.

To facilitate the deployment of ITS applications, the Department has developed a web based ITS Toolkit which contains case studies and guidance on monitoring of ITS related schemes. Both of these initiatives are funded through the Transport Technology and Standards Division programme budget.

The Department also provides funding and support to research and development for a number of transport technologies that have the potential to help deliver its objectives. Examples include real time bus information, journey planning and better traffic management and control systems. These activities are usually funded through the budget of the sponsoring division.

Public Transport: Concessions

Tom Brake: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will meet representatives of the Youth Parliament to discuss concessionary fares on public transport for young people aged 11 to 18 years old who are in full-time education. [235320]

Paul Clark: There are no plans at present to extend statutory concessionary travel to young people aged 11 to 18-years-old who are in full-time education. However, I value the work of the UK Youth Parliament and I will consider any requests to meet that I receive from their representatives.

Public Transport: Visually Impaired

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport pursuant to the Answer of 28 October 2008, Official Report, column 837W, on public transport: visually impaired, if his Department will instigate collections of data on the number of visually impaired people injured whilst using public transport; and if he will make a statement. [235654]

Jim Fitzpatrick: There are no plans to instigate collection of such data. Any such collection would place a burden on public transport providers as well as presenting practical difficulties in ensuring the collection of reliable and comparable information.

Railway Heritage Committee

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the (a) role and (b) remit is of the Railway Heritage Committee; what projects it is conducting; and from what budgets the costs of each such project are met. [234908]

Paul Clark: The Railway Heritage Committee exists to designate railway records and artefacts held by specified bodies within the rail industry which are historically significant and worthy of permanent preservation. It also agrees which institution should hold those records and artefacts when they are no longer needed by the business that owns them and the terms on which they should be offered for preservation.

The Committee meets at regular intervals to consider the case for designation of particular items but is not itself responsible for any preservation projects. Its costs are met by the Department for Transport. Its annual budget for 2008-09 is £120,000.

Railways

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many rail passenger journeys were made in (a) 1997 and (b) 2007 (i) England and (ii) from Blundellsands and Crosby railway station. [236696]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport does not hold information on rail passenger journeys from Blundellsands and Crosby railway station. This information may be available from Merseyrail, the Train Operating Company running services from this station, whose website address is:

www.merseyrail.org.

In addition, statistics on rail passenger journeys are published by the Office of Rail Regulation (ORR) in the National Rail Trends Yearbook, which is available in the House Library, or from the ORR website:

www.rail-reg.gov.uk.

Railways: Expenditure

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) how much capital expenditure his Department incurred in relation to rail travel in (a) 1997 and (b) 2007; [236698]

(2) how much his Department plans to spend on the maintenance and development of railway stations in (a) Crosby constituency and (b) England in the next three years; [236715]

(3) how much capital expenditure his Department incurred in relation to railway stations in Crosby constituency in (a) 1997 and (b) 2007. [236699]

Paul Clark: Details of total Government expenditure on the railway are published by the Office of Rail Regulation in National Rail Trends (NRT). Copies of this are available in the Library of the House. National Rail Trends states that in 1997-98, Government expenditure on rail travel was £1,829 million and rose to £5,147 million in 2007-08.

The Department for Transport does not hold details of capital expenditure on railway stations as this is the responsibility of the relevant train operating company or Network Rail.

Roads

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what research his Department has (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated on the number of vehicle miles travelled on (i) motorways and (ii) other roads annually. [236844]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport produces estimates of road traffic in Great Britain each year. This involves commissioning about 10,000 manual traffic counts each year. Each count lasts from 7am to 7pm on a weekday outside of holiday periods. The manual counts are combined with data from around 180 automatic traffic counters which count continuously throughout the year.

Data from both sources are combined to calculate annual estimates of the total distance travelled by type of vehicle, road class and geographical area.

The methodology used for the road traffic estimates was subject to a National Statistics Quality Review in 2006. This was published in January 2007 and is available at:

www.statistics.gov.uk/about/data/methodology/quality/reviews/transport.asp

It is estimated that vehicles in Great Britain travelled 63 billion vehicle miles on motorways and 256 billion vehicle miles on other roads during 2007. This is the most recent year for which data are available.

Further information and data for previous years are available at:

www.dft.gov.uk/pgr/statistics/datatablespublications/roadstraffic/speedscongestion/roadstatstsc/roadstats07tsc

Roads: Accidents

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many (a) men and (b) women aged between 17 and 21 years were killed in road traffic accidents in (i) Hemel Hempstead, (ii) Hertfordshire and (iii) England in each of the last three years. [237123]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The information requested is given in the table:

Number of fatalities

| | 2005 | | | 2006 | | | 2007 | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Male | Female | Total | Male | Female | Total | Male | Female | Total |
| Hemel Hempstead constituency[1] | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Hertfordshire | 5 | 2 | 7 | 4 | 2 | 6 | 5 | 2 | 7 |
| England | 362 | 94 | 456 | 373 | 95 | 468 | 333 | 92 | 425 |

[1] Based on 2004 parliamentary boundaries

Roads: Finance

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the Highways Agency has budgeted for expenditure on major road projects in (a) 2009-10, (b) 2010-11, (c) 2011-12, (d) 2012-13, (e) 2013-14 and (f) 2014-15. [234338]

Paul Clark: The following table sets out the current Highways Agency major projects spending plans for the remainder of the CSR 07 period.

| | £ billion |
|---|---|
| 2009-10 | 0.8 |
| 2010-11 | 1.2 |

In July, the then Secretary of State announced a £6 billion investment package up to 2014 to improve and make better use of strategic roads. Detailed spending plans and annual budgets have not yet been determined and will be set in the light of progress on individual projects.

South West Trains: Tickets

Mr. Chope: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when he expects to announce a decision in response to the application by South West Trains to change its ticket office opening hours. [237184]

Paul Clark: A formal application to review ticket office hours has been received from South West Trains under the major change procedure and is subject to consideration by the Secretary of State under normal industry processes.

Speed Limits: Motorcycles

Mr. Todd: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what plans he has to deploy average speed cameras to detect motorcycles travelling at excess speed; and if he will make a statement. [236323]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Department for Transport is not responsible for speed camera deployment which is entirely a matter for local road safety partnerships. Evidence shows average speed cameras are effective at reducing road casualties and reducing the speed of all types of vehicle. Traffic law enforcement devices require type approval by the Home Office before they can be used. At the moment there are four average speed cameras going through the type approval process. As type approval depends on the outcome of tests and manufacturers' reactions, it is not possible to guarantee that any particular device will be successful or that type approval will be granted within any specific time scale.

Stansted Airport: Air Pollution

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment he has made of the effect of adjacent green field land in mitigating air borne pollution from Stansted Airport. [234837]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Government have not made any detailed assessment of this matter. The Government's policies in respect of Stansted airport were set out in the 2003 'Future of Air Transport' White Paper, and take account of its environmental impacts as well as its economic and other benefits.

Traffic Radio

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the annual budget for Traffic Radio on DAB digital radio is for (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [234903]

Paul Clark: The Traffic Radio budget for the years 2008-2011 is as follows:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2008-09 | 2,945,000 |
| 2009-10 | 2,431,000 |
| 2010-11 | 2,488,000 |

These figures include for the provision of content production, DAB bandwidth (MUX) purchase, management fees, communications and cost to deliver the service via the internet.

Transport: Local Authorities

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what transport grants are to be provided by his Department to local authorities in (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [234898]

Paul Clark: The main capital and revenue transport allocations from the Department for Transport to local authorities in 2008-09, 2009-10 and 2010-11 are provided in the following table.

£ million

| | 2008-09 | 2009-10 | 2010-11 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Integrated Transport Block Funding | 576.791 | 589.383 | 602.383 |
| Highways Maintenance formulaic funding | 652.997 | 693.003 | 763.008 |
| Highways maintenance non-formulaic | 50.212 | 62.614 | 45.609 |
| Major projects[1] | 752 | 767 | 783 |
| Capital de-trunking schemes | 34.937 | 32.284 | 33.782 |
| Capital road safety grant | 17.527 | 17.382 | 17.201 |
| Urban congestion performance funding | 15 | 20 | 20 |
| Concessionary Fares | 212 | 217 | 223 |
| Tyne and Wear Metro specific grant | 27.074 | 41.970 | n/a |
| Transport for London[2] | 2669 | 2793 | 3017 |
| Cycling England[3] | 20 | 60 | 60 |

[1] Major projects allocations include provision for Highways Agency regional schemes as well as local authority schemes. It is for individual regions to advise on the balance.
[2] Grant to Transport for London (TfL) includes provision for resource spend which for authorities outside London is supported by the Department for Communities and Local Government through formula grant.
[3] Cycling England allocations for 2009-10 and 2010-11 include £15 million each year from DCSF.

Revenue funding for de-trunking, road safety and rural bus subsidy is delivered to local authorities via the Department for Communities and Local Government's area-based grant. Allocations for 2008-11 can be found at:

http:///www.communities.gov.uk/documents/localgovernment/xls/770696.xls

Vehicle and Operator Services Agency: Recruitment

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport who is the employer of staff within the Vehicle and Operator Services Agency. [234780]

Jim Fitzpatrick: All those who work in Government Departments or agencies are employed by the Crown and have the rights and obligations which attach to that status, but for the purposes of rights under specific legislation the Department or agency may be the employer in accordance with its delegated powers or be treated as the employer for the purpose of exercising delegated functions.

Waterloo Station

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) when he expects the work on linking one of the former Eurostar platforms at Waterloo International to the main domestic Waterloo terminal to be completed; and how long after the completion date it will be before the first new train services are using the new platform 20 at Waterloo; [235670]

(2) how much it has cost in total to link the former Eurostar platform at Waterloo International to the domestic Waterloo terminal; [235671]

(3) what plans he has for bringing the remaining four Eurostar platforms at Waterloo International into use by domestic trains after the first of these platforms is linked to the domestic Waterloo terminal; and if he will make a statement; [235672]

(4) what the annual cost of maintaining the platforms at Waterloo International Terminal without any train services is expected to be; and if he will make a statement; [235673]

(5) what feasibility studies his Department has commissioned on the future of Waterloo Terminal and Waterloo International Terminal; when these are expected to report; whether they have been asked to look into a long-term option of a 24-platform station, with each platform capable of accommodating 12 car trains; and if he will make a statement; [235674]

(6) when he will announce a decision on new train services into Waterloo, following the decision to link one platform of the former Eurostar platforms to the main station; and if he will make a statement; [235681]

(7) how many extra trains per day into Waterloo will be made possible as a result of the decision to create a platform 20 from one of the former Eurostar platforms. [235682]

Paul Clark: Works to convert platform 20 of Waterloo International for domestic usage will be completed by December 2008. This will provide the capability to operate domestic trains into this platform from this time. The Department for Transport has sought to engage with South West Trains to seek their agreement to operate train services into this platform. The cost of the works to link the former Eurostar platform at Waterloo International to the domestic Waterloo terminal is in the region of £2.9 million.

Beyond this, it is primarily the railway infrastructure on the approaches to Waterloo rather than the number of platforms that limits the number of trains that can use Waterloo station as a whole. Therefore, we are seeking to run longer trains rather than more trains. This is in accordance with the strategy set out in the White Paper "Delivering a Sustainable Railway" published in July 2007.

Network Rail are seeking to provide the necessary additional capacity on the South Western network by extending platforms at stations where required, and are currently taking forward detailed feasibility studies into making all the platforms at Waterloo long enough to accommodate 10 car trains. They will also need to modify the junction layouts on the approaches to the station. It also includes making full use of the remainder of the Waterloo International platforms.

Such a large and complex scheme would allow the use of longer trains than currently use the short platforms and would result in a large increase in capacity on the South Western network to address crowding. The infrastructure works are planned to be completed by 2014. Additionally, for the longer term, Network Rail is also considering how to upgrade the station to accommodate 12-car rolling stock.

Discussions are under way with South West Trains to determine the scope, timing and cost of providing the additional rolling stock that will deliver our strategy. Any proposals made by South West Trains will be evaluated to contractualise the requirements. However, as you would expect, this is subject to concluding value for money negotiations with the train operator.

The platforms at Waterloo International are an integral part of the terminal, building which is operated and managed by BRB (Residuary) Ltd. (BRBR) as a single site. As such it is not possible to accurately allocate the cost of the platforms on a stand alone basis. The total annual costs of managing the entire facility are in the order of £2.5 million. These costs are partially offset by rental income of approximately £340,000 per annum and BRBR are looking for further opportunities to generate income while the terminal is non-operational.

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) what estimates his Department has made of the number of passengers travelling into Waterloo in (a) 2007, (b) 2008, (c) 2009, (d) 2010, (e) 2011, (f) 2015, (g) 2020, (h) 2025 and (i) 2030; and what the basis is for such estimates; [235677]

(2) what recent representations his Department has received from organisations in the rail industry on his forecasts for passenger numbers travelling into Waterloo; and if he will make a statement; [235678]

(3) whether he plans to revise his forecasts of future passenger numbers travelling into Waterloo; and if he will make a statement; [235679]

(4) if he will review the accuracy of the methodology and base figures used to forecast future passenger numbers travelling into Waterloo; and if he will make a statement. [235680]

Paul Clark: We have made a series of estimates of the overall volumes of passengers forecast to travel. The basis of these estimates is the Network Modelling Framework, a forecasting system that incorporates standard industry agreed demand forecasting methodology.

No representations have been received on the overall forecasts.

Forecasts of the overall volumes of arriving passengers at Waterloo during the morning peak were published as part of the HLOS. We have reviewed our forecasts for the CP4 period and concluded that no changes should be made to the extra peak demand to be accommodated by 2013-14. We will monitor actual outturn against forecasts over CP4.

The industry methodology used to forecast rail passenger demand is reviewed on a regular basis. The HLOS forecasts used a base year of 2004-05. There are no plans to revise these base figures.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Democratic Republic of Congo: Overseas Aid

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what plans the Government has to provide humanitarian aid to the displaced people of the eastern Democratic Republic of Congo. [235179]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer given on 17 November 2008, Official Report, columns 116-17W, to my hon. Friend the Member for Coventry, South (Mr. Cunningham).

Television

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development whether the television licence fee in his official Ministerial residence is paid for from public funds. [235344]

Mr. Thomas: Ministers in the Department for International Development do not have the use of an official ministerial residence.

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Academies: Kettering

Mr. Hollobone: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many (a) primary and (b) secondary school pupils he expects to attend the two new planned academies in Kettering. [237201]

Jim Knight: Under the proposals which are currently being developed, the following number of places are planned: (a) 30 nursery and 840 primary school places and (b) 2,700 secondary school places (including 500 post-16 places).

Education Maintenance Allowance: Telephone Services

Justine Greening: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what estimate he has made of the numbers of calls to the Learner Support Helpline that went unanswered in each month since January 2008; and if he will make a statement. [236805]

Jim Knight: This is a matter for the Learning and Skills Council (LSC) who operate the education maintenance allowance (EMA) for the Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF) and contract with Liberata to deliver EMA and the helpline and assessment payment body. Mark Haysom, the LSC's Chief Executive, will write to the hon. Member with the information requested and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Library.

Pre-school Education: Standards

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) how many and what proportion of early years settings have been found to be (a) outstanding, (b) good, (c) satisfactory and (d) inadequate by Ofsted since 1st September 2008; [233559]

(2) how many Ofsted inspections have been completed in early years settings since 1st September 2008. [233562]

Beverley Hughes [holding answer 6 November 2008]: These are matters for Ofsted. The Chief Inspector, Christine Gilbert, has written to the hon. Member and copies of her replies have been placed in the Library.

Letter from Christine Gilbert, dated 11 November 2008:

Parliamentary Question Number 233559: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families, how many and what proportions of early years settings have been found to be (a) outstanding, (b) good, (c) satisfactory and (d) inadequate by Ofsted since 1st September 2008.

Your recent parliamentary question has been passed to me, as Her Majesty's Chief Inspector, for a response.

The numbers and proportions of settings receiving each inspection grade are shown in the table below. These figures are taken from provision inspected between 1 September 2008 and 31 October 2008 and include only active providers on the early years register. Our figures use the most recent inspection visits, where the reports have been quality assured or have not been withdrawn from publication. Therefore, there is a discrepancy between the total number of inspections given here and in the response to Parliamentary Question 233562, which includes all inspections including some that have not been quality assured or published.

Number and percentages of Early Years Register (EYR) inspections between 1 September 2008 and 31 October 2008

| Grade | Number of inspections | Proportion of total inspections (percentage) |
|---|---|---|
| Outstanding | 110 | 6 |
| Good | 1,052 | 55 |
| Satisfactory | 629 | 33 |
| Inadequate | 131 | 7 |
| Total | 1,922 | |

Please note that, as the selection of provision for inspection each year is not random, these figures should not be used to make judgements about the standards of national early years provision.

A copy of this reply has been sent to Rt Hon Beverley Hughes MP, Minister of State for Children, Young People and Families, and will be placed in the library of both Houses.

Letter from Christine Gilbert, dated 11 November 2008:

Parliamentary Question Number 233562: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families, how many Ofsted inspections have been completed in early years settings since 1st September 2008.

Your recent parliamentary question has been passed to me, as Her Majesty's Chief Inspector, for a response.

There were 2,549 inspections of provision recorded on the early years register (EYR) between 1 September 2008 and 31 October 2008. The early years register comprises those settings which provide care for children in the early years age group (aged from birth to the 31 August following a child's fifth birthday) where at least one individual child attends for more than two hours a day. There are a number of exemptions from registration, including schools that make provision for pupils aged three. The full list of exemptions is available from Ofsted's leaflet Registration not required, available at:

http://www.ofsted.gov.uk/Ofstedhome/Formsandguidance/Browseallby/Other/General/Registration-not-required/(language)/eng-GB

The total number of inspections is taken from the figures available on the first working day of November and includes all inspections of active providers, including some that have not been quality assured or published. Therefore, there is a discrepancy between the total number of inspections given here and in the response to Parliamentary Question 233559, which gives outcomes of inspection and only includes those that have been quality assured or published.

A copy of this reply has been sent to Rt Hon Beverley Hughes MP, Minister of State for Children, Young People and Families, and will be placed in the library of both Houses.

Schools: Finance

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what the per pupil average dedicated school grant will be in (a) each local authority in England and (b) England for the 2009-10 academic year. [236987]

Jim Knight: The Department allocates education funding to local authorities on a financial year basis. For the 2009-10 dedicated schools grant, the guaranteed units of funding for pupils in all local authorities and the England average can be found in the revised 2009-11 indicative DSG allocations file at the following link:

http://www.teachernet.gov.uk/docbank/index.cfm?id=13059

This link works and is maintained regularly, being the location where the figures are officially published, and where any further information relating to the guaranteed units of funding and dedicated schools grant for 2009-10 will be updated.

INNOVATION, UNIVERSITIES AND SKILLS

Adult Education: Finance

Stephen Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much his Department spent on the Adult Education and Skills Strategy in (a) the most recent year for which figures are available and (b) in each of the previous five years, broken down by main budget heading. [232396]

Mr. Simon: The majority of funding for adult further education and skills is managed by the Learning and Skills Council (LSC) and included in the LSC budget. Some funding is spent outside the LSC and included in other lines. A breakdown of expenditure from 2002-03 to 2007-08 included in the Adult Education and Skills Strategy line in Annex 2, Table 11 of the 2008 Departmental Report is set out in the following table.

Outturn (£ million)

| | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08[1] |

[2] These lines do not show the full expenditure on these programmes as some expenditure is included in the LSC budget. In particular where funding reduces significantly, this is because funding has been transferred to LSC.

The figures for total expenditure on the adult education and the skills strategy line are taken from Table 11, Annex 2 of the 2008 Departmental Report for the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills.

Airwave Service

Tom Brake: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what organisations for which his Department is responsible (a) use and (b) are planning to use Airwave handsets. [234699]

Mr. Simon: As far as we are aware none of the organisations for which DIUS is responsible use, or are planning to use, Airwave handsets.

Apprentices

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many and what proportion of apprentices (a) were school leavers, (b) were further education college leavers, (c) were already employed by the employer providing the apprenticeship, (d) had been in employment with a different employer and (e) were from another category in each year since 2002. [235175]

Mr. Simon: Information on what route apprentices have come from is not currently available. However, a national apprenticeships vacancy matching service is being developed by the Learning and Skills Council (LSC) to provide a high quality service to employers wishing to recruit apprentices, and to young people and adults considering an apprenticeship. This service will help deliver the objective outlined in World-class Apprenticeships to expand and improve the quality of our apprenticeships programme. The service will be available across England by April 2009. Part of the future role of the service will be to provide the new National Apprenticeship Service (NAS) with management information on apprenticeships.

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills (1) how many and what proportion of (a) large employers, (b) medium-sized employers and (c) small employers in England offered apprenticeships in each year since 2002; [235176]

(2) how many and what proportion of advanced apprenticeship places in England were with (a) large employers, (b) medium-sized employers and (c) small employers in each year since 2002; [235177]

(3) how many and what proportion of level 2 apprenticeship places in England were with (a) large employers, (b) medium-sized employers and (c) small employers in each year since 2002. [235178]

Mr. Simon: Data on the number and size of the employers supporting apprentices are not collected via the individualised learner record (ILR) and hence the information requested is not currently available.

From the 2009/10 academic year, this information will be available on the ILR when a unique employer identifier will have to be provided by all employers of apprentices.

We can provide an estimate of the size of employers that offer and have recruited apprentices from the National Employer Skills Survey (NESS). These data are based on over 79,000 establishments that were surveyed April and July 2007.

Findings of the NESS show that (from Table 1) 6 per cent. of all employers surveyed have recruited an apprentice. 15 per cent. of employers with between 100 and 199 employees have recruited an apprentice, while 26 per cent. of employers with over 500 employees have recruited an apprentice.

From Table 2, 14 per cent. of all employers surveyed have offered an apprenticeship. 25 per cent. of employers with between 100 and 199 employees have offered an apprenticeship, while 40 per cent. of employers surveyed with over 500 employees have offered an apprenticeship.

Counterfeit Manufacturing: Internet

Mr. Leech: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what steps are being taken to tackle the trade in counterfeit goods on internet auction sites. [235829]

Mr. Lammy: The Government's plan for the creative industries, Creative Britain: New Talents for the New Economy, PP1067, published in February 2008 and available in the Library of the House, recognised online infringement of intellectual property rights as a particular concern. That document set out the Government's general action plan for intellectual property enforcement, of which online enforcement forms an important segment. The Intellectual Property Office (IPO) is now leading in the Government's delivery of that plan. In line with the plan, local authority trading standards officers have been given expanded powers to deal with intellectual property crime. The Government have just completed a consultation on introducing exceptional summary (above £5,000) fines in magistrates' courts. The consultation is designed to align the penalties for online and physical copyright offences. And there is ever growing cooperation between law enforcement agencies and internet service providers. For example, eBay work closely with officials at the IPO and the enforcement agencies. During 2007, eBay trained some 7,000 law enforcement officials globally, assisted in over 66,000 investigations and the arrest or conviction of over 500 individuals.

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Maude: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Rochford and Southend, East (James Duddridge) of 6 October 2008, Official Report, columns 527-28W, on departmental buildings, what the cost of the refurbishment was. [233877]

Mr. Simon: The cost of the refurbishment at Kingsgate house, undertaken by the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform on behalf of the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills, was £5.1 million. This provided a cost-effective working environment, with flexible desking on the basis of eight desks for every 10 people, movement-activated lighting to reduce power consumption and video conferencing facilities to reduce travel costs.

Departmental Data Protection

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many (a) universal serial bus flash memory data storage devices, (b) mobile telephones, (c) personal digital assistants and (d) laptop computers, used to store restricted or confidential data have been lost by or stolen from his Department in each year since 2001. [235332]

Mr. Simon: The following table shows how many items used to store restricted or confidential information which have been lost or stolen by the Department since it was created in June 2007. The records do not distinguish between lost and stolen items. Before June 2007, the functions which make up the Department were part of other Government Departments, and records are retained by the Department for Children, Schools and Families and the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform.

| | 2007 | 2008 (to date) |
|---|---|---|
| (a) Universal serial bus flash memory data storage devices | 0 | 0 |
| (b) Mobile telephones | 0 | 0 |
| (c) Personal digital assistants | 2 | 1 |
| (d) Laptop computers | [1] | 0 |

[1] Lost and subsequently recovered.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many press and communications officers are employed by (a) his Department, (b) non-departmental public bodies and (c) its agencies. [230763]

Mr. Simon: The information requested is as follows:

(a) There are currently 12 permanent Press Officers and one temporary Press Officer supplied through the Central Office of Information in the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills. There are 30 Communications Officers employed by the Department in its central communications function.

(b) and (c) For much of its business, the Department operates through a number of arm's length bodies including 20 non-departmental public bodies and other agencies. It is the responsibility of each body to manage its staff and costs. Therefore the Department does not hold the information requested centrally and there would be a disproportionate cost to gather the information requested.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many (a) page hits and (b) visitors his Department's website received in 2007-08. [235324]

Mr. Simon: DIUS was formed following Machinery of Government Changes on 28 June 2007. Prior to the current website being launched in October 2007, a temporary DIUS site existed for which website statistics are not available. Between October 2007 and March 2008 the DIUS website has received:

(a) 5,429,920 hits

and

(b) 494,596 unique visitors.

Departmental Older Workers

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many people aged over (a) 55 and (b) 60 years were recruited by his Department in 2007-08; and what percentage in each case this was of the number of new recruits. [228752]

Mr. Simon: The Department was formed as part of the Machinery of Government changes announced on 28 June 2007. Figures are available from 28 June 2007 to 30 September 2008. The information is set out as follows:

| | Number | Percentage |
|---|---|---|
| Over 55 | 6 | |
| Over 60 | 1 | |
| Percentage of new recruits (over 55) | | 4 |
| Percentage of new recruits (over 60) | | 1 |

Departmental Pensions

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many civil servants working in his Department and its agencies have pensions with a cash equivalent transfer value of over £1 million. [229549]

Mr. Simon: It is not appropriate to disclose pension information for civil servants other than Board Members whose details are shown in the Remuneration Report in annual Resource Accounts. A copy of the Innovation, Universities and Skills Resource Accounts for financial year 2007-8 can be found in the Library or accessed electronically using the following link:

http://www.dius.gov.uk/publications/DIUSResourceAccounts2007-08.pdf

Similar information for the Department's agencies can also be accessed electronically:

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much his Department spent on (a) entertainment, (b) advertising and promotion and (c) public relations consultancy in 2007-08. [228899]

Mr. Simon: The Department does not hold public relations or consultancy spend data at the level of detail sought. To determine the public relations consultancy spend would be at disproportionate cost. Entertainment and advertising and promotion spend for 2007-08 was as follows:

| | £000 | Percentage of total spend |
|---|---|---|
| Entertainment | 81 | 0.0003951 |
| Advertising and Promotion | 470 | 0.0022930 |

The total spend for 2007-08 was £20,505,604,000 as reported in the 2007-08 Resource Accounts.

Higher Education: Admissions

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what proportion of successful undergraduate university applicants from (a) the UK, (b) EU member states other than the UK and (c) non-EU states were accepted for a science, technology, engineering or mathematics course in each year since 2002. [232268]

Mr. Lammy: The latest information is shown in the following table. Figures for the 2008 year of entry will be available in January 2009.

The figures are taken from data collected by the Universities and Colleges Admission Service (UCAS) which are limited to students who apply to full-time undergraduate courses via the UCAS application system. The figures do not therefore cover part-time students, nor those full-time students who apply directly to higher education institutions.

Higher Education: Further Education

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what assessment he has made of the adequacy of higher education representation at regional level of further education colleges who are providing higher education. [236564]

Mr. Lammy: Further education colleges which also provide higher education can offer a distinctive form of excellence for some students who may not otherwise participate in higher education. We are satisfied that there is good co-operation and collaboration at national, regional and local level between providers of further and higher education in order to help learners realise their full potential. However, it is for the institutions within particular regions to decide for themselves on how they should be represented at regional level.

Higher Education: North West

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what recent meetings his officials have had with organisations from the north west to discuss widening access to higher education in the region. [235947]

Mr. Lammy: Ministers and officials speak to many institutions and organisations about issues that affect individuals' progression to higher education. Widening access to higher education is a Government priority. Our policy initiatives are taken forward by our stakeholders who work closely with organisations at local level.

There are five Aimhigher Area Partnerships in the north west which engage with a wide range of schools, colleges and higher education institutions in the region. The Aimhigher programme's primary purpose is to widen participation in higher education.

Furthermore, the Higher Education Funding Council for England (HEFCE) and the North West Universities Association (NWUA) are both members of the Regional Skills and Employment Board. The Board membership also includes the Learning and Skills Council (LSC), the North West Development Agency (NWDA), the Alliance of Sector Skills Councils and Government Office North West etc. The Board last met at the start of October to discuss key regional priorities/challenges. The need to upskill very significant numbers of those already in work to Level 4+ was one of the issues discussed.

The LSC also sits on the Steering Group for the NWUA-led Higher Level Skills Pathfinder which meets monthly. The Pathfinder (funded by HEFCE/NWDA) seeks to increase the capacity of HEIs to deliver higher-level skills in the workplace.

HEFCE has recently received a report from Action on Access (the national co-ordination team for widening participation in higher education) providing an analysis by region of applications and entry to HE from all areas across the country using the Index of Multiple Deprivation as a measure. That report shows that between 2002-03 and 2006-07 the total number of entrants to higher education has increased by 8.9 per cent. in the north west. This growth largely comes from the 20 per cent. most deprived groups with participation from the most deprived neighbourhoods increased by 28.3 per cent.

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills (1) what discussions he has had with the Learning and Skills Council on its working relationship with the Higher Education Funding Council for England in the North West; [236358]

(2) what recent discussions he has had with the Learning and Skills Council on its regional higher education strategies, with particular reference to the North West region. [236359]

Mr. Simon: Ministers from the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills (DIUS) hold regular meetings with the Learning and Skills Council (LSC) to discuss a wide range of issues. Although there have been no recent discussions with Ministers relating to higher education in the north-west, Mark Haysom, the chief executive of the LSC, holds regular meetings with his regional directors to review progress on regional skills priorities, including on the regional contribution of the LSC to higher education skills. There are also regular formal meetings between the LSC and HEFCE chief executives and chairmen.

The forthcoming Grant Letter to the LSC will underline the continuing importance of close engagement between the LSC and HEFCE to ensure that more people can progress into higher education and to provide the higher level skills that employers need to remain competitive.

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what arrangements the Higher Education Funding Council for England has for working with further education colleges that operate in conjunction with higher education providers in the North West region. [236374]

Mr. Lammy: The Council works effectively with all institutions which help learners to acquire higher level skills. Progression from further to higher education is important in enabling learners to realise their full potential. HEFCE officers meet with senior staff from both further education colleges which provide higher education and higher education institutions in the North West in the normal course of HEFCE business. The Council's policies and practices are designed to facilitate close collaboration between different providers in the interests of learners and those seeking higher skills.

Students: Bexley

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many people in Bexleyheath and Crayford constituency received (a) adult learning grants and (b) career development loans in the last period for which figures are available; and what the total monetary value was of such grants and loans. [236459]

Mr. Simon: The Learning and Skills Council administer the adult learning grant and career development loans (through three high street banks), on behalf of the Department.

So far in the 2008-09 academic year, six individuals have received support from an adult learning grant in the Bexleyheath and Crayford constituency. The total value of adult learning grant paid to those individuals so far is around £1,140.

For the period 6 April 2008 to 12 November 2008, a total of 11 career development loans have been issued to individuals residing in Bexleyheath and Crayford. The total value of these loans is £74,174.

Union Learning Fund: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many workplaces in Crosby constituency are in receipt of funding from the Union Learning Fund; and how much the fund has spent in Crosby constituency since its establishment. [236719]

Mr. Simon: Trade unions have a key role to play in promoting the development of learning and skills in the workplace. To help them do this more effectively we introduced the Union Learning Fund in 1998. This source of funding is helping trade unions use their influence with employers, employees and training providers to encourage greater take up of learning at work and boost their own capacity as learning organisations.

With the help of the Union Learning Fund, trade unions and their union learning representatives have been able to develop successful partnerships with employers to raise skill levels in the workplace. There are now over 20,500 trained union learning reps who have helped more than 600,000 workers back into learning since the fund was introduced. Over 200,000 were helped last year, many from those hard to reach groups, who employers and training providers find it so difficult to engage with, including over 34,000 workers with poor basic literacy and numeracy skills.

Union Learning Fund resources are allocated directly to trade unions at a national or regional level. Detailed information on the number of workplaces involved and the associated level of funding at a constituency level is not held by the Department.

Vocational Training

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what recent discussions his Department has had with the Higher Education Funding Council for England on the effectiveness of prioritisation of skills funding at higher levels through its Strategic Development Fund. [235920]

Mr. Lammy: The Higher Education Funding Council for England (HEFCE) set out its specific priorities for advancing its strategic aims and objectives through its Strategic Development Fund (SDF) at:

http://www.hefce.ac.uk/finance/fundinghe/sdf/spp.htm

with its criteria for SDF bids published at:

www.hefce.ac.uk/pubs/hefec/2007/0722/.

The SDF currently offers funding for four specific priority programmes, one of which is 'employer engagement'. This supports a broad programme of high level skills activities in response to Government's priorities set out in the 2008 grant letter, and in order to create the platform for achieving the higher skills ambition set out in the Leitch report.

My officials are in regular contact with HEFCE regarding employer engagement activities funded through the SDF and receive periodic updates on progress and new developments.

TREASURY

11 Downing Street: Utilities

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much was spent on (a) heating, (b) electricity and (c) water bills for (i) No. 11 Downing street and (ii) Dorneywood in each of the last five years. [221190]

Angela Eagle: The information requested in respect of No. 11 Downing street is not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. Dorneywood is owned and operated by the Dorneywood Trust, a registered charity, at no cost to public funds.

Bank Services

Mr. Swayne: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) if he will take steps to restore assets belonging to UK depositors of Kaupthing, Singer and Friedlander (Isle of Man) following the freezing of Icelandic assets; [233556]

(2) what estimate he has made of the losses in excess of £50,000 incurred by UK depositors in Kaupthing, Singer and Friedlander (Isle of Man) following the freezing of Icelandic assets; and if he will make a statement. [233557]

Ian Pearson [holding answer 6 November 2008]: On 8 October, the Treasury made Landsbanki Freezing Order 2008 in order to freeze funds and financial assets relating to Landsbanki. Landsbanki is the only Icelandic bank which has been made the subject of a freezing order.

Bank Services: Pensions

Mr. Heald: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the effects on pension funds of major banks ceasing to pay dividends. [228544]

Ian Pearson: Pension fund exposure to these assets, while not insignificant, is unlikely to be large relative to their total holdings. None the less, these are volatile times for financial markets and the Government are committed to doing whatever it takes to stabilise the banking system, protect savers and taxpayers and support the wider economy.

Banks: Government Shareholding

Mr. Bone: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) whether the ordinary shares in (a) HBOS plc, (b) RBS plc and (c) Lloyds TSB plc purchased by the Commissioners of HM Treasury are ordinary voting shares; whether ordinary dividends may be paid before all shares held by the Government are redeemed or sold in each case; how many directors the Government will be able to appoint to the Board of Directors in each case; and what restrictions will be put on the emoluments of the directors of each of these banks; [229573]

(2) whether the preference shares purchased by the Commissioners of HM Treasury in (a) HBOS plc, (b) RBS Group plc and Lloyds TSB plc are (i) redeemable, (ii) fixed rate, (iii) non-cumulative and (iv) non-voting shares; what the (A) nominal value and (B) rate of dividend is of each type of preference shares; and what the (1) earliest date the company can redeem the shares and (2) latest date the shares have to be redeemed is for each type of share. [229574]

Ian Pearson [holding answer 23 October 2008]: The Government have agreed to underwrite issues of ordinary shares in RBS, Lloyds TSB and HBOS totalling £28 billion. The Government will buy any shares which are not purchased by existing or new shareholders. These shares are voting shares.

The Government are also purchasing preference shares in the firms. The preference shares, which HM Treasury has agreed to invest in RBS, Lloyds TSB and HBOS are redeemable, fixed rate, non-cumulative and non-voting shares. As soon as the preference shares have been repaid, payment of ordinary dividends would be permitted.

The Government's investment is subject to certain conditions, details of which are available in the agreements with the banks. Copies are in the Library.

Mr. Bone: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer on what date each of the different share categories under the £37 billion purchase by the Commissioners of HM Treasury in (a) HBOS plc, (b) RBS Group plc and (c) Lloyds TSB plc will be subscribed. [229576]

Ian Pearson [holding answer 23 October 2008]: The indicative timetable included in the circular issued to shareholders by Lloyds TSB shows that they expect the ordinary shares in the merged entity to be issued on 19 January 2009, subject to shareholder approvals. The RBS circular similarly indicates that they expect the ordinary shares to be issued on 1 December 2008. We expect the new preference shares to be purchased on the same day as the ordinary shares are issued.

Banks: Italy

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what guidance his Department has provided to public authorities on the safety of placing deposits in Italian banks. [236086]

Ian Pearson: As a matter of course, HM Treasury does not comment on individual financial institutions.

Banks: Republic of Ireland

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment has been made of the (a) safety, (b) risk profile and (c) security of deposits made by local authorities in Irish-owned banks operating in the Republic of Ireland. [236091]

Ian Pearson: As a matter of course, HM Treasury does not comment on individual financial institutions.

Betting: Regulation

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer of 11 November 2008, Official Report, column 1083W, on betting: regulation, what plans there are to transfer the regulation of spread betting from the Financial Services Authority to the Gambling Commission. [236976]

Angela Eagle: The Government currently have no such plans.

Departmental ICT

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Fareham (Mr. Hoban) of 27 October 2008, Official Report, columns 778-80W, on departmental ICT, for what reasons (a) HM Revenue and Customs and (b) the Valuation Office Agency were not listed in the answer. [236025]

Mr. Timms: HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) is a non-ministerial Department, and the Valuation Office Agency (VOA) is an agency of HMRC. Neither HMRC nor VOA are agencies of HM Treasury.

Departmental Visits Abroad

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much his Department spent in 2007 on visits by its staff to Brussels; and how many such visits were made by (a) air and (b) rail. [234387]

Angela Eagle: In 2007-08, the Treasury spent £232,000 on official visits to Brussels representing 1,270 visits, of which 19 were by air and 1,251 by rail.

Financial Services Authority: ICT

Mrs. Gillan: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) how many complaints have been received concerning the Gathering Better Regulatory Information Electronically electronic reporting system, in the last 12 months broken down by subject of complaint; [236840]

(2) what the (a) original budget and (b) final costs for the design and implementation of the Gathering Better Regulatory Information Electronically system; [236841]

(3) which IT systems the Gathering Better Regulatory Information Electronically system has replaced; [236842]

(4) how much his Department has spent on the design and implementation of the Gathering Better Regulatory Information Electronically IT project. [236843]

Ian Pearson: The matters are the responsibility of the Financial Services Authority, whose day to day operations are independent from Government control and influence.

Government Departments: Property

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) of 3 March 2008, Official Report, column 2184W, on Government Departments: property, what area of actual vacant space is recorded on the e-PIMS database, aggregated to include sensitive and non-sensitive records in a non-identifiable manner. [235856]

Angela Eagle: The current total area of actual vacant space recorded on e-PIMS as at the end of October 2008 is 274,357 sq m. Of this, the area of vacant space marked as sensitive totals 644 sq m.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) of 3 March 2008, Official Report, column 2184W, on Government Departments: property, if he will place in the Library a list of the names and addresses of the current non-sensitive vacant space recorded on the e-PIMS database and the area vacant for each address. [235857]

Angela Eagle: The list has been placed in the Libraries.

Housing: Valuation

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst (Robert Neill) of 18 June 2008, Official Report, column 988W, on housing: valuation, when the boundaries of the localities were last amended or updated. [235867]

Mr. Timms: Update and amendment of individual locality boundaries occurs frequently on a care and maintenance basis. The information requested is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. Amendments to localities do not affect current council tax bands.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) of 22 July 2008, Official Report, column 1393W, on housing: valuation, when the numerical co-efficient values were last amended or updated. [235876]

Mr. Timms: Update and amendment of individual locality coefficients occur frequently on a care and maintenance basis and do not affect current council tax bands. The information could therefore be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many domestic dwellings in England are marked with a property details activity code of (a) 30, (b) 60 and (c) 70 according to the Valuation Office Agency's records. [236184]

Mr. Timms: These activity codes have been applied to dwellings in England between April 2003 and October 2008:

| Code | Number |
|---|---|
| 30 | 1,205,756 |
| 60 | 1,225,299 |
| 70 | 259,193 |

Lloyds TSB

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what elements of Government support for Lloyds TSB are conditional on that company completing its proposed merger with HBOS; and if he will make a statement. [229247]

Ian Pearson: The boards of both HBOS and Lloyds TSB decided it was in their interests to merge, and it was in the expectation of the merger going ahead that the terms of the package were agreed with both firms. If for any reason the merger did not go ahead, it would be a matter for both firms to agree with the FSA their capital needs.

National Association of Estate Agents

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what meetings (a) Ministers and (b) civil servants in his Department have had with the National Association of Estate Agents in the last 12 months; and on what dates. [235079]

Angela Eagle: Treasury Ministers and officials have meetings with a wide variety of organisations in the public and private sectors as part of the process of policy development and delivery. As was the case with previous administrations, it is not the Government's practice to provide details of all such meetings.

Non-domestic Rates: Empty Property

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment has been made of the effect of the introduction of empty property business rates on the attractiveness to overseas investors of real estate investment trusts. [236145]

Angela Eagle: The Department of Communities and Local Government published an impact assessment of the empty property rate relief reforms in May 2007 alongside the primary legislation.

http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/localgovernment/ratingempty

On 26 February this year, the Minister for Local Government laid a further assessment before the House, alongside the regulations.

http://www.opsi.gov.uk/si/si2008/em/uksiem_20080386_en.pdf

Plain English

Mr. Scott: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much has been spent by his Department on Plain English Campaign training courses for its staff in each year since 2005. [230613]

Angela Eagle: The Treasury does not hold a central record of Plain English Campaign training courses attended by staff and the information could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Private Finance Initiative: Local Government

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment has been made of the effect of the current financial situation on the viability of local authority private finance initiative projects. [236094]

Angela Eagle: Local authority private finance initiative transactions have continued to close this year but conditions in the banking market are putting some current projects under pressure. This is the result of limited liquidity in the banking market rather than the structure of the projects themselves. The Treasury is working with procuring authorities and departments to ensure that projects in the late stages of procurement are able to achieve contract close.

Regional Economic Council

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what consideration has been given to including local authority representatives on the Regional Economic Council. [236104]

Yvette Cooper: Local authorities are represented at the Regional Economic Council through representatives nominated by the Local Government Association.

Local government representatives were invited from all nine regions for the first meeting as well as the leader of the Local Government Association, Margaret Eaton.

Regional Government: Finance

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the budget for the (a) Council of Regional Ministers and (b) Regional Economic Council is in the first year of operation. [236081]

Yvette Cooper: The REC and CRM do not have discrete allocated budgets. BERR, CLG and HMT provide the secretariat resource for these committees from within existing resources.

Taxation: Inspections

Jim Cousins: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many new tax inspectors his Department appointed in each of the last five years; how many it plans to appoint in 2008-09; how many tax inspectors appointed in the last five years have been seconded for training purposes; to which businesses they were seconded; and how many tax inspectors appointed in the last five years were recruited from (a) accounting firms and (b) law firms. [233624]

Mr. Timms: There are currently over 10,000 tax professional staff within HMRC across a number of disciplines. Staff are recruited into these roles both internally from non-tax professional staff within the Department and externally.

HMRC does not second tax professionals specifically for training purposes, however tax professional staff do spend varying periods with organisations to widen their understanding.

The number of new tax professional staff recruited in each of the last five years and a breakdown of whether tax professionals were recruited from law firms, accountancy firms, or other organisations could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Jim Cousins: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many fully qualified tax inspectors worked in his Department's (a) large business service, (b) teams dealing with tax avoidance schemes and (c) teams dealing with offshore tax havens in each of the last five years; and how many were so deployed on the latest date for which figures are available. [233668]

Mr. Timms: The term 'tax inspector' is a former Inland Revenue term which is no longer used in HMRC. Staff work flexibly to meet business needs, holding a range of qualifications across a number of disciplines.

There are currently over ten thousand staff in tax professional roles across the Department. Records of tax professional staff are not broken down by directorate and precise numbers could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Staff across many directorates deal with tax avoidance schemes in their work and similarly a number of areas of the Department's compliance activity involve inquiring into tax issues relating to offshore jurisdictions, but HMRC does not record the resources spent on this work separately.

Taxation: Prisoners

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much tax and national insurance had been paid by prisoners employed in the Howard League for Penal Reform social enterprise in HMP Coldingley at the point of its closure; and how much has been refunded. [236802]

Mr. Timms: As for other individuals, the personal tax affairs of prisoners are covered by rules of confidentiality.

Valuation Office: Contracts

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether the Valuation Office Agency has access to an electronic tendering system. [236091]

Mr. Timms: The Valuation Office Agency does not have direct access to an electronic tendering system, but is able to commission the HMRC commercial Directorate to undertake work for VOA through their system.

Valuation Office: Geographical Information Systems

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst (Robert Neill) of 4 November 2008, Official Report, column 314W, on the Valuation Office, which four companies were invited to tender; and what criteria were used in the decision to invite those companies. [236031]

Mr. Timms: In accordance with the terms of HM Revenue and Customs' contract with Aspire, the tender process was handled by Aspire. The identify of the companies invited to tender is commercially confidential.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Mr. Bone: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he will make a substantive reply to Question (a) 229574 on preference shares, (b) 229573, on ordinary shares, (c) 229576, on subscription of the different share categories and (d) 229577, on the Lloyds TSB and HBOS merger, tabled on 20 October 2008 for named day answer on 23 October. [236985]

Ian Pearson: I answered (a), (b) and (c) on 18 November and (d) on 17 November.

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Abandoned Vehicles

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what steps his Department has taken to tackle the problems of abandoned cars since 2002. [234913]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The Clean Neighbourhoods and Environment Act 2005 amended the Refuse Disposal Amenity Act 1978 and Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 in relation to the offence, removal and disposal of abandoned vehicles.

A local authority no longer has to affix a 24-hour notice of removal of an abandoned vehicle it considers is only fit for destruction. It is now possible to remove an abandoned vehicle immediately from any road, including roads on private housing estates. Abandoned vehicles that are only fit for destruction or do not display a licence or number plate can be destroyed immediately.

In all other cases, the local authority will try to find the owner; if they fail, or the owner does not collect the vehicle within seven days of being contacted, the vehicle can be disposed of without the need to wait for the license to expire. Local authorities can recoup the value of the license from the DVLA. Local authorities can also impose fixed penalties of £200, in lieu of prosecution, if the owner of an abandoned vehicle can be identified.

Agriculture: Research

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much funding from the public purse has been allocated for research into new farming systems in each of the last five years, broken down by main category of expenditure. [234154]

Jane Kennedy: DEFRA has invested in research activities in several programmes since 2003-04 that contribute to development of sustainable farming systems. Industry have joint funded some of the work within LINK programmes, a mechanism co-funding collaborative research between industry and the public sector.

Total spend in each programme for each of the last five years is shown in the following table:

Programme

| Financial year | Integrated farming systems[1] | Integrated systems[2] | LINK (including organic LINK)[3] | Organic farming[4] | Grand total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2003-04 | | 941,848 | 1,374,876 | 1,890,119 | 4,206,843 |
| 2004-05 | | 1,318,345 | 2,064,689 | 1,538,977 | 4,922,011 |
| 2005-06 | | 930,055 | 2,176,249 | 1,422,150 | 4,528,454 |
| 2006-07 | 946,594 | 780,377 | 2,762,759 | 844,103 | 5,333,833 |
| 2007-08 | 2,476,806 | 467,014 | 2,749,883 | 878,875 | 6,572,578 |
| 2008-09 | 2,894,125 | 363,581 | 2,736,520 | 851,927 | 6,846,153 |
| Grand total | 6,317,525 | 4,801,220 | 13,864,976 | 7,426,151 | 32,409,872 |

[1] Integrated Farming Systems

This programme was formed in 2006 to fund system-based approaches to farm production and land management; contribution of integrated farming techniques to policy outcomes or resource use efficiency; reduction of negative environmental footprint of agriculture; sustaining and enhancing environment, biodiversity and soils associated with farmland. It incorporates new work related to the former Integrated Systems programme.

[2] Integrated Systems

This programme funded work that cut across the former commodity programmes (arable, livestock and horticulture) and the Agricultural Environmental Protection programme to cover joint interests. The programme was closed to new work in 2005-06 but projects commissioned before that time are ongoing.

[3] LINK

LINK is a mechanism for co-funding collaborative research between industry and the public sector. The LINK programmes are: Food LINK, Horticulture LINK, Renewable Materials LINK, Sustainable Arable LINK, and Sustainable Livestock Production LINK. Much of the systems based research funded through LINK is in the Sustainable Arable LINK programme which is included in the table.

[4] Organic Farming

This includes projects on organic systems in the Organic Farming Production and Economics programme which became a sub-programme of the new Sustainable Farming Systems programme in 2005-06.

Note:

These figures are taken from the DEFRA Science Information System database.

Agriculture: Subsidies

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will place in the Library a copy of the most recent inspection report of the Rural Payments Agency by the Office of the Surveillance Commissioner that is held by the Rural Payments Agency. [235065]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The last report on the Rural Payments Agency (RPA) by the Office of Surveillance Commissioner (OSC) was in 2004. As the report includes sensitive information on the areas and use of covert investigation techniques under the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 (RIPA), including the resources available, it would be inappropriate to place the report in the Library.

The Interception of Communications Commissioner, the Chief Surveillance Commissioner and the Intelligence Service Commissioner, who each have particular inspection and oversight responsibilities under RIPA, publish annual reports. The latest reports were laid before Parliament and copies placed in the House Library on 22 July. The figures provided in the reports for use of specific covert techniques are not broken down by individual public authority. The question of further disclosure for any particular public authority is a matter for the relevant commissioner.

Mr. Morley: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what assessment he has made of the likely effect of proposals under the CAP Health Check to remove cross-compliance rules which allow for a reduction in payments for claimants who permit their land to be used for illegal poisoning of birds of prey. [235937]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The protection of wild birds, their eggs and nests is currently subject to cross compliance rules. The CAP Health Check will not remove the requirement relating to the deliberate killing (including killing by poisoning) of wild birds. However, the requirements to prohibit the taking of wild birds' eggs, keeping wild birds and using non-selective means of hunting, capture or killing are likely to be removed. The Government accept that farmers are unlikely to take wild birds eggs or take birds from the wild for keeping in captivity, however, the Government have argued against the removal of the prohibition on non-selective means of hunting, capture or killing birds. My Department considers that this aspect may be beneficial in dealing with cases of illegal poisoning in addition to the main offence of deliberate killing. However, this is not a view widely held by other member states or the European Commission.

The UK has not yet conducted an impact assessment, but may do so when the Health Check concludes in December.

Under the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981 the taking and killing of wild birds using poison remains an offence, with penalties of up to £5,000 and/or up to six months imprisonment.

Badgers

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what his policy is on the use of rodenators to control badgers. [236223]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Under the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981 it is prohibited to use any explosive other than ammunition for a firearm for the purpose of killing or taking any wild animal. My Department believes that the product called the Rodenator and similar devices are explosive devices and their use for these purposes is thus prohibited.

The 1981 Act includes provisions for the granting of licences allowing the use of prohibited methods for certain purposes where suitably justified. The assessment of individual applications would be carried out on DEFRA's behalf by Natural England within a policy framework set by DEFRA. DEFRA's policy is that licences should be considered only if it can be demonstrated to DEFRA's satisfaction that the method is humane and effective. DEFRA's position statement on Rodenator and similar devices can be found on our website.

Under the Protection of Badgers Act 1992 it is prohibited, without a licence, to wilfully take or kill a badger, or to interfere with a badger sett. Therefore a licence under the 1992 Act would also be needed to use the Rodenator to take or kill badgers, or to interfere with a badger sett. The assessment of individual applications is carried out on DEFRA's behalf by Natural England within a policy framework set by DEFRA. This policy document is also available on our website.

Carbon Emissions: New Forest

Mr. Chope: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the Answer of 10 November 2008, Official Report, columns 769-70W, on carbon emissions: New Forest, (1) what the effect of the technical constraints is on the policy of whether traffic on the A31 trunk road should be included in the carbon footprint of the New Forest National Park Authority; [236526]

(2) what carbon footprint figures are available for the A31 trunk road; [236530]

(3) whether carbon footprint figures are available for any parts of (a) the New Forest National Park, (b) the New Forest District Council area and (c) the Hampshire County Council area; [236531]

(4) what the technical hurdles referred to are; and when they were first identified. [236532]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The technical hurdles to producing carbon dioxide emissions figures for the New Forest National Park concern aggregation of available spatially disaggregated data to the boundaries of the park, and merging data for emissions and removals due to land use with other emissions. These issues have been known generically for a long time and apply in general to producing geographically disaggregated estimates. My Department routinely produces estimates for local authority areas, but not national park boundaries. I anticipate that the technical constraints will not prevent inclusion of emission from the A31 Trunk Road in the carbon footprint of the national park, and it should be possible to produce emissions estimates for other sections of the A31. My response later in the year, promised in my previous answer of 10 November 2008, Official Report, columns 769-70W, will set out these issues in more detail.

Departmental Catering

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much was spent on entertainment by his Department in 2007-08; and how much of that sum is accounted for by expenditure on (a) food, (b) alcohol, (c) staff and (d) accommodation. [233255]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The core-Department holds no information centrally on the expenditure category of entertainment.

Departmental Energy

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much his Department spent on (a) electricity and (b) heating in each month of each of the last five years. [235366]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 13 November 2008]: The Secretary of State is unable to provide data broken down by month but can provide costs for electricity, gas and oil over the five-year period as shown in the following table:

| | Electricity cost | Gas cost | Oil cost | Total cost |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 5,761,472 | 2,693,817 | 80,233 | 8,535,522 |
| 2005-06 | 4,160,771 | 2,043,127 | 101,369 | 6,305,267 |
| 2004-05 | 2,779,828 | 1,565,374 | 62,085 | 4,407,287 |
| 2003-04 | 2,361,546 | 1,550,061 | 72,089 | 3,983,696 |
| 2002-06 | 2,583,077 | 1,471,808 | 99,671 | 4,154,556 |

The Sustainable Development Commission has not yet verified energy data for 2007-08 so we are unable to provide this information.

Departmental Expenditure

Mr. Peter Ainsworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what his Department's expenditure was on consultants for (a) management, (b) media and public relations, (c) design, (d) information technology, (e) recruitment, (f) research, (g) marketing, (h) public affairs and (i) training in each year since 2001. [233590]

Huw Irranca-Davies: This information could be provided only at disproportionate cost. I refer the hon. Member to pages 133 and 141 of DEFRA's Departmental Report 2008.

Departmental Internet

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many unique visitors there were to his Departmental website in the latest period for which figures are available. [231940]

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many page hits his Department's website received in 2007-08; and how many visitors it had. [233250]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Details of page views, and unique visitors, to www.defra.gov.uk are as follows for the period from January 2007 to March 2008:

| Month | Page views | Unique visitors |
|---|---|---|
| January 2007 | 7,897,493 | 463,278 |
| February 2007 | 7,168,703 | 454,404 |
| March 2007 | 6,305,847 | 464,599 |
| April 2007 | 5,923,718 | 440,434 |
| May 2007 | 6,123,164 | 472,407 |
| June 2007 | 5,887,534 | 397,278 |
| July 2007 | 3,702,581 | 281,650 |
| August 2007 | 7,465,179 | 563,665 |
| September 2007 | 7,127,162 | 549,364 |
| October 2007 | 6,515,290 | 538,359 |
| November 2007 | 6,239,148 | 489,447 |
| December 2007 | 5,298,042 | 352,346 |
| January 2008 | 6,232,896 | 471,100 |
| February 2008 | 5,162,162 | 464,058 |
| March 2008 | 5,576,376 | 490,557 |

Departmental Liability

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs on what dates in each of the last five years his Department informed the House of the creation of contingent liabilities relating to his Department or its non-departmental public bodies. [232729]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Within the five year period 2004 to 2008, the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs informed the House of a contingent liability by laying a specific minute on only one occasion. On 6 October 2008, the Department informed the House that we wished to issue a Letter of Comfort to the Covent Garden Market Authority.

The notes to the Department's annual resource accounts also identify contingent liabilities and these were laid before the House on the following dates:

| Accounts | Date |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 28 October 2004 |
| 2004-05 | 10 October 2005 |
| 2005-06 | 30 October 2006 |
| 2006-07 | 29 October 2007 |
| 2007-08 | 17 July 2008 |

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many full-time equivalent press officers (a) work and (b) provide assistance for his Department. [233252]

Huw Irranca-Davies: DEFRA currently employs 16 full-time press office and media relations staff and one part-time press officer.

Departmental Official Visits

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much was spent on overnight accommodation by his Department's civil servants in the last 12 months. [228769]

Huw Irranca-Davies: From information held centrally, the core-Department's VAT inclusive expenditure on overnight accommodation for the period July 2007 to June 2008 inclusive was £2,643,363.32. Information on overnight accommodation by all of DEFRA's executive agencies and non-departmental public bodies is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Planning Permission

Mr. Maude: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the answer of 1 September 2008, Official Report, column 1484W, on departmental planning permission, what the address of the building was for each application; what type of permission was applied for in each case; and what licensing hours were requested in the licensing application. [233587]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The addresses of each site for the Departmental planning applications, included in the answer of 1 September 2008, Official Report, column 1484W, and the type of application submitted are set out in the following table.

The licensing hours requested for the site club bar at the Epsom Road, Guildford site were 24 hours, seven days a week. This was to bring the sports and social club into line with new licensing laws. The site has now been sold.

| Romeon number | Address | Town | Type | Works |

Departmental Procurement

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what proportion of invoices for goods and services procured from small- and medium-sized businesses were paid within 30 days of receipt by (a) his Department and (b) the agencies for which his Department is responsible in 2007-08; and if he will make a statement. [226494]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Unless otherwise negotiated as part of contract agreement(s), DEFRA's standard terms of payment for all suppliers are the payment of valid and agreed invoices within 30 days of date of receipt. From information held centrally, and the core Department's financial system, prompt payment performance for the financial year 2007-08 for the core Department and those executive agencies for which information is held is as follows:

| | Percentage paid within terms |
|---|---|
| Core DEFRA | 91.9 |
| Animal Health | 92.2 |
| Government Decontamination Service | 96.7 |
| Marine Fisheries Agency | 90.3 |
| Veterinary Laboratories Agency | 87.7 |

Information on the proportion of invoices for goods and services procured from small and medium-sized business paid within 30 days of receipt could be provided only at disproportionate cost. Information on the Rural Payments Agency prompt payment performance is being compiled and I will place this in the Library of the House when available.

Departmental Recruitment

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many civil servants in his Department were recruited through the fast stream; and what the average salary of those officials is. [229181]

Huw Irranca-Davies: As of the 30 of September 2008 we have 155 staff that joined through the Fast Stream. The average salary of these civil servants is £35,704.

Domestic Waste: Waste Disposal

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (1) pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst (Robert Neill) of 1 September 2008, Official Report, column 1487W, on domestic wastes: contracts, when copies of projects WR0103 and WR0104 will be placed in the Library; [235004]

(2) pursuant to the answer of 1 September 2008, Official Report, column 1487W, on domestic waste: waste disposal, if he will place in the Library a copy of his Department's Review of Environmental and Health Effects of Waste Management; [235006]

(3) if he will place in the Library a copy of the research report commissioned by his Department Waste Strategy Review - SD0328; [235064]

(4) if he will place in the Library a copy of the research report commissioned by his Department, OU Household Waste Survey - EV01011; [235069]

(5) if he will place in the Library a copy of the report Household Waste Prevention commissioned by his Department from Eunomia. [235093]

Jane Kennedy: All the reports requested are publicly available on DEFRA's website.

Eco-towns

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what studies his Department has commissioned into the suitability of the Co-operative Wholesale Society's Stoughton Farm Estate in Harborough for horticulture as part of its work on eco-towns. [235871]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 17 November 2008]: Neither this Department nor its agencies (Natural England and the Environment Agency) have carried out an assessment of the suitability of the Co-operative Wholesale Society's Stoughton Farm Estate for horticulture as part of its work on eco-towns.

Environment Protection

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs with reference to his Department's press release of 16 September 2008, on local environment quality surveys; if he will place in the Library an electronic version of the datasets for all the 175 local authorities in an Excel format. [235016]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Information on surveys of English local authorities' local environment surveys is available in pdf format on the DEFRA website at:

http://www.defra.gov.uk/environment/localenv/reports/index.htm

It is not possible to provide this information in excel format without incurring disproportionate cost.

Fisheries

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much his Department spent on fisheries protection in (a) 1997 and (b) 2008. [236533]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Monitoring and protection and surveillance of marine fisheries is undertaken at sea, on the land and in the air. Since 1 October 2005, the responsibility in England and Wales has been undertaken by the Marine and Fisheries Agency, an Executive agency of DEFRA.

In particular, fisheries protection at sea is undertaken by the Royal Navy Fisheries Protection Squadron on behalf of the MFA. The cost to the MFA of providing that service in 2007-08 was £6.1 million. Information on the costs incurred in 1997 are not readily available.

Flood Control

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what discussions his Department has made to Ofwat with respect to the future pricing review on (a) sewage flooding, (b) preventing flooding from storm water drains and (c) other matters. [235661]

Jane Kennedy: DEFRA has issued statutory Social and Environmental Guidance to Ofwat. This provides Ofwat with a steer on the key environmental and social policies that the Government expects it to contribute to in carrying out its role as the independent economic regulator of the water industry. It includes guidance on flooding and resilience. A copy is available on the DEFRA website.

Forests

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what plans he has to increase public access to woodland. [235477]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The Forestry Commission aims to increase the proportion of the population in priority areas that have access to woodland within four kilometres of where they live. It has a target for an additional 750,000 people to gain access to woodland over the next three years. It will work to achieve this through the targeting of incentives available through the English Woodland Grant scheme and through partnerships. Increased public access will be provided by the opening of access to existing woodland, the creation of new woodland on agricultural land and the regeneration of derelict and unused land to woodland.

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what plans he has to increase woodland cover in England. [235478]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Our forestry policy, 'A Strategy for England's Trees, Woods and Forests', includes the objective to plant trees and create new woodland in priority places. Under the Rural Development Programme for England 2007-13 we have committed to creating 15,400 hectares of new woodlands with support from the English Woodland Grant scheme administered by the Forestry Commission. In addition there will be a contribution from smaller woodlands planted as part of Environmental Stewardship, the agri-environment grant scheme administered by Natural England.

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will bring forward proposals that no one should live more than 500 metres from a two hectare wood and four kilometres from a 20 hectare wood. [235479]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The Forestry Commission is utilising the Woodland Access Standard in its targeting of incentives offered for management of existing woodland and creation of new woodland under the English Woodland Grant Scheme that will increase public access. It also uses this standard to help the monitoring and evaluation of its work.

Genetically Modified Organisms: Imports

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs for which genetically modified varieties of (a) soya, (b) maize and (c) rapeseed approval has been given for import in the UK for use in animal feed in the form of (i) oil, (ii) meal and (iii) whole grain. [236558]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The following list gives the types of GM soya, maize and oilseed rape products that have EU approval for import into the EU for use in animal feed in any form. Details of all approved GM crops are available on the European Commission website.

Soybean
- A2704

Inland Waterways

Mr. Clifton-Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what discussions he has had with British Waterways on progress towards its target to expand its waterways network by 2012. [236325]

Huw Irranca-Davies: I have had discussions with British Waterways on the strategic approach to getting best benefit from its waterways. The Government remain fully supportive of British Waterways' ambition to expand its network, provided this is not at the expense of compromising its ability to maintain its existing network through creating additional on-going financial liabilities.

British Waterways is currently leading on a number of major waterway network expansion projects around the country, including the Bow Back Rivers in London's Olympic Park, the Liverpool Link, the Droitwich Canals and the Manchester, Bolton and Bury Canal.

Inspections

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many inspectors were employed by his Department in (a) 2007-08 and (b) 1997-98. [228091]

Huw Irranca-Davies: DEFRA was created in June 2001, and the following information relates to the period since then.

In 2007-08, DEFRA, excluding the Executive agencies, employed 24 drinking water inspectors and 86 plant health and seeds inspectors.

Information on the number of Inspectors working in DEFRA's Executive agencies over this period could be provided only by incurring disproportionate cost.

Mussels

Mr. Steen: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will instruct the Fish Health Inspectorate to reduce the five working days' notice required for a visual inspection of mussels on the seabed in an approved zone in the open sea west of Brixham harbour so as to provide an EU health certificate under Commission Decision 2007/104/EC. [236191]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The Fish Health Inspectorate's requirement for five working days notice is a long standing arrangement and part of their citizens charter. The Fish Health Inspectorate guarantee to provide a visual inspection service within this time period, but will endeavour to meet shorter deadlines where possible, through dialogue with the exporter.

Nanotechnology

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many submissions to the voluntary reporting scheme for engineered nanoscale materials his Department received from (a) industry and (b) universities. [235128]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 17 November 2008]: DEFRA received 12 submissions to the UK voluntary reporting scheme for engineered nanomaterials; 10 from industry and two from universities.

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs when his Department's review of the voluntary reporting scheme for engineered nanoscale materials will conclude; and when he expects to report its findings. [235129]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 17 November 2008]: DEFRA, in partnership with the UK Technology Strategy Board, funded a survey of industry and researcher views of the scheme by the Nanotechnology Knowledge Transfer Network. This concluded in October and will be published on the DEFRA website in due course. The ministerial group on nanotechnologies will next meet in December and will consider future options for the scheme, reflecting upon the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Environmental Pollution's report and taking into account the European Commission's review of existing regulations.

Nature Conservation: EU Law

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs whether compensatory habitats for large developments provided for under the EU Habitats Directive may be located in a member state other than the one where the development takes place. [235336]

Huw Irranca-Davies: In circumstances where a development is allowed despite an assessment that it will have a significant adverse effect on a Natura 2000 site, the Habitats Directive requires the member state to take all compensatory measures necessary to ensure that the overall coherence of the Natura 2000 network is protected.

The directive provides no further details, although non-statutory guidance from the European Commission states that compensatory habitat should relate to the same biogeographical region in the same member state and should be as close as possible to the habitat adversely affected by the development.

Nature Conservation: Madagascar

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what steps his Department is taking to protect endangered animal species in Madagascar. [233949]

Huw Irranca-Davies: My Department's Darwin Initiative, our annual grants programme intended to use UK-based biodiversity expertise to assist countries rich in biodiversity but less so in resources, has funded 10 projects in Madagascar over the last 12 years. These include three on bat conservation, a wetlands project, a project on small vertebrates in the Tsingy Beneraha National Park, one on chameleon conservation within local communities, one on littoral forests, and two projects on training in biodiversity. A further two projects are under consideration.

Investment under the Darwin Initiative towards projects in Madagascar has totalled just over £900,000.

Another mechanism by which DEFRA funds species conservation projects is the Flagship Species Fund (FSF). Launched in 2001 in partnership with Fauna and Flora International, the FSF provides practical support for the conservation of endangered species and their habitats in developing countries. The FSF has funded a number of projects in Madagascar, including one on golden frogs, flying foxes and the conservation of 'orphan forests' in 2007.

Although not funded by DEFRA, we are also aware that the British High Commission in Mauritius (responsible for the UK's relations with Madagascar) has funded several smaller reforestation projects out of their Bilateral fund. The High Commission also supports the Madagascar Action Plan (MAP), Madagascar's strategic five year plan. The plan includes eight commitments which aim to eradicate poverty and focus on medium and long-term development, one of which is conservation of the environment.

Noise: Oxfordshire

John Howell: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what progress his Department has made in conducting noise mapping of the M40 at Milton Common in Oxfordshire in accordance with the Environmental Noise (England) Regulations 2006; what consultations he has held on this matter; and when new noise levels will be set. [235639]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 13 November 2008]: I can confirm that this section of road has been noise mapped. Results are available on DEFRA's noise mapping website. No consultations have been held yet. A consultation will be held on the noise action plan for major roads soon.

Parliament Square: Demonstrations

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the written answer of 21 July 2008, Official Report, column 748W, on noise pollution, whether the repeal of restrictions on demonstrations in Parliament Square will result in (a) permanent encampments and (b) unrestricted amplified broadcast noise being permitted. [228445]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 20 October 2008]: The Report of the Joint Committee on the Draft Constitutional Renewal Bill, published on 31 July 2008, included a number of recommendations on the Government's proposals to repeal sections 132-138 of the Serious Organised Crime and Police Act 2005 which pertain to demonstrations around Parliament. The recommendations of the Joint Committee addressed both permanent protests and noise nuisance and the Government will be responding imminently to the Report.

Performance Appraisal

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many staff in his Department did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235225]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Eight staff in DEFRA (excluding the executive agencies) did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their 2007-08 annual report.

Pesticides

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what funding is available from the public purse to support the registration of crop protection products for off-label use. [236560]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The Government's long-term policy is that off-label applications should not benefit from funding from the public purse. However, as an interim measure, a small amount of Government support is provided in respect of those applications which, for legal reasons, cannot benefit from the subsidy available through the levy on pesticide sales.

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate he has made of the total cost of the current process of registering crop protection products for off-label use. [236561]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The current cost of processing an off-label approval is £1,700. Around 150 off-label applications are processed each year indicating a total cost for the process of £255,000 per year.

Pesticides: EU Action

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what his policy is on the implementation of proposed EU regulations on crop protection chemicals; and if he will make a statement. [235564]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The proposed regulation on the marketing of plant protection products will apply directly in UK law, though there will need to be some national implementing measures. Where national measures are required, they will be adopted in secondary legislation. The Department will consult on any implementing measures in the usual way at the appropriate stage.

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what discussions he has had with UK Members of the European Parliament on European Commission proposals for new regulations on pesticides. [236221]

Huw Irranca-Davies: My predecessor, Phil Woolas, discussed the proposals in Brussels with UK members of the Parliament's Environment, Public Health and Food Safety Committee. Officials have been in regular contact with UK MEPs about the proposals and have provided detailed briefing on the Parliament's proposed amendments.

Pesticides: Licensing

Mr. Burns: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs when the pesticide Imidacloprid was licensed for use in the UK. [236214]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Imidacloprid was first authorised for experimental use on 16 July 1991, and for commercial use on 24 June 1993.

Plain English

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many documents produced by his Department were submitted to the Plain English Campaign for approval for Crystal Mark status in each year since 2005; and how many documents achieved such status in each year. [231117]

Huw Irranca-Davies: My Department does submit documents for approval for Crystal Mark Status. However, information on the number of documents submitted and approved is not collated centrally and the figures could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Plants: EU Action

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what response he has made to the European Parliament's proposals on the draft Regulation concerning the placing of plant protection products on the market; and if he will make a statement. [234830]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The European Parliament's Environment, Public Health and Food Safety Committee adopted its second reading report on 5 November 2008. It contains many amendments, which we are still examining in detail. It is, however, clear that they have moderated the first reading amendments which would have had the greatest impact on the availability of plant protection products.

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (1) what steps he is taking to ensure an assessment of the impact of the proposed EU regulation on the "placing of plant protection products on the market on the UK ornamental horticulture and gardening industry is made prior to any implementation; and if he will make a statement; [234654]

(2) what assessment he has made of the potential impact on UK producers, suppliers and distributors of plant protection products as a consequence of the European Parliament's position on the proposal for a Regulation concerning the placing of plant protection products on the market. [234656]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The Pesticides Safety Directorate is revising its previous impact assessment (published in May 2008) in light of the second reading report adopted by the Parliament's Environment, Public Health and Food Safety Committee on 5 November 2008.

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what steps he is taking to ensure that the derogation contained in the Council of Ministers' Common Position of the proposal for a Regulation concerning the placing of plant protection products on the market for emergency use of plant protection products for up to five years will continue; and if he will make a statement. [234655]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The United Kingdom will support retention of the derogation during the second reading negotiations with the European Parliament.

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what his policy is on the zoning proposals contained in the draft EU Regulation concerning the placing of plant protection products on the market; whether he is seeking any changes to these zones; and if he will make a statement. [234657]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The United Kingdom welcomed the concept of zonal authorisation in the Commission's proposal and supports the compromise provisions adopted as part of the common position of the Agriculture Council in June 2008.

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will commission a further analysis by experts of the proposed zones in regards to the proposed EU Regulation concerning the placing of plant protection products on the market; and if he will make a statement. [234858]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The United Kingdom is satisfied with the analysis prepared in 2006 by the Commission for their proposed regulation. A copy has been placed in the Library of the House.

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what steps he has taken to address the potential impact on the British horticulture industry of the European Parliament's proposals on substitution contained in its position on the proposed EU Regulation concerning the placing of plant protection products on the market; and if he will make a statement. [234859]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The Parliament's first reading report included amendments for identifying and approving candidates for substitution which could ultimately have eliminated a large number of active substances. The Parliament's Environment, Public Health and Food Safety Committee adopted its second reading report on the proposed regulation on 5 November 2008. It included modified amendments on candidates for substitution which would allow these substances to remain on the market until replacements were available. Consequently, these provisions would not be expected to have any significant impact on the British horticulture industry.

Property: Forestry Commission

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much the Forestry Commission has spent on maintaining its properties in each of the last five years. [236513]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The Forestry Commission holds a wide range of property across England including offices, depots, visitor centres, agricultural buildings and domestic properties. The estimated cost of maintaining these over the last five years is:

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 1.347 |
| 2004-05 | 1.469 |
| 2005-06 | 1.456 |
| 2006-07 | 1.427 |
| 2007-08 | 1.639 |

Smoking: Departmental Co-ordination

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what discussions he has had with the Department of Health on the effect of the public smoking ban on levels of (a) noise nuisance and (b) smoking-related litter. [235008]

Huw Irranca-Davies: I have had no discussions with the Department of Health on the effects of the smoking ban on levels of noise nuisance or litter. However, DEFRA and the Department of Health have in place a partnership agreement, a key component of which is a senior official level working group who, along with key delivery partners, provide a framework to improve the quality and appropriateness of the work between the two Departments. The working group held their second meeting in October.

Trade Unions

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many civil servants in his Department were seconded to work for (a) trades unions and (b) the Trades Union Congress in each year since 2003. [229099]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The information requested could be provided only by incurring disproportionate cost.

Tuna: Conservation

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will make it his policy to suspend bluefin tuna fishing in the eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean until such time as the contracting parties to the International Convention on Atlantic Tuna fully comply with the International Commission for the Conservation of Atlantic Tuna recommendations on bluefin. [235561]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The annual meeting of the International Commission for the Conservation of Atlantic Tuna (ICCAT) takes place in Marrakech from 17-24 November 2008. The UK's aim at this meeting will be to agree a total allowable catch for blue fin tuna that does not go above the limit recommended by the ICCAT Scientific Committee. In addition we will fully support the EU Commission in seeking enhanced control measures in the fishery including identifying spawning areas and setting a uniform fishing season and minimum landing size. We would hope that enhanced control measures could be agreed and implemented in time for the 2009 fishing season.

Waste Disposal: Fees and Charges

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs whether the proposed "pilot waste incentive schemes for the collection of household waste will include houses in multiple occupation. [235148]

Jane Kennedy: It will be for local authorities piloting waste incentive schemes to determine which households they wish a proposed waste reduction scheme to cover.

within the legal framework set out in the Climate Change Bill. DEFRA published draft guidance for authorities in the summer, which considers this issue in more detail. We plan to publish the final version after Royal Assent to the Bill.

Waste Management

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs on what dates his Department's Waste Incentives Project Board has met to date; and what the membership of the Board is. [235132]

Jane Kennedy: The Waste Incentive Project Board has met on the following dates:

19 December 2007

17 January 2008

29 February 2008

23 April 2008

27 June 2008

14 August 2008

17 October 2008.

The board is comprised of DEFRA officials and representatives of the Local Government Association, Waste and Resources Action Programme, Department of Communities and Local Government, HM Treasury and Cabinet Office.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what assessment he has made of the relationship there will be between regional waste strategy boards if established and joint waste authorities. [235145]

Jane Kennedy: Regional waste strategy boards are not created under legislation. There is no statutory relationship between them and joint waste authorities. It is anticipated that joint waste authorities will work constructively with regional waste strategy boards, should boards be established.

Water: Fees and Charges

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the remit is of Ofwat in relation to pricing for low income groups; and if he will make a statement. [235658]

Jane Kennedy: Ofwat is the independent economic regulator of the water and sewerage industry in England and Wales.

In 1999 Ofwat received guidance from the Secretary of State of the then Department for the Environment, Transport and Regions on protecting vulnerable groups, including those on income related benefits.

In approving charges schemes Ofwat has to have regard to section 2 of the Water Industry Act 1999, which includes a reference to the interests of certain types of customers including those with low incomes.

HOME DEPARTMENT

Border and Immigration Agency

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many Border and Immigration Agency (BIA) operations there were in (a) 2007 and (b) the last 10 years; what records her Department maintains on (i) the number of arrests made during BIA operations and (ii) the number of BIA operations which take place during which no arrests are made; what approval from whom is required for BIA operations; what notice an establishment receives before a BIA operation takes place on its premises; what the maximum number of times an establishment may be raided in a 12 month period is; what obligations there are upon the BIA to avoid unnecessary disruption of business activities during its operations; and if she will make a statement. [207175]

Mr. Woolas: Information on how many United Kingdom Border Agency (UKBA) operations there were in 2007 and in the last 10 years and details of records maintained on the number of arrests made during UKBA operations are set out in the following table.

|---|---|---|---|
| Total enforcement visits | 11,884 | 14,443 | 15,512 |
| Number of arrests made | 12,363 | 11,522 | 10,750 |
| Number of operations where no arrests made | [1] | 8,793 | 9,975 |

[1] Data not recorded prior to 2007-08

Prior to April 2005 the UKBA did not produce regular reports on numbers of individuals arrested. The data provided are management information. They may be subject to change and do not represent published national statistics.

All UKBA operations are authorised in advance. Operations are grouped into three tiers (lower, middle and upper) and each tier is authorised at a different level. All UKBA operations are intelligence led. There is no limit on the number of times premises can be visited and the UKBA is under no obligation to avoid unnecessary disruption of the employer's business activities during its operations. Officers will always try to ensure that any disruption to members of the public during such operations is kept to a minimum.

Employers can work in co-operation with UKBA. However, in certain cases employers may be reluctant to assist UKBA officials in the identification of illegal workers. In these instances no notice is given and officers are advised to obtain a warrant in order to gain entry to the premises.

Chapter 31.5 of Enforcement Instructions and Guidance details the levels of authority for operations. Chapters 18.6 and 18.7 provide illegal working guidance. Copies of the document are placed in the Library of the House. It is also available to view at:

http://www.ind.homeoffice.gov.uk/sitecontent/documents/policyandlaw/enforcement/oemsection

Departmental Official Visits

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the (a) date, (b) location and (c) purpose was of the meetings she had while in the United States in February 2008; and who attended each meeting. [188841]

Mr. Coaker: My right hon. Friend the Home Secretary visited the US from 10 to 12 February 2008. In Washington DC she had meetings with the Department of Homeland Security, the Department of Justice, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Drugs Enforcement Administration. In New York she met senior New York police officials, and visited the Gangs Resistance Education and Training (GREAT) Project.

The meetings were to enhance co-operation and understanding between the UK and the US on issues such as tackling terrorism and organised crime.

She was accompanied on her visit by senior officials from the Office of Security and Counter-Terrorism, the International Directorate, the Serious Organised Crime Agency, Press Office and members of her Private Office.

Departmental Pay

Lynne Featherstone: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many and what proportion of employees in her Department who received a performance-related bonus at their last appraisal were (a) male, (b) female, (c) from an ethnic minority, (d) disabled and (e) not heterosexual; and if she will make a statement. [208378]

Mr. Woolas: The information required is not collated centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Public Expenditure

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much her Department has spent on targeted initiatives in (a) inner cities, (b) rural areas and (c) seaside towns in each of the last 16 years. [235702]

Meg Hillier: Home Office accounting systems do not hold the information in the form required by the question.

Departmental Sick Leave

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many of her Department's staff took more than (a) five, (b) 10, (c) 15, (d) 20, (e) 25, (f) 30, (g) 35 and (h) 40 days leave due to stress in each of the last five years, broken down by pay grade. [198978]

Mr. Woolas: The Home Office staff sickness tables from 2003-04 to 2007-08 are shown in the following tables.

The information is drawn from Home Office HQ, United Kingdom Border Agency (UKBA) and Identity and Passport Service (IPS) personnel information management system, respectively. The Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) is unable to provide a response without incurring disproportionate cost.

Home Office and UKBA's data before 2005 is unavailable due to data migration to a new system which is reflected in the lower 2003-04 and 2004-05 figures. Calculations are based on a 12-month rolling period for an accurate representation of working days lost to stress-related sickness within each year.

In 2006-07, the Home Office HQ included the following Departments: Communities Group, NOMS and OCJR, which have now all transferred following machinery of government changes. NOMS and OCJR left in May 2007 to join Ministry of Justice, and therefore have been included for year 2005-06 and 2006-07. Communities Group transferred to DCLG in May 2006 and is included in year 2005-06 sickness calculation.

Departmental Telecommunications

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much (a) her Department and (b) its agencies spent on telecommunication costs in each year since 1997. [234452]

Mr. Woolas: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given on 17 November 2008, Official Report, columns 45-46W.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many questions for written answer were tabled to her Department in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04, (c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235392]

Mr. Coaker: This information is not held centrally.

Deportation: Standards

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the evidential basis is for statements by Ministers in her Department that somebody is removed from the United Kingdom every eight minutes. [227553]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 20 October 2008]: There were 63,365 removals, including voluntary departures, from the UK in 2007. As the UK Border Agency operates 24 hours a day and seven days a week this equates to a removal taking place, on average, every eight minutes

National Statistics on removals from the UK are published in table 6.1 of the Control of Immigration: Statistics United Kingdom 2007 bulletin. Copies of this publication are available from the Library of the House and the Home Office's Research, Development and Statistics website at:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/pdfs08/hosb1008.pdf.

The removals figure includes enforced removals, persons refused entry at port and subsequently removed (including cases dealt with at juxtaposed controls), persons departing voluntarily after enforcement action had been initiated against them, persons leaving under Assisted Voluntary Return Programmes run by the International Organization for Migration and persons who it has been established have left the UK without informing the immigration authorities.

This figure is rounded to the nearest five and is provisional.

Dungavel Immigration Removal Centre

John Barrett: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many children are held at Dungavel Immigration Removal Centre. [221810]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 6 October 2008]: On 30 October 2008, there were two children with their mother in detention at Dungavel House Immigration Removal Centre. Children are only ever held with their parents and normally spend no longer than 72 hours in the centre.

Entry Clearances

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many applications for further leave to remain have been received in each of the last 10 years; how many applications were granted; how many applicants came originally (a) for the purposes of work, (b) to study and (c) for other reasons; and for each category, how many dependants were brought to the UK. [232203]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 3 November 2008]: The following shows the number of applications made since January 2002, and of those how many were granted. This is the date from when fully electronic consideration and recording commenced. Prior to that paper based records were in use. The data are separated out by year, case type group and main/Dependant applications.

Figures are rounded to the nearest five.

Because of rounding, figures may not add up to total shown.

The figures quoted are not provided under National Statistics protocols and have been derived from local management information and are therefore provisional and subject to change.

In country leave to remain applications received each year since January 2002 (and of those the quantity subsequently granted)

Notes:
1. The data provided cover applications made between 1 January 2002 and the 30 September 2008. Therefore the data for 2008 are for an incomplete year.
2. The data are based on in country non-asylum leave to remain applications made between the above dates (not Indefinite Leave to Remain).
3. Granted in the table refers to a grant of limited leave to Remain only (not indefinite leave to remain)
4. "Type" in the table refers to the case type of the application made and actually represent the grouping of many different immigration casetypes.
5. This data differ from that published under the National Statistics Protocol in that they are based on date of application rather than date of despatch.
6. Figures are rounded to the nearest 5
7. Because of rounding, figures may not add up to total shown.
8. The figures quoted are not provided under National Statistics protocols and have been derived from local management information and are therefore provisional and subject to change.

Entry Clearances: Overseas Students

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many universities, further education colleges and other educational institutions had applied for licences to sponsor foreign students by 1 October 2008. [234787]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 11 November 2008]: The number of educational establishments which have applied for licences to sponsor foreign students under the points based system is 541.

The breakdown is:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| Universities | 19 |
| Further education colleges | 169 |
| Other educational establishments | 353 |

The figures quoted are not provided under National Statistics protocols and have been derived from local management information and are therefore provisional and subject to change.

Essex Police Authority: Freedom of Information

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent discussion (a) she, (b) Ministers in her Department and (c) officials in her Department have had with Essex Police Authority on the release of information by them under the Freedom of Information Act 2000; and if she will make a statement. [233918]

Mr. Coaker: Neither the Home Secretary, nor Home Office Ministers and officials have had any recent discussions with Essex police authority on the release of information by them under the Freedom of Information Act 2000.

Foreign Workers: Health Services

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what data her Department holds on the number of economic migrants working in the care and health sectors. [232453]

Mr. Woolas: Applications to work in care and health sectors are not separately identified in employment routes databases. However, volumes can be reported using the following categories:

Health and Medical Services;
Social Worker;
Acupuncturist;
Biomedical Scientist;
Chiropodist/Podiatrist;
Chiropractor;
Dental Surgeon;
Assistant Dentist;
Dental Anaesthetist;
Dietician;
Optician;
Assistant Optometrist;
Medical Practitioner;
Midwife;
Nurse;
Physiotherapist;
Psychiatrist;
Psychologist;
Pharmacist;
Occupational Therapist;
Radiographer;
Speech Therapist;
Social Worker;
Other Health/Medical Occ;
Doctor;
Hospital Consultant;
Senior Carer;
Dental Nurse;
Senior House Officer;
Specialist Registrar;
Foundation Programme Doctor;
Alternative/complementary medicine specialist;
Anaesthetist;
Care assistants and home carers;
Consultant, hospital;
Dental Hygienist;
General Practitioner;
Manager, care home;
Manager, health and social services;
Nursing auxiliaries and assistants;
Optician;
Researcher (medical);
Residential wardens and Houseparents;
Surgeon;
Technician, medical;
Ward Sister; and Warden (care home).

Human Rights

John Bercow: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what discussions she has had with the Ministry of Justice in relation to the universal periodic review by the UN Human Rights Council. [204276]

Mr. Woolas: The Home Office has been in discussion with the Ministry of Justice about the review since December 2007. Home Office Ministers saw the National Report prior to publication, which formed the basis for discussion at the oral hearing.

Illegal Immigrants: Plymouth

Mr. Streeter: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether she has received reports on whether an illegal immigrant and alleged murderer is working in a care home in Plymouth. [199319]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 21 April 2008]: In 2005 an intelligence assessment was carried out covering the south and south west of England. Its subject was illegal employment by foreign nationals. The assessment appeared in The Sunday Times on 30 March 2008 as a result of a leak.

Intelligence contained in the report suggested that a person who had previously worked at a care home in Plymouth was a Filipino national who had false references and may be wanted for murder in the Philippines.

Subsequent inquiries suggested that the person who had been employed at the care home was not the same person who was wanted for murder.

Immigrants: Housing

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer of 16 May 2008, Official Report, column 1827W on immigration: housing, what record is kept of the number of private sector providers of property for the National Asylum Support Service (NASS) transferring existing property to the private rented market; how many private sector providers provided property to NASS in each year since its inception; and how many private sector properties were provided for NASS in the same period. [208764]

Mr. Woolas: The United Kingdom Border Agency does not keep a record of the numbers of properties transferred to the private rented market. However I do refer the hon. Member to the answer given on 11 June 2008, Official Report, column 336W.

The number of private sector accommodation providers used since the inception of the National Asylum Support Service in 2000 has changed over the years. During the whole period 2000 to 2003 there were 10 private sector providers providing property to NASS. The numbers of private providers reduced to nine in 2004 and the original 10 providers reduced to seven in 2005. In 2006 replacement accommodation contracts were awarded to nine private sector providers. This figure has recently reduced to eight.

We do not hold records of the numbers of properties procured by accommodation providers because the contracts are framed in terms of outcomes.

Immigration

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how she proposes to give effect to the Asylum and Immigration Tribunal's decision in the case of Mrs E.K., wife of Mr S.Z. of Aylesbury, and the Entry Clearance Officer, Islamabad (reference OA 52562/2007). [236204]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The Tribunal's decision was received in Islamabad on 7 November. A letter was sent to the applicant on 13 November asking her to submit her passport and a TB certificate. The visa will be issued on receipt of these documents.

Immigration Controls

Tom Brake: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people were applying for settlement in the UK under each employment route when the qualifying period for settlement was increased from four to five years in April 2006. [225195]

Mr. Woolas: The following table shows the number of applications for settlement in the year prior to the qualifying period being increased (1 April 2005 to 31 March 2006) and in the year post the qualifying period being increased (1 April 2006 to 31 March 2007) broken down by each employment route.

The criteria include main applicants only and exclude dependants.

The figures quoted are not provided under national statistics protocols and have been derived from local management information and are therefore provisional and subject to change.

| Employment route | Pre-rule change (1 April 2005-31 March 2006) | Post-rule change (1 April 2006-31 March 2007) |
|---|---|---|
| Airline employees | 10 | 5 |
| Armed Forces | 1,340 | 2,720 |
| Business | 45 | 15 |
| BUS under EC Association Agreement | 2,235 | 260 |
| Highly Skilled Migrants | 760 | 205 |
| Innovator | 15 | 5 |
| Investors | 50 | 5 |
| MOR, Missionaries/Members of religious orders | 550 | 135 |
| Overseas Domestic Workers | 950 | 255 |
| Overseas Dom Worker in diplomatic households | 65 | 25 |
| Overseas government employees | 25 | 25 |
| Reps of overseas news Agency | 15 | 5 |
| Retired persons of Independent means | 25 | 5 |
| Sole Representative | 55 | 10 |
| UK Ancestry | 5,650 | 570 |
| Work Permit Employment | 28,780 | 5,015 |
| Writers, composers and artists | 40 | 10 |
| Total | 40,620 | 9,265 |

Meg Munn: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what plans (a) she and (b) the UK Border Agency has to hold information sessions for hon. Members and their caseworkers on the points-based scoring system in locations other than London. [235719]

Mr. Woolas: The UK Border Agency held information sessions for MPs and their caseworkers on the points based system in London in July.

Two further events are planned in London on 19 November. Where there is a demand, the UK Border Agency will arrange further information sessions outside London.

Immigration Controls: Higher Education

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether universities will be permitted to be licence holders for sponsored researchers under the points-based migration system. [235945]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 17 November 2008]: Under the points-based system, sponsored researchers could come to the UK through the Tier 5: Temporary Workers—Government Authorised Exchange sub-category. The policy framework for this category requires an overarching body to act as sponsor of a scheme, as well as the support of a UK Government Department for the scheme and sponsor. Individual employers are not permitted to act as sponsors of migrants participating in schemes, and universities will not be permitted to become licensed sponsors under this category.

Immigration Officers: Sick Leave

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) immigration officers and (b) other Border and Immigration Agency staff took long-term sick leave in each of the last five years. [193119]

Mr. Woolas: The numbers of Immigration Officers and other UK Border Agency staff who have taken long term sick leave in each of the last three calendar years as recorded on our personnel system (Adelphi) are shown in the following table. The figures reflect improvements in recording and monitoring and should be judged in this context.

We are unable to provide accurate data previous to 2005 as these were not recorded centrally.

Number

| | Immigration officers | All other border and immigration agency staff |
|---|---|---|
| 2005 | 274 | 1,125 |
| 2006 | 282 | 1,194 |
| 2007 | 503 | 1,959 |

Islam: Marriage

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many mosques (a) were registered and (b) had applied for registration to perform joint civil and religious marriage ceremonies at the most recent date for which figures are available. [234592]

Meg Hillier: The Places of Worship Registration Act 1855 provides for places of religious worship, except those of the established Church, to be certified to the Registrar General. A building has to be certified as a place of religious worship before it can be registered for marriages by the Registrar General under the Marriage Act 1949.

The total number of buildings currently recorded by the Registrar General as certified places of meeting for religious worship by those professing the Muslim religion in England and Wales is 809. Of those 159 buildings are registered for marriage.

The Marriage Act draws a distinction between civil and religious marriages. Where a marriage is conducted in a registered building it may be solemnized according to such form and ceremony as the persons contracting the marriage see fit to adopt. Civil marriages may only take place in a register office or other building approved for that purpose by the local authority in which it is situated.

The register of buildings registered for marriage is not held in a format that can provide the total number of applications since the 1855 Act was implemented.

Members: Correspondence

Clare Short: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when the Minister of State for Borders and Immigration plans to reply to the enquiry from the right hon. Member from Birmingham, Ladywood of 7 October 2008 on the allowed appeal and issue of a visa to Ahmed Sharif Ali (Post reference: 92727 Addis Ababa). [234772]

Mr. Woolas: A reply was sent from Visa Services Directorate on 11 November 2008.

John Penrose: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when she plans to reply to the letters of 10 September and 9 October 2005 from the hon. Member for Weston-Super-Mare on behalf of his constituent Mr Gordon Butcher. [235321]

Mr. Woolas: The chief executive of the United Kingdom Border Agency wrote to the hon. Member on 12 November 2008.

Oleg Deripaska

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether information held by the US authorities on Oleg Deripaska was available to the UK authorities before a visa was issued to him; and if she will make a statement. [229955]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 27 October 2008]: It is not Home Office policy to comment on individual cases.

Passports: Pensioners

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many pensioners in Enfield North constituency have received a free passport in each year since the introduction of the policy. [235434]

Meg Hillier: The Identity and Passport Service (IPS) does not ask passport holders to keep their address up to date on our database. Therefore, IPS cannot identify the number of current residents by geographical area that have taken advantage of the scheme to issue free passports to those applicants born on or before 2 September 1929.

Over 520,000 free passports have been issued since the scheme was introduced in 2004 as a way of recognising all those who had contributed to the national effort during the second world war.

Police: Finance

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the expenditure on (a) direct staff cost, (b) operational support cost, (c) business support cost and (d) cost excluding sustaining overhead under activity-based costing analysis was on (i) reducing crime, (ii) investigating crime, (iii) promoting public safety and (iv) providing assistance in each financial year since 2004-05. [200338]

Mr. Woolas: The Department's expenditure on crime for the last three years, for which there are audited figures, is shown in the following table.

Crime reduction and community safety group

£000

| | Outturn | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 |

| Enforcement and compliance | | 147,211 | 178,208 |
| Criminal casework | | 3,003 | 13,559 |

To provide the detail requested in the question could not be done without incurring disproportionate cost. Figures for UKBA 2004-05 could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Police: Misconduct

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment she has made of the effectiveness of procedures in place for the investigation of alleged misconduct by the police; what recent representations she has received on this issue; what response was given; and if she will make a statement. [235519]

Mr. Coaker: In 2004, the then Home Secretary commissioned a review of the current arrangements for dealing with police misconduct. The Review of Police Disciplinary Arrangements was the review conducted by William Taylor CBE QPM into the effectiveness of disciplinary arrangements for police officers. It made a number of recommendations, including that the procedures for dealing with the unsatisfactory performance of police officers should be reviewed. It was published in 2005 and its recommendations were accepted by Ministers. The Police Advisory Board for England and Wales (PABEW) took forward the process for implementing the recommendations. As a result, new Police (Performance) Regulations 2008, Police (Conduct) Regulations 2008 and Police Appeals Tribunals Rules 2008 were approved by both Houses of Parliament and the new procedures will come into force on 1 December 2008.

Police: Training

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what programmes there are for police officers to be posted overseas to help train overseas police forces in (a) secure and (b) insecure environments. [236068]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 17 November 2008]: UK police officers engage in a wide range of training and other police assistance activities, both short and long term, throughout the world. The environments in which they operate will vary, from stable countries to countries where the UK is contributing to Peace Support Operations, including Iraq and Afghanistan. In these cases, risk assessments will have been carried out prior to deployment and arrangements made to safeguard the officers' security as far as possible while delivering the assistance.

Police: Wales

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) police community support officers and (b) civilian support officers there were in (i) Vale of Clwyd constituency and (ii) North Wales (A) in 1997 and (B) at the latest date for which figures are available; and what the policing budget was in each area in (1) 1997 and (2) 2007 in real terms. [235559]

Mr. Coaker: The available data for North Wales are given in the following table. Police personnel data are not collected by parliamentary constituency.

The net budget requirement for North Wales Police Authority in 1997-98 was £71.3 million, increasing to £124.8 million in 2007-08. This is a real terms increase of 37.8 per cent.

Resource for the Vale of Clwyd is an operational matter for the chief constable and police authority.

Police community support officer strength (FTE)[1] and police staff[2] strength (FTE)[1] for North Wales police

| As at 31 March each year | PCSOs[3] | Staff |
|---|---|---|
| 1997[3] | | 476 |
| 2003[4] | 0 | 703 |
| 2008 | 159 | 774 |

[1] Total strength is based on full-time equivalent figures that have been rounded to the nearest whole number, because of rounding there may be an apparent discrepancy between these totals and the totals in other tables.
[2] Civilian staff have been referred to as police staff since March 2003. Figures exclude traffic wardens, police community support officers and designated officers (s.38).
[3] Figures exclude those staff on career breaks or maternity/paternity.
[4] Strength figures as at 31 March 2003 onwards include those staff on career breaks or maternity/paternity leave. Therefore these figures are not comparable with those provided for other years in the table.
[5] Police community support officers were introduced in statute in 2002, therefore data are not available prior to 2002-03.

UK Border Agency: Lost Property

Mr. Vara: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate her Department has made of the number of case files of asylum and immigration applicants lost by the UK Border Agency or its predecessor bodies in each of the last five years. [235349]

Mr. Woolas: The information is not available in the format requested. The level of UK Border Agency case files not currently shown with a clear location is less than 0.2 per cent. of the Agency's total holding.

JUSTICE

Bill of Rights

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice when he expects to publish his Green Paper on a British Bill of Rights; and if he will make a statement. [235484]

Mr. Straw: The Government have noted with interest the recent Report of the Joint Committee on Human Rights in relation to a Bill of Rights for the UK and expects to publish a paper on rights and responsibilities shortly.

Civil Service Commission: Payments

Mr. O'Hara: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what arrangements there are for the Civil Service Commission to transfer payments to (a) suppliers and (b) its staff in circumstances where the payment has not been made on the due date. [220884]

Kevin Brennan: I have been asked to reply.

I understand the hon. Member is referring to the Office of the Civil Service Commissioners. The Cabinet Office administers payments in respect of the Office's suppliers and staff.

The Cabinet Office's procedures are designed to support its policy to pay undisputed invoices within the terms of the contract; salaries on the due date; and valid staff expenses within five working days.

Compensation: Industrial Diseases

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice when he expects to publish the Government's response to the consultation on pleural plaques; and if he will make a statement. [235485]

Bridget Prentice: The Government's consultation on pleural plaques closed on 1 October, and the responses are currently being analysed. We will seek to publish a response paper outlining the way forward as soon as possible.

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many responses he has received to the consultation on pleural plaques; how many were from (a) trades unions, (b) members of the public and (c) insurers; and if he will make a statement. [235487]

Bridget Prentice: A total of 224 responses were received to the consultation paper. Of these, 125 responses were received from individuals and 30 from the legal profession. 18 responses were received from insurers and defendant organisations. There were 15 responses from trade union bodies, and 12 from Members of Parliament. Seven responses were received from employers and business organisations; four from medical professionals; four from organisations representing asbestos victims; and two from academics. In addition there were responses from a devolved administration; a non departmental public body; a constituency political party; an actuarial body; a charity for education in health and safety; a statutory public body; and a consultancy firm specialising in occupational environmental and public health risks.

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice with reference to the consultation on pleural plaques, how many responses were in favour of (a) the status quo, (b) a compensation scheme and (c) a change in the law to permit damages claims; and if he will make a statement. [235488]

Bridget Prentice: The responses to the questions contained in the consultation paper are currently being analysed. A full summary together with the Government's response will be published as soon as possible.

Courts Service: Costs

Mr. Bellingham: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the cost to the Courts Service of litigants in person was in each year since 1997. [235907]

Bridget Prentice: There are no data held centrally on the costs to Her Majesty's Courts Service of litigants in person.

Courts: Control Orders

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what progress has been made on point 8 of the then Prime Minister's security measures announced on 5 August 2005, on the expansion of court capacity to deal with control orders. [233535]

Bridget Prentice: We monitor the volume of control orders to ensure that we continue to have the capacity to deal with any increase in volumes. My Department has led and managed a Works Programme, which has provided 14 high security courtrooms to deal with terrorist cases at key locations across England and Wales. We keep under review the volume of control orders and our capacity to hear all terrorist cases, particularly those that require a higher level of security in order to ensure that our estate can meet any increased workload in the future. We are satisfied that at present the courts have sufficient capacity and that enough judges have been identified to deal with these Orders.

Departmental Cost Effectiveness

Mr. Maude: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice if he will place in the Library a copy of the recent presentation by Sir Suma Chakrabarti to senior officials in his Department on cost savings across his Department. [233374]

Mr. Straw: I refer the right hon. Member to my reply to the hon. Member for Cambridge (David Howarth) on 17 November 2008, Official Report, column 20W.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many (a) page hits and (b) visitors his Department's website received in 2007-08. [235300]

Mr. Malik: The Ministry of Justice website:

www.justice.gov.uk

was launched on 9 May 2007. Monthly page impressions and visits figures for the year from May 2007 to March 2008 are as follows:

|---|---|---|
| May (from 9 May) | 490,722 | 140,891 |
| June | 609,632 | 182,358 |
| July | 659,066 | 198,045 |
| August | 605,483 | 186,261 |
| September | 682,046 | 193,475 |
| October | 832,057 | 267,060 |
| November | 815,189 | 264,258 |
| December | 613,200 | 197,628 |
| January | 906,944 | 291,477 |
| February | 830,664 | 272,590 |
| March | 819,528 | 278,226 |

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many questions for written answer were tabled to his Department and its predecessor in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04, (c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235389]

Mr. Wills: The Ministry of Justice and its predecessor Departments have electronic records since the 2004-05 Session, therefore, the information for 2002-03 and 2003-04 is not available. The following table shows the number of ordinary written and named day Commons questions tabled to my Department and its predecessors from the 2004 Session.

| Session | House of Commons ordinary written and named day questions tabled |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 501 |
| 2005-06 | 2,700 |
| 2006-07 | 2,560 |
| 2007—14 November 2008 | 4,247 |

The information requested on how many questions were answered substantively and those that were not answered due to disproportionate costs are not held centrally, however, we are looking to adapt our database so the information is recorded from the new session.

Electoral Register

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what estimate he has made of the proportion of the electorate who have declined to have their details published in the edited version of the electoral register. [236515]

Kevin Brennan: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician I have been asked to reply to your question asking what estimate has been made of the proportion of the electorate who have declined to have their details published in the edited version of the electoral register. (236515)

The latest figures for the number of people who registered to vote in the United Kingdom, for local government and European elections, relate to 1 December 2007. At this date the proportion of the electorate who declined to have their details published in the edited version of the register was 39 per cent.

Islam: Legal Systems

Mr. Paul Goodman: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice when he plans to write to the hon. Member for Wycombe in fulfilment of the commitment given by the Under-Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government on 16 October 2008, Official Report, column 661, on Sharia law. [236986]

Bridget Prentice: I will respond to the hon. Member before the end of November.

Licensing: Television

Mr. Vara: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many people have been fined for television licence fee evasion in each of the last five years; and how much was collected in fines in each such year. [235705]

Maria Eagle: The available information is shown in the following table.

Number of offenders fined and sum of all fines for offences relating to television licence evasion[1], 2002 to 2006

| | Number of offenders fined | Sum of fines imposed (£) |
|---|---|---|
| 2002 | 94,569 | 10,448,919 |
| 2003 | 78,813 | 9,043,774 |
| 2004 | 96,155 | 11,164,361 |
| 2005 | 117,907 | 14,362,466 |
| 2006 | 113,874 | 14,748,188 |

[1] The TV licensing provisions of the Wireless Telegraphy Act 1949 were replaced by new provisions in the Communications Act 2003 which came into effect on 1 April 2004.

The overall payment rate for all financial penalties by financial year is shown in the following table. These data are not collected by offence.

| | Payment rate (Percentage) |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 80 |
| 2005-06 | 83 |
| 2006-07 | 92 |
| 2007-08 | 95 |

Data prior to April 2003 are not available in a comparable format.

Court proceedings data for 2007 will be available in late November.

Prison Service: Disciplinary Proceedings

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many prison officers were dismissed in connection with drug-related offences in each year since 1997. [235957]

Mr. Hanson: According to records held centrally by the National Offender Management Service, the numbers of public sector prison officers dismissed in connection with drug-related offences in each year since 2005, is contained in the following table:

| Calendar year | Dismissals |
|---|---|
| 2005 | 4 |
| 2006 | 3 |
| 2007 | 1 |
| 2008[1] | 3 |

[1] This covers the period to 30 October 2008 and does not include any cases which are subject to internal appeal.

Information on disciplinary cases before 2005 is not held centrally by the National Offender Management Service and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost by contact each of the 138 prisons across the service.

There will have been occasions where drugs offences were referred immediately to the police (e.g. where staff were found in possession of items, which were believed to be drugs, during an entry or exit search) and no internal disciplinary action was taken, other than to dismiss the member of staff for receipt of a criminal conviction. These cases are not always reported centrally as drug offences and, as such, may not be included in the information provided. In addition, the central database does not include cases where staff have resigned before the conclusion of internal disciplinary proceedings.

Prisoner Escapes

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many prisoners have escaped while under escort from prison in each year since 1997; and how many of those escapes were from (a) private taxis and (b) custom-built cellular vehicles. [235504]

Mr. Hanson: Most prisoner transfers are made by secure cellular vehicle. On occasions it is necessary to use taxis for transporting prisoners, mainly to hospital. On these occasions a risk assessment is conducted to ensure that the use of a taxi is appropriate. Only one prisoner has escaped while being transported by taxi in this period.

Data in the following table show the number of prisoners in England and Wales who have escaped from escort between April 1997 and March 2008 broken down by (a) private taxi hire (b) custom built cellular vehicles.

| | Total KPI escapes from escort | | Of which: escapes from taxis and cellular vehicles | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Financial year | HMPS escort | Contractor escort | Private taxi hire | Contractor secure cellular vehicle | Prison secure cellular vehicle |
| 1997-98 | 10 | 72 | | 11 | |
| 1998-99 | 7 | 55 | | 4 | |
| 1999-2000 | 8 | 59 | | 9 | |
| 2000-01 | 8 | 58 | | 17 | |
| 2001-02 | 11 | 40 | | 2 | |
| 2002-03 | 12 | 33 | | 7 | 1 |
| 2003-04 | 6 | 33 | | 1 | |
| 2004-05 | 8 | 28 | 1 | 1 | |
| 2005-06 | 8 | 17 | | 5 | 1 |
| 2006-07 | 6 | 19 | | 1 | |
| 2007-08 | 2 | 16 | | 2 | |

These figures have been drawn from administrative data systems. Although care is taken when processing and analysing the returns, the detail collected is subject to the inaccuracies inherent in any large scale recording system.

Prisoners: Drugs

Paul Holmes: To ask, the Secretary of State for Justice how many (a) male and (b) female prisoners entered prison needing treatment for drug addiction in each year since 1997. [235953]

Mr. Hanson: The information requested is not recorded centrally by the National Offender Management Service (NOMS) and could be obtained only by surveying 138 establishments, which could be done only at disproportionate cost. Drug treatment need is determined on a local basis. NOMS relies on epidemiological surveys to make central estimates of treatment need. These surveys suggest that on average 55 per cent. of prison entrants have a serious drug problem.

Prisoners: Employment

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice if he will meet representatives of the Howard League for Penal Reform to discuss the findings of the independent evaluation carried out by Professor Penny Green at King's College London into its social enterprise employing prisoners in HMP Coldingley. [236801]

Mr. Hanson: I visited the Barbed design studio at HMP Coldingley and met Frances Crook, director of the Howard League for Penal Reform, to discuss its social enterprise venture in July 2007. I am willing to meet the Howard League again to discuss Professor Green's evaluation report.

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what assessment his Department has made of the possible benefits of meaningful employment for long term prisoners, including the impact of any taxation contributions; what consideration was made of the Howard League for Penal Reform's social enterprise in HMP Coldingley in forming that assessment; and what assessment he has made of the consequences of the closure of the social enterprise at HMP Coldingley. [236803]

Mr. Hanson: The social benefits of providing employment in prisons, such as providing offenders with valuable skills to aid their resettlement back into the community and to reduce re-offending, have long been recognised.

Significant numbers of prisoners are meaningfully employed on a daily basis in a range of activities. This includes essential work producing a variety of goods for internal consumption and providing in-house services such as catering, cleaning and laundries. This reduces the cost of imprisonment and has an element of restitution while producing real work opportunities. Employment in prison also acts as an aid to good order and control and aids resettlement through skills and qualifications.

Increasingly, prisoners are employed to carry out work in partnership with other organisations and there are a number of employer partnerships with private industry that not only provide real employment and training but also employment on release. The Government are keen to grow these initiatives so that increasing number of prisoners and society can benefit. In addition to those working in individual prisons and probation areas there is also an existing corporate alliance with employers from the private, public and third sectors which informs strategy and delivery.

Ultimately it was the Howard League for Penal Reform that has taken the decision to close the small design studio workshop at HM Prison Coldingley. The Prison Service has been supportive of this project from the outset. Furthermore, the Service has been willing to give further consideration to any proposals to expand the same business model into other establishments. Despite widespread publicity, support from the Prison Service no other private or voluntary sector has shown interest in replicating all aspects of the Howard League work.

Although the Howard League closure is to be regretted the consequences on the number of prisoners employed is limited as the workshop currently employs some three prisoners and has never employed more than six prisoners at any one time. Workshop expansion at Coldingley is already planned and this will become operational early in 2009.

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what hours were being worked each day by prisoners at the Howard League for Penal Reform social enterprise in HMP Coldingley in its (a) first month and (b) last month of operation; and what assessment he has made of the effect of the reduction of working hours at the prison. [236804]

Mr. Hanson: In October 2005, six prisoners were employed in the "Barbed" design studio workshop at HM Prison Coldingley, which was jointly established by the Howard League for Penal Reform and HM Prison Service. The working week was as follows:

Monday to Thursday:

8.15 am to 11.45 am

1.45 pm to 4.45 pm

Friday:

8.15 am to 11.45 am

These times include 15 minute movement time to work am and pm.

In October 2008, three prisoners were employed in the workshop. The working week was as follows:

Monday to Thursday:

8.45 am to 11.45 am

1.45pm to 4.45 pm

Friday:

8.30 am to 11.45 am

These times include 15 minute movement time to work am and pm.

Prisons: Crimes of Violence

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) how many prison officers have been assaulted whilst at work in female prisons in each year since 1997; [235502]

(2) how many prison officers have been assaulted whilst at work in male prisons in each year since 1997. [235503]

Mr. Hanson: The information is set out in the following table. It is subject to important qualifications. The National Offender Management Service (NOMS) incident reporting system processes high volumes of data that are constantly being updated. The numbers provide an indication of overall numbers but should not be interpreted as absolute. Assault data are complex and the numbers need to be interpreted with caution.

The recorded incidents of assaults on prison officers are not completely exclusive to officers; prison recording sometimes includes assaults on other prison staff in this category. The numbers supplied refer to the number of individual assault incidents. The numbers refer to all incidents recorded as assaults; these may also include threatening behaviour, projection of bodily fluids and other non-contact events and allegations.

Ministers, NOMS and the Prison Officers Association are collectively committed to ensuring that violence in prisons is not tolerated in any form. Since 2004, a national strategy has directed every public sector prison to have in place a local violence reduction strategy. From mid 2007, this has also been applied to the contracted out (or private) estate. A whole prison approach is encouraged, engaging all staff, all disciplines and prisoners in challenging unacceptable behaviour, problem-solving and personal safety.

Due to re-rolling of prisons over the years and the fact that some prisons have both male and female prisoners we do not have precise figures in the form requested. The approximate numbers of prisoner on officer assaults are as follows.

Prisoner on officer assault incidents[1]

| | Prison type | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | Female | Male | Total |
| 1997[2] | 146 | 1,564 | 1,710 |
| 1998[2] | 174 | 1,415 | 1,589 |
| 1999[2] | 159 | 1,708 | 1,867 |
| 2000 | 224 | 1,705 | 1,929 |
| 2001 | 206 | 2,132 | 2,338 |
| 2002 | 250 | 2,253 | 2,503 |
| 2003 | 257 | 2,265 | 2,522 |
| 2004 | 257 | 2,506 | 2,763 |
| 2005 | 392 | 2,699 | 3,091 |
| 2006 | 495 | 2,640 | 3,135 |
| 2007 | 573 | 2,497 | 2,870 |

[1] Excludes a small proportion of assaults by others such as visitors.

[2] There has been improved recording of assault incidents over the years particularly for fights. Figures reported for 1997, 1998 and 1999 are not directly comparable with those reported in later years.

While over recent years both male and female prisoner populations have increased, generally female prisoners make up about 5 per cent. of the total prison population. In the most recent complete calendar year (2007), about 13 per cent. of prisoner on officer assaults occurred in female prisons.

Probation Service: Finance

Mr. Malins: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the budget of the Probation Service is in 2008-09; and what proportion of that budget is for the care and aftercare of young people in young offender institutions. [235972]

Mr. Hanson: The delegated budget for the probation service for 2008-09 is £914 million resource and £3 million capital. The detail of the proportion of the delegated budget spent on the care and after care of young people—the 18 to 21-year-old offenders—in young offender institutions is not held centrally, and could be obtained only at a disproportionate cost because of the need to survey all 36 probation boards and the six probation trusts. The probation service is not responsible for the care or after care of offenders under 18 years old who are managed by the youth offending teams.

Reoffenders

Mr. Malins: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the re-offending rate (a) within six months and (b) within 12 months for young men on release from young offender institutions was in each of the last four years. [235973]

Mr. Hanson: We do not collate figures on reoffending occurring within six months of leaving custody. On an annual basis we publish rates which measure reoffending over a 12-month period.

The following table shows the reoffending figures for juvenile male offenders (aged 10 to 17), who were released from custody in the first quarter of 2003, 2004, 2005 and 2006. The following table shows the proportion of offenders that committed at least one further offence and the number of further offences committed per 100 offenders.

Males

| | Number of releases from custody | Proportion of offenders reoffending (1 year) | Number of offences per 100 offenders (1 year) |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2003 | 740 | 75.7 | 458.8 |
| 2004 | 751 | 76.3 | 430.2 |
| 2005 | 768 | 75.3 | 426.2 |
| 2006 | 729 | 78.9 | 421.4 |

The figures include offenders released from young offender institutions, secure training centres and secure children's homes.

We are unable to break the figures down to show only offenders released form young offender institutions.

The latest reoffending statistics for juveniles, 'Reoffending of juveniles: results from the 2006 cohort', were published on 4 September 2008 and can be obtained from the Ministry of Justice website:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/reoffendingjuveniles.htm

We have made significant progress in reducing juvenile reoffending. The frequency rate of juvenile reoffending fell by 18.7 per cent. between 2000 to 2006.

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice pursuant to the answer of 10 November 2008, Official Report, column 874W, on reoffenders, how many offenders under 21 years old who had served (a) less than six months, (b) between six months and one year and (c) more than one year reoffended within six months of release since June 2007. [236333]

Mr. Hanson: We do not collate figures on reoffending occurring within six months of leaving custody. On an annual basis we publish rates which measure reoffending over a 12 month period. We also do not hold data on length of custodial sentence for the index offence for juveniles (aged under 18 years).

The following table shows the reoffending figures for offenders aged 18 to 20 who were released from custody in the first quarter of 2004, 2005 and 2006, by the length of sentence that they were given in court (time served in custody will be less than this). The table provides the proportion of offenders that committed at least one further offence and the number of further offences committed per 100 offenders. Offences which result in a conviction at court are counted as a reoffence.

| Length of custodial sentence for index offence | Year | Number of releases from custody | Rate of reoffending (1 year) | Number of offences per 100 offenders (1 year) |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Less than 6 months | 2004 | 1,870 | 71.5 | 180.0 |
| | 2005 | 1,830 | 72.2 | 173.5 |
| | 2006 | 933 | 68.9 | 156.7 |
| 6 months to less than 1 year | 2004 | 520 | 82.5 | 268.1 |
| | 2005 | 539 | 82.5 | 255.0 |
| | 2006 | 313 | 68.1 | 171.6 |
| 1 year and over | 2004 | 648 | 85.2 | 303.6 |
| | 2005 | 617 | 78.2 | 230.6 |
| | 2006 | 346 | 57.7 | 125.6 |

The latest reoffending statistics for juveniles, 'Reoffending of juveniles: results from the 2006 cohort', were published on 4 September 2008 and can be obtained from the Ministry of Justice website:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/reoffendingjuveniles.htm

The latest reoffending statistics for adults, 'Reoffending of adults: results from the 2006 cohort', were published on the same date and can be obtained from:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/reoffendingofadults.htm

Secure Training Centre Rules (Amendment) Rules 2007

Mr. Burrowes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice when his Department will publish revised draft rules to replace the Secure Training Centre Rules (Amendment) Rules 2007. [235936]

Mr. Hanson: We have applied to the House of Lords for permission to appeal against the court's decision and await a decision on the application.

The effect of the Court of Appeal's decision to quash the Secure Training Centre (Amendment) Rules 2007 was to reinstate Rule 38 as it read before the 2007 amendment.

Vandalism: Cemeteries

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice which Jewish cemeteries in England and Wales have been desecrated in the last two years; and if he will make a statement. [235692]

Bridget Prentice: This information is not recorded centrally. However we have been told by the Community Security Trust charity that they received reports of nine incidents of desecration of Jewish cemeteries in the United Kingdom in 2006 and six in 2007. For reasons of security and confidentiality they feel it would be inappropriate to make public details of the sites concerned.

HEALTH

Accidents: Cycling

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what estimate his Department has made of the cost to the NHS of treating patients who were involved in cycling accidents and were not wearing a cycle helmet in the latest period for which figures are available; [235603]

(2) how many people were admitted to hospital as a result of cycling accidents in each of the last five financial years. [235607]

Mr. Bradshaw: The national health service has not been asked to identify separately the costs of treating road traffic accident victims or those injured in cycling accidents because of the burden it would impose. Where a patient receives a compensation payment for their injuries, however incurred, the NHS is able to reclaim the costs of their treatment from whoever pays the compensation. In 2007-08, over £137 million was recovered in this way.

Information on admissions to hospital as a result of cycling accidents from 2002-03 to 2006-07 is shown in the following tables.

Finished admission episodes

A finished admission episode is the first period of inpatient care under one consultant within one healthcare provider. Finished admission episodes are counted against the year in which the admission episode finishes. Please note that admissions do not represent the number of inpatients, as a person may have more than one admission within the year.

Cause code

The cause code is a supplementary code that indicates the nature of any external cause of injury, poisoning or other adverse effects. The field within HES counts only the first external cause code which is coded within the episode.

Data Quality

Hospital Episode Statistics (HES) are compiled from data sent by more than 300 NHS trusts and primary care trusts (PCTs) in England. Data are also received from a number of independent sector organisations for activity commissioned by the English NHS. The NHS Information Centre for health and social care liaises closely with these organisations to encourage submission of complete and valid data and seeks to minimise inaccuracies and the effect of missing and invalid data via HES processes. While this brings about improvement over time, some shortcomings remain.

Ungrossed data

Figures have not been adjusted for shortfalls in data (i.e. the data are ungrossed).

Assessing growth through time

HES figures are available from 1989-90 onwards. During the years that these records have been collected by the NHS there have been ongoing improvements in quality and coverage. These improvements in information submitted by the NHS have been particularly marked in the earlier years and need to be borne in mind when analysing time series.

Some of the increase in figures for later years (particularly 2006-07 onwards) may be due to the improvement in the coverage of independent sector activity.

Changes in NHS practice also need to be borne in mind when analysing time series. For example, a number of procedures may now be undertaken in outpatient settings and may no longer be accounted for in the HES data. This may account for any reductions in activity over time.

Ambulance Services: Motor Vehicles

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many emergency response vehicles are operated by each NHS ambulance trust in England; and what the ratio is of such vehicles per 1,000 of the population. [236989]

Mr. Bradshaw: Information on the number of ambulances operated by each NHS ambulance trusts is not held centrally.

Ambulance Services: Per Capita Costs

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much was spent per person on the provision of ambulance services for (a) each ambulance trust in England and (b) England for the latest period for which figures are available. [236988]

Mr. Bradshaw: The information requested is listed in the following table:

| Trust | Expenditure (£000)[1] | Population[2] | Spend per person (£)[1] |
|---|---|---|---|
| North East Ambulance Service | 78,542 | 2,564,486 | 30.62 |

Population data based on ONS Population Statistics database (mid year 2007 based on 2001 census) for equivalent strategic health authority regions. GWAS population figures calculated using primary care trust population data from Gloucestershire, South Gloucestershire, Bristol, North Somerset, Bath and North East Somerset, Swindon and Wiltshire.

Aortic Aneurysm: Screening

Dr. Iddon: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) if he will publish a timetable for the introduction of the NHS abdominal aortic aneurysm screening programme; [236464]

(2) when he expects the NHS abdominal aortic aneurysm screening programme to cover all parts of England; and if he will make a statement; [236465]

(3) which NHS trusts have been selected to participate in the first round of pilots of the abdominal aortic aneurysm screening programme; and when they will begin their work; [236466]

(4) what estimate he has made of the number of lives which will be saved in a year following the introduction of the NHS abdominal aortic aneurysm screening programme. [236467]

Ann Keen: Six early implementation sites have been identified and will start screening by summer 2009. The sites are West Sussex (Royal West Sussex NHS trust), Leicester (University Hospitals of Leicester NHS trust), Gloucester (Gloucestershire Hospitals NHS foundation trust), South Manchester (University Hospital of South Manchester NHS foundation trust), South Devon and Exeter (South Devon NHS Foundation Trust and Royal Devon and Exeter NHS foundation trust) and South West London (St George's Healthcare NHS trust). It is anticipated that full national roll out will be achieved by the end of March 2012; work is under way with strategic health authorities to plan for this.

Once fully implemented it is expected that the screening programme will save approximately 700 lives within the first 10 years of screening rising eventually to 1,600 per year.

Arachnoiditis

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what research his Department has carried out into possible links between arachnoiditis and depression. [235655]

Dawn Primarolo: None.

Both the Department's National Institute for Health Research and the Medical Research Council welcome high quality applications for support into any aspect of human health, and these are judged in open competition with other demands on funding.

Cancer: Death

Dr. Gibson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of trends in mortality rates of (a) common cancers and (b) rarer cancers; and if he will make a statement. [232840]

Kevin Brennan: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking what assessment has been made of trends in mortality rates of (a) common cancers and (b) rarer cancers. (232840)

The attached table provides the age-standardised mortality rates in England, by sex, for the period 1971 to 2005, for all cancers combined, and for each cancer for which this information is readily available.

A detailed description of trends in cancer incidence and mortality over the period 1950 to 2003 is available in the 'Cancer Atlas of the United Kingdom and Ireland, 1991-2000', chapter 2 (pp 7-38), entitled 'Geographical patterns in cancer in the UK and Ireland'. This publication is also available in the House of Commons library, and from the Office for National Statistics' website via the following link:

An article examining trends in cancer in the UK and constituent countries over the period 1993-2004 for all cancers combined, and for the four most common cancers, was published in the Health Statistics Quarterly, volume 38, pp 33-46. This is available in the House of Commons library, and from the Office for National Statistics website via the following link:

Congenital Abnormalities

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many children of consanguineous unions were born with genetic abnormalities in each year since 2000. [236308]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department does not collect such data centrally.

Dementia: Health Services

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will publish an estimate of the full average cost of caring for a dementia patient for 12 months before he publishes his national dementia care strategy. [235555]

Mr. Vara: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps the NHS is taking to assist people suffering from dementia; and if he will make a statement. [235711]

Phil Hope: We aim to publish a National Dementia Strategy for England later in the year. This will build on the examples of best practice in dementia care across the national health service and social care and on the contributions we have had from a wide range of stakeholders in response to public consultation.

Dental Services

Mr. Vara: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many NHS (a) dentists and (b) orthodontists there were in each (i) strategic health authority and (ii) primary care trust area in England in each of the last five years; and if he will make a statement. [235712]

Ann Keen: Information is not available in the format requested. The following information relates to the primary care dental services.

The number of national health service dentists, as at 31 March, 1997 to 2006 is available in Annex E of the NHS Dental Activity and Workforce Report England: 31 March 2006. Information is available by strategic health authority (SHA) and by primary care trust (PCT).

This measure counted the number of NHS dentists recorded on PCT lists as at 31 March each year. This information is based on the old contractual arrangements, which were in place up to and including 31 March 2006. This report, published on 23 August 2006, has already been placed in the Library and is also available on the NHS Information Centre website at:

http://www.ic.nhs.uk/pubs/dwfactivity

The numbers of dentists with NHS activity during the years ending 31 March, 2007 and 2008 are available in Table G1 of Annex 3 of the "NHS Dental Statistics for England. 2007-08" report. Information is provided by SHA and by PCT. This information is based on the new dental contractual arrangements, introduced on 1 April 2006.

Following a recent consultation exercise, this measure is based on a revised methodology and therefore supersedes previously published workforce figures relating to the new dental contractual arrangements. It is not comparable to the information collected under the old contractual arrangements. This revised methodology counted the number of dental performers with NHS activity recorded via FP17 claim forms in each year ending 31 March. This report, published on 21 August 2008, has already been placed in the Library and is also available on the NHS Information Centre website at:

http://www.ic.nhs.uk/pubs/dental0708

Further work is planned over the next few months to determine whether the new definition used under the new dental contractual arrangements can be applied to the years under the old contractual arrangements to produce a consistent time series.

Dentists undertaking orthodontic work will appear in the figures in both of the above reports; however, it is not possible to separately identify such dentists.

Both sets of published figures relate to headcounts and do not differentiate between full-time and part-time dentists, nor do they account for the fact that some dentists may do more NHS work than others.

Tables 7a and 7b of the Dental Working Hours, England and Wales 2006-07 and 2007-08 report show working hours information for dentists identified as carrying out more orthodontic work than non-orthodontic work and vice versa.

This report, published on 21 August 2008, has already been placed in the Library and is also available on the NHS Information Centre website at:

http://www.ic.nhs.uk/pubs/dentalworkinghours0708

Mr. Vara: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the (a) NHS dentist to patient and (b) NHS orthodontist to patient ratio is in each (i) strategic health authority and (ii) primary care trust area in England; and what those ratios were in each of the last five years. [235713]

Ann Keen: Information is not available in the format requested. The following information relates to the primary care dental services.

The number of persons per national health service dentist in England, as at 31 March, 1997 to 2006 is available in Annex F of the "NHS Dental Activity and Workforce Report England: 31 March 2006" report. The information is provided by primary care trust (PCT) and strategic health authority (SHA).

This measure related to the number of NHS dentists recorded on PCT lists as at 31 March each year. This information is based on the old contractual arrangements, which were in place up to and including 31 March 2006. This report, published on 23 August 2006, has already been placed in the Library and is also on the NHS Information Centre website at:

http://www.ic.nhs.uk/pubs/dwfactivity

The number of dentists with NHS activity per 100,000 population, during the years ending 31 March, 2007 and 2008 is available in Table G1 of Annex 3 of the "NHS Dental Statistics for England: 2007-08" report. Information is available by SHA and by PCT. This information is based on the new dental contractual arrangements, introduced on 1 April 2006.

Following a recent consultation exercise, this measure is based on a revised methodology and therefore supersedes previously published workforce figures relating to the new dental contractual arrangements. It is not comparable to the information collected under the old contractual arrangements. The revised methodology counts the number of dental performers with NHS activity recorded via FP17 claim forms in each year ending 31 March. This report, published on 21 August 2008, has already been placed in the Library and is also on the NHS Information Centre website at:

http://www.ic.nhs.uk/pubs/dental0708

Dentists undertaking orthodontic work will appear in the figures in both of the aforementioned reports, however, it is not possible to separately identify such dentists.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 21 October 2008, Official Report, column 303W, on dental services, what items of information are supplied by dental providers on FP17 forms. [235726]

Ann Keen: This information is contained in dental form FP17, a copy of which has been placed in the Library.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 21 October 2008, Official Report, column 303W, on dental services, what the average patient recall interval was for dentists in each (a) primary care trust area and (b) strategic health authority region in the latest period for which figures are available. [235727]

Ann Keen: Information could be made available only in the form requested at disproportionate cost. Such management information as is available is set out in the table entitled 'Primary Dental Care Patient Re-Attendance Intervals' which has been placed in the Library. Information is provided for the period April to September 2008 by primary care trust. This is the latest period for which data are available.

Diabetes: Children

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what steps his Department has taken to ensure that primary care trusts provide appropriate support for children diagnosed with diabetes; and if he will make a statement; [235892]

(2) how much his Department has allocated for expenditure on support for children diagnosed with diabetes in 2008-09; and if he will make a statement. [235893]

Ann Keen: In April 2007, the Department published "Making Every Young Person with Diabetes Matter", the report of the Children and Young People with Diabetes working group, which looked at ways to improve diabetes services for children and young people. This report includes guidance to commissioners on the planning, design and provision of diabetes services for children and young people. A copy of this document has already been placed in the Library.

The group's recommendations are now being taken forward by an implementation group led by the National Clinical Director for Children. The group's membership includes Diabetes UK, parents of children with diabetes, clinicians and other key partners with an interest in children and diabetes.

Funding to support children with diabetes is included in baseline allocations to primary care trusts. It is for primary care trusts to determine the appropriate level of expenditure and commission services that meet the needs of their local population.

Doctors: Career Structure

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many doctors who qualified in each of the last five years have not practised medicine since qualification. [237221]

Ann Keen: The information requested is not collected centrally.

Doctors: Manpower

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) doctors and (b) nurses were employed (i) by Sefton Primary Care Trust and (ii) by the NHS in England in (A) 1997 and (B) 2008. [236722]

Ann Keen: The information is not available in the format requested. The following table shows national health service staff in England and the Sefton Primary Care Trust (PCT) area as at 30 September for each specified year.

| | 2002 | 2007 |
|---|---|---|
| England | | |
| All doctors (excluding retainers) | 103,350 | 127,645 |
| General practitioners | 32,292 | 36,420 |
| Qualified nursing, midwifery and health visiting staff | 367,520 | 399,597 |
| Of which: | | |
| Sefton PCT area | | |
| All doctors (excluding retainers) | 3 | 6 |
| General practitioners | 183 | 179 |
| Qualified nursing, midwifery and health visiting staff | 516 | 669 |

Notes:
1. The Sefton PCT was formed in October 2006 from a complete merger of the Southport and Formby PCT and the South Sefton PCT. Figures for 2002 are an aggregate of these two predecessor organisations.
2. Data quality: Work force statistics are compiled from data sent by more than 300 NHS trusts and PCTs in England. The Information Centre for health and social care liaises closely with these organisations to encourage submission of complete and valid data and seeks to minimise inaccuracies and the effect of missing and invalid data. Processing methods and procedures are continually being updated to improve data quality. Where this happens any impact on figures already published will be assessed but unless this is significant at national level they will not be changed. Where there is impact only at detailed or local level this will be footnoted in relevant analyses.

Drugs: Misuse

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what information he holds on the number of people aged 18 years or under who died as a direct or indirect result of abusing (a) cannabis, (b) cocaine, (c) ecstasy, (d) alcohol, (e) crystal methadone and (f) prescription drugs in (i) 2007 and (ii) 1997. [231945]

Kevin Brennan: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking what information is held on the number of people aged 18 years or under who died as a direct or indirect result of abusing (a) cannabis, (b) cocaine, (c) ecstasy, (d) alcohol, (e) crystal methadone and (f) prescription drugs in (i) 2007 and (ii) 1997. (231945)

Table 1 attached shows the number of deaths of persons aged 18 years or under for which the underlying cause was drug poisoning and (a) cannabis, (b) cocaine or (c) ecstasy was mentioned on the death certificate either alone or together with other substances.

The common term (e) 'crystal meth' refers to methylamphetamine, an amphetamine, rather than to methadone, an opiate. Table 1 also includes figures for drug poisoning deaths mentioning amphetamines (other than ecstasy) or methadone. It is not possible to provide a breakdown of drug poisoning deaths by substance where the person died as an indirect result of abusing drugs.

The National Statistics definition of alcohol-related deaths only includes those causes regarded as being most directly due to alcohol consumption. It does not include external causes of death such as road traffic accidents, other accidents or violence, where alcohol may have been a contributory cause. Table 2 attached shows the number of deaths of persons aged 18 years or under where (d) an alcohol-related cause was the underlying cause of death or was mentioned as a contributory factor on the death certificate. Figures in all cases are provided for (i) 2007 and (ii) 1997.

ONS data on drug-related deaths identify all substances which were mentioned on the death record. However, since in some cases the same substance could be prescribed, bought legally, or obtained illegally, it is not possible to ascertain which deaths were due to (f) prescription drugs.

Table 1: Number of deaths attributed to drug poisoning where cannabis, cocaine, ecstasy, any other amphetamine, or methadone was mentioned on the death certificate, persons aged 18 years and under, England and Wales, 1997 and 2007[1,2]

| | Deaths (persons) | |
|---|---|---|
| | 1997 | 2007 |
| Cannabis | 1 | 0 |
| Cocaine | 0 | 4 |
| Ecstasy | 5 | 4 |
| Amphetamines (other than Ecstasy) | 6 | 1 |
| Methadone | 34 | 7 |

[1] Cause of death was defined using the International Classification of Diseases, Tenth Revision (ICD-10). Deaths were included where the underlying cause was due to drug poisoning (shown in the following table) and where cannabis, cocaine, any amphetamine, ecstasy or methadone was mentioned on the death certificate.
[2] Figures are for deaths registered in each calendar year.

| Cause of death | ICD-10 code(s) |
|---|---|
| Mental and behavioural disorders due to drug use (excluding alcohol and tobacco) | F11–F16, F18–F19 |
| Accidental poisoning by drugs, medicaments and biological substances | X40–X44 |
| Intentional self-poisoning by drugs, medicaments and biological substances | X60–X64 |
| Assault by drugs, medicaments and biological substances | X85 |
| Poisoning by drugs, medicaments and biological substances, undetermined intent | Y10–Y14 |

Table 2: Number of deaths where an alcohol-related cause was mentioned on the death certificate, persons aged 18 years and under, England and Wales, 1997 and 2007[1,2]

| | Deaths (persons) | |
|---|---|---|
| | 1997 | 2007 |
| Underlying cause of death | 13 | 2 |
| Mentioned as contributory factor | 38 | 30 |

[1] Cause of death was defined using the International Classification of Diseases, Ninth Revision (ICD-9) for 1997, and Tenth Revision (ICD-10) for 2007. The specific causes of death categorised as alcohol-related, and their corresponding ICD-9 and ICD-10 codes, are shown in the following table.
[2] Figures are for deaths registered in each calendar year.

Box 1: Alcohol-related causes of death - International Classification of Diseases, Ninth Revision (ICD-9)

| Cause of death | ICD-9 code(s) |
|---|---|
| Alcoholic psychoses | 291 |
| Alcohol dependence syndrome | 303 |
| Non-dependent abuse of alcohol | 305.0 |
| Alcoholic cardiomyopathy | 425.5 |
| Alcoholic fatty liver | 571.0 |
| Acute alcoholic hepatitis | 571.1 |
| Alcoholic cirrhosis of liver | 571.2 |
| Alcoholic liver damage, unspecified | 571.3 |
| Chronic hepatitis | 571.4 |
| Cirrhosis of liver without mention of alcohol | 571.5 |
| Other chronic nonalcoholic liver disease | 571.8 |
| Unspecified chronic liver disease without mention of alcohol | 571.9 |
| Accidental poisoning by alcohol | E860 |

| Fibrosis and cirrhosis of liver (excl. Biliary cirrhosis) | K74 (excl. K74.3–K74.5) |
| Alcohol induced chronic pancreatitis | K86.0 |
| Accidental poisoning by and exposure to alcohol | X45 |
| Intentional self-poisoning by and exposure to alcohol | X65 |
| Poisoning by and exposure to alcohol, undetermined intent | Y15 |

Eyesight: Testing

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many pensioners in Enfield North constituency have received free eye tests in each year since tests were introduced. [235439]

Ann Keen: Information is not available by constituency.

Information on the number of General Ophthalmic Services (GOS) sight tests paid for by the NHS, by patient eligibility at primary care trust (PCT) level, will be available in the "General Ophthalmic Services: Activity Statistics for England and Wales: Year Ending 31 March 2008" report. This report is due to be published by the NHS Information Centre for health and social care on 20 November 2008, and will be placed in the Library.

Information by patient eligibility will be provided at a national level from 1999-2000 (when NHS sight tests were extended to those aged 60 and over) and will be provided at PCT and strategic health authority (SHA) level for the year 1 April 2007 to 31 March 2008. Information on the number of sight tests by patient eligibility, at PCT and SHA level is not available for earlier years.

Food: Standards

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps (a) his Department and (b) the Food Standards Agency has taken to ensure compatibility between the work of the Food Standards Agency and the European Food Safety Authority in relation to food standards; and if he will make a statement. [235601]

Dawn Primarolo: The remit of the European Food Safety Authority (EFSA) principally concerns the assessment and communication of risk relating to food and animal feed safety. Its scientific opinions underpin the regulatory framework put in place by the European Parliament and member states.

A key objective for EFSA is delivering its strategy on scientific cooperation. This strategy aims to assist member states in taking co-ordinated, effective and timely decisions in the field of food and feed safety, while avoiding duplication of work. The Food Standards Agency, as the lead Department in the UK for food safety, was influential in developing this strategy and is active in its delivery. The Department has little direct involvement with EFSA.

Genetics Insurance Committee: Finance

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what (a) capital, (b) revenue and (c) other funding his Department has given to the Genetics Insurance Committee since its inception. [235207]

Dawn Primarolo: The Genetics and Insurance Advisory Committee is an advisory committee to the Department. There has been no capital funding. Revenue funding and other costs are accounted for as part of general administration budget expenditure, where it is not customary to separate the running costs of individual advisory committees.

Health: Insurance

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what assessment he has made of the availability of top-up health insurance in England; and what information his Department holds on providers of top-up health insurance; [235613]

(2) what assessment he has made of the average annual cost to an individual patient of top-up health insurance; [235614]

(3) what estimate he has made of the (a) current annual value and (b) likely increase as a result of his announcement on access to NHS care on 4 November 2008 in the annual value of top-up health insurance purchased in England. [235621]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Government response to Professor Richards's review, 'Improving access to medicines for NHS patients', set out a package of measures which will reduce demand for additional private drugs, as more drugs will be available on the national health service, more quickly.

As more drugs will be available on the NHS, the Department considers that this will mean fewer NHS patients are likely to want to take out so called "top-up" health insurance than would otherwise have been the case.

As with all stakeholders who had an interest, Professor Richards and his team heard the views of some insurance companies as part of the review process. This did not amount to an assessment of the availability of particular types of health insurance, given the Department's policy is not to encourage the expansion of private health insurance.

Hepatitis: Vaccinations

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps are being taken by his Department to ensure that hepatitis B vaccines are made available free of charge to essential workers in nursing homes; what criteria are used by his Department in determining who receives hepatitis B vaccines free of charge; what recent representations he has received on this issue; and if he will make a statement. [235525]

Dawn Primarolo: Responsibility for occupational hepatitis B immunisation rests with the employer and it should be provided through an occupational health service. It is the responsibility of the individual trusts/employers to determine their own programme and fund the immunisation of their staff.

The Department has received very low levels of correspondence relating to vaccinations for health care workers. The response to these letters stated the aforementioned departmental policy.

Hospitals: Admissions

Mr. Syms: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate his Department has made of the average cost per day of a patient staying in hospital in the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [235460]

Mr. Bradshaw: It is not possible to provide an estimate of the average cost per day, as the data collected as part of the annual national health service reference cost collection include all costs associated with treatment and service provision, and not just the cost of the stay in hospital.

Hospitals: Liverpool

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) doctors and (b) nurses work in (i) Aintree and (ii) Royal Walton Hospital; and how many did so in 1997. [236694]

Ann Keen: The following table shows the number of national health service staff in each specified staff group for the Aintree University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust and the Walton Centre for Neurology and Neurosurgery NHS Trust as at 30 September each specified year.

| | 1997 | | 2007 | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Medical and dental staff | Qualified nursing staff | Medical and dental staff | Qualified nursing staff |
| Aintree University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust | 313 | 1,185 | 413 | 1,202 |
| Walton Centre for Neurology and Neurosurgery NHS Trust | 52 | 187 | 90 | 262 |

Lung Diseases

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the number of people with pleural plaques; and if he will make a statement. [235486]

Bridget Prentice: I have been asked to reply.

There is no definitive information on either the total number of people with confirmed diagnoses of pleural plaques, or those people who will ultimately develop pleural plaques. This is largely due to the asymptomatic nature of pleural plaques, as well as its long latency.

NHS: Legal Costs

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much his Department (a) has spent and (b) is expected to spend on legal and associated fees in all ongoing legal cases concerning NHS staff. [234359]

Ann Keen: The Department has to date spent £65,820.92 on legal and associated fees in all ongoing cases involving NHS staff. We are unable to predict with any degree of accuracy the total likely costs, because these cases are ongoing and, therefore, unresolved.

NHS: Negligence

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the claims are for which total damages are worth more than £500,000 that have been settled under the Clinical Negligence Scheme for Trusts; and in each case (a) which trust was involved, (b) what damages have been paid to date, (c) what total damages are expected to be, (d) what the speciality was in which the claim occurred and (e) what injury to the patient occurred. [235609]

Ann Keen: The information requested was provided by the NHS Litigation Authority and is in the document, "CNST claims with damages over £500k". A copy has been placed in the Library.

Note:

Total damages indicate the exact amount paid if the case is closed, or the estimated amount to be paid where some damages are outstanding, for example under periodic payments.

NHS: Psychiatrists

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many psychiatrists were employed by the National Health Service in each year since 1997. [236980]

Phil Hope: The number of psychiatrists employed in the national health service in each year since 1997 is detailed in the following table.

Hospital and Community Health Services (HCHS): medical staff within the psychiatry group by specialty England

Number (headcount)

| | 1997 | 1998 | 1999 | 2000 | 2001 | 2002 | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 | 2007 |

Workforce statistics are compiled from data sent by more than 300 NHS trusts and primary care trusts (PCTs) in England. The NHS Information Centre for health and social care liaises closely with these organisations to encourage submission of complete and valid data and seeks to minimise inaccuracies and the effect of missing and invalid data. ## NHS: Public Participation

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps he takes to ensure that LINks pay appropriate attention to social care inquiries; and what mechanisms are in place to ensure that health and overview scrutiny committees take account of social care referrals. [235689]

Ann Keen: Section 221 of the Local Government and Public Involvement in Health Act 2007, sets out local involvement network activities in respect of both health and social services.

All materials produced to describe the role of LINks highlight that the LINk role incorporates social services. The Act also contains provision, which ensures that, should a local involvement network (LINk) refers a matter relating to social care services to a Overview and Scrutiny Committee (OSC), the Committee is required to respond to the LINk and keep the LINk informed of the Committee's actions in relation to the matter.

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps he is taking to ensure that LINks and health and overview scrutiny committees work effectively together. [235690]

Ann Keen: The Local Government and Public Involvement in Health Act 2007, contains provision which ensures that, should a local involvement network (LINk) refer a matter relating to social care services to a Overview and Scrutiny Committee (OSC), the Committee is required to respond to the LINk and keep the LINk informed of the Committee's actions in relation to the matter. The Act only provides for social care referrals, because there is an existing regulation making power to require committees to respond to health matters when they are referred. The regulations have been amended to mirror the requirements of the Act but for health matters.

LINks will provide detailed data to OSCs and enable them to get a clearer picture of peoples' needs and experiences of health and social care services.

Since the legislation establishing LINks came into force, in April 2008, the Department has put in place a programme of support for local authorities, host organisations and LINks. As part of this programme, the NHS Centre for Involvement has produced guidance materials, which consistently highlight the importance of LINks establishing close working relations with OSCs.

The Department is currently asking people and organisations for their ideas on how we can build on the achievements of health overview and scrutiny and consider ways in which health scrutiny arrangements can be strengthened. Those views will inform a review of current OSC guidance and a consultation on the review will begin in the spring of 2009.

Nurses: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the average starting salary of nurses in Crosby constituency was in 1997; and what it was at the latest date for which information is available. [236702]

Ann Keen: The information is not available in the format requested. The following table shows the pay and percentage increase of nurses at the start of the pay scale from 1996 to 2008.

Nurse Grade D

| | Pay (£) | Minimum percentage[2] increase |
|---|---|---|
| 1996-97 | 11,895 | 4.02 |

Patient Choice Schemes

Stephen Hesford: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how the expansion of patient choice from April 2008 will specifically apply to mental health services; and if he will make a statement. [234778]

Phil Hope: It is the Government's aim to offer choice to all patients, to provide a responsive and patient centred health service. Free Choice means the majority of patients referred to hospital will be able to choose where they wish to be treated. However, there are some services, including mental health, that currently fall outside the scope of Free Choice, as choice of hospital may not be appropriate.

For patients using these services, other choices or other ways to ensure services are more responsive will be required. The key issue for users of mental health services is providing greater choice of the type of treatment they receive, for example by increasing access to psychological therapies.

The Government are committed to giving people with mental health problems choice and a more personalised service, including making more information available about mental illness to help people manage their own care. In the last year, work has been ongoing both locally and nationally to increase the level of choice offered to people with mental health problems.

Primary Care Trusts: Judicial Reviews

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the cost to the public purse of judicial reviews of decisions by primary care trusts to refuse funding for (a) non-cancer and (b) cancer treatments in the latest period for which figures are available. [237085]

Ann Keen: We have made no such estimate.

Sennybridge Disease

Robert Key: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the likely change in the number of cases of Sennybridge disease when UK derogations from European animal health regulation EC998/2003 expires in July 2010; and if he will make a statement. [234850]

Dawn Primarolo: 'Sennybridge Disease' is a vernacular term for cystic hydatid disease that occurs particularly in certain areas of Wales, and is caused by infection with the tapeworm Echinococcus granulosus. The requirements of the UK Pet Travel Scheme for tapeworm treatment for pets entering the UK under the scheme, as permitted under the derogation from EC Regulation 998/2003, are aimed at preventing tapeworm infections that are exotic to the UK, such as Echinococcus multilocularis, that cause the more serious human alveolar hydatid disease. An assessment of the potential risks to public health that could arise from introduction of Echinococcus multilocularis into the UK has been made and is currently being considered across Government in developing our future strategy for the UK Pet Travel Scheme.

As hydatid disease due to Echinococcus granulosus is already endemic in the UK, it did not form part of the risk assessment referred to above.

Smoking: East of England

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what budget within the East of England strategic health authority has been allocated to lowering the number of smokers in the latest period for which figures are available. [235733]

Dawn Primarolo: The information requested is not held centrally. Allocations for the national health service Stop Smoking Services are made to primary care trusts, which then decide how best to provide the service to their communities. The hon. Member may wish to raise this locally with NHS East of England.

Termination of Pregnancy Bill

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will place in the Library a copy of the partial regulatory impact assessment on (a) the Termination of Pregnancy Bill of Session 2005-06 and (b) the Termination of Pregnancy Bill of Session 2006-07; and if he will make a statement. [235693]

Dawn Primarolo: The Termination of Pregnancy Bill in the 2005-06 session was withdrawn and no Partial Regulatory Impact (PRI) Assessment was produced.

A PRI was produced for the Termination of Pregnancy Bill Session 2006-07; a copy of which has been placed in the Library.

Transplant Surgery

Mr. Vara: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people have been on the waiting list for organ transplant in each year since 1997, broken down by organ awaited; and if he will make a statement. [235717]

Ann Keen: The following table provides the number of registrations on the waiting list for each organ on 31 December in each year since 1997. The national list can change on a daily basis as people are removed from the transplant list because their clinical condition deteriorates and later rejoin when their condition improves. We are taking action to enable more people to benefit from a transplant. Implementation of the Organ Donation Taskforce recommendations published in January 2008, should see donation rates rise by 50 per cent. by 2013.

ENERGY AND CLIMATE CHANGE

British Energy: EDF

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change on which occasions Ministers in his Department have met senior executives of (a) British Energy and (b) EDF in each of the last 12 months. [231794]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Prior to the creation of the Department for Energy and Climate Change responsibility for energy matters lay with the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (BERR). Within the last 12 months Ministers from DECC and BERR have met senior executives from (a) British Energy and (b) EDF on the following occasions:

| Minister | Outside interest group | Week commencing | Reason for the meeting |
|---|---|---|---|
| Secretary of State (DECC) | British Energy | 4 November 2008 | To discuss energy issues |
| Secretary of State (DECC) | EDF | 13 October 2008 | To discuss energy and climate change issues |
| Secretary of State (BERR) | EDF | 28 April 2008 | To discuss energy issues |
| Secretary of State (BERR) | British Energy | 18 February 2008 | To discuss energy issues |
| Secretary of State (BERR) | EDF | 28 April 2008 | To discuss industry issues |
| Secretary of State (BERR) | British Energy | 14 April 2008 | To discuss energy issues |
| Secretary of State (BERR) | British Energy | 3 March 2008 | To discuss energy issues |
| Secretary of State (BERR) | British Energy | 18 February 2008 | To discuss energy issues |
| Minister for Energy (BERR) | EDF Energy | 22 October 2007 | To discuss energy issues |
| Secretary of State (BERR) | EDF Energy | 8 October 2007 | To discuss business issues |

Carbon Emissions

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the amount of emissions of (a) ammonias, (b) nitrogen oxides, (c) particulates and (d) sulphur dioxide in the UK was in each year since 1990. [234695]

Huw Irranca-Davies: I have been asked to reply.

Estimates of annual emissions of (a) ammonias, (b) nitrogen oxides, (c) particulates and (d) sulphur dioxide in the UK source, for each yeat 1990-2006 are shown in the table.

These results, published as National Statistics by DEFRA on 13 March 2008, are the latest statistics on air emissions for the UK. The 1990-2006 figures in this Statistics Release are from the National Atmospheric Emissions Inventory for 1970-2006, produced for DEFRA and the Devolved Administrations by AEA Energy and Environment. This inventory covers all air pollutants excluding greenhouse gases.

UK national emission estimates are updated annually and any developments in methodology are applied retrospectively to earlier years. The next scheduled update is expected in March 2009.

The full statistical release 'UK Emissions of Air Pollutants, 2006 results' is currently published on the DEFRA website:

http://www.defra.gov.uk/environment/statistics/airqual/index.htm

Please also refer to the Air Quality e-digest statistics page which is currently published on the DEFRA website. This describes the process of measuring emissions and the emissions inventory in detail.

Coal

Mr. Hepburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what assessment he has made of the likely extent of use of clean coal in the UK in the future; and if he will make a statement. [227170]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Government are committed to moving our electricity generation to a lower carbon mix and achieving our 2020 and 2050 climate change goals, while at the same time ensuring security of supply for UK power generation. To this end, we are committed to the EU ETS at the heart of our strategy for driving down carbon use in the most cost effective way possible; improving energy efficiency; encouraging demand reductions and increasing renewables to achieve the 15 per cent target by 2020. But coal needs to remain an important part of our energy mix. It provides the most flexible generation (increasingly needed as back up as the percentage of intermittent renewables increases in the overall mix) and an alternative to over dependence on gas. We are supporting development of clean coal technologies including carbon capture and storage, higher efficiency processes, and co-firing with biomass. Our ambition is to see CCS commercially deployable by 2020. The extent of coal's future use will depend on decisions by operators and technological development; modelling commissioned to inform our Renewable Energy Strategy consultation estimated that for a central case around 2.5 GW of new coal-fired generation could be added to the mix by 2020.

Departmental Conditions of Employment

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what percentage of employees in his Department are (a) on a flexible working contract, (b) on a job share employment contract and (c) work from home for more than four hours a week. [233616]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The total staff numbers and profile for DECC will be agreed once negotiations on the machinery of government changes with BERR and DEFRA are complete.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many press and communications officers are employed by (a) his Department, (b) its non-departmental public bodies and (c) its agencies. [231331]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1215W.

Departmental Lost Property

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what (a) equipment and (b) data has been lost by the Department in the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [231404]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my right hon. Friend the Minister of State for Employment Relations and Postal Affairs on 10 November 2008, Official Report, column 905W.

Departmental Staff

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change if he will place in the Library a copy of his Department's organisational chart. [229120]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to the hon. Member for Tunbridge Wells (Greg Clark) on 4 November 2008, Official Report, column 441W.

EU Emissions Trading Scheme

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he has made of the likely carbon price within the EU Emissions Trading Scheme traded sectors under (a) a 20 per cent. and (b) a 30 per cent. EU effort-sharing arrangement in 2020. [234112]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Government do not comment on the future level of the carbon price. The European Commission has made an assessment of the potential level of the EU ETS carbon price under a 20 per cent. greenhouse gas reduction scenario as part of their impact assessment of the climate and energy package. Their modelling suggests a central price of around €43/t$CO_2$ in 2020.

Fossil Fuels

John Hemming: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change when he expects the production of (a) oil, (b) gas and (c) other fossil fuels to peak globally; what steps he plans to take in response; and if he will make a statement. [233251]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Department of Energy and Climate Change does not estimate the precise timing of peak global oil, gas or coal production. However, we consider the world's fossil fuel resources to be sufficient to prevent the global production of each peaking before 2030, subject to sufficient investment in and efficient operation of production capacity. The exact timing of the peaks depends on a number of factors, including the rate of demand growth, the rate of investment in fossil fuel extraction, and technological developments in finding and producing fossil fuels. More information on oil and coal reserves is available in the Government's "Energy Markets Outlook 2007" at:

http://www.berr.gov.uk/files/file41995.pdf

The 2008 edition will be published shortly.

As the supply of fossil fuels becomes less abundant, relative to demand, rising prices will provide an incentive to shift to alternative sources of energy. However, this process needs to be supported by governments. The UK Government are already putting in place policies that will help ease the UK economy away from fossil fuels as part of initiatives to combat climate change and reduce the UK's import dependence. Our energy efficiency policies, support for the European Emissions Trading Scheme, endorsement of new nuclear, encouragement of renewable energy, piloting of electric vehicles and introduction of the Renewable Transport Fuels Obligation are all intended to reduce both our $CO_2$ emissions and our dependence on any one type of fuel from any one set of countries, increasing the diversity and hence resilience of our energy system.

Fuel Poverty

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he has made of the number of households in (a) Peterborough, (b) Cambridgeshire and (c) the UK which were in fuel poverty in the last year for which figures are available. [234415]

Joan Ruddock: Most recent estimates of fuel poverty are available for 2006 and show that in the UK there were around 3.5 million households living in fuel poverty in 2006. No sub-regional split of fuel poverty exists for 2006.

The most recently available sub-regional split of fuel poverty relates to 2003, and shows that in Peterborough there were around 4,100 fuel poor households in 2003, and around 17,200 in Cambridgeshire. In 2003, there were around two million households living in fuel poverty in the UK.

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he has made of the percentage of households living in fuel poverty who are on a social tariff from their energy supplier; and if he will make a statement. [234662]

Joan Ruddock: The requested data do not exist.

Ofgem publish information on the number of customers benefiting from social assistance offered by suppliers, but it does not state how many of these are living in fuel poverty.

Renewable Energy

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what funding is being provided by his Department for alternative energy technologies in the next three years. [232705]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: DECC provides capital grant and other funding for the demonstration and pre-commercial deployment of low carbon and renewable energy technologies under the Environmental Transformation Fund, which has a budget of £400 million over the 2008 to 2011 CSR period. This includes support for the Carbon Trust innovation portfolio. The Government also provide support for renewables through market drivers such as the renewables obligation, which is expected to be worth around a billion pounds a year by 2010.

In addition, DIUS, through the Research Councils Energy Technologies Institute and Technology Strategy Board, provides support for energy research and development and for business innovation. The regional development agencies, devolved Administrations and the European Union also offer a range of support for research into new energy technologies.

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change for what reasons the consultation on the feed-in tariff is not scheduled to begin until the summer of 2009. [232864]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: We have amended the Energy Bill to introduce feed-in tariffs (FITs) for small-scale low carbon electricity generation (beneath 3 MW).

We intend to consult next summer on the proposed feed-in tariff mechanism to ensure that interactions with the existing licensing framework are fully considered, and on proposed tariff levels for the scheme.

In order to consult, we will need to gain further understanding and evidence on the scheme design and cost predictions for the various technologies and develop uptake models, so that we can ensure that we introduce a scheme that can effectively encourage deployment at this scale.

Renewable Energy: EC Action

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change (1) for what reason the Government requested article 5(2) to be inserted in the proposed Directive on the promotion of the use of energy from renewable sources (COM (2008) 19) be inserted; and if he will make a statement; [236123]

(2) what assessment he has made of a Severn tidal power scheme's compliance with article 5(2) of the proposed Directive on the promotion of the use of energy from renewable sources (COM (2008) 19). [236124]

Mr. Mike O'Brien [holding answer 17 November 2008]: It is too early to say whether a Severn tidal power scheme would comply with article 5(2) of the draft directive. 10 scheme proposals are currently under consideration within the feasibility study and it is likely that most of these, though not necessarily all, could meet its provisions. Subject to internal review, I expect to consult publicly in early 2009 on a proposed shortlist and the work to be done in the next phase of the feasibility study.

The origin of article 5(2) was a proposal by the European Commission which enshrines the principle, which the UK Government share, that the directive should support, and indeed promote, large-scale renewable energy projects.

Renewable Energy: Expenditure

Mr. Ingram: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much of the £500 million allocated to be spent from 2002 on research and development and capital grants for emerging renewable and low carbon technologies has been spent to date; how much has been allocated to projects in each category; what projects have been supported under each category; and what the spend allocation in Scotland was. [233682]

Mr. Mike O'Brien [holding answer 17 November 2008]: Spend to end March 2008 under the programmes listed, which were introduced at different points over the period, totals £233.4 million. All of these programmes except the Major PV Demonstration Programme and Clear Skies are projected to continue to spend during the period 2008-09 to 2010-11 and in some cases well beyond.

Spend on the main programme activities is also set out. It has not been possible to provide a breakdown of the Clear Skies or the R and D Programme spend by technology or by projects supported under each category and details of spend allocation for Scotland for all programmes in the time available at proportionate cost.

| Programme/technology | £million Actual spend to date (end 2007-08) |
|---|---|
| Offshore wind capital grant programme | 76.75 |
| Of which spend allocation to Scotland £11.8 million | |
| Bioenergy capital grant programme | 34.6 |
| Of which spend allocation to Scotland £14.4 million | |
| Major PV Demonstration Programme | 30.1 |
| Clear Skies (Micro wind, Biomass, Heat Pumps, Micro hydro, Solar Thermal Hot Water) | 12.1 |
| Marine Renewable Deployment Fund | 1.62 |
| Low Carbon Buildings Programme Phase 1 (LCB) | 7.3 |
| Of which spend allocation to Scotland £0.26 million | |
| Low Carbon Buildings Programme Phase 2 (LCB) | 1.9 |
| Of which spend allocation to Scotland £0.15 million | |
| Hydrogen and Fuel Cells and Carbon Abatement Demonstration Programme (HFCAT) | 0.20 |
| New and Renewables R and D programme/ Technology Programme | 71 |
| Of which spend allocation to Scotland £7.9 million | |
| Total | 233.4 |

Science: Finance

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much he has allocated to his Department's science budget under main headings for each of the next three years; and if he will make a statement. [233218]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The final budget for DECC will be agreed once negotiations on the machinery of government changes with BERR, DEFRA are complete.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Icelandic Bank Deposits: Scotland and Wales

8. Mr. Devine: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what representations she has received on assistance to local authorities in Scotland and Wales in respect of deposits they held in Icelandic banks; from whom such representations have been received; and if she will make a statement. [236270]

John Healey: Local government in Scotland and Wales is the responsibility of the relevant devolved administration. The Welsh Local Government Association attended a meeting that the Economic Secretary to the Treasury and I had with LGA leaders on 15 October. Dr. Brian Gibbons, Welsh Assembly Minister, and Wayne David, Wales Office, also attended. The Department has not received any other representations.

Local Government: Constitutional Independence

9. Mr. Allen: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will bring forward proposals to establish constitutionally independent local government; and if she will make a statement. [236271]

Hazel Blears: The United Kingdom's constitution is not consolidated in a single document. Rather it comprises statute law, common law and conventions in which Parliament is sovereign and the statutory independence of local government is set out in the various Local Government Acts. There are no current plans to bring forward proposals to change these arrangements.

Communities in Control White Paper

10. Jeff Ennis: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what progress has been made on the implementation of the Communities in Control White Paper, with particular reference to the introduction of new empowerment measures in the current economic climate. [236272]

Hazel Blears: Very good progress has been made in implementing the White Paper "Communities in Control" including developing an Asset Transfer Unit, publishing a Participatory Budgeting strategy and launching a review into redress for council services. We have consulted on a wide range of detailed propositions. Strengthening community influence and control is critical in times of economic downturn and can help deliver value for money public services. We continue to deliver our commitments and aim to bring forward legislation as soon as possible.

Regeneration Schemes: Employment Opportunities

11. Mr. Sharma: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps her Department has taken through regeneration schemes to maintain employment opportunities. [236273]

John Healey: We are working on a number of fronts to ensure that our approach to regeneration supports employment opportunities, particularly for the most vulnerable.

Last year we launched the £1.5 billion Working Neighbourhoods Fund (WNF) to provide resources to local authorities that have the highest concentrations of worklessness.

Looking forward, we have recently completed the consultation period on the document 'Transforming Places, Changing Lives'. This sets out new proposals to ensure that future regeneration activity acts to promote economic opportunity in our most deprived communities.

22. Mark Fisher: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps her Department has taken through regeneration schemes to maintain employment opportunities. [236285]

Hazel Blears: We are working on a number of fronts to ensure that our approach to regeneration supports employment opportunities, particularly for the most vulnerable.

Last year we launched the £1.5 billion Working Neighbourhoods Fund (WNF) to provide resources to local authorities that have the highest concentrations of worklessness.

Looking forward, we have recently completed the consultation period on the document "Transforming Places, Changing Lives". This sets out new proposals to ensure that future regeneration activity acts to promote economic opportunity in our most deprived communities.

Repossessions

12. Rosie Cooper: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps the Government is taking to help working families facing the prospect of home repossession. [236275]

Margaret Beckett: The Government are committed to taking action to prevent households facing repossession. We are working with a range of stakeholders including mortgage lenders, local authorities, the courts and third sector advice agencies to ensure that appropriate support is available for all households in financial difficulty. On 2 September we announced plans for a mortgage rescue scheme targeted at the most vulnerable households facing repossession.

Community Cohesion

13. Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps her Department is taking to encourage community cohesion. [236276]

Mr. Khan: Last year we announced a renewed commitment to community cohesion with a £50 million investment over three years and a new public service agreement to build cohesive, active and empowered communities. We continue to support local authorities in delivering improvements in cohesion by providing a framework of guidance and targeted local support.

Fire Cover: Northamptonshire and England

14. Mr. Bone: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent assessment she has made of the adequacy of provision of fire cover for (a) Northamptonshire and (b) England. [236277]

Mr. Khan: Fire and Rescue Authorities are required by the Fire and Rescue Service National Framework to have in place, and to maintain, Integrated Risk Management Plans which reflect local needs and set out plans to tackle effectively both existing and potential risks to communities.

It would not be appropriate for Ministers to comment on the contents of the IRMP drawn up by Northamptonshire Fire and Rescue Authority or any other authority. That is the role of elected members of the authority.

Earlier this year Communities and Local Government commissioned a comprehensive research project to look at the adequacy and impact of IRMP on a nationwide basis. A report will be issued shortly.

Local Community Empowerment

15. John Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what measures her Department has implemented to empower local communities to determine the future of their local areas. [236278]

Mr. Khan: Very good progress has been made in implementing the White Paper "Communities in Control" including developing an Asset Transfer Unit, publishing a Participatory Budgeting strategy and launching a review into redress of council services. We have also consulted in a wide range of detailed propositions. We continue to deliver key White Paper commitments to empower local communities and aim to bring forward legislation as soon as possible.

Local Authorities: Economy

16. Shona McIsaac: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assistance her Department is providing to local authorities to deal with the current economic situation; and if she will make a statement. [236279]

Mr. Khan: The Government are providing continued investment for local authorities to enable them to deliver effective services, with an additional £8.91 billion in Government grant from 2008-09 to 2010-11 as part of the first three-year settlement for councils. This increase in funding and greater predictability will allow councils to cope with the pressures they face as a result of the current economic climate.

Regional Development Agencies: Planning Powers

17. Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what representations she has received on proposals to grant regional planning powers to regional development agencies. [236280]

Mr. Iain Wright: We received over 500 responses to the formal consultation, from a wide range of interests, most of whom commented on our proposal to give RDAs responsibility for regional strategy. We have taken the range of views on our proposals into account in formulating our response which we intend to publish shortly.

Local Area Agreements and Local Strategic Partnerships

18. Tom Levitt To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the contribution which can be made by local area agreements and local strategic partnerships to local economies in the current economic climate. [236281]

John Healey: Local Area Agreements are key to bringing local partners together to focus on effective joint action in local areas. LAAs are already strongly focused on improving local economies. Nine in 10 local areas have a target on tackling worklessness and five out of six areas have a target on getting 16 to 18-year-olds into education, training or employment. LAAs will help empower local areas to respond to the downturn in ways that best make sense locally.

Flood Plains: Planning Policy Guidance Note 25

19. Miss Anne McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent discussions she has had on the application of Planning Policy Guidance 25 to development on flood plains; and if she will make a statement. [236282]

Mr. Iain Wright: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State holds regular discussions with the Chairman of the Environment Agency on flood risk. A new Practice Guide was launched in June this year by the former Minister of State for Housing and Planning, my right hon. Friend the Member for Don Valley, to assist planners in implementing Planning Policy Statement 25. The Government are working closely with local authorities, the Environment Agency and other stakeholders to ensure that the policy is properly implemented and delivered on the ground, including holding conferences, presentations and workshops aimed at a range of audiences.

Affordable Housing: London

20. Siobhain McDonagh: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent discussions she has had with the Mayor of London on demand for affordable housing in London. [236283]

21. Martin Linton: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent discussions she has had with the Mayor of London on demand for affordable housing in London. [236284]

Margaret Beckett: I met with Boris Johnson on 21 October. We both want more affordable housing. Government have agreed targets with some boroughs through local area agreements. We both agree we should be as joined-up as possible, to maximise targets and avoid confusion.

Airwave Service

Tom Brake: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what organisations for which her Department is responsible (a) use and (b) are planning to use Airwave handsets. [234706]

Mr. Khan: Within CLG the Firelink project is providing Fire and Rescue Service with a new wide area radio system from Airwave Solutions Limited. Some New Dimension vehicles provided to the Fire and Rescue Service by CLG are equipped with Airwave radios, the remainder will be furnished with radios during the main Firelink roll-out. Information is not held by CLG in relation to local authority use of Airwave.

Arson

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent steps have been taken to reduce the incidence of arson. [235798]

Mr. Khan: Fire and rescue services have used £11.4 million pump-priming funding from my Department to develop schemes at a local level in partnership with others in the community to tackle arson. There a number of Local Strategic Partnerships, where fire and rescue services are now statutory partners, which have chosen to set local targets for reducing arson. In addition, the Arson Control Forum continues to bring together a wide range of partners from the public, private and third sector to consider arson reduction and develop strategies to assist in its continued reduction.

Community Relations: Students

Andrew George: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what plans her Department has to deal with the effects on local communities of large numbers of students taking up residence in their area. [235974]

Mr. Iain Wright: My Department has recently published research entitled 'Evidence Gathering: Housing in Multiple Occupation and possible planning responses - Final Report'. This independent research sets out a series of cross cutting measures that could address the effects that concentrations of houses in multiple occupation (particularly those occupied by students) can have on local communities. These measures include new planning mechanisms and the widespread adoption of a number of the best common sense local solutions by local authorities and the universities. We are currently considering how best to take forward these recommendations.

Local authorities already have a range of powers to help them tackle the effects of concentrations of houses in multiple occupation and there is much evidence of good practice in this area. In January 2006 the Education Minister launched the Dfes funded Universities UK Guide 'Studentification: a guide to opportunities, challenges and practice' which offered a toolkit for assessing and addressing the barriers to good community relationships between established residents and students in towns and cities. The guide stresses that the complex issues of 'studentification' need joint working between all agencies and the community.

Departmental Assets

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1260W, on departmental assets, what timetable she has set for her Department's information asset register to be made available on the Inforoute website. [236039]

Mr. Khan: The information asset register will be available via Inforoute in December 2008 with fuller content updated and migrated by the end of February 2009.

Departmental Contracts

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the Answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1260W, on departmental contracts, what the names are of (a) the 111 tenders that have gone through the invitations to tender system and (b) the projects with which the tenders were associated. [236038]

Eco-Towns

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent discussions she has had on the establishment of eco-towns. [236042]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, the Minister for Housing and Planning and myself have meetings with many external organisations and individuals on a wide range of subjects every week, and some of these will include discussion of eco-towns policy. As part of the Department's business we also have discussions with officials about the eco-towns policy, but details of these are not disclosed as to do so could harm the frankness and candour of internal discussion.

Eco-towns: Finance

Mr. Maples: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of the Government's proposed contribution to infrastructure costs in respect of each of the proposed eco-towns on which she is consulting. [236983]

Mr. Iain Wright: We are still consulting on eco-towns and no decisions have yet been taken on the final list of schemes with the potential to go forward as eco-towns. The expectation has always been that the bulk of investment needed to create an eco-town will come from the private sector. PricewaterhouseCoopers are currently assessing scheme proposals and the potential for costs to be funded by development without recourse to public subsidy. However, there will also be projects that we may support through direct funding to local authorities using the Growth Areas Fund and from mainstream funding programmes.

Mr. Maples: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will publish the report made to her Department by PricewaterhouseCoopers on the financial viability of eco-towns. [236984]

Mr. Iain Wright: PricewaterhouseCoopers were commissioned to assess the financial viability of eco-town schemes earlier this year. The assessment is still under way and a final assessment is due to be submitted to the Department within the next couple of months. Early next year, at the end of eco-towns process, we expect to publish findings from the PwC assessment and other evidence that will inform decisions on the final list of schemes with potential to become eco-towns. Any published findings and associated analysis will of course respect commercial sensitivities.

Eco-towns: Long Marston

Mr. Maples: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much her Department has spent on legal fees in defending the application for administrative review brought by David Bliss and others in respect of the proposed eco-town at Long Marston; how much her Department has allocated for expenditure on the case up to the time it is heard; and how much it has allocated for its legal fees incurred in each case. [236981]

Mr. Iain Wright: At this stage, in defending the application for administrative review in respect of the proposed eco-town at Long Marston, costs of approximately £22,000 have been incurred by the Department. However, this figure represents a snapshot as costs will continue to be incurred up until the court hearing (date to be confirmed). There is no fixed allocation as such for costs in this case or in respect of any such future cases that might arise.

We believe we have acted properly throughout the eco-towns process and will defend this claim vigorously. The Government remain of the view that the claim is premature in challenging an on-going consultation process.

Empty Homes Agency

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much funding the Empty Homes Agency received from (a) her Department and (b) its agencies in each of the last three years. [236088]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Empty Homes Agency received £100,000 of grant funding from the Department in each of the last three years. The Agency also received funding of £18,156 from the Housing Corporation in 2005-06.

Fire Prevention: Publicity

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much the advertising campaign "Put it out, right out", has cost. [235794]

Mr. Khan: The most recent "Put it out, right out" advertising ran in January and February 2007, as part of the overall Fire Kills campaign, promoting the importance of carefully disposing of smoking products. The specific cost of advertising space bought for the "Put it out, right out" advertising during this period was £663,948.

The "Put it out, right out" advertising also ran as part of the Fire Kills campaigns run by the Department's predecessor, the Office of the Deputy Prime Minister, in the financial years 2002-03 and 2003-04. Specific costs for media space bought as part of these campaigns are not readily available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much the advertising campaign Push the Button has cost. [235795]

Mr. Khan: The most recent 'Push the Button' advertising ran in August and September 2006, as part of the overall Fire Kills campaign. The specific cost of advertising space bought for the 'Push the Button' advertising during this period was £749,304.

The 'Push the Button' advertising also ran as part of the Fire Kills campaigns run by the Department's predecessor, The Office Of The Deputy Prime Minister, in the financial years 2003-04 and 2004-05. Specific costs for media space bought as part of these campaigns are not readily available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Fire Service: Crimes of Violence

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many attacks were recorded on firefighters in 2007-08; and if she will make a statement. [236126]

Mr. Khan: My Department collects figures on attacks on firefighters based on returns from Fire and Rescue Authorities. 967 attacks in England in 2007-08 were reported to us.

Fire Services

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what guidance her Department has made available to fire authorities on the operational safety of firefighters in the last three years; and if she will make a statement. [235824]

Mr. Khan: Guidance is issued to fire and rescue authorities in many forms including fire and rescue service circulars, fire service manuals and generic risk assessments; guidance has also been issued through the New Dimension Programme to complement the vehicles, equipment and training associated with this.

Following the appointment of the chief fire and rescue adviser in October 2007, a framework for the future development of operational guidance has been developed, including a priority programme of work for 2008-09. This programme has begun and includes the involvement of a wide range of stakeholders. As part of this framework, an additional four pieces of operational guidance has recently been published and issued to all fire and rescue authorities.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1264W, on Firebuy Ltd., what the (a) running costs and (b) business-generated income of Firebuy Ltd have been in the year to date. [235855]

Mr. Khan: In the period from 1 April to 31 October 2008, Firebuy Ltd's running costs were £1,439,872 and its business-generated income was £65,362.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what (a) suppliers and (b) contractors have provided goods or services in relation to the FiReControl programme. [236082]

Mr. Khan: The suppliers listed as follows have been paid more than £500,000 since 2002. In addition, many other businesses have been paid smaller amounts.

| Supplier | Services/goods |
|---|---|
| PA Consulting | Consultancy |
| EADS | IT Infrastructure Supplier |

| Greater Manchester Fire | Seconded Fire Officers |

Mr. Bone: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the minimum period is that a fire fighter must have trained before commencing operational duty. [236556]

Mr. Khan: It is the responsibility of individual fire and rescue authorities to ensure that their operational staff receive the appropriate training before carrying out operational duties.

Mr. Bone: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many fire fighters died whilst on duty in each of the last 20 years. [236557]

Mr. Khan: The information requested, for the fire and rescue services in England, is shown in the following table.

Firefighter deaths while on duty, England 1988-89 to 2007-08

Fire Services: Industrial Disputes

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what contingency plans are in place in the event of a firefighters strike; and whether her Department is responsible for implementing those plans. [236000]

Mr. Khan: Individual fire and rescue authorities have responsibility for maintaining and implementing contingency plans in respect of strikes by firefighters in their area.

Fire Services: Per Capita Costs

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much per capita funding has been provided from central government for each fire authority in England in the latest period for which figures are available. [236990]

Mr. Khan: Provisional outturn central Government grant per head in 2007-08 for each fire authority in England is tabled as follows.

| | £ per head |
|---|---|
| Greater London Authority | n/a |
| Greater Manchester Fire and CD Authority | 29 |

n/a = The information on central Government grant for these authorities is not available as it is not possible to separately identify the funding for fire and rescue services. This is because formula grant is unhypothecated.
Source:
Communities and Local Government provisional Revenue Outturn (RO) 2007-08 returns.

Central Government grant is defined here as the sum of Formula Grant (Revenue Support Grant and redistributed non-domestic rates) and specific grants inside Aggregate External Finance (AEF), ie revenue grants paid for council's core services. It excludes grants outside AEF (ie where funding is not for authorities' core services, but is passed to a third party), capital grants and those grant programmes (such as European funding) where authorities are simply one of the recipients of funding paid towards an area.

Population figures used in the calculation are the Office for National Statistics' (ONS) Mid-Year Population estimates for 2007.

Fire Services: Safety

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what account she takes of firefighter safety in reviewing the efficacy of integrated risk management plans published by fire and rescue services; and if she will make a statement. [236127]

Mr. Khan: The responsibility for drawing up, reviewing and maintaining integrated risk management plans (IRMPs) lies with the elected members of Fire and Rescue Authorities (FRAs); it is not for Ministers or Government officials to review or intervene in the operational proposals in individual FRAs' IRMPs.

The Audit Commission is an independent watchdog, which assesses economy, efficiency and effectiveness in local public services. The Commission is responsible for reviewing the effectiveness of FRAs including individual FRAs' IRMPs.

Communities and Local Government is taking the lead on work to produce operational guidance, that supports firefighter safety. The Chief Fire and Rescue Adviser has agreed, in collaboration with key stakeholders such as the Chief Fire Officers Association and the Fire Brigades Union, a priority programme of work for 2008-09, and is developing the longer-term and sustainable framework for the development of future guidance.

Fire Services: South West

Andrew George: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) what contingency plans she has should the South West fire control room not become operational; [235978]

(2) whether the existing county fire brigade control rooms in the South West will have any function when the South West regional fire control room is fully operational. [235980]

Mr. Khan: The existing arrangements stay in place until the 'cut-over' of the South West regional control centre. There will be no call handling or call mobilising function for the existing county fire brigade control rooms in the South West once the regional control centre is operational.

Fire Services: Standards

Mr. Bone: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what plans she has for the introduction of national fire standards. [236555]

Mr. Khan: The Government have no plans to reintroduce national standards of fire cover.

The prescriptive national standards of fire cover were abolished in 2003 with the introduction of integrated risk management planning, enabling Fire and Rescue Authorities to tailor cover for fire and other incidents to local circumstances by evaluating where risk is greatest and allocating resource accordingly.

Decisions made by local politicians and practitioners according to local circumstances are more effective than blanket requirements across the country.

Fires

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many domestic fires were caused by (a) cigarettes and (b) candles in the latest year for which figures are available. [235793]

Mr. Khan: In England, in 2006, there were 1,300 dwelling fires started by candles and 2,400 dwelling fires started by smokers' materials. Cigarettes are recorded within this wider category.

Fires: Death

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent steps have been taken to reduce the numbers of accident-related fire deaths. [235797]

Mr. Khan: The Government are committed to reducing preventable fire deaths and injuries from fire. Fire deaths in the home in the UK are at their lowest since the 1950s, and the long-term trend is downwards. In 1997 in England, 362 people died in house fires, compared to the current figure of 233 fire deaths in the home in 2006.

The Fire Kills campaign is one of our key strands of work to drive down deaths and injuries from fire. The range of public awareness media campaigns run by the Government have sent powerful messages to the public about the importance of fire safety in the home, in particular the importance of having a working smoke alarm installed. Ownership of smoke alarms in England now stands at 80 per cent. of households and we are seeking to raise it further as evidence suggests that those without alarms are often in those groups who are most at risk from fire. The next media campaign will commence on 26 December 2008 and will run for one month promoting the key message of the importance to test and maintain smoke alarms.

The Government have also invested £25 million in grants during 2004-08 to Fire and Rescue Authorities to enable them to purchase smoke alarms to install in domestic dwellings. This pump-priming funding stream has resulted in just under 2 million Home Fire Risk Check visits to households in England, with over 2.4 million smoke alarms being installed in properties at higher risk from fire.

Green Belt

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the Answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1291W, whether the proposed Green Belt amendments involve the removal or weakening of Green Belt protection. [235863]

Mr. Iain Wright: A partial revision of the West Midlands Regional Spatial Strategy has been submitted for an Examination in Public due to start in April 2009. Matters including the broad locations for new housing and whether amendments to the green belt are justified will be debated at the independent examination and it would be inappropriate for me to comment on the merits of any proposals now.

Any proposed alteration to the extent of a green belt would have to meet the stringent policy criteria set out in Planning Policy Guidance Note 2, "Green Belts".

Guildford Street Angels

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the contribution of church-led initiatives to increasing levels of safety in towns and cities, with particular reference to the Guildford Street Angels programme. [236640]

Mr. Khan: Communities and Local Government is aware of the national Street Pastors programme to which the Guildford Street Angels project is similar. No formal assessment has been made by Communities and Local Government of such initiatives, though we value and support the important contribution that faith groups make to local communities.

Historic Counties Association

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what meetings she has held with the Historic Counties Association in the last 12 months; and what matters were discussed. [235801]

Mr. Khan: My right hon. Friend has had no meetings with the Historic Counties Association.

Holocaust Memorial Day

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what progress has been made on the arrangements for Holocaust Memorial Day 2009; and if she will make a statement. [235691]

Mr. Khan: The Holocaust Memorial Day Trust receives an annual grant from Communities and Local Government which will help it this year to organise both the 2009 national commemoration (to be held in Coventry) and a range of educational and cultural events.

The theme for Holocaust Memorial Day 2009 is 'Stand Up to Hatred'—examining what hatred means; how it can be enshrined in actions, language, propaganda and legislation; and how each of us can help make our communities stronger and safe. The choice of this particular theme will help to ensure that the 2009 commemoration and its supporting activities will make an important contribution to the Government's work.

Home Information Pack

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether a home information pack is required to be produced for the sale of a houseboat. [236143]

Mr. Iain Wright: No.

Home Information Packs

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will make it her policy to extend the transitional arrangements for home information packs beyond 31 December 2008. [235932]

Mr. Iain Wright: An announcement will be made on this shortly.

Housing Starts

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of the number of houses to be built each year until 2020 to attain her Department's target for three million new houses by that date; what progress has been made on that target; what proportion of such houses will be (a) council housing, (b) registered social landlord housing, (c) affordable housing, (d) private housing and (e) buy to let housing; how much Government funding will be required each year to build (i) council housing, (ii) registered social landlord housing and (iii) affordable housing to meet that target; and what estimate she has made of the number of houses which will be built in each category in (A) 2008-09, (B) 2009-10 and (C) 2010-11 to meet that target. [234344]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Government set the overall strategy for housing supply in England. In 2006-07 199,200 additional homes were delivered. Housing starts in 2007-08 were 10 per cent. lower than in 2006-07 and this is likely to be reflected in lower levels of housing completions during 2008-09.

The Housing Green Paper 'Homes for the Future: more affordable, more sustainable' (CM 7191), published in July 2007, announced an increase of new affordable housing to at least 70,000 per annum by 2010-11, to be delivered mainly through the Housing Corporation's National Affordable Housing Programme. Of these, 45,600 homes will be for social rent, an increase of 50 per cent. on 2007-08, with a goal to go further to 50,000 new homes for social rent in the next spending review period.

The Government do not publish forecasts for private house building or estimates of the levels of house building for registered social landlords or local authorities.

The Government are investing £8 billion in the provision of affordable housing over the three years 2008-11, initially through the Housing Corporation and then through the Homes and Communities Agency. Our aspiration is to reach 70,000 affordable homes a year by 2010-11. It remains too early, given current market conditions, to predict outputs in that year, or the intervening years, with certainty.

Funds available for affordable housing from 2011-12 will be subject to decisions made at the next spending review.

Housing: Construction

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government for how many permanent domestic dwellings construction was started in England in each year since 1979. [236089]

Mr. Iain Wright: The following table shows the number of annual house building starts on permanent dwellings in England from 1979 until 2007. All data given are for calendar years.

House Building Starts

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 1979 | 186,230 |
| 1980 | 131,340 |
| 1981 | 133,990 |
| 1982 | 167,410 |
| 1983 | 193,330 |
| 1984 | 173,460 |
| 1985 | 173,460 |
| 1986 | 187,090 |
| 1987 | 200,800 |
| 1988 | 220,010 |
| 1989 | 166,380 |
| 1990 | 133,470 |
| 1991 | 133,800 |
| 1992 | 129,300 |
| 1993 | 151,230 |
| 1994 | 165,440 |
| 1995 | 136,230 |

New build completions from P2 monthly and quarterly returns submitted by local authorities and the National House-Building Council (NHBC).

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether dwellings built on windfall sites may be counted towards house-building targets required from a local authority under a regional spatial strategy. [236142]

Mr. Iain Wright: Dwellings built on windfall sites can be counted towards the achievement of house-building targets, but local authorities should not rely on such sites coming forward to meet housing need. They should therefore not include an allowance for windfalls in the first 10 years of land supply unless they can provide robust evidence of genuine local circumstances that prevent specific sites being identified.

Housing: Fires

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many homes have been damaged by fire resulting from (a) accidents and (b) arson in the last 12 months. [235796]

Mr. Khan: The latest 12 months for which these figures are available are September 2006 to August 2007. In England, during this period, there were 35,400 dwellings damaged as a result of accidental fires and 7,500 dwellings damaged as a result of deliberate fires.

Housing: Low Incomes

John Hemming: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what Government funds are available to registered social landlords for the construction of new social housing in Birmingham; and by what means they can be accessed. [235470]

Mr. Iain Wright: Through the Housing Corporation, and from 1 December the Homes and Communities Agency, the Affordable Housing Programme provides grant to registered social landlords and others, including developers and local authorities, to provide affordable housing either through new build or acquisition and refurbishment. We are providing £8 billion over the three years, 2008-11, to fund this programme. Of this around £467 million has been allocated indicatively for affordable housing in West Midlands.

Bidding for these funds is now taking place on a continuing basis. To the end of October over £69 million has been allocated for schemes in West Midlands, of which £21 million is for schemes in Birmingham.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many unsold houses have been bought by the Government for affordable housing under its recent £200 million scheme. [235931]

Mr. Iain Wright: Developer stock units are purchased by the Housing Corporation's Affordable Housing Programme investment partners for the provision of either social rent or for sale on low cost home ownership terms. Funding is a mix of grant from the Housing Corporation and from the investment partner's own resources. As at the end of October, the Housing Corporation had allocated grant funding of £90 million for the purchase of 2,600 homes.

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of the proportion of existing social housing that meets current standards for new build social housing; and if she will make a statement. [236267]

Mr. Iain Wright: We have made no assessment of what proportion of existing social homes would meet the standards for new build social housing.

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many houses owned by local authorities for social accommodation there are. [236856]

Mr. Iain Wright: The number of dwellings owned by local authorities in England on 1 April 2007 was 1,987,340.

Housing: Recreation Spaces

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will encourage local authorities to take action to ensure that no one should live more than 500 metres from a two hectare wood or four kilometres from a 20 hectare wood. [235480]

Mr. Iain Wright: Planning Policy Guidance note 17: "Planning for open space, sport and recreation" (PPG17) already encourages local planning authorities to identify the specific needs for easily accessible, good quality open space, including woodland, within their areas. Authorities should use the information gained from their assessments of needs to establish an effective open space strategy which should form the basis for appropriate policies in their development plan. PPG17 requires local authorities to derive local standards for the provision of open space, as national standards cannot cater for local circumstances, such as the extent of existing built development in an area.

Housing: Thames Gateway

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether consideration has been given to encouraging residents living in inner London to move to new homes to be built as part of the Thames Gateway project. [235804]

Mr. Iain Wright: The objective of the Thames Gateway programme set out in the Delivery Plan are to provide substantial additional housing in the area: 160, 000 more new homes by 2016. New housing in the Thames Gateway will be built to a high standard of design and provided at an appropriate mix of sizes and tenures. This high quality new housing will not only benefit existing residents of the Thames Gateway, but will also be attractive to families currently living outside the Gateway. Those individuals would of course include residents of inner London, however it is not the role of Government to actively encourage residents to move from Inner London to the Thames Gateway.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many new homes will be built as part of the Thames Gateway project; and what estimate she has made of the average cost of building such homes. [235806]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Government's Thames Gateway programme is not directly responsible for the building of substantial quantities of new homes. Rather, through funding projects including site preparation and infrastructure provision, it facilitates the provision of new homes by the market. However, the Government have an aspiration that 160,000 additional new dwellings should be provided in the Thames Gateway from 2001 to 2016 inclusive. The Department has not made an assessment of the average cost of building new homes in the Thames Gateway, since this is largely a matter for the market.

Local Authorities: Procurement

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps she has taken to facilitate prompt payments to suppliers on the part of local authorities. [235497]

John Healey: Local authorities are responsible for their own payment arrangements and have an excellent track record. I have invited the Local Government Association to let me know how authorities at this time are tackling this issue.

Local Government: Liability

Mr. Atkinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what requirements there are on local authorities to inform her Department of liabilities incurred in the course of their business undertakings. [236078]

John Healey: There are no requirements for local authorities to inform Communities and Local Government specifically about liabilities incurred in the course of their business undertakings. Certain information about their liabilities is disclosed in their published statement of accounts.

Local Government: Procurement

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of the number of local authorities consistently making payment to suppliers within 30 days. [235498]

John Healey: The most recent data available show 95 per cent. of undisputed invoices were paid within 30 days or within mutually agreed terms.

Local Government: Religion

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will issue guidance to local authorities on the inclusion of Christian prayers during council meetings and authorities' equality duties. [235483]

John Healey: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to him on 14 March 2008, Official Report, column 704W by my hon. Friend the Member for Gloucester (Mr. Dhanda), that the Department has no plans to issue guidance to local authorities on prayers at council meetings. The Equality and Human Rights Commission has issued guidance to public authorities on compliance with statutory equality duties, and it is important that local authorities satisfy themselves that their policies and practices are consistent with their equalities responsibilities.

Mobile Homes

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will establish a register of fit and proper owners of park home sites; and if she will make a statement. [236477]

Mr. Iain Wright: Communities and Local Government intends to publish a consultation paper early in the new year setting out proposals to reform the existing site licensing system which applies to park home and other caravan sites. A key measure will be the proposal to introduce a fit and proper test for licence holders and others engaged in the management of sites.

Multiple Occupation

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when she will publish the review of houses in multiple occupation and possible planning responses announced on 9 April 2008. [236071]

Mr. Iain Wright: The research work "Evidence Gathering—Housing in Multiple Occupation and possible planning responses" was published on 26 September 2008. The report can be found at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/planningandbuilding/evidencegatheringresearch

Multiple Occupation: Licensing

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate her Department has made of (a) the number of houses in multiple occupation licensed in each local authority area under mandatory licensing provisions of the Housing Act 2004 and (b) the proportion of eligible properties this number represents. [236072]

Mr. Iain Wright: The numbers of HMO licences issued by each local authority under the provisions of the Housing Act 2004 and reported to the Government by 12 November 2008, together with the numbers of applications and of licenses refused, have been placed in the Library.

The proportion of licensable HMOs that have been licensed is not available centrally.

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many applications have been received from local authorities to introduce additional licensing schemes for houses in multiple occupation; and how many such applications have been granted. [236213]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Department has received formal applications from Oxford city council and Breckland borough council for additional HMO licensing schemes, and officials are working with both authorities in order to progress their applications in the context of the guidance published by the Department. There have currently been no departmental approvals for additional HMO licensing schemes.

Neighbourhood Wardens: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the percentage change in the number of neighbourhood wardens between 1997 and 2007 has been in (a) Crosby constituency and (b) England. [236711]

Mr. Khan: CLG no longer directly funds warden schemes, and therefore no data are collected centrally on the number of schemes in operation.

Newcastle International Airport Company: Local Government

Mr. Atkinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will investigate the (a) liabilities incurred and (b) payments made from the public purse by the seven local authorities participating in the Newcastle International Airport Company in respect of payments to former members of its management board; and if she will make a statement. [236979]

John Healey: Matters relating to liabilities incurred and payments made are for the local authorities involved. Local authorities are under a duty to achieve best value in carrying out their functions. Any concerns that a local authority has not achieved best value should be addressed to the auditor in the first instance.

Planning Inspectorate: Fees and Charges

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when the Planning Inspectorate is expected to start charging for appeals; and what estimate has been made of the Inspectorate's likely revenue from such charges in their first full year. [236095]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Department, in conjunction with the Planning Inspectorate, is currently formulating proposals on charging for appeals and will consult again publicly prior to introducing appeal fees. At present, we plan to introduce appeal fees from October 2009.

Regional Planning and Development: Equality

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 27 October 2008, Official Report, column 718W, on equality and diversity partnerships, what funding the regional assemblies have given to regional equality and diversity partnerships in the last period for which figures are available. [236014]

Mr. Khan: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by the Minister for Local Government on 6 October 2008, Official Report, column 362W.

Regional Planning and Development: Thames Gateway

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many new jobs she expects to be created as part of the Thames Gateway project. [235808]

Mr. Iain Wright: As set out in the Thames Gateway Delivery Plan (November 2007), the Government expect to see at least 225,000 new jobs by 2016, compared to 2001.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent steps have been taken to ensure that the Thames Gateway project meets its target of becoming an eco-region. [235809]

Mr. Iain Wright: Government remain committed to establishing the Thames Gateway as an eco-region. Work continues to develop the concept and next steps will be announced in a prospectus to be published shortly. This will build on the commitments made and progress signalled in the November 2007 Thames Gateway Delivery Plan, the Regional Development Agencies' September 2008 Thames Gateway Economic Development Investment Plan and the October 2008 Parklands Vision.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many acres of community recreational space are planned as part of the Thames Gateway project. [235810]

Mr. Iain Wright: Community recreational space in the Thames Gateway is delivered by a wide range of local delivery partners, and some projects are supported by central Government. However, central Government do not monitor how much recreational space is planned across the region overall. This information is managed at a local level and is included in the regional spatial strategies and local development frameworks.

Rented Housing: Private Sector

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when she expects to respond to the review of private rented sector housing led by Julie Rugg and David Rhodes. [236073]

Mr. Iain Wright: We will be responding to the Julie Rugg and David Rhodes review of the private rented sector within our forthcoming housing reform Green Paper. Currently we are discussing initial views on the review with key stakeholders. Those discussions will inform our initial response to the review.

Retail Trade: Planning

Mr. Betts: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the extent to which in-town trade diversion affects town centres; and whether this assessment will be taken into account in revisions to Planning Policy Statement 6. [236505]

Mr. Iain Wright: Our "Proposed Changes to Planning Policy Statement 6: Planning for town centres", published on 10 July 2008, make clear that a key consideration to take into account when considering the impact of proposals for retail and leisure development is whether there will be an impact on in-centre trade/turnover, taking account of current and future consumer expenditure capacity in the catchment area of the proposal.

In formulating our proposals we have taken account of a number of studies, particularly "The Merry Hill Impact Study" (DoE, 1993); "The Impact of Large Foodstores on Market Towns and District Centres" (DETR, 1998); and our research into "The Policy Evaluation of the Effectiveness of PPG6" (ODPM, 2004).

We have also had regard to planning cases decided by the Secretary of State and Inspectors, as indicated in our consultation document. We have also drawn upon a number of other reports to inform our proposals, including:

(1) "The Smaller Towns Report", published by the British Council of Shopping Centres in 2004; and

(2) "Town Centre and Retailing Methodologies", published by One Scotland in 2007.

As we said in our consultation proposals, we expect to implement our revisions in spring 2009.

Mr. Betts: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how the proposed revision of Planning Policy Statement 6 will protect and promote retail diversity. [236506]

Mr. Iain Wright: Our "Proposed Changes to Planning Policy Statement 6: Planning for town centres", published on 10 July 2008, set out a strong policy framework within which local authorities should plan for their town centres and retail development. Our proposals recognise the importance of achieving a broad range of retailer representation, both large and small, to improve the attractiveness of town centres and promoting competition and consumer choice. To achieve this we are asking local authorities to plan proactively for their town centres by making full and effective use of available tools such as their development plan policies, planning conditions, Local Development Orders and Article 4 Directions. We are also asking them to promote competitive town centre environments by, where appropriate, giving priority consideration to whether the established character and diversity of their town centres should be protected and enhanced.

Our proposed new impact test will also provide a more effective way of assessing the impact of unplanned proposals outside town centres by requiring applicants for such proposals to assess the extent to which a proposal will promote or undermine town centre vitality and viability, including the impact on local consumer choice and retail diversity in terms of the range, type and quality of goods.

Mr. Betts: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when she expects to issue revised Planning Policy Statement 6; and whether the revised version will incorporate the recent recommendations of the Competition Commission on competition in the retail sector. [236508]

Mr. Iain Wright: As we said in our 'Proposed Changes to Planning Policy Statement 6: Planning for town centres', published on 10 July 2008, we expect to implement our revisions in spring 2009.

Whether our revised policy will incorporate a 'competition test' for planning decisions on larger grocery stores, as recommended by the Competition Commission (CC), will depend on the outcome of the Tesco appeal to the Competition Appeal tribunal and our further consideration of the CC's proposals. As we said in the Government's response to the CC inquiry into UK groceries retailing in July, we will report more fully on our decision in the light of developments. Our published response can be viewed on the BERR website at:

http://www.berr.gov.uk/bbf/competition/market-studies/supplyofgroceries/index.html

Severn Barrage

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether she has provided guidance to planning authorities on the potential impact of a Severn Barrage on flooding in the south west and south Wales. [235333]

Mr. Iain Wright: A cross-Government study is assessing the feasibility of harnessing the tidal power of the Severn Estuary. Impacts of a power generation scheme on flooding issues are being addressed in the Strategic Environmental Assessment commissioned by the study. The feasibility study is scheduled to report during 2010. Given this, no planning guidance for authorities in the South West and Wales has been issued concerning the potential impact of any such development in the Severn Estuary.

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what responsibilities the Homes and Communities Agency will have for assessing the risk of flooding arising from the construction of a Severn Barrage. [235334]

Mr. Iain Wright: Homes and Communities Agency would have no role in relation to flood risk assessment for any Severn Barrage. This would be the responsibility of whoever builds it, with the Environment Agency taking a keen interest given its statutory role in relation to planning and flood risk.

HCA's role with regard to flood risk assessment would be that set out in "PPS25: Development and Flood Risk". For any development it planned, it would have to carry out a flood risk assessment. The HCA will develop its own flood risk/flood adaptation policy building on EP's best practice guidance note covering PPS25 and building on EP's work on sustainable urban drainage systems.

HCA will also seek to develop strong and early relationships with the Environment Agency to ensure that they are involved at both a strategic level and locally where flood risk or water availability is an issue.

South-East Plan

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government to whom a hard copy of the South-East Plan consultation document was distributed by her Department during the recent consultation in (a) Guildford borough, (b) Waverley borough and (c) Surrey. [236609]

Mr. Khan: Hard copies were distributed to all south-east MPs and MEPs, participants at the Examination in Public, South East England Regional Assembly members, and local authority heads of planning. Public libraries and planning authority offices received copies for inspection.

In addition, a further approximately 100 hard copies have been distributed on a request basis across the region.

DUCHY OF LANCASTER

Action for Sustainable Living: Finance

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how much funding (a) his Department, (b) its agencies and (c) Capacitybuilders has given to Action for Sustainable Living in the last 24 months. [233236]

Kevin Brennan: Neither the Cabinet Office, the Central Office of Information nor Capacitybuilders have awarded any grants to Action for Sustainable Living in the last 24 months.

Average Earnings: Coastal Areas

Chris Ruane: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what the average earnings of (a) males and (b) females are in the principal seaside towns in England and Wales. [234936]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question asking what the average earnings of (a) males and (b) females are in the principal seaside towns in England and Wales. (234936)

Average levels of earnings are estimated from the Annual Survey of Hours and Earnings (ASHE), and are provided for all employees on adult rates of pay whose pay for the survey period was not affected by absence.

Estimates of levels of earnings are not available by town but are available by Local Authority. I attach a table showing the median gross weekly earnings for the Local Authority associated with each principal seaside town in England and Wales in 2007.

The ASHE, carried out in April each year, is the most comprehensive source of earnings information in the United Kingdom. It is a sample of employees who are members of pay-as-you-earn (PAYE) schemes.

* Employees on adult rates whose pay for the survey pay-period was not affected by absence.

Key

The colour coding indicates the quality of each estimate for median gross weekly pay.

The quality of an estimate is measured by its coefficient of variation (CV), which is the ratio of the standard error of an estimate to the estimate.

Guide to quality

The Coefficient of Variation (CV) indicates the quality of a figure, the smaller the CV value the higher the quality.

The true value is likely to lie within +/- twice the CV - for example, for an average of 200 with a CV of 5%, we would expect the population average to be within the range 180 to 220.

Key

CV ≥= 5%

* CV ≥ 5% and ≤= 10%

 CV ≥ 10% and ≤=20%

X CV ≥ 20%

Notes

1. Estimates provided are from the Annual Survey of Hours and Earnings (ASHE).

2. Figures are provided for median gross weekly earnings for employees on adult rates of pay, whose pay for the survey period was not affected by absence.

Cardiovascular Diseases

Chris Ruane: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many and what proportion of all deaths were from (a) circulation diseases and (b) cancers in each of the last 15 years. [234501]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many and what proportion of all deaths were from (a) circulation diseases and (b) cancers in each of the last 15 years. (234501)

The tables attached provide the numbers of deaths and proportion of all deaths, with an underlying cause of (a) circulatory disease (table 1) and (b) cancer (table 2) for the years 1993 to 2007 (the latest year available).

Table 1: Number, and proportion of deaths where circulatory disease was the underlying cause of death, in England and Wales, 1993 to 2007[1,2]

Civil Servants: Manpower

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many full-time equivalent civil servants each Government department and executive agency employed in City of York constituency in each year since 1996-97. [237054]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician I have been asked to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question concerning how many full-time equivalent civil servants each government department and executive agency employed in City of York constituency in each year since 1996-97. (237054)

Information on employment in the civil service is not available for parliamentary constituencies. I refer to you the answer given on 5 November (Official Report, volume 482, column 493W) for estimates for the City of York area.

Death: Cancer

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what the mortality rate from cancer was in Crosby constituency in (a) 1997 and (b) 2008 to date. [236704]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking what the mortality rate from cancer was in Crosby constituency in (a) 1997 and (b) 2008. (236704)

Mortality rates for parliamentary constituencies are available only for the years 2001 to 2006. The age-standardised mortality rate where cancer was the underlying cause of death in Crosby parliamentary constituency was 177 per 100,000 population in 2001, and 158 per 100,000 population in 2006.[1, 2, 3, 4]

[1] Age-standardised mortality rates per 100,000 population, standardised to the European Standard Population. Age-standardised rates are used to allow comparison between populations which may contain different proportions of people of different ages.

[2] Cause of death for cancer was defined using the International Classification of Diseases, Tenth Revision (ICD-10) codes C00-C97.

[3] Based on boundaries as of 2008.

Death: Carbon Monoxide

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many deaths from carbon monoxide poisoning there were of people aged (a) 60 to 64, (b) 65 to 74 and (c) 75 years and over since 1997. [236937]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many deaths from carbon monoxide poisoning there were of people aged (a) 60-64, (b) 65-74 and (c) 75 years and over since 1997. (236937)

The attached table provides the number of deaths where the toxic effect of carbon monoxide was the cause of death for people aged (a) 60-64, (b) 65-74 and (c) 75 years and over, in England and Wales, from 1997 to 2007 (the latest year available).

Table 1: Number of deaths with a cause of carbon monoxide poisoning[1], by age group: persons aged 60 and over, England and Wales, 1997 to 2007[2, 3]

Deaths

Death: Drugs

Jeff Ennis: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many deaths attributed to drugs overdoses were recorded in (a) Doncaster, (b) Barnsley and (c) South Yorkshire in each of the last five years. [236301]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many deaths attributed to drugs overdoses were recorded in (a) Doncaster, (b) Barnsley and (c) South Yorkshire in each of the last five years. (236301)

The table attached provides the numbers of deaths for which the underlying cause was (i) drug poisoning and (ii) drug poisoning where any drug controlled under the Misuse of Drugs Act 1971 was mentioned on the death certificate, for (a) Doncaster metropolitan district, (b) Barnsley metropolitan district and (c) South Yorkshire county, from 2003 to 2007 (the latest year available).

Table 1: Number of deaths from drug poisoning and drug misuse, Doncaster metropolitan district, Barnsley metropolitan district and South Yorkshire county, 2003 to 2007[1,2,3]

Deaths

| 2007 | 16 | 16 | 70 | 13 | 11 | 48 |

[1] Cause of death was defined using the International Classification of Diseases, Tenth Revision (ICD-10). Figures for Drug poisoning are where the underlying cause of death was due to drug poisoning (ICD-10 codes are shown in the following table). Figures for Drug misuse include all drug poisoning deaths where a drug controlled under the Misuse of Drugs Act 1971 was mentioned on the death certificate.
[2] Based on boundaries as of 2008.
[3] Figures are for deaths registered in each calendar year.

| ICD-10 | Description |

Death: Heart Diseases

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many deaths in Crosby constituency resulted from heart disease in (a) 1997 and (b) 2008 to date. [236703]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many deaths in Crosby constituency resulted from heart disease in (a) 1997 and (b) 2008 to date.(236703)

There were (a) 192 deaths in Crosby parliamentary constituency[1] where ischaemic heart disease was the underlying cause of death[2] in 1997, and (b) 121 deaths in 2007[3] which is the latest year available.

[1] Based on boundaries as of 2008.

[2] Cause of death for ischaemic heart disease was defined using the International Classification of Diseases, Ninth Revision (ICD-9) codes 410-414 for 1997 and Tenth Revision (ICD-10) codes 120-125 for 2007. The introduction of ICD-10 in 2001 means that the number of deaths from this cause before 2001 are not completely comparable with later years.

[3] Figures are for deaths registered in each calendar year.

Death: Methadone

Jeff Ennis: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many deaths attributed to methadone addiction were recorded in (a) Doncaster, (b) Barnsley and (c) South Yorkshire in each of the last five years. [236239]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many deaths attributed to methadone addiction were recorded in (a) Doncaster, (b) Barnsley and (c) South Yorkshire in each of the last five years. (236239)

The attached table provides the numbers of deaths for which the underlying cause was drug poisoning and methadone was mentioned anywhere on the death certificate in South Yorkshire county from 2003 to 2007 (the latest year available). The information collected at death registration does not specify whether the deceased was addicted to the substances mentioned as contributing to the death.

Figures cannot be provided for the metropolitan districts of Doncaster and Barnsley as these data are judged to be too detailed to preserve anonymity in death statistics.

Table 1: Number of deaths attributed to drug poisoning[1] where methadone was mentioned anywhere on the death certificate, South Yorkshire county, 2003 to 2007[2]

| Y10-Y14 | Poisoning by drugs, medicaments and biological substances, undetermined intent |

Death: Weather

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many excess deaths from cold weather there were in (a) North Yorkshire and (b) Vale of York constituency in each year since 1997. [237110]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many excess deaths from cold weather there were in (a) North Yorkshire and (b) Vale of York constituency in each year since 1997. (237110)

Estimates of excess winter deaths are based on the difference between the number of deaths during the four winter months (December to March) and the average number of deaths during the preceding four months (August to November) and the following four months (April to July). It is not possible to say whether these deaths were related to cold weather. The table attached provides the number of excess winter deaths in (a) North Yorkshire county, and (b) Vale of York parliamentary constituency, 1997/98 to 2005/06 (the latest available).

Table 1: Excess winter deaths[1]: North Yorkshire county and Vale of York parliamentary constituency[2] 1997-98 to 2005-06

| | Deaths (persons) | |
|---|---|---|
| Winter | North Yorkshire | Vale of York |
| 1997-98 | 350 | 90 |
| 1998-99 | 500 | 100 |
| 1999-00 | 580 | 80 |
| 2000-01 | 330 | 60 |
| 2001-02 | 330 | 30 |
| 2002-03 | 200 | 40 |
| 2003-04 | 350 | 40 |
| 2004-05 | 280 | 30 |
| 2005-06 | 300 | 10 |

[1] The estimated number of excess winter deaths is the difference between the number of deaths during the four winter months (December to March) and the average number of deaths during the preceding four months (August to November) and the following four months (April to July). Figures are rounded to the nearest 10 to reflect the fact that they are estimates.
[2] Data are based on deaths occurring in each month.
[3] Based on boundaries as of 2008.

Dorneywood

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster pursuant to the Answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 6 November 2008, Official Report, column 736W, on Dorneywood, what the dates were of each of the official engagements which involved a stay at Dorneywood by the (a) Leader of the House of Lords and (b) House of Commons Chief Whip. [236016]

Kevin Brennan: The then Leader of the House of Lords stayed overnight at Dorneywood on 10 January 2008.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 6 November 2008, Official Report, column 736W, on Dorneywood, what the purpose was of each of the official engagements. [236017]

Kevin Brennan: The official engagements involved meetings with ministerial colleagues and/or officials.

Employment: Coastal Areas

Chris Ruane: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many people and what proportion of the working age population were in employment in each of the principal seaside towns in England and Wales in each year since 1997. [234934]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question asking how many people and what proportion of the working age population were in employment in each of the principal seaside towns in England and Wales in each year since 1997. (234934)

The Office for National Statistics compiles employment statistics for local areas using the Annual Population Survey (APS) and Annual Labour Force Survey (LFS) following International Labour Organisation (ILO) definitions.

Estimates of employment are not available for the principal seaside towns in England and Wales. Instead we have provided estimates relating to the Local Authorities associated with each of these towns.

Table 1 provides the number of working age persons employed in the relevant local authorities from the LFS for the twelve month periods ending February 1998 to February 2004, and from the APS for the twelve month periods ending March 2005 to March 2008. A copy of the table has been placed in the library of the House.

These figures along with a wide range of other labour market data for parliamentary constituencies and local authorities are also published on the Office for National Statistics' Nomis® website:

www.nomisweb.co.uk.

Foreign Workers: Coastal Areas

Chris Ruane: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many and what percentage of migrant workers there are in the workforce in each of the principal seaside towns in England and Wales. [234951]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question asking how many and what percentage of migrant workers there are in the workforce in each of the principal seaside town in England and Wales. (234951)

The Office for National Statistics compiles employment statistics for local areas using the Annual Population Survey (APS) and Annual Labour Force Survey (LFS) following International Labour Organisation (ILO) definitions.

Estimates of employment are not available for the principal seaside towns in England and Wales. Instead we have provided estimates relating to the Local Authorities associated with each of these towns.

The Office for National Statistics compiles statistics on migrant workers for local areas from the Annual Population survey (APS). The National Statistics method for estimating the number of migrant workers employed in the UK is based on the number of people at a given time who were born outside the UK, and in employment. This question has been answered on this basis. It means, for example, that some people who are UK nationals will be included in the total. Those in employment are defined following International Labour Organisation definitions.

Table 1 attached, provides the number of migrant workers employed in the relevant local authorities from the APS for the twelve month period ending December 2007.

These figures along with a wide range of other labour market data for parliamentary constituencies and local authorities are also published on the Office for National Statistics' Nomis® website:

[1] Does not include respondents who did not answer the question on country of birth

Estimates are subject to sampling variability.

It should also be noted that the country of birth question in the APS gives an undercount because it excludes certain people who have been resident in the UK for less than six months.

it excludes students in halls who do not have a UK resident parent.

it excludes people in most other types of communal establishments (e.g. hotels, boarding houses, hostels, mobile home sites, etc).

it is grossed to population estimates which exclude migrants staying for less than 12 months.

microdata are grossed to population estimates consistent with those published in spring 2003 which are significantly lower than the latest population estimates.

Guide to Quality:

The Coefficient of Variation (CV) indicates the quality of an estimate, the smaller the CV value the higher the quality. The true value is likely to lie within +/- twice the CV - for example, for an estimate of 200 with a CV of 5 per cent. we would expect the population total to be within the range 180-220

KEY Coefficient of Variation (CV) (%) Statistical Robustness

* 0 = CV < 5 Estimates are considered precise.

 5 = CV < 10 Estimates are considered reasonably precise.

 10 = CV < 20 Estimates are considered acceptable.

* CV = 20 Estimates are considered too unreliable for practical purposes.

Greater Manchester

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how much funding (a) his Department, (b) its agencies and (c) Capacitybuilders has given to the Manchester-based organisations (i) Transport Pool and (ii) the Community Network for Manchester in the last 24 months. [233238]

Kevin Brennan: Neither the Cabinet Office, the Central Office of Information nor Capacitybuilders have awarded any grants to Transport Pool or the Community Network for Manchester in the last 24 months.

Immigration

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what, on the basis of the most recent population projections, is the level of immigration at which the population of the UK would remain below 70 million on unchanged assumptions about birth rates and mortality. [236159]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician I have been asked to reply to your question, regarding what, on the basis of the most recent population projections, is the level of immigration at which the population of the UK would remain below 70 million on unchanged assumptions about birth rates and mortality. (236159)

The information requested cannot be calculated directly from the latest national population projections published by the Office for National Statistics in October 2007. These projections included a principal (or central) projection, and a range of variant projections. The variant projections included a low migration variant and a zero migration (natural change only) variant.

In the principal projection, which assumes a long-term net inward flow of +190,000 persons a year, the population of the UK is projected to reach 70 million in 2028. In the low migration variant, which assumes a long-term net inward flow of +130,000 persons a year, the population of the UK is projected to reach 70 million in 2035. In the zero migration variant, which shows the effect of the principal assumptions of fertility and mortality in the absence of migration (or where migration inflows and outflows are equal at every age), the population of the UK is projected to reach almost 64 million in the year 2032 and then start to decline.

Assumptions for national population projections are conventionally expressed in terms of net migration (immigration less emigration) rather than for the gross flows separately. However, nominal immigration and emigration totals are used in the projection process mainly to enable plausible age distributions to be calculated for the assumed net migration totals.

It is apparent from the 2006-based projections that a level of annual net inward migration, somewhere between zero and +130,000, could be assumed at which the population would remain below 70 million. However, there are a range of combinations of immigration and emigration levels which could achieve this outcome. For example, a lower level of immigration could be used than in the 2006-based projections but with no change to emigration.

Alternatively, both immigration and emigration could be reduced. In practice, it is likely that lower levels of immigration than those experienced in recent years would, in time, lead to a reduction in the level of emigration as well.

Non-profit Making Associations

Margaret Moran: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what further steps he plans to take to ensure that social enterprises compete for Government contracts on the same basis as other bidders. [236224]

Kevin Brennan: The Glover review is examining what further steps may be needed to remove barriers for small and medium sized enterprises and social enterprises in competing for public sector contracts. The review will be published shortly.

Plain English

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many documents produced by his Department were submitted to the Plain English Campaign for approval for Crystal Mark status in each year since 2005; and how many documents achieved such status in each year. [230507]

Philip Davies: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many documents produced by the Cabinet Office were submitted to the Plain English Campaign for approval for Crystal Mark status in each year since 2005; and how many documents achieved such status in each year. [231113]

Mr. Watson: The information can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Population

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what the most recent forecast is from the Office for National Statistics of the proportion of population growth (a) directly attributable and (b) indirectly attributable to migration in each of its projections of population size. [234137]

Kevin Brennan [holding answer 10 November 2008]: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician I have been asked to reply to your question asking what the most recent forecast is of the proportion of population growth (a) directly attributable and (b) indirectly attributable to migration in each of its projections of population size (234137).

The most recent national population projections, based on mid-2006 population estimates, were published by the Office for National Statistics on 23 October 2007. The principal projection was produced using the main assumptions of future levels of fertility, mortality and migration. However, to give users of the projections an indication of the effect of higher or lower assumptions, a number of variant population projections were also produced.

An understanding of the overall effect of migration on population growth can be obtained by comparing the results of the principal and high and low migration variant projections with those of the 'natural change' (or zero migration) variant projection. Table A below gives projected components of population change for the UK in the period to 2031 in the principal projection, the high and low migration variants and the natural change variant projection.

Table B shows how the projected population growth to 2031 is broken down between the assumed level of net migration and projected natural change. Natural change is then further broken down into that projected in the absence of migration and the additional natural change from the assumed level of net migration. So, taking the principal projection for example, some 47 per cent of population growth is therefore directly attributable to the assumed number of net migrants. The remaining 53 per cent is attributable to projected natural increase (of which 31 per cent would occur in the absence of net migration and 23 per cent arises from the effect of net migration on natural change). In total, therefore, some 69 per cent of population growth in the period to 2031 in the principal projection is attributable, directly or indirectly, to future net migration.

Projected population figures are unchanged since my previous response to PQ 169089 (3 December 2007) concerning the same subject.

Voluntary Work

Chris Ruane: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what estimate he has made of the number of (a) formal and (b) informal volunteers in England and Wales in each of the last 15 years. [235567]

Kevin Brennan [holding answer 13 November 2008]: The number of formal and informal volunteers are measured each year by the Citizenship Survey, which began in 2001. There are no comparable figures available before this date. Figures since 2001 in England and Wales are as follows:

DEFENCE

Adjutant Generals Corps

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what criteria govern the selection of Adjutant General Administrative Instruction documents to be made available on the Ministry of Defence website. [236164]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Army General and Administrative Instructions (AGAIs) are internal documents and are not routinely published on the Ministry of Defence website. A decision on publishing a particular AGAI to the MOD website would be based on whether there is any information contained within it which is sensitive in nature, and its perceived usefulness to those outside the Army community.

Afghanistan: Military Aid

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many tonnes of charity clothing have been transported by the Royal Air Force using vacant cargo space on regular sorties to and from Afghanistan. [236996]

Mr. Kevan Jones: We have no record of authorising the transport of charity clothing to Afghanistan on RAF flights.

Afghanistan: Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many members of UK armed forces are deployed in (a) Kabul and (b) Helmand province. [235172]

Mr. Hutton: The authorised level for UK forces in Afghanistan is around 8,000, although the actual number of service personnel deployed in theatre can and does vary. Of these, some 500 are based in Kabul, some 2,100 are based at Kandahar airfield and some 5,400 are based in Helmand province.

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the total cost has been of the UK's involvement in Afghanistan in each of the last five financial years. [237187]

Mr. Hutton: MOD identifies the costs of Operations in terms of the net additional costs it has incurred, which excludes the costs that the Department would have incurred regardless of the operation taking place, such as wages and salaries. Reduced costs on activities that have not occurred because of the operation—training exercises for example —are also taken into account in arriving at the net figures.

The annual audited cost of operations in Afghanistan for the last five years are set out in the following table:

£ million

| | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Operations in Afghanistan resource costs | 36 | 58 | 148 | 560 | 1,071 | 1,873 |
| Expenditure on capital equipment | 10 | 9 | 51 | 178 | 433 | 681 |
| Total | 46 | 67 | 199 | 738 | 1,504 | 2,554 |

Armed Forces

Dr. Murrison: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many goodwill parcels from the public intended for deployed troops were (a) received by his Department and (b) delivered to troops on service in each year since 2003; and how those not delivered were treated. [236992]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Statistics relating to parcels delivered by the British Forces Post Office (BFPO) to service personnel deployed overseas since 2003 do not differentiate between mail from families and friends and "unsolicited mail" from the general public. Provided it did not contain items that were prohibited, unsolicited mail was delivered to deployed personnel.

Armed Forces: Compensation

Dr. Murrison: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment has been made of the operation of the Armed Forces Compensation Scheme in comparison with (a) compensation arrangements for police officers and (b) other public sector compensation schemes as part of the review of public service injury benefits; and if he will make a statement. [236993]

Mr. Kevan Jones: In conducting the recent review of armed forces compensation scheme tariff levels, we considered a number of other public sector compensation schemes including the police. Comparison is not straightforward as the underlying principles of the schemes are so dissimilar but the armed forces compensation scheme compared favourably with them. Reflecting the special circumstances of service in today's armed forces, the Service Personnel Command Paper announced the Government's intention to double the maximum lump sum award to £570,000. This is in addition to a guaranteed tax-free inflation proof income for life. Following a period of consultation, we are laying this week the necessary legislation to increase the lump sum awards.

Armed Forces: Death

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence on what date the decision was made that the Directorate of Army Personnel Strategy Science should attend the scene of all sudden deaths on the military estate; how many incident sites the Directorate has attended in each year since that decision; and in what form and to what body the Directorate reports its findings. [236169]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Directorate of Army Personnel Strategy (DAPS) Science occupational psychologists do not routinely attend the sites of sudden deaths and no decision has been made that they should do so.

DAPS Science does, however, send occupational psychologists to the sites of Army air accidents (with the exception of accidents occurring in conflict situations) in order to conduct a human factors investigation. This is in compliance with Joint Service Publication (JSP) 551 (Military Flight Safety Regulations) Volume 1 (Flight Safety). DAPS also has a responsibility to provide occupational psychology support to boards of inquiry into air accidents, again in compliance with JSP 551.

Armed Forces: Families

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library the latest service families continuous attitude survey. [235925]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Copies of the most recent Service Families Continuous Attitude Surveys will be placed in the Library of the House shortly. I shall write to the hon. Member when this has been done.

Armed Forces: Officers

Christopher Fraser: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment his Department has made of levels of officer retention in the armed forces over the last 10 years. [236453]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Taking the armed forces as a whole, retention rates for officers are relatively stable and we have seen no sudden outflow of personnel in the last 10 years. There is real concern, however, that in some important areas exit rates are too high and appear to be increasing, if only slightly, year on year. These areas are continuously monitored closely and focused action taken to continue to improve recruitment and retention. The recent Command Paper set out over 40 measures aimed at addressing many of the disadvantages of service life while the Government's response to the Report of Inquiry into National Recognition of our Armed Forces has now been presented to Parliament detailing how we have accepted the majority of recommendations. In addition, a wide range of measures are in place to improve retention including: career management, improvement to conditions of service and work/life balance, commitment bonuses and targeted financial retention initiatives.

Overall officer outflow and voluntary outflow rates from the armed forces are published by the Defence Analytical Services and Advice (DASA) organisation and can be found at their website:

www.dasa.mod.uk.

Armed Forces: Suicide

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what items are listed in the psychological checklist drawn up by the Army Suicide Prevention Group following the recommendation of the Walton report; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the list. [236168]

Mr. Kevan Jones: I will place a copy of the Psychological Autopsy Checklist in the Library of the House.

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what principal recommendations were made as a result of the qualitative research conducted by the Directorate of Army Personnel Strategy in 1999 at the request of the Army Suicide Prevention Group to develop organisational responses to suicides in the Army; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the report. [236172]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The Army's Suicide Vulnerability Risk Management (SVRM) Policy sets out the current framework for addressing suicide in the Army. It is designed to assist the chain of command in identifying potential suicide victims and to provide a structure for subsequent support. The SVRM Policy was based on research conducted over a number of years, including 1999, although none from that year was published separately. I will place a copy of the SVRM Policy in the Library of the House.

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what teaching materials are available in each service on awareness and prevention of suicide and self-harm; and what steps he plans to take to encourage service personnel to seek help for trauma and other forms of psychological distress. [236187]

Mr. Kevan Jones: MOD's through-life approach to stress management training focuses on raising awareness and encouraging early support as well as addressing barriers to care (i.e. stigma). Each of the single services has procedures aimed at making all ranks aware of indicators and warnings associated with possible self-harm, and of the appropriate steps to take.

The general issue of stigma around personnel with mental health problems is something that the MOD has recently done much to address. As part of this the Royal Marines pioneered a peer-group risk assessment procedure to improve detection and signposting of problems amongst those exposed to psychologically traumatic events, in order that their peers and leaders can provide them with appropriate support or, where it is required, to refer them for specialist help. The process, known as trauma risk management (TRiM) has now been formally accepted and implemented by the Royal Marines, Royal Navy and the Army, and is being trialled in selected RAF units.

Armed Forces: Telephone Services

Christopher Fraser: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what recent assessment he has made of the adequacy of the weekly allocation of free telephone calls for armed forces' personnel serving overseas. [236455]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The 30 minutes of free telephone calls each week form part of a comprehensive deployment welfare package, which also includes free mail for packages of up to 2 kg from family and friends and internet access. Personnel will also receive an additional 30 minutes free call time over the Christmas period. Recent attitude surveys conducted among service personnel indicate that they are broadly content with the deployment welfare package although it is kept under constant review. The most recent enhancement to the package was the doubling of the families' welfare grant, effective from 1 November.

Armed Forces: Training

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the topic headings are for course work on (a) the law of armed conflict and (b) the requirements of Article 3 of the European Convention on Human Rights as taught during Phase (i) 1 and (ii) 2 training for service personnel; what course time is allocated to this aspect of training; how trainee achievement is measured; and what minimum standard is required in order for an individual to complete that phase of training. [236154]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: I will write to my hon. Friend.

Defence Estates: Bye Laws

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the Answer of 6 November 2008, Official Report, columns 671-72W, on Military Lands Act byelaws, what the 96 sites, including the 13 designated under the Serious Organised Crime and Police Act 2005, are whose byelaws are, or will be, under review. [236554]

Mr. Kevan Jones: All of the sites to be reviewed, including those that we still need to start the review process are listed on the Defence Estate website at:

http://www.defence-estates.mod.uk/byelaws/Internet/Intro.php and are in the process of being updated.

The designated Serious Organised Crime and Police Act 2005 sites are listed as follows:

AWE Aldermaston
AWE Burghfield
RAF Fylingdales
Faslane (HMNB Clyde)
Coulport
RAF Mildenhall
PJHQ Northwood
RAF Brize Norton
SMC Marchwood
RAF Croughton
RAF Fairford
RAF Welford
RAF Feltwell
RAF Lakenheath
RAF Menwith Hill
Plymouth (and Devonport)

Departmental Consultants

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much his Department paid to consultants and external assistants in the last period for which figures are available. [236006]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Summaries for the years 1995-96 to 2007-08 of MOD expenditure on external assistance, of which consultancy is a part, are available in the Library of the House.

Departmental Lighting

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many energy saving light bulbs his Department has used in each year since 1997. [236008]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Usage figures for energy saving light bulbs are not held centrally, and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Location

Willie Rennie: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what consideration he has given to relocating his Department's sites to areas of high unemployment. [236991]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Under the Government's Lyons relocation programme, the MOD plans to relocate some 5,000 civil service and military posts out of London and the south east by March 2010. This is against the target of 3,900 that was agreed and published as part of the 2004 spending review. These moves, and other collocations, are coherent with our strategy to have an estate of the right size to meet the military and business need, concentrated on larger sites and releasing resources to the front line.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many questions for written answer were tabled to his Department in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04, (c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235403]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The information requested is given in the following table:

| Parliamentary session | Written questions received[1] | Answered substantively | Disproportionate cost answer |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 4,622 | 4,394 | 228 |
| 2003-04 | 3,745 | 3,480 | 265 |
| 2004-05 | 1,714 | 1,645 | 69 |
| 2005-06 | 4,736 | 4,453 | 283 |
| 2006-07 | 3663 | 3,414 | 249 |
| 2007-08 | 4,291 | 3,765 | 526 |
| Total | 22,771 | 21,151 | 1,620 |

[1] Including named day questions

Data are not recorded separately that identify where a disproportionate cost answer was given wholly or as part of the answer. The figures for disproportionate cost answers therefore include those which were partially answered.

Ex-servicemen: Anniversaries

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what provision his Department is planning to make to assist veterans in returning to Normandy for the 65th anniversary of the Landings in 2009; and if he will make a statement. [237190]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The long standing Ministry of Defence policy on official commemorations is that only 25th, 50th, 60th and 100th anniversaries of events of major importance receive MOD sponsorship at public expense. Significant funding was made available to mark the 60th anniversary of the Normandy landings in 2004 at which the Normandy Veterans Association (NVA) formally announced, through HM the Queen, that it would be their final parade.

I recognise the understandable desire of Normandy veterans to return to the beach heads each year. However, the Ministry of Defence regularly receives requests from various different veterans' organisations seeking financial or other support for pilgrimages and events to commemorate the campaigns in which they took part. The vast majority are similarly worthy and could make an equally compelling case as the Normandy veterans, but it would be inappropriate to provide official support for one and not the others. This long standing policy of successive Governments was established after very careful consideration and its consistent application over the years has ensured a fairness and equality of treatment for everyone concerned.

Consequently, there are no plans for the Department to assist veterans returning to Normandy for the 65th anniversary of the landings in 2009.

Ex-servicemen: Civil Servants

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many former members of the (a) Army, (b) Royal Air Force and (c) Royal Navy now work in civilian roles in his Department's (i) Main Building Whitehall and (ii) other locations. [236007]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Data on the number of former members of the Army, Royal Air Force and the Royal Navy who now work in civilian roles in Main Building and other locations are not held centrally. To provide this information would require a search through individuals' personal records. This could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Iraq: Peacekeeping Operations

Adam Price: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many surveillance cameras have been deployed by HM armed forces in Iraq since the beginning of 2008. [236114]

Mr. Hutton: UK forces employ a range of surveillance devices in support of operations in Iraq, including those attached to land and air vehicles, cameras employed by soldiers and also static cameras. Data on the precise number of cameras deployed to Iraq since 2008 are not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Business

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what helplines and websites his Department and its predecessors have funded to support businesses since 1997; and what the cost was to the public purse of operating them in each year since 1997. [232035]

Mr. McFadden: This information is not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Christmas

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many Christmas functions (a) he, (b) officials from his Department and (c) officials from its executive agencies (i) hosted and (ii) attended in 2007-08; what the cost to the public purse was; and if he will make a statement. [226956]

Mr. McFadden: My right hon. Friend, the then Secretary of State, did not host or attend any official Christmas functions in 2007-08.

The Department does not hold the information that the hon. Gentleman requests regarding officials from this Department and it could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

I have approached the chief executives of the Insolvency Service and Companies House agencies and they will respond to the hon. Gentleman directly.

Letter from Stephen Speed, 10 November 2008:

The Minister of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform has asked me to reply to your question how many Christmas functions (a) he, (b) officials from his Department and (c) officials from its executive agencies (i) host and (ii) attend in 2007-08; what the cost to the public purse was.

The Insolvency Service Executive Agency of the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform did not host any Christmas functions in 2007-08. There was no cost to the public purse of The Agency or any of its Officials attending functions in 2007-08.

Letter from Gareth Jones, 10 November 2008:

I am responding on behalf of Companies House to your recently tabled Parliamentary Question to the Minister of State for Business Enterprise and Regulatory Reform.

Companies House held a staff party and provided Christmas lunches for staff in 2007-8 at a total cost of £27,000. The number of Christmas functions attended by staff is not known but they would be at no cost to the public purse.

Departmental Databases

Mr. Maude: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Rochford and Southend, East of 9 October 2008, Official Report, column 711W, on departmental databases, in what way the MOSAIC data was used to segment audiences during the campaign. [233397]

Mr. McFadden: The National Minimum Wage publicity campaign used MOSAIC data to help map concentrations of low paid workers. This mapping was instrumental in enabling the Department to run a regionally based campaign that reached its target audiences in a cost efficient and effective way.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how much was spent on salaries for press and communications officers in (a) his Department, (b) its non-departmental public bodies and (c) its agencies in each of the last three years. [231316]

Mr. McFadden: The information is as follows:

Salary cost for Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform Press Office

| | £000 |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 777 |
| 2006-07 | 1,023 |
| 2007-08 | 1,095 |

Salary cost for UK Trade and Investment Press Office

| | £000 |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 143 |
| 2006-07 | 136 |
| 2007-08 | 197 |

The figures refer to total pay cost of staff in post, comprising salary, overtime, NI and superannuation.

I have asked the chief executive officers of our two agencies to respond directly to the hon. Member.

Letter from Stephen Speed, dated 18 November 2008:

The Minister of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform, has asked me to reply to your question on how much was spent on salaries for press and communications officers in its departments and agencies.

The Insolvency Service is an executive agency of the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform. The Service spent the following on salaries in the last three financial years:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 105,129 |
| 2006-07 | 120,905 |
| 2007-08 | 109,110 |

Letter from Gareth Jones, dated 18 November 2008:

I am responding on behalf of Companies House to your recently tabled Parliamentary Question to the Minister of State for Business Enterprise and Regulatory Reform.

The salary cost for the press and communication officers, in the last three years is as follows:

| | Salary (£) |
|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 49,210 |
| 2006-07 | 48,716 |
| 2005-06 | 46,906 |

Departmental Land

Sarah Teather: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what plans he has for each of the sites owned by his Department and registered on the Register of Surplus Public Sector Land; what construction projects are planned for each site; and when he expects each site to be returned to use. [236444]

Mr. McFadden: No surplus land is owned by BERR and consequently this Department has no sites registered on the Register of Surplus Public Sector Land.

Departmental Liability

Mr. Burrowes: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform on what dates in each of the last five years his Department informed the House of the creation of contingent liabilities relating to his Department or its non-departmental public bodies. [232730]

Mr. McFadden: The dates and details are as follows:

| Session | Date | Subject |
|---|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 27 October 2008 | Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform Minute, dated 27 October, concerning a contingent liability in respect of an environmental indemnity to the public-private partnership developing Harwell Science and Innovation Campus. |

| Session | Date | Subject |
|---|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 19 October 2004 | Department of Trade and Industry Minute concerning a contingent liability to indemnify in the course of their duties the two trustees of the Nuclear Trust appointed by British Energy |
| 2003-04 | 15 December 2003 | Department of Trade and Industry Minute concerning a proposed contingent liability for Coalpower Ltd. (in Administration) |

EU External Trade: Sri Lanka

Mr. Harvey: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what requirements apply to third countries under the Generalised System of Preferences plus (GSP plus) programme; and what timetable has been set for the European Commission's investigation of compliance of Sri Lanka with its obligations under GSP plus. [235463]

Mr. Thomas: The Generalised System of Preferences plus (GSP plus) scheme is a special incentive scheme granted to countries that are classified as a vulnerable economy and are willing to ratify, implement and adhere to 27 core conventions on human rights, labour rights, environment and good governance. The full list of conventions can be found on page 30.6.2005 of the official journal of the European Union.

Countries currently receiving GSP plus have had three years to ratify and implement the 27 core conventions, the deadline for this was 31 October 2008. New applicants also had to submit applications by this date but must have also ratified and be effectively implementing all 27 core conventions.

GSP plus countries are expected to uphold these conventions. Failure to do so results in them being temporarily withdrawn from the scheme and, depending on the seriousness of the breach, can lead to a temporary withdrawal from the Generalised System of Preferences therefore losing all preferential access to the EU.

For the period 2009 to 2011, to be eligible for GSP plus, a country must meet the following 'vulnerability criteria':

> it has not been classified as a high income country during three consecutive years, and the five largest sections of its GSP-covered exports to the Community represent more than 75 per cent. in value of its total GSP-covered exports, and
> GSP-covered imports into the Community represent less than 1 per cent. in value of the total GSP-covered Community imports.

Separately, the European Commission announced its GSP plus related investigation of Sri Lanka on the 18 October 2008. The Government of Sri Lanka have four months in which to submit evidence to the investigation team. The investigation could take up to a year.

Home Computing Initiative

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what estimate has been made of the cost to the public purse of the tax exemptions provided to employers as part of the home computing initiative. [235154]

Mr. Timms: I have been asked to reply.

The estimated cost to the Exchequer of the tax exemptions provided to employers as part of the home computing initiative was stated in the second table (Cost of Salary Sacrifice for Proposed Options—Option 1) of the full regulatory impact assessment 'Exemptions for Computers and Mobile Phones'.

The impact assessment was published in April 2006 on the HM Revenue and Customs website at:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/ria/mobiles-computers-exemptions.htm.

Illegal Broadcasting

James Brokenshire: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (1) what recent estimate he has made of the loss of income to commercial broadcasters arising from the disruption caused by the activities of illegal broadcasters; [232126]

(2) what assessment he has made of the health and safety risks to the public associated with illegal radio broadcasting. [232127]

Ian Pearson: The matter raised is the responsibility of the independent regulator, the Office of Communications (Ofcom), which is accountable to Parliament rather than Ministers. Accordingly, I have asked the chief executive of Ofcom to reply directly to the hon. Member. Copies of the chief executive's letter will be placed in the Libraries of the House.

Manufacturing Industries

Bob Spink: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform if he will meet representatives of the British Made for Quality organisation to discuss their campaign to support British manufacturing. [234117]

Ian Pearson: The Government are committed to helping UK manufacturing to get through the current economic downturn. Ministerial colleagues and I regularly meet main industry organisations and trade associations representing manufacturing to discuss their concerns. The Government published their new manufacturing strategy in September which sets out a powerful vision for UK manufacturing in the global economy.

Paternity Pay

Susan Kramer: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what estimate he has made of the cost to the public purse of increasing the period for which a father can claim statutory paternity pay from two weeks to (a) three months, (b) six months and (c) nine months, broken down by category of cost. [235199]

Mr. McFadden: There are no current plans to extend statutory paternity leave to three, six or nine months and as such we do not have any estimates of the costs that such options may incur.

Post Offices: Closures

Bob Spink: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many post office branches were closed in the SS8 and SS7 post code areas between 1987 and 1997. [236043]

Mr. McFadden: This is an operational matter for Post Office Ltd. (POL). I have therefore asked Alan Cook, managing director of POL, to reply direct to the hon. Member.

Copies of the letter will be placed in the Libraries of the House.

Regional Development Agencies: Finance

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what the budget is for each of the regional development agencies for each of the next three years. [236759]

Mr. McFadden: Regional Development Agencies' total grant in aid budgets for the next three years are set out in the following table. Please note that budgets for 2009-10 and 2010-11 are indicative allocations.

£ million

| | | Indicative Allocations | |
|---|---|---|---|
| RDAs | 2008-09 | 2009-10 | 2010-11 |
| AWM | 303 | 274 | 235 |
| EEDA | 134 | 132 | 115 |
| EMDA | 164 | 158 | 136 |
| LDA | 348 | 383 | 330 |
| NWDA | 388 | 383 | 329 |
| ONE | 247 | 243 | 208 |
| SEEDA | 159 | 161 | 141 |
| SWRDA | 164 | 156 | 136 |
| YF | 302 | 297 | 255 |

Regional Economic Council

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what (a) matters were discussed and (b) decisions were taken at the first meeting of the Regional Economic Council on 5 November 2008; and if he will (i) post on his Departmental website and (ii) place in the Library a copy of the minutes of the meeting. [234426]

Mr. McFadden: A note will be placed in the Libraries of the House and on the BERR and HMT websites following each meeting.

Regional Planning and Development

Grant Shapps: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what discussions the Secretary of State has had with the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government on his response to the Review of Sub-National Economic Development and Regeneration. [236101]

Mr. McFadden: The Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (BERR) is jointly responsible, with the Department for Communities and Local Government (CLG), for implementing the recommendations of the review of sub-national economic development and regeneration (SNR). Ministers and officials in both Departments are in regular contact over progress with its implementation and, in particular, with regard to responding to the consultation 'Prosperous Places: taking forward the review of sub-national economic development and regeneration'.

Schools

Philip Davies: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform if he will place in the Library a copy of materials his Department has distributed to schools in the last three years. [229271]

Mr. McFadden: The former DTI, now the Department for Business Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (BERR), produced materials on firework safety for use by school teachers. These are available in electronic format to download from our website:

www.berr.gov.uk/fireworks

In 2005, the DTI developed resources for schools designed to raise awareness of renewable energy, one for primary schools and two for secondary schools. These are:

It's only Natural—Geography and Science resources for 5 to 11-year-olds

It's only Natural—Science resources for 11 to 16-year-olds

It's only Natural—Geography resources for 11 to 18-year-olds

These are available in electronic format to download from our website:

http://www.berr.gov.uk/whatwedo/energy/sources/renewables/schools/index.html

The BERR Publications Unit sends a copy of (or a web link to) all BERR publications to the Libraries of House.

Trade: Montserrat

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what the monetary value of trade between Montserrat and the UK was in each of the last five years. [236105]

Mr. Thomas: Data on recorded trade in goods with Montserrat are shown in the following table:

£ million

| | UK exports of goods to Montserrat | UK imports of goods from Montserrat |
|---|---|---|
| 2003 | 2.58 | 0.06 |
| 2004 | 1.16 | 0.15 |
| 2005 | 0.79 | 0.05 |
| 2006 | 0.66 | 0.12 |
| 2007 | 1.25 | 0.56 |

Source:
HMRC Overseas Trade Statistics

Data for trade in services with Montserrat are not available.

West Midlands Economic Council

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform by what means the effectiveness of the West Midlands Economic Council will be assessed. [235373]

Mr. McFadden [holding answer 17 November 2008]: Both individually and as part of the Council of Regional Ministers, recently established by my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister, a key role for the Regional Minister is to be a voice in Whitehall for their area and make sure central Government knows what the public, the business community and third sector organisations across the country need to get by. Their aim is to ensure that the regions' strategies to tackle the challenges of tougher times are successful by bringing all parties together quickly at a local level to respond to local economic shocks and helping to remove barriers to delivering critical local services and job creation.

All Regional Ministers have established regional economic bodies (in the West Midlands this is known as the West Midlands Economic Council) bringing together private and public sector representatives to work together effectively to help businesses in the current economic climate and to ensure that their regions are well placed in the medium and long term to prepare for economic upturn. The members are there on a voluntary basis (no cost) and the bodies have no budget or funding. Their role is advisory only. They will also provide a strong voice for the regions and ensure local concerns will be fed into and inform policy at the top level of Government. The Regional Minister will feedback on the work of their regional economic bodies through the Council of Regional Ministers and Regional Economic Council.

In terms of success measures, these are ad-hoc advisory bodies and it is for the members to judge their success not the Government.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH OFFICE

British Nationality: Prisoners

Mr. Vara: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many UK nationals are serving a custodial sentence overseas, broken down by country of detainment. [235710]

Gillian Merron: On 30 September 2008, our consular officials were aware of 2,548 British nationals detained overseas. The breakdown by country is shown in the following table. These figures include detainees on remand as well as those serving sentences. We do not maintain separate statistics on the numbers serving sentences.

China Task Force

Mr. Vara: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many times the China Task Force has met since its establishment; who chaired each meeting; and if he will make a statement. [235708]

Bill Rammell: The China Task Force was established in November 2003 and was originally chaired by the then Deputy Prime Minister, my right hon. Friend the Member for Kingston upon Hull, East (Mr. Prescott). China Task Force meetings took place in February, April and November 2004, July and October 2005, June and September 2006 and February 2007.

Since August 2007, it has been chaired by my right hon. Friend the Chancellor of the Exchequer. He chaired his first meeting in September 2007, and then in February 2008. The most recent meeting took place in October 2008 and was chaired by my noble Friend Lord Myners, Financial Services Secretary, on behalf of my right hon. Friend the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Further information about the China Task Force and its remit can be found on the Cabinet Office website at:

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/secretariats/foreign_and_defence/china_task_force.aspx

China: Tibet

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether benchmarks have been agreed to assess progress in the Sino-Tibetan dialogue; and if he will make a statement. [235408]

Bill Rammell: In his written ministerial statement of 29 October 2008, Official Report, column 30WS, my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary made clear our interest in various aspects of the Tibetan issue. These include the need for respect for Tibetan culture, language and religion. We believe that the talks on Tibet offer the opportunity to make progress in all of these areas, as well as on wider issues of human rights, including the right to freedom of peaceful expression. We are disappointed that to date the dialogue has failed to make progress on any of this, and we urge both parties to redouble efforts and engage on the substance of the issues.

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the positive outcomes for the Tibetans which have emerged from the UK-China Human Rights Dialogue since 2003. [235571]

Bill Rammell: The UK has raised human rights issues in Tibet with the Chinese authorities at each round of dialogue. The last round of the dialogue, in January 2008, was accompanied by a field trip to Tibet, where the delegation visited Drapchi prison, a police station and a criminal trial, and raised concerns directly with local officials. We have also raised Tibet repeatedly in political discussions, including when my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister spoke by telephone to Premier Wen on 7 November. We have lobbied on a number of individual cases of concern as part of these various discussions, which we judge may have contributed to early releases and sentence reductions. We continue to support small-scale development projects in Tibet through our embassy in Beijing.

Democratic Republic of Congo: Armed Conflict

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received of recent activity by the Lord's Resistance Army (LRA) in north-eastern Congo; what assessment he has made of such reports; and what representations he has received on the indictment by the International Criminal Court of four LRA members. [234122]

Gillian Merron: Local humanitarian agencies report numerous attacks against the civilian population by the Lord's Resistance Army (LRA) in the territory of Dungu in north-eastern Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) in recent months. The most recent reports include details of an attack on Dungu over the weekend of 1-2 November. The LRA poses an increasingly serious threat to security across the region.

The UK strongly supports the International Criminal Court and believes that its investigation in Uganda helped bring the LRA to the Juba peace process. Justice is an essential part of sustainable peace and it is vital that those responsible for the terrible crimes committed during the conflict in northern Uganda are held to account.

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the cost was of (a) entertainment, (b) advertising and promotion and (c) public relations consultancy to his Department in 2007-08. [228162]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) does not keep a central record of amounts spent on entertainment, and advertising and promotion. The information required to answer this question could be obtained only by requiring individual budget holders in the FCO to examine all invoices for the required years. This could be done only at disproportionate cost.

Annual expenditure on external consultants is published in the Department's annual reports, copies of which are in the Library of the House. The two most recent annual reports also contain details of expenditure on the top five consultancy suppliers. Expenditure on public relations contracts is not categorised separately, and could not be identified without incurring a disproportionate cost. However, it is not likely to be significant as the vast majority of work undertaken for the FCO by consultants is associated with its major informatic n communication technology and estate construction programmes.

The FCO is committed to ensuring that all expenditure, including that on entertainment, is incurred in accordance with the principles of Managing Public Money and the Treasury handbook on Regularity and Propriety.

Departmental Recruitment

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much (a) his Department and (b) its executive agencies spent on (i) recruitment consultants and (ii) external recruitment advertising to recruit staff in each of the last five financial years; which recruitment consultants were employed for those purposes in each of those years; and if he will make a statement. [226795]

Gillian Merron: The costs of recruitment consultants and external recruitment advertising in each of the last five years are detailed in the following tables. These costs relate to the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) and FCO Services, a Trading Fund of the FCO which delivers a combination of secure services to the FCO in the UK and at missions overseas.

FCO Services spend on recruitment consultants is less than that of FCO Recruitment. This is because FCO Services recruitment campaigns are smaller and can be managed mostly in-house, with very little being outsourced.

Diplomatic Service: Languages

Mr. Brady: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many and what proportion of British diplomatic staff, excluding locally recruited personnel, at each diplomatic mission in a country where English is not the first language are (a) fluent in the local language and (b) have received instruction in the local language (i) at a facility of his Department and (iii) at an independent facility. [227081]

Gillian Merron: There are 589 jobs held by UK-based staff in overseas missions that require fluency in the local language. We define fluency as either C1 or C2 level proficiency as described by the common European Framework of Reference for Languages (Council of Europe 2000). There are 2,297 UK-based staff serving overseas in 260 missions; those jobs held by UK-based staff that require fluency in the local language therefore make up 26 per cent. of the total.

Since November 2007 all language training for Foreign and Commonwealth Office UK-based staff is provided by external contractors either in the UK or overseas. 159 officers have been trained to levels C1 and C2 since November 2007.

Eritrea: Arms Trade

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will introduce an arms embargo against Eritrea. [226068]

Gillian Merron: In 2007 we approved three export licence applications which covered components for cryptographic equipment and civil body armour for humanitarian purposes.

All licences are assessed on a case by case basis against the Consolidated EU and National Export Licensing Criteria. This takes into account, inter alia, respect for human rights and the preservation of regional peace, security and stability. If there is a clear risk that the equipment will be used in a manner inconsistent with the criteria, a licence will not be approved. In the light of this we do not see the need for a comprehensive arms embargo against Eritrea.

Further details on the UK's arms export licensing policy are available at:

http://www.berr.gov.uk/whatwedo/europeantrade/strategic-export-control/legislation/index.html

Georgia: Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the progress of the EU monitoring mission in Georgia, with particular regard to EU monitors' access to Abkhazia and South Ossetia; and if he will make a statement. [234050]

David Miliband: The 8 September agreement required the EU to deploy at least 200 monitors by 1 October. The UK has provided 19 monitors plus three headquarters staff and four armoured cars to the mission, which now comprises 225 monitors. Monitoring is being focused on troop activity and withdrawal, public order, freedom of movement, and violations of human rights and international humanitarian law.

The EU Monitoring Mission (EUMM) has been patrolling on a daily basis since 1 October. We receive regular updates on EUMM from headquarters in Tbilisi and via Brussels. The Head of the EU Mission, Hansjorg Haber, is responsible for decisions on where in Georgia monitors should patrol. We understand that a number of monitors have had limited access to South Ossetia and to Abkhazia. Our view is that access to these regions, when security conditions permit, is necessary for the EUMM to fulfil its mandate in full.

Iran: Jews

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent reports he has received on the treatment of Jews in Iran; what recent representations he has received on this matter; and if he will make a statement. [235696]

Bill Rammell: Judaism is one of the three minority religions officially recognised under the Iranian constitution. While we do have general concerns about freedom of religion and belief in Iran, we understand that the Jewish community has relatively good relations with the wider Muslim community in Iran. The Iranian Jewish community does face some institutional discrimination, but we do not believe that the community faces systematic persecution. We continue to monitor the situation closely and officials in Tehran and London regularly meet representatives of the Jewish community to discuss the situation of Jewish people in Iran.

In December 2007 the UN General Assembly adopted a resolution about human rights in Iran. The resolution, co-sponsored by the UK and all other EU member states, acknowledged and expressed concern at the situation of religious and ethnic minorities in Iran. We will continue to make clear to the Iranian authorities that persecution of individuals on the grounds of their religious beliefs is unacceptable and contrary to Iran's international human rights obligations, and that the rights of Iran's religious minorities should be equal to those of all Iranian citizens. We continue to press the Iranian authorities to take seriously their international human rights obligations and uphold the right to freedom of religion and belief as described in article 18 of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (to which Iran is a state party).

Iran: Nuclear Power

Mr. Kilfoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what plans he has for discussions with the Iranian government on its nuclear programme. [235985]

Bill Rammell: There are no plans for discussions between the Government and the Iranian government on Iran's nuclear programme. But the UK is directly involved in the efforts by the E3+3 (UK, US, France, Germany, Russia and China) with the support of Dr Javier Solana, the EU High Representative for the Common Foreign and Security Policy, to persuade Iran to engage on this matter. Dr Solana recently wrote to the Iranian Chief Negotiator Mr Saeed Jalili to suggest that their deputies, Mr Robert Cooper and Mr Ali Bagheri, meet soon to clarify details of the offer that the E3+3 sent to Iran in June this year.

Iran: Prisoners

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent reports he has received on the treatment of imprisoned Jews in Iran; and if he will make a statement. [235694]

Bill Rammell: We have not received any specific reports pertaining to Jews in custody in Iran. We do, however, have concerns that torture and ill-treatment is common in many prisons and detention centres, facilitated by prolonged pre-charge detention and denial of access to lawyers and family. We continue to monitor the situation closely and raise any concerns about the treatment of prisoners with the Iranian authorities, both bilaterally and through the EU.

Morocco: Fisheries

Jeremy Corbyn: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what monitoring his Department is undertaking of the operation of the EU-Morocco Fisheries Agreement in respect of fish taken from the waters off the Western Sahara. [235123]

Bill Rammell: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office does not monitor the operation of fishing vessels. However, the Marine and Fisheries Agency monitors the movements of all UK-registered fishing vessels. Vessels fishing off the coast of Morocco and Western Sahara under the EU-Morocco Fisheries Agreement report their movements and catches to the Marine and Fisheries Agency. This information is then passed on to the European Commission, who collate the information from all EU member states.

Morocco: Western Sahara

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the answer of 6 October 2008, Official Report, column 228W, on Morocco: Western Sahara, if the Government will take steps to encourage the Government of Morocco to fulfil its obligations under international law to ensure that the indigenous people of the Western Sahara benefit from the extraction of phosphates. [235578]

Bill Rammell: The Government continue to encourage the Moroccan Government to ensure that, in line with international law, economic activities under administration, including the extraction and exportation of phosphates, do not adversely affect the interests of the people of Western Sahara. The Government will continue to stress this point when and where appropriate.

Panchen Lama

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent steps he has taken to establish the whereabouts and health of the Panchen Lama; and if he will press for his release. [235570]

Bill Rammell: We have raised the case of Gedhun Choekyi Nyima at the last seven meetings of the UK-China Human Rights Dialogue, most recently in January 2008. We have asked for information on his health and whereabouts; supported the recommendation by the UN Committee on the Rights of the Child that China should allow an independent expert to visit him; and have pressed for him to enjoy freedom of movement and the freedom to choose his own career. The Government were informed during the dialogue field trip to Tibet in January 2008 that the Panchen Lama was safe and well in his home town. We will continue to raise this case with the Chinese government.

Russia: Georgia

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment the Government has made of Russia's fulfilment of its obligations under the Medvedev-Sarkozy ceasefire plan of 12 August 2008; and if he will make a statement. [233101]

David Miliband: Under the terms of the EU and Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE) ceasefire, brokered between President Sarkozy and President Medvedev on 12 August, and a further agreement on 8 September, Russia agreed to a six point plan, which included a commitment to Russian forces withdrawing to their positions prior to the outbreak of hostilities. Russian troops have withdrawn from some areas, but are still present in the Akhalgori region of South Ossetia and the Kodori Gorge area of Abkhazia. Both of these areas had been under Georgian control before the war.

Therefore, although there has been substantial compliance with the agreements, it is still far from complete and we have called upon Russia to observe the agreements in full.

The ceasefire plan also included agreement talks on security and stability in South Ossetia and Abkhazia. The first round of these talks took place in Geneva on 15 October under EU chairmanship, with UN and OSCE participation. The next meeting is scheduled for 18 November.

Snatch Land Rovers

Ann Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what instructions his Department gave to its staff in (a) Iraq and (b) Afghanistan during 2005 on (i) the use of and (ii) travelling in Snatch Land Rovers; and when those instructions were issued. [235467]

Bill Rammell: It is Foreign and Commonwealth Office practice not to comment on provision of security to staff at its posts.

Sri Lanka: Humanitarian Aid

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations he has made to the Sri Lankan Government on its decision to instruct UN agencies and humanitarian non-governmental organisations to leave the Wanni district in September 2008; and if he will make a statement. [235662]

David Miliband: I refer the hon. Member to the answers given to the hon. Member for Berwickshire, Roxburgh and Selkirk (Mr. Moore) on 28 October 2008, Official Report, column 802W.

Our high commissioner to Sri Lanka continues to raise humanitarian issues at the highest levels of government and to press for increased humanitarian access for essential supplies such as food, medicine and materials for shelters.

Western Sahara: Referendums

Jeremy Corbyn: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions he has held with the UN on the proposed referendum of the Saharawi people on the future status of the Western Sahara. [235125]

Bill Rammell: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has not discussed the question of Western Sahara with the UN Secretary General, but our officials in New York are in regular contact with UN officials. We will continue, through my meetings and those of my officials to discuss this issue with all interested parties.

The UK Permanent Representative to the UN, met the Head of the Polisario, Mr. Mohammed Abdel Aziz on 3 November and discussed a wide range of issues, including the ongoing negotiations under UN auspices.

Zimbabwe: Politics and Government

Mr. Gregory Campbell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent representations have been made to the government of Zimbabwe on the treatment of Morgan Tsvangirai by the section of the Zimbabwean government represented by Robert Mugabe. [232826]

Gillian Merron: On 13 October, EU Foreign Ministers condemned the unilateral decision by Robert Mugabe to embark on the formation of a new government without the agreement of the other parties to the 15 September agreement. Following the South African Development Community Troika meeting on 27 October, the UN Secretary-General said that he hoped Mr. Mugabe would no longer disappoint the international community. He also encouraged African leaders to take decisive action to end the stalemate.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Children: Maintenance

Rosie Cooper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions when the hon. Member for West Lancashire's constituent Ms Helen L. Dunham will (a) be sent any backdated monies from the Child Support Agency and (b) have her manual child maintenance payments resumed. [228498]

Kitty Ussher [holding answer 21 October 2008]: The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission is responsible for the child maintenance system. I have therefore asked the Commissioner to write to the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Commissioner for Child Maintenance.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions when the hon. Member for West Lancashire's constituent Ms Helen L. Dunham will (a) be sent any backdated monies from the Child Support Agency and (b) have her manual child maintenance payments resumed. [228498]

As details about individual cases are confidential, I have written to you separately about this case.

Incapacity Benefit

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions if he will make an assessment of the role of part-time working in facilitating return to work for incapacity benefit claimants in the principal seaside towns in England and Wales; and if he will make a statement. [235531]

Jonathan Shaw: We recognise the importance of part-time working in encouraging incapacity benefits claimants to return to work. The Permitted Work rules allow incapacity benefits customers to try out part-time work as a stepping-stone to moving off benefit and into work. We have made the rules more generous in the employment and support allowance.

We keep the Permitted Work rules under review, looking for more flexible ways of helping people take up opportunities and increase their options. We have no plans to carry out a specific assessment of seaside towns.

New Deal for 50 Plus

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much the New Deal 50 Plus programme cost to maintain in 2006-07. [231839]

Mr. McNulty: The information is in the Jobcentre Plus Annual Report and Accounts 2006-07, a copy of which is in the Library.

Pension Credit: Enfield

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many residents of Enfield, North constituency have applied for pension credits since the establishment of the pension credit scheme. [233893]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Information on the number of applications for pension credit is not available at the level of constituency. The following table contains the number of households in receipt and individual beneficiaries of pension credit in Enfield, North constituency.

Number of household recipients and individual beneficiaries of pension credit in Enfield, North, 2003-08

| | Household recipients | Individual beneficiaries |
|---|---|---|
| November 2003 | 3,240 | 3,930 |

2. Figures for May 2002 to February 2008 are rounded to the nearest 10. Some additional disclosure control has been applied.
3. There is no geographical information until November 1999.
4. For more recent years data exist for both benefit claimed by pensioners and for the pensioners client group from both sample and 100 per cent. data. Figures produced from sample data may differ from those produced from 100 per cent. data due to sample variation. A table of expected variation can be found here http://www.dwp.gov.uk/asd/asd1/state_pension/rp302.pdf (table A1).
An additional source of variation is that the WPLS data takes more account of retrospection (ie late changes to the data). The WPLS data are the preferred source to answer queries, however in cases where the required information is unavailable on WPLS data then sample data are used.

Pensioners: Poverty

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many pensioner households were in poverty in Enfield North constituency in each year since 1997. [235414]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Poverty is a complex and multidimensional issue and, as such, there are many possible measures of poverty.

Our public service agreement "Tackle poverty and promote greater independence and wellbeing in later life" includes a range of indicators related to low income for pensioners. These are relative low income (below 50 and 60 per cent. contemporary median household income), and absolute low income (below 60 per cent. of 1998-99 median income uprated in line with prices), all measured after housing costs have been taken into account.

The data source does not allow us to provide robust numbers for estimates below the level of Government office region. Information for London on the numbers of pensioners below each of these thresholds is given in the following table.

Number of pensioners falling below various thresholds of median household income, after housing costs, London

Million

Pensioners: Social Security Benefits

John Mason: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what steps the Government are taking to simplify the process for pensioners to claim benefits to which they are entitled. [225281]

Ms Rosie Winterton: We have simplified the claim process to make pension credit easier to claim. Customers no longer need to sign and return their pension credit claim forms, claims can be made entirely over the phone.

This autumn, we are introducing a measure which will enable claims to housing benefit and council tax benefit made over the phone with pension credit, to be forwarded directly to the local authority without the need for a signature—this is a significant simplification to the claim process and should benefit thousands of pensioners.

In February 2007, an additional question was introduced in the pension credit application process to identify relevant caring responsibilities in order to invite the customer, where appropriate, to claim carer's allowance using a new, shortened, claim pack specifically designed for people of pension age.

Pensions: Overseas Residence

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the cost of up-rating the frozen pensions for retired UK nationals resident abroad who have reached the ages of (a) 70, (b) 75 and (c) 80 years. [235305]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The latest estimates for the cost of uprating the UK state pension for all those in the relevant age groups living in frozen-rate countries are in the following table. They relate to the estimated additional cost that would be incurred in 2008-09 were frozen pensions to be uprated to their unfrozen level but without paying arrears.

2008-09 price terms

| Age | £ million |

Pensions: Payments

Mr. Flello: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions whether he has instructed the Pension Service to write to giro cheque pension recipients telling them that this payment process is to end and that they should seek alternative arrangements; and if he will issue guidance to the Pension Service on future communications to such recipients. [235722]

Ms Rosie Winterton: My Department has been writing to customers paid by DWP cheque since 2005.

We are contacting customers who are currently being paid by cheque so that we can try and arrange to pay their benefit or pension into an account. This is not new, and is all part of the process of modernising the way benefits and pensions are paid. In fact, we have contacted many customers paid by cheque since we phased out order books in 2005. We are also informing customers that we plan to phase out the current cheque system so that we can pay customers in a more secure, efficient and reliable way.

We have always said that each customer's benefit or pension should be paid into an account if this is possible. This is the most efficient, secure and reliable way of making payments. It can also mean that customers can take advantage of the benefits of banking, such as more choice about where and when they collect their money and the discounts offered when they pay some bills by direct debit.

The letters currently being sent to cheque customers were agreed by Ministers.

Post Office Card Account

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) how many people in (a) Kingston and Surbiton constituency and (b) the Royal Borough of Kingston have a Post Office Card Account, broken down by local authority ward; [235683]

(2) how many benefit and pension accounts are paid into a Post Office Card Account in (a) Kingston and Surbiton constituency, (b) the Royal Borough of Kingston and (c) each local authority ward in the Royal Borough of Kingston; and what estimate he has made of the number of claimants in each such area who have more than one account. [235684]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Information is not available in the precise format requested.

The table shows the number of benefit and pension accounts paid into a Post Office card account in (a) Kingston and Surbiton constituency and (b) the Royal borough of Kingston and (c) each council ward in the Royal borough of Kingston.

Claimants can only have one Post Office card account but can have more than one benefit paid into that account.

| | All | Other benefit | State pension |
|---|---|---|---|
| Kingston and Surbiton constituency | 3,160 | 1,710 | 1,450 |

Notes:
1. Figures are rounded to the nearest 10 therefore may not add up due to rounding.
2. Figures refer to payment accounts live and in payment as at 12 April 2008. Claimants with more than one account will be counted for each account.
3. Child benefit is administered by HM Revenue and Customs and war pensions are administered by MOD. These benefits have therefore been excluded.

Poverty: Pensioners

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many pensioners were living in poverty in Vale of Clwyd constituency in each of the last 16 years. [234500]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Poverty is a complex and multidimensional issue and, as such, there are many possible measures of poverty.

Our public service agreement, 'Tackle Poverty and Promote Greater Independence and Wellbeing in Later Life', includes a range of indicators related to low income for pensioners. These are relative low income (below 50 and 60 per cent. contemporary median household income), and absolute low income (below 60 per cent. of 1998-99 median income uprated in line with prices), all measured after housing costs have been taken into account.

The data source does not allow us to provide robust numbers for estimates below the level of Government office region. The information that is available for the numbers of pensioners in Wales below each of these thresholds is given in the following table:

Social Security Benefits

John Barrett: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) what recent steps his Department has taken to encourage the take-up of (a) carer's allowance, (b) pension credit, (c) housing benefit and (d) council tax benefit; [232205]

(2) what steps his Department is taking to achieve a higher level of overall benefits take-up; [232206]

(3) what steps his Department is taking to achieve a higher level of benefits take-up amongst pensioners. [232207]

Ms Rosie Winterton [holding answer 3 November 2008]: Addressing pensioner poverty has been one of the Government's key priorities since 1997. The number of pensioners on relative low incomes has fallen from 2.9 million in 1998-99 to 2.1 million in 2006-07 (measured as below the threshold of 60 per cent. of contemporary median income after housing costs).

Maximising the take-up of benefits is crucial to tackling poverty levels. Since pension credit was introduced in 2003 the number of pensioners on relative low incomes has fallen by around 500,000.

We are making every effort to ensure that people are aware of and claim their entitlement.

The pension credit claim process has been simplified to make it easier to claim. Customers no longer need to sign and return their pension credit claim forms, claims can be made entirely over the phone.

A simplified process has been introduced which will enable claims to housing benefit and council tax benefit made over the phone with pension credit, to be forwarded directly to the local authority without the need for a signature—this is a significant improvement to the claim process and should benefit thousands of pensioners.

In February 2007, an additional question was introduced in the pension credit application process to identify relevant caring responsibilities in order to invite the customer, where appropriate, to claim carer's allowance using a new, shortened, claim pack specifically designed for people of pension age.

The Pension, Disability and Carers Service have Joint Working Partnerships, live or at the implementation stage, with all 203 primary tier local authorities in England, Scotland and Wales. These partnerships enable the Pension Disability and Carers Service, local authorities and the voluntary sector to provide a single point of access to social care and benefit entitlement.

The Pension, Disability and Carers Service continues to promote the take-up of all pensioner benefits, entitlements and services through a range of marketing activities. Campaign activity in 2008-09 to promote the take-up of pension credit has utilised direct mail, local partnership activity and regional radio, press and outdoor advertising. In order to reach our key audiences more directly we are planning a series of targeted regional campaigns. The activity will promote the take-up of the full range of pensioner benefits and entitlements, focusing on relevant lead messages for the target audiences. DWP are also working closely with other Government Departments to promote campaigns, such as Keep Warm Keep Well and Act On $CO_2$ to promote ways pensioners can save money on fuel bills and apply for grants to assist in energy efficiency measures.

More widely the Department for Work and Pensions and all its agencies work hard to ensure that a suitable range of information and advice is available on all the benefits it administers (including carer's allowance, pension credit, housing benefit and council tax benefit). The agencies, such as the Pension, Disability and Carers Service, also work closely with external stakeholders, to continuously improve their communication material.

Social Security Benefits: Pensioners

Mr. Gale: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate his Department has made of the monetary value of benefits that have not been claimed by pensioners as a result of the introduction of the three month backdating limit on 6 October 2008. [234072]

Ms Rosie Winterton [holding answer 10 November 2008]: The information requested is not available.

State Retirement Pensions

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many individuals deferred their state pension to the age of 70 years in each of the last 10 years. [231826]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The information requested is not available. Information on the number of people who first received a deferral reward from age 70 is in the table. Figures for 1999 are not available.

| 12 months to March each year | Number of customers |
|---|---|
| 2008 | 800 |
| 2007 | 900 |
| 2006 | 1,000 |
| 2005 | 800 |
| 2004 | 1,100 |
| 2003 | 600 |
| 2002 | 700 |
| 2001 | 1,200 |
| 2000[1] | 800 |

[1] Figures for 2000 are for six months to March only

Notes:

1. Numbers are rounded to the nearest 100.
2. Numbers are based on a 5 per cent. sample rated in line with the Work and Pensions Longitudinal Study (WPLS) total case load, and are therefore subject to a degree of sampling variation.
3. New rules for deferral came into effect in April 2005 and lump payments became available from April 2006. These data were not available on the datasets until September 2006. A person who deferred their state pension before April 2005 would qualify for increments for the period up to April 2005 and may have a choice of either a lump sum payment or an increment for the period of deferral from April 2005. This means some people may have both an increment and a lump sum payment.
4. The number receiving a 'deferral reward' is the number of people with a lump sum or increments for the latest data and the number of people with increments for the data prior to September 2006.
5. Data regarding increments prior to September 1999 are not sufficiently robust to be released.
6. Age 70 is defined as people who were aged 70 at the point when they first appear on the IFD scan.

HOUSE OF COMMONS COMMISSION

Cromwell Green Entrance

Mr. Evans: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission what assessment the Commission has made of the effects of the new visitors reception and security entrance at Cromwell Green on the number of hon. Member-sponsored tours of the House. [235507]

Nick Harvey: The Cromwell Green Entrance opened as the main public entrance to Parliament on 21 April 2008.

In the six months April to September 2008, there were 65,978 visitors on Member-sponsored tours of the Palace of Westminster. In the equivalent six months in 2007, there were 67,358; and in the same period in 2006 there were 63,919.

The number of hon. Member-sponsored tours is adjusted up or down from time to time by the visitor services team in the light of experience. The most recent adjustment was a reduction in May for new bookings, when the morning maximum was reduced to ensure visitors could be securely accommodated without major overcrowding or delays.

The Commission has not conducted any assessment of the effects of the new visitor reception arrangements on the number of tours sponsored by hon. Members. The parliamentary visitor board (comprising senior officials in both Houses) is conducting a review of visitor handling, to include the operation of the new entrance. This will be taken to the relevant committees in each House in the new year.

Meat

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission what the countries of origin have been of (a) beef, (b) chicken, (c) bacon, (d) sausages, (e) pork and (f) lamb procured by the Department of facilities and its predecessor in the last three years. [237158]

Nick Harvey: The House of Commons catering service does not maintain a record of the country of origin of foods purchased and so it is not possible to confirm the provenance of meat and poultry supplies in each of the last three years.

Since October 2007, butchery suppliers have periodically been required to confirm the country of origin of meats and poultry they have supplied to the House of Commons. Based on the information provided, it is estimated that in 2007 (a) all beef supplied was UK reared except a small quantity of Halal beef sourced from the Republic of Ireland; (b) 97 per cent. of poultry was UK reared, with the balance being specific products sourced from France; (c), (d) and (e) all bacon, sausages and pork was from UK reared pigs; and (f) all lamb was UK reared.

The House authorities believe that the provenance of meat and poultry supplies was similar in previous years.

Parliamentary Tours

Mr. Evans: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission how much income has been generated from visitors to the House during the summer openings in each of the last three years; and what the cost to the House was of operating summer opening in each year. [235508]

Nick Harvey: The summer opening programme continues to run as a cost-neutral (self-financing) operation, the strategy being to break even over a three-year period. The current three-year period, for this purpose, is 2007-09. Figures relating to the last three years are as follows:

| Summer of | Income | Cost |
|---|---|---|
| | £ | £ |
| 2006 | 412,419 | 597,950 |
| 2007 | 744,448 | 677,870 |
| 2008[1] | 731,082 | 758,909 |

[1] 2008 figures still subject to final adjustments.

These figures relate to both Houses' shares. The Commons' share of costs and income is 70 per cent.

Mr. Evans: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission what the average hourly pay rates are for (a) Blue Badge Guides employed during the summer openings and (b) guides employed directly by the House; and what the reasons are for any differences. [235509]

Nick Harvey: During the summer opening programme, professionally qualified Blue Badge Guides are employed to conduct tours of the Palace of Westminster. Half-day and full-day rates are calculated on the basis of nationally agreed Blue Badge rates. A qualified London Blue Badge Guide delivering a standard parliamentary tour in English would earn £38.30 per hour; in foreign languages £43.30. The cost of the Blue Badge Guides is covered by the ticket price.

For Member-sponsored tours when Parliament is sitting, the current policy is that guides are drawn primarily from serving or retired House staff and that Parliament should bear the expense of the tours. The current rate for in-house guides is £22.70 per hour.

The difference in pay reflects the higher level and formal nature of the training and qualification of Blue Badge Guides. The higher level of training includes the mechanics of guiding and detailed knowledge of London as a whole (which fits in with the requirements of summer opening visitors), as well as an independent parliamentary qualification.

JUSTICE

Cemeteries

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what research his Department has undertaken into (a) the management of burial grounds and (b) memorial safety in the last three years. [236502]

Bridget Prentice: In January 2004, a report on research into cemeteries and their management was published by the Home Office. Following the transfer of responsibility for burial law we published the results of a survey of English and Welsh burial grounds in June 2007. This can be found on the Department's website at:

www.justice.gov.uk/whatwedo/burialgrounds050607.htm

We have not conducted research into memorial safety, but have discussed with stakeholders how best to assess and deal with the risks associated with unstable gravestones. We are now arranging for the publication of appropriate guidance.

Children: Protection

Mr. Timpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) how many people convicted of causing or allowing the death of a child or vulnerable adult since 2005 received (a) a custodial sentence of less than 12 months, (b) a custodial sentence of more than 12 months but less than four years, (c) a custodial sentence of four years of more, (d) an indeterminate sentence for public protection, (e) a suspended sentence, (f) a community sentence and (g) a conditional discharge; [237309]

(2) how many (a) prosecutions and (b) convictions there have been for the offence of causing or allowing the death of a child or vulnerable adult under section 5 of the Domestic Violence, Crime and Victims Act 2004. [237310]

Maria Eagle: The requested information is contained in the following tables.

2006 is the latest year for which annually published statistics are available.

Data for 2007 will be published on 27 November.

Number of persons proceeded against and number sentenced[1] for the offence of causing or allowing the death of a child or vulnerable person by result and sentence length, all courts, England and Wales, 2005 and 2006

Commonhold

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 5 November 2008, Official Report, column 626W, on the Land Registry, what assessment he has made of the reasons for the level of take-up of commonhold in residential dwellings since 2002. [236148]

Bridget Prentice: The commonhold legislation came into force on 27 September 2004, creating a voluntary alternative to long leasehold ownership for flats and other similar premises. In view of the low take-up, my noble friend, Lord Hunt of Kings Heath, announced that the Government intended to consult with key parties to see what could be done to improve it on 26 July 2007, Official Report, column 908. As I said in my reply on 28 October 2008, Official Report, column 851W, to the hon. Member for Peterborough (Mr. Jackson), we are reviewing our plans for the publication of a consultation document in the light of other priorities and I will make a statement when a decision has been made.

Conveyancing: Internet

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what role the Valuation Office Agency is playing in the Land Registry's development of e-conveyancing. [236079]

Mr. Wills: The Valuation Office Agency are not involved in the development of e-conveyancing but the two organisations keep in regular contact.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the latest timetable for the implementation of electronic conveyancing is; and how much his Department has allocated to support the scheme over each of the next three years. [236174]

Mr. Wills: The latest revision of Land Registry's business case for the Electronic Conveyancing Programme estimates that the programme of work will be fully implemented in 2014-15. The Ministry of Justice gives no financial support to the programme which will be financed in full by Land Registry who estimate total costs will be in the range of £270 to £310 million.

Court of Protection

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many cases held in the Court of Protection have been reported since it became a Court of Record in October 2008; and how the public are able to obtain information on the decisions of the court. [236537]

Bridget Prentice: Under the Court of Protection Rules 2007, the general position is that hearings before the court will be held in private, but the court may decide that all or part of the hearing should be held in public. The court may also authorise the publication of a text or summary of a judgment or order made by the court. The court can authorise the publication of information on its own initiative or on an application made by one of the parties to proceedings. Since 1 October 2007, the court has not held any hearings in public and nor has it authorised the publication of any information about proceedings held in private. For any future cases, where the judge authorises publication of information, details of the order or judgement will be published on the Office of Public Guardian website.

Court Orders

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many charging orders have been issued in each court area in each of the last five years. [236176]

Bridget Prentice: The following table shows the numbers of charging orders made in each county court and HM courts service area in each of the last five years.

Number of charging orders by HMCS region and county court in England and Wales 2003-07

| Region | Court name | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 | 2007 |

Marriage

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice pursuant to the answer of 4 November 2008, Official Report, columns 315-17W, on marriage, (1) how many orders under section 55 of the Family Law Act 1986 in relation to the validity of marriages were (a) granted and (b) denied in each of the last five years; [235877]

(2) how many orders for judicial separation under section 55 of the Family Law Act 1986 were (a) granted and (b) denied in each of the last five years. [235878]

Mr. Straw: The courts do not record how many applications under section 55 of the Family Law Act 1986 are received, nor do they record the outcome of these cases. Anecdotal evidence from courts suggests that there are very few.

There are no provisions for judicial separation under the Family Law Act 1986. The provisions for judicial separation can be found within the Matrimonial Causes Act 1973. There were 3,388 applications made for judicial separation during the five-year period 2003-07. Records show that for the same five-year period 1,953 decrees of judicial separation were pronounced (the following table sets out the number of cases per year). The courts do not keep records of the number of applications which were denied. For comparison 778,575 applications for divorce were received for the same period.

Not all applications for judicial separation result in a final order as many parties choose not to pursue the case. This is not always because the parties have reconciled. The law prohibits divorce during the first year of marriage and some applications for judicial separation issued during the first year of marriage are withdrawn on the first anniversary of the marriage, before a decree is granted, and a petition for divorce then is issued.

Pleural Plaques

Mr. Hepburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice when he expects to publish the Government's response to the consultation paper on pleural plaques; and if he will make a statement. [236535]

Bridget Prentice: The Government's consultation on pleural plaques closed on 1 October, and the responses are currently being analysed. We will seek to publish a response paper outlining the way forward as soon as possible.

Prison Service: Disciplinary Proceedings

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many prison officers were (a) suspended and (b) dismissed in each year since 1997. [235956]

Mr. Hanson: Information about the numbers of public sector Prison Service employees of any grade suspended from duty in each year since 1997 is not held centrally, and could be provided only at disproportionate cost by contacting 138 establishments across England and Wales.

Information about prison officer suspensions in the contracted prison estate 2003[1] to 31 October 2008 are set out in the following table.

[1] The Office for National Commissioning (formerly Office for Contracted Prisons) was not in operation before 2003. Prison officer includes: prison custody officer and senior officer for the contracted estate.

| | Suspensions |
|---|---|
| 2003 | 15 |
| 2004 | 30 |
| 2005 | 34 |
| 2006 | 48 |
| 2007 | 51 |
| 2008 | 75 |

Prison officer dismissals in the public sector Prison Service and the contracted prison estate 1998[1] to 31 October 2008 set out in the following table.

[1] No dismissals data are available for 1997 as the public sector Prison Service personnel recording system was not established until 1998.

| | Dismissals |
|---|---|
| 1998 | 21 |
| 1999 | 29 |
| 2000 | 72 |
| 2001 | 109 |
| 2002 | 141 |
| 2003 | 229 |
| 2004 | 200 |
| 2005 | 237 |
| 2006 | 225 |
| 2007 | 266 |
| 2008 | 176 |

The information includes dismissals for: inefficiency, conduct and performance reasons. Prison officer includes: prison officer, senior officer, and principal officer for the public sector prisons; and prison custody officer and senior officer for the contracted estate.

The number of dismissals increased significantly in 2003 due to a greater number of medical inefficiency dismissals as a result of more robust management of sickness absence in the public sector Prison Service from that time. In addition to this, the Office for National Commissioning (formerly Office for Contracted Prisons) began operating in 2003 and therefore data for contracted prisons are included from this date.

Prisoners: Drugs

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many (a) male and (b) female prisoners were treated for drug addiction in each year since 1997. [235952]

Mr. Hanson: Information about drug treatment programmes in prison was not collated centrally until 2001-02. The following table shows details from that year onwards.

| | 2001-02 | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Drug treatment programmes | | | | | | | |
| Starts male | 4,362 | 3,978 | 4,188 | 7,130 | 10,166 | 10,383 | 10,514 |
| Starts female[1] | 329 | 408 | 515 | 479 | 577 | 767 | 805 |
| Total | 4,691 | 4,386 | 4,703 | 7,609 | 10,743 | 11,150 | 11,319 |
| CARATs | | | | | | | |
| SMTAs[2] male | 36,031 | 49,576 | 48,876 | 53,262 | 59,118 | 58,386 | 58,828 |
| SMTAs female[1] | 3,307 | 4,320 | 5,249 | 5,763 | 6,893 | 7,287 | 6,995 |
| Total | 39,338 | 51,896 | 54,125 | 59,025 | 66,011 | 65,673 | 65,823 |
| Clinical treatment[3] | | | | | | | |

| Female | n/a | n/a | n/a | 8,592 | n/a | n/a | n/a |
| Total | 41,765 | 50,701 | 57,891 | 53,903 | 53,773 | 51,520 | 58,809 |

[1] The system for recording these figures is unable to distinguish gender other than by the type of establishment where the information is recorded. Some establishments may have been subject to re-role mid-year and some interventions may have been delivered on mixed sites. Therefore the gender split is a good approximation but will be subject to some inaccuracies.
[2] Substance Misuse Triage Assessments.
[3] Detoxification or maintenance prescriptions.
[4] 2004-05 is the only year that complete central data were collected on the number of female prisoners undergoing clinical treatment. This was carried out by survey.

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many (a) male and (b) female prisoners tested positive for drugs in each year since 1997. [235958]

Mr. Hanson: Prisoners are subject to mandatory, voluntary and clinical drug tests. The number of positive tests for drugs under the mandatory drug testing programme is given in the following table. Voluntary and clinical drug test results are not held centrally and could be obtained by surveying 138 establishments, which would only be at disproportionate cost.

All data in this answer have been drawn from an administrative data system. Although care is taken when processing and analysing the returns, the detail collected is subject to the inaccuracies inherent in any large scale recording system. The data are not subject to audit.

| | (a) Number of male prisoners testing positive | (b) Number of female prisoners testing positive |
|---|---|---|
| 1997-98 | 19,637 | 596 |
| 1998-99 | 18,420 | 600 |
| 1999-2000 | 17,098 | 780 |
| 2000-01 | 15,990 | 812 |
| 2001-02 | 13,689 | 681 |
| 2002-03 | 12,304 | 578 |
| 2003-04 | 13,959 | 685 |
| 2004-05 | 14,274 | 813 |
| 2005-06 | 13,819 | 891 |
| 2006-07 | 12,342 | 930 |
| 2007-08 | 13,291 | 687 |

Prisons: Childbirth

Sandra Osborne: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many women have given birth while serving a prison sentence in England in each of the last five years. [235686]

Mr. Hanson: The numbers of prisoners who have given birth while serving their custodial sentence since April 2005, when the Prison Service began collecting figures centrally, are as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| April 2008-October 2008 | 56 |
| April 2007-March 2008 | 102 |
| April 2006-March 2007 | 99 |
| April 2005-March 2006 | 106 |

The Government are seeking to encourage greater use of community sentences for women offenders where possible. Where a custodial sentence has been given, specific provision is made for those women who are pregnant or have babies with them in prison.

Prisons: Death

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many (a) suicides, (b) deaths from natural causes and (c) suspicious deaths there were in prisons in each year since 1997. [235955]

Mr. Malik: The National Offender Management Service's system for classifying deaths in prison custody consists of four categories indicating the apparent cause of death. These are 'self-inflicted', 'natural causes', 'homicide' and 'other non-natural'. There is no specific category of 'suspicious deaths'. The deaths in prison custody since 1997 to 13 November 2007 have been classified as follows:

| | Homicide | Natural causes | Other non-natural | Self-inflicted | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1997 | 2 | 48 | 1 | 68 | 119 |
| 1998 | 4 | 46 | 1 | 83 | 134 |
| 1999 | 0 | 58 | 0 | 91 | 149 |
| 2000 | 3 | 62 | 1 | 81 | 147 |
| 2001 | 0 | 68 | 1 | 73 | 142 |
| 2002 | 0 | 66 | 3 | 95 | 164 |
| 2003 | 1 | 86 | 2 | 94 | 183 |
| 2004 | 2 | 102 | 9 | 95 | 208 |
| 2005 | 3 | 88 | 5 | 78 | 174 |
| 2006 | 0 | 83 | 3 | 67 | 153 |
| 2007 | 2 | 90 | 0 | 92 | 184 |
| 2008 (year to date) | 3 | 80 | 2 | 51 | 136 |

There is also one further death in 2008 which remains unclassified. As inquests can take several years to be completed, all classifications are considered as provisional. Historical numbers can change slightly when new information is received.

Small Claims: Internet

Mr. Leech: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many small claims for matters relating to the trade of counterfeit goods over the internet were reported in 2007. [235830]

Bridget Prentice: There were approximately 1.2 million small claims issued in the county courts of England and Wales in 2007. However, figures relating solely to small claims about the trade of counterfeit goods over the internet are not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

TREASURY

Bank Services

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what steps are being taken to prevent future instances of home state deposit guarantee schemes being unable to cover the savings of UK depositors. [231016]

Ian Pearson: The European Deposit Guarantee Schemes Directive (94/19/EC) sets the minimum level of compensation to retail depositors in credit institutions in the event of the failure of a deposit taker. The directive is in the course of being updated to increase the minimum level of coverage, reduce the payout delay and introduce 100 per cent. coverage of eligible deposits.

Banking Supervision

Mr. Andrew Turner: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will make a statement on the extent and scope of his responsibilities and accountability to Parliament in relation to the activity of the arms-length bodies managing the stakes taken by the Government in (a) the Royal Bank of Scotland, (b) Halifax/Bank of Scotland, (c) Lloyds TSB Bank and (d) Northern

Rock; what guidance has been offered in each case in responding to correspondence from hon. Members; and on what matters he will (i) answer questions and (ii) refer such questions to the executive bodies of each institution. [228296]

Ian Pearson: As part of the recapitalisation scheme announced on 8 October, it is intended that new non-executive directors will be appointed to the boards of each of RBS and the merged Lloyds TSB/HBOS. These will be independent non-executive directors appointed by the board of each bank. UK Financial Investments, the company which will manage the Treasury's shareholding, will work with those boards to ensure the individuals have appropriate commercial experience. The purpose behind their appointment is to strengthen the board of each bank and to provide independent oversight in respect of governance and other matters in the interests of all the shareholders of each bank.

Annual reports on UKFI's performance will be laid before Parliament, and the chair and chief executive will make themselves available for scrutiny by the relevant parliamentary committees.

Northern Rock (in common with all institutions in which UKFI has a stake) will continue to have its own independent board and management team, determining its own strategy.

Christmas

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much (a) his Department and (b) its agencies have spent on Christmas (a) cards, (b) parties and (c) decorations in the last 12 months. [237495]

Angela Eagle: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave him on 21 April 2008, Official Report, columns 1668-69W.

Departmental Telephone Services

Andrew George: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what guidance his Department has issued to staff responsible for handling calls from the public in respect of (a) accuracy of responses, (b) the cost to the caller, (c) the duration of calls, (d) customer satisfaction, (e) access to accurate records, (f) confidentiality, (g) access to staff capable of making executive decisions and (h) fulfilling undertakings to call a customer back; and what targets have been set for (i) each of the above categories and (ii) any other performance measures. [237088]

Angela Eagle: All Treasury officials are expected to comply with the provisions of the Civil Service Code and to deal with members of the public and their affairs fairly, efficiently, promptly, effectively and sensitively.

Hotels

Mr. Heald: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much his Department spent on hotel bills in 2007-08. [237148]

Angela Eagle: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 27 October 2008, Official Report, column 780W to the hon. Member for Upper Bann (David Simpson).

Housing: Valuation

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) pursuant to the Answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Bromley and Chislehurst (Robert Neill) of 18 June 2008, Official Report, column 988W, on housing: valuation, if he will place in the Library a copy of the maps and boundaries of each locality within the billing authority of Bromley. [235868]

(2) pursuant to the Answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) of 22 July 2008, Official Report, column 1393W, on housing: valuation, for what reason the numerical co-efficient values used by the Valuation Office Agency are commercially confidential. [235875]

Mr. Timms: Valuation Office Agency (VOA) provides valuation services in competition with other providers. Publication of this information would weaken the competitive position of VOA.

Kaupthing Singer and Friedland

Mr. MacNeil: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what consideration he gave to the partial or complete taking into public ownership of the UK operations of Kaupthing Singer and Friedlander. [230732]

Ian Pearson: On 8 October acting on the advice of the bank and FSA, the Chancellor acted to protect the retail depositors in Kaupthing Singer and Friedlander, a UK-based banking subsidiary of Kaupthing Bank.

The Treasury used the Banking (Special Provisions) Act 2008 to ensure a resolution that preserves financial stability and provides protection and continuity of business for depositors. KSF's Kaupthing Edge deposit business was transferred to ING Direct, a wholly-owned subsidiary of ING Group, which operates through its branch in the UK. The remainder of Kaupthing Singer and Friedlander business was put into administration.

Any retail depositors eligible to claim under the Financial Services Compensation Scheme whose business has not been transferred to ING Direct will be paid out in full through the Financial Services Compensation Scheme.

This was the right course of action to protect savers, ensure financial stability, and safeguard the interests of the taxpayer.

Members: Correspondence

Ann Winterton: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he plans to reply to the letter of 19 September 2008 from the hon. Member for Congleton on behalf of her constituent Mr. Robert Arian. [236241]

Ian Pearson: I understand the Financial Services Secretary has now replied to the hon. Lady.

NHS: Consultants

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer with reference to the recent analysis of consultants' NHS and private incomes funded by the Department of Health, on what occasions in the last five years access to (a) anonymised, (b) pseudo-anonymised and (c) non-anonymised data from tax returns has been granted to (i) non-HM Revenue and Customs personnel and (ii) non-Civil Service personnel; and how many tax returns have been used in this way. [231976]

Mr. Timms: In the last five years, HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) has conducted sample surveys into consultants' earnings on behalf of Department of Health for the tax years 2001-02, 2002-03, 2003-04 and 2004-05, using data derived from HMRC records. HMRC has not released any data from this work to non-HM Revenue and Customs personnel in either pseudo-anonymised or non-anonymised form. Only anonymised outputs were released to Department of Health or to The NHS Information Centre for health and social care. The number of tax records used in each study is as follows:

| Income tax year | Count of tax records |
|---|---|
| 2001-02 | 1,554 |
| 2002-03 | 21,864 |
| 2003-04 | 24,407 |
| 2004-05 | 22,814 |

In addition, at the request of Department of Health for 2003-04 only, HMRC created an anonymised statistical dataset relating to consultants' earnings. It contained only the data items for 24,407 cases that were necessary to enable an academic researcher acting on behalf of Department of Health to undertake statistical analysis. The researcher was only allowed supervised access to this one anonymised, statistical dataset on HMRC premises, in a stand alone, secure environment.

Performance Appraisal

David Simpson: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many staff in his Department did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235210]

Angela Eagle: During the reporting year 2007-08:

41 (6 per cent.) staff below SCS received a tranche 3 appraisal marking described as

"Some significant shortcomings over the performance year that need to be addressed or are being addressed, expected overall to be around 5 to 10% of people across the Treasury."

5 (7 per cent.) staff in the SCS received a group 4 marking described as

"Bottom 5-10% of performers—do not receive a bonus and have action taken to address under performance or ongoing poor performance, including the drawing up of a Performance Improvement Plan."

Public Sector: Procurement

Mr. Kidney: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will incorporate British Standards Institution Standard BS ISO 15686-5 on Standardized Method of Life Cycle Costing for Construction Procurement into public sector procurement of new buildings. [236828]

Angela Eagle: Government welcome the development of the Standardized Method of Life Cycle Costing for Construction Procurement. Officials from both the Office of Government Commerce and Defence Estates have also been involved with BSI and others in the development of this work.

Government policy, set out in the HM Treasury Green Book: "Appraisals and Evaluation in Central Government" already requires investment decisions to be made on the basis of value for money over the whole-life of the asset or service.

As the construction industry moves to adopt the standardised approach then that will help all sectors, including Government, to ensure that decision-making is appropriately informed.

Tax Credit: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he has made of the number of children in Crosby constituency who have been taken out of poverty by tax credits. [236681]

Mr. Timms: Tax credits play a key role in making work pay and reducing poverty, and have helped to lift 600,000 children out of relative poverty since 1998-99.

Child poverty statistics are not available on a constituency basis, however, estimates of the number of recipient families with tax credits, including the number of children in these families, by constituency, as at 5 April 2008, are available in the HMRC snapshot publication "Child and Working Tax Credits Statistics Geographical Analyses April 2008". This is available on the HMRC website at:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/stats/personal-tax-credits/cwtc-geog-stats.htm

This shows that 9,700 children in Crosby were benefiting from tax credits in April 2008, though it is not known how many of these have been lifted above the poverty line as a result.

UK Financial Investments

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what arrangements he has made for the accountability to Parliament of his Department's arms-length company, UK Financial Investments Limited (UKFI); from what budget UKFI will be funded; and what salary will be paid to (a) the chairperson, (b) the chief executive and (c) each of the non-executive board members. [234604]

Ian Pearson: Annual reports on UKFI's performance will be laid before Parliament and the chair and chief executive will make themselves available for scrutiny by the relevant parliamentary committees.

UKFI will be funded by HM Treasury which will in due course determine the remuneration packages of the chair, chief executive and non-executive board members.

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will appoint non-executive directors from (a) banking trades' unions, (b) relevant non-governmental organisations and (c) elected politicians as non-executive directors to the board of UK Financial Investments Ltd. [236231]

Ian Pearson: The Chancellor's letter of 3 November 2008 to the Chairman of the Treasury Committee announced the appointment of Sir Philip Hampton as Chair of UK Financial Investments Ltd (UKFI). Three further non-executive directors will be recruited to the Board of UKFI on the basis of appropriate commercial skill and experience through a process of fair and open competition.

Valuation Office: Information and Communications Technology

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will place in the Library a copy of the Valuation Office Agency's (a) Information Asset Register and (b) E-BAR post-implementation review. [235076]

Mr. Timms: The VOA does not currently hold an Information Asset Register. We are currently reviewing this position and associated use of the Government Information Asset Register (as held by Office of Public Sector Information).

I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to him on 1 September 2008, Official Report, column 1429W. The post-implementation review is already in the Library.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Mr. Heald: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he plans to answer Question 228544, on pension funds, tabled by the hon. Member for North East Hertfordshire on 15 October 2008. [236729]

Ian Pearson: I have now done so and very much regret not having been in a position to do so earlier.

SCOTLAND

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many full-time equivalent press officers (a) work for and (b) provide assistance to his Department. [236644]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office employs two full-time press officers, a Chief Press Officer based in Edinburgh and a Press Officer based in London.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many (a) page hits and (b) visitors his departmental website received in 2007-08. [236645]

Ann McKechin: Between March 2007 and April 2008, the Scotland Office website received 350,006 page hits and 94,714 visitors.

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what the cost of maintaining his departmental website was in 2007-08; and what it is expected to be in 2008-09. [236646]

Ann McKechin: Between March 2007 and April 2008, the cost of hosting the Scotland Office website was £550 and the cost of routine maintenance was £2,440. In the period 2008-09, the hosting cost is expected to be £1,700. This is due to the adoption of a new hosting contract that will enable the content management of the website to be brought in-house. The routine maintenance costs for 2008-09 are therefore expected to be minimal.

Departmental NDPBs

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what the remit is of each non-departmental public body sponsored by his Department; and what budget each has been set for (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [236931]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office sponsors the Boundary Commission for Scotland, a small advisory non-departmental public body responsible for reviews of:

constituencies and regions for the Scottish Parliament; constituencies in Scotland for the Westminster Parliament.

The Commission's budget for 2008-09, 2009-10 and 2010-11 is set out in the Scotland Office 2008 annual report which is available on the Scotland Office website.

Dungavel House Immigration Removal Centre: Children

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland when he plans to make an announcement on the details of an alternative to detention for children at Dungavel. [235996]

Ann McKechin: On Thursday 23 October my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State announced that the UK Border Agency, working with the Scottish Government, Glasgow City Council the Scottish Refugee Council and other partners, is going ahead with an alternatives to detention pilot based in Glasgow. The pilot is due to commence in early 2009 and run for an initial 18-month period, although this will kept under review when the pilot commences.

WOMEN AND EQUALITY

Departmental Official Hospitality

Mrs. May: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how many official receptions have been hosted by the Government Equalities Office since its creation; what the cost was of each reception; and who attended each reception. [235474]

Maria Eagle: Since its creation on 12 October 2007, the Government Equalities Office has hosted nine official receptions.

I refer the right hon. Member to a previous response on 10 March 2008, Official Report, column 4W, which lists details up to and including February 2008. Details of the four receptions since February are listed as follows:

| Reception | Date | Cost (£) |
|---|---|---|
| Women in Business | 12 May 2008 | 3,972 |
| BAME Councillor's Taskforce | 19 May 2008 | 3,300 |
| Launch of a Framework for a Fairer Future (The Equality Bill) | 25 June 2008 | 3,892 |
| Women in Public Appointments | 14 July 2008 | 5,396 |
| Black History Month | 3 November 2008 | 8,731 |
| Total | | 25,291 |

All figures are inclusive of VAT.

Lists of those attending these receptions will be placed in the Commons Library. This will be subject to data protection requirements.

WALES

Departmental Expenditure

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much his Department spent on hotel bills in 2007-08. [237143]

Mr. Paul Murphy: My Department is split over two sites with a requirement that some staff have to attend meetings in both London and Cardiff as well as supporting Ministers visiting different parts of Wales. For the year 2007-08, £26,879 was spent on hotels.

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Agriculture: Loans

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what recent representations he has received on banks lending to farmers. [237199]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 18 November 2008]: DEFRA has not received any recent formal representations about banks lending to farmers. The issue has, on occasion, been informally raised by farming representatives at meetings, but I am not aware of any current concerns and my officials will remain in touch with the sector should any problems arise.

Agriculture: Subsidies

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many holdings claimed payments under the single payment scheme not exceeding 250 euros or equivalent in the last year for which figures are available. [230704]

Jane Kennedy: The Rural Payments Agency is the accredited paying agency for the common agricultural policy within England and, as such, does not hold equivalent information for single payment scheme (SPS) claimants in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.

The latest information available for English SPS claimants in 2007 shows that there were 7,475 claims with a value less than €250.

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many and what value of payments were made under the single payment scheme in each of the last three years, broken down by claims (a) not exceeding £1, (b) between £1 and £100, (c) between £100 and £1,000, (d) between £1,000 and £10,000, (e) between £10,000 and £50,000, (f) between £50,000 and £100,000, (g) between £100,000 and £250,000, (h) between £250,000 and £500,000, (i) between £500,000 and £1,000,000, (j) between £1,000,000 and £2,000,000 and (k) more than £2,000,000. [230705]

Jane Kennedy: The Rural Payments Agency is the accredited paying agency for the common agricultural policy within England and, as such, does not hold information for single payment scheme (SPS) claimants in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.

The following table shows the payments, made by value groups, in England in 2005, 2006 and 2007.

| | 2005 | | 2006 | | 2007 | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Value group | Number | £ | Number | £ | Number | £ |
| 0 to 0.99p | 69 | 5.21 | 8 | 0.09 | 5 | 0.79 |
| £1 to £99.99 | 18,112 | 898,534.50 | 9,186 | 528,220.46 | 3,537 | 231,971.23 |
| £100 to £999.99 | 27,852 | 10,562,649.70 | 26,247 | 10,664,320.98 | 25,442 | 11,165,845.04 |
| £1,000 to £9,999.99 | 32,398 | 144,129,777.75 | 33,327 | 144,190,623.10 | 37,465 | 157,388,954.71 |
| £10,000 to £49,999.99 | 31,614 | 735,783,916.99 | 31,562 | 733,872,075.35 | 31,266 | 713,844,182.21 |
| £50,000 to £99,999.99 | 5,352 | 364,965,724.21 | 5,063 | 343,586,384.35 | 4,722 | 320,080,430.15 |
| £100,000 to £249,999.99 | 1,668 | 232,135,957.58 | 1,470 | 203,294,728.89 | 1,380 | 193,459,905.15 |
| £250,000 to £499,999.99 | 148 | 48,156,413.15 | 125 | 41,565,049.93 | 103 | 34,109,130.32 |

| Total | 117,240 | 1,558,371,336.34 | 107,010 | 1,496,303,736.48 | 103,941 | 1,447,762,791.05 |

Departmental Buildings

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Fareham (Mr. Hoban) of 27 October 2008, Official Report, column 610W, on departmental buildings, whether his Department is paying empty property business rates in relation to 1A Page Street. [236041]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The Department having claimed the empty property rates relief permitted by legislation, is now paying empty property business rates in respect of this vacant building.

Domestic Waste: Waste Disposal

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Bromley and Chislehurst (Robert Neill) of 6 November 2008, Official Report, columns 654-56W, on domestic waste, what advice has been given to the local authorities by (a) his Department and (b) the Waste and Resources Action Programme on how to meet the targets to reduce residual household waste. [236039]

Jane Kennedy: In order to reduce the amount of residual household waste for disposal, local authorities can promote a range of sustainable activities. These include waste prevention, encouraging re-use, home composting and increasing recycling. Local authorities are actively promoting all these options. WRAP offers a wide range of guidance and practical support to local authorities on these issues.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Bromley and Chislehurst (Robert Neill) of 4 November 2008, Official Report, column 401W, on the Waste and Resources Action Programme, whether the awareness programme included discussions of issues relating to (a) alternative weekly collection, (b) household waste collection and (c) charging for the collection of household waste. [236040]

Jane Kennedy: The awareness programme involved meetings at which WRAP staff updated individual political stakeholders on the full range of WRAP's activities. This included the four priorities in WRAP's current business plan: food waste, packaging waste, quality of materials and providing advice to local authorities on devising effective collection schemes.

Floods: Essex

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what recent steps have been taken to strengthen flood protection measures in Essex. [235799]

Jane Kennedy: In the last year, the Environment Agency has invested approximately £22.7 million in Essex. This includes work on defence improvements, maintenance and the construction of new schemes. The Environment Agency has invested in strategic plans and the detailed appraisal of schemes to be constructed in future years. Improvements have been made to the accuracy and availability of flood warnings and the Essex multi-agency flood plan has been improved.

Inspections

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much the Animal Health Executive Agency has spent on training its inspectors in each of the last five years, broken down by training programme. [237197]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 18 November 2008]: Animal Health (AH) became an Executive Agency of DEFRA on 1 April 2005 and can only report full year spend for 2005-06, 2006-07 and 2007-08. AH do not hold figures of training by programme; this information could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. The overall spend figures are shown in the following table:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 146,699 |
| 2006-07 | 631,909 |
| 2007-08 | 978,113 |

Note:
AH was called the 'State Veterinary Service' upon its inception on 1 April 2005 and was joined by the Dairy Hygiene Inspectorate, the Egg Marketing Inspectorate and the Wildlife Licensing and Registration Service to together become 'Animal Health' on 1 April 2007.
Source:
These data were sourced from the Corporate Finance and Human Resources teams, both located in Animal Health Corporate Centre at Worcester.

Public Relations: Forestry Commission

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much the Forestry Commission has spent on (a) external public affairs and (b) public relations in each of the last five years. [236523]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The Forestry Commission in England engages in a wide range of external communications activities including the promotion of forestry policy and the benefits of sustainable woodland management. It also promotes the public forest estate both as a sustainably managed asset and a major resource for public access and recreation. Promotion and communication of these activities is delivered though a wide range of channels including the media, publications, events, marketing of visitor attractions and on the internet. Indicative costs for this work over the last five years are:

| | £000 |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 529 |
| 2004-05 | 640 |
| 2005-06 | 847 |
| 2006-07 | 958 |
| 2007-08 | 980 |

Recycling

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if the Environment Agency will take steps to increase the transparency of the final destination of materials collected for recycling once the materials are transferred from local authorities to waste disposal companies. [235138]

Jane Kennedy: The Environment Agency is in the process of issuing guidance to Waste Disposal Authorities (WDA) clarifying that they should report details of the final destination of the waste (i.e. the name and address of the final destination facility in the UK) in their existing quarterly Waste Data Flow (WDF) return. A number of WDAs are already providing comprehensive final destination details.

Waste Disposal: Fees and Charges

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickle) of 4 November 2008, Official Report, column 401W, on waste disposal: council tax, whether the charges levied through waste incentive pilot schemes will be classified as a form of taxation for the purposes of the national statistics. [235851]

Jane Kennedy: The Office for National Statistics has responsibility for determining the classification of income for the purposes of national accounts.

Waste Management

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what guidance his Department has issued on the co-mingling of commercial and domestic waste at the point of collection. [235929]

Jane Kennedy: None.

Water: Meters

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (1) what modelling his Department has done on the impact of water metering on low income groups; and if he will make a statement; [235659]

(2) what his Department's policy is on the future of water metering; and if he will make a statement. [235660]

Jane Kennedy: The Government's water strategy for England "Future Water" was published in February 2008. In that report, an independent review was announced to advise on metering and charging. The review, led by Anna Walker, is currently under way and a call for evidence was issued on 14 November.

Severn Barrage: Nature Conservation

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what assessment he has made of the effects a Severn Barrage would have in terms of identifying compensatory habitats under the EU Habitats Directive. [235338]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I have been asked to reply.

A high level review of the feasibility of a number of possible compensation and mitigation measures has been undertaken in this first phase of the feasibility study. This review will be published as part of a public consultation early in the new year, subject to an internal review of the feasibility study.

Should the decision be taken to go ahead with the second phase, then more work is anticipated within the study next year on the scope to mitigate environmental impacts through the construction and operation of tidal power scheme options, and on compensatory measures for impacts that cannot be mitigated.

NORTHERN IRELAND

Terrorist Activity

3. Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what recent assessment he has made of levels of terrorist activity in Northern Ireland. [235740]

Paul Goggins: The 20th IMC report confirms that Dissident Republicans remain a serious and continuing threat, intent on killing police officers. The report also makes clear, that while some loyalists want to make progress, this is disappointingly slow, particularly with regard to Decommissioning.

Departmental Policy Priorities

6. Mark Durkan: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what his Department's policy priorities are for 2008-09; and if he will make a statement. [235744]

Paul Goggins: My Department's main objective is to support devolved Government in Northern Ireland and to devolve policing and justice when requested to do so by the Assembly. The Northern Ireland Office's Strategic Objectives for the CSR2007 period are published on the NIO website.

Saville Inquiry

7. Mr. Benyon: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what discussions the Government has had with Lord Saville or his inquiry staff on the Bloody Sunday report and the time taken to finalise it. [235745]

Mr. Woodward: Northern Ireland Office officials regularly meet inquiry staff to discuss corporate governance issues, including financial forecasts. Following news of the recent delay, senior NIO officials met the Inquiry Secretary to discuss urgent measures to control future costs.

Policing and Justice

8. David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what recent representations he has received on the devolution of policing and justice matters to the Northern Ireland Assembly. [235746]

Mr. Woodward: Following yesterday's historic agreement between First and Deputy First Minister on the devolution of policing and justice the Government continue to engage with political parties to help complete devolution in Northern Ireland.

12. Mr. Swire: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what progress has been made on the devolution of policing and criminal justice matters to the Northern Ireland Assembly. [235752]

Mr. Woodward: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to my hon. Friend the Member for North-West Leicestershire (David Taylor).

9. Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what progress has been made on the devolution of policing to the Northern Ireland Assembly. [235748]

Mr. Woodward: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to my hon. Friend the Member for North-West Leicestershire (David Taylor).

Republican Paramilitary Activity

10. Ben Chapman: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what assessment he has made of the conclusions of the recent report by the Independent Monitoring Commission on levels of republican paramilitary activity. [235750]

Paul Goggins: The 20th IMC report underlines the significant progress that Northern Ireland has made away from conflict and towards a more normal society. While they have no public support, the threat from dissident republicans is high and they remain determined to kill or injure police officers.

Northern Ireland Executive

11. Mr. Hands: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what assessment he has made of the effect on the operation of the planning system in Northern Ireland of the fact that the Northern Ireland Executive have not met recently. [235751]

Paul Goggins: The operation of the planning system is a devolved matter in Northern Ireland. I am sure that, when it meets, the Executive will give a high priority to issues that have an impact on economic and social development in Northern Ireland.

Prisoners

Sammy Wilson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what the total prison population in Northern Ireland is. [235791]

Paul Goggins: At 17 November the total prison population in Northern Ireland was 1,556.

TRANSPORT

Aviation: Crew

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of drug and alcohol testing relating to persons in charge of an aeroplane; and if he will make a statement. [234912]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Railways and Transport Safety Act 2003 introduced alcohol limits for persons performing specified aviation functions, including acting as a pilot of an aircraft. The prescribed limit for pilots is 20 milligrammes of alcohol per 100 millilitres of blood. In addition the Act empowers the police to test persons performing aviation functions if they have reasonable suspicion that they are over the alcohol limit or are otherwise impaired by drink or drugs.

Since the introduction of this Bill a number of pilots have been convicted of exceeding the prescribed limit for alcohol. However, there is no evidence of widespread alcohol or drugs abuse by pilots. Nor have there been any accidents or incidents involving UK airlines that have been found to have resulted from alcohol or drugs use by pilots.

Aviation: EU Action

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) what plans there are for harmonising type approval of aircraft across the European Union; and if he will make a statement; [237003]

(2) what the cost to the applicant to obtain type approval from the Civil Aviation Authority for a new model of aircraft for use in the UK was for each of the last 10 such approved applications; and how long the application process took to complete in each case. [237004]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Under EC Regulation 216/2008 the type certification of the majority of aircraft manufactured or registered in EU member states is the responsibility of the European Aviation Safety Agency. This has been the position since 2003 when the agency came into being. However, certain aircraft types listed in annex II to the regulation are not covered by the agency's remit. The aviation authority of the member state in which any such aircraft is registered remains responsible for its type certification or, in the case of aircraft not eligible for a type certificate, the approval of a permit to fly. At this time there are no plans for harmonising for the certification requirements for these aircraft.

The Department for Transport does not hold detailed information relating to the time taken by the CAA to process each application for a type certificate or a type approval for permits to fly nor the charges made. Such information will be available from the CAA.

Aviation: Exhaust Emissions

Sir Paul Beresford: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what estimate he has made of the share of UK greenhouse gas emissions which will come from the aviation sector in 2050, calculated on the same basis as the figures in paragraph 1.6 of Annex K of the UK Air Passenger Demand and carbon dioxide forecasts published in November 2007 and on the assumption that the UK achieves an 80 per cent. cut in carbon dioxide emissions by 2050 but with the other forecasts remaining unchanged. [236342]

Jim Fitzpatrick [holding answer 17 November 2008]: "UK Air Passenger Demand and $CO_2$ forecasts" (November 2007) included an estimate of the share of UK emissions accounted for by aviation in 2050. This assumed the UK domestic target for $CO_2$ reductions in 2050 was 60 per cent. below 1990 levels and that abatement effort to meet the target was predominantly in the rest of the economy, with aviation abatement taking the form of fuel efficiency (resulting from fleet renewal and technological development) and air traffic management improvements, in line with the assumptions underlying the forecasts.

On the basis of the same assumptions used in the November 2007 document, but taking an 80 per cent. reduction target, the share for aviation in 2050 would be around 35 per cent. To account for the non-$CO_2$ climate change effects of aviation, consistent with the 2007 document, for simplicity a radiative forcing factor of 1.9 could be applied to aviation's $CO_2$ emissions. On this basis, aviation's share would rise to around 41 per cent. The relativity between the $CO_2$ and non-$CO_2$ impacts may change over this time frame which would imply a different radiative forcing factor.

These estimates are based on central emissions forecasts. Forecasts over such a long term time frame are subject to significant uncertainty. Adopting alternative underlying assumptions to reflect these uncertainties would therefore change the estimate of aviation's share of emissions.

Under an 80 per cent. target, not all parts of the UK economy would be expected to contribute equally to the total emissions reductions required. Sectors that are more carbon intensive, or in which abatement options are expensive or particularly difficult, would be expected to make up an increasing share of total UK emissions over time.

It should be noted that the Department for Transport is currently updating its forecasts of aviation emissions for all years to 2050 and these are expected to be published before the end of the year. The estimate of aviation's share of emissions will therefore be updated in line with those new estimates.

The basis of UK aviation $CO_2$ forecasts is estimates of emissions from UK sales of aviation fuels. This is consistent with the UK's reporting of international aviation emissions to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change. Estimates of emissions from fuel used for international aviation do not form part of the UK's national emissions inventory, as there has been no international agreement on how to allocate them to individual countries.

Dartford-Thurrock Crossing: Tolls

Mr. Fallon: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what estimate he has made of the revenue from the new toll charges for the Dartford Crossing in each of the next three years; and what estimate he has made of the amount to be for gone in revenue through the discount to Dartford and Thurrock residents in each year. [237186]

Paul Clark [holding answer 18 November 2008]: In our 2006 consultation document on the proposed new charging regime we estimated that revenues could increase by around £7 million in the first year, or around 10 per cent., though this depends on how many users opt to pay by tag and therefore continue to pay £1.00 for cars. Our 2008 consultation document on the local discount scheme gave an indicative estimate that the local resident discount scheme could reduce revenues by about £2 million, depending on high levels of take-up by those eligible. On this basis the overall increase in revenues would be around £5 million per year.

Driving: Licensing

Mr. Letwin: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) if he will delay implementation of the provisions of the Second EC Driving Licence Directive until the proposed network of multi-purpose test centres has been established; [233142]

(2) if he will permit the on-road and off-road testing of motorcycle drivers to take place separately until the proposed network of multi-purpose test centres has been established. [233143]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The implementation of the new practical motorcycle test has been deferred until the end of March 2009 to enable the development of new solutions for providing a wider range of locations from which to offer the test.

The Driving Standards Agency is discussing with motorcycling stakeholders a testing arrangement based on separate off and on-road modules. A formal consultation will be necessary if a modular test is to be published.

Maritime and Coastguard Agency: Finance

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many times since the formation of his Department the Maritime and Coastguard Agency has sought additional funding to cover budgetary shortfalls; how much funding was (a) sought and (b) granted on each occasion; and what the extent of the budgetary shortfall was in each case. [234781]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Maritime and Coastguard Agency's (MCA) budget is under continuous review through dialogue between the Agency and the Department for Transport, taking account of the ministerial targets and other priorities. It is through this process (including routine annual estimates, winter and spring supplementary reporting) that agreed budgetary adjustments are made including both increases and decreases in expenditure and increases and decreases in income generated. This also includes funding transfers to and from other Agencies/ Departments reflecting changes in work requirements.

Since the formation of the Department for Transport in 2002 the following adjustments were made to the MCA's budgetary position via the winter and spring supplementary process.

£000

| | Winter supplementary | Spring supplementary |
|---|---|---|
| 2002-03 | — | 1,200 |
| 2003-04 | 10,924 | 1,210 |
| 2004-05 | 12,958 | — |
| 2005-06 | 2,346 | -4,217 |
| 2006-07 | — | 3,107 |
| 2007-08 | 170 | 13,310 |

Park and Ride Schemes: Finance

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much funding was provided from central Government to local government for the creation of park and ride schemes in the latest period for which figures are available; and what monitoring processes are in place to assess the effectiveness of such expenditure. [237006]

Paul Clark: Park and ride schemes in English local authorities outside London are one of a number of measures generally funded through the integrated transport block, which the Department for Transport allocates to support local authorities' local transport plans (LTPs). Allocations total £576 million for 2008-09.

During the first LTP period (2001-06), local transport authorities in England (outside London) spent a total of £72.5 million of DfT funding on improving 92 existing park and ride facilities and delivering 76 new park and ride schemes.

LTP guidance issued by the Department emphasises that it is the responsibility of local authorities to put systems in place to monitor and evaluate the effectiveness of such schemes. In addition, DfT commissions research periodically into the overall effectiveness of the integrated transport block funding: the latest findings from 2006 indicate that projects undertaken with this funding represent good value for public money.

Roads: Accidents

Mr. Leech: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many road traffic collisions resulting in death or serious injury and involving one or more drivers with a recorded blood alcohol level of between 50 and 80 mg per 100 ml of blood were recorded in each of the last 10 years, broken down by police authority. [235828]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Information on the blood alcohol level of drivers involved in personal injury road accidents is not routinely collected.

The level of alcohol in the blood of road accident fatalities aged 16 or over who die within 12 hours of a road accident is provided by coroners in England and Wales and by Procurators Fiscal in Scotland. This information is only available for around two-thirds of motor vehicle drivers killed in personal injury road accidents. Information on the blood alcohol level of drivers who are not killed is not collected.

Roads: Repairs and Maintenance

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many miles of new roads were added to the Strategic Road Network in each of the last 10 years. [227086]

Paul Clark: The following table shows the total miles of new trunk road and motorway that have been added to the Strategic Road Network by the Highways Agency in each of the last 10 years.

Miles

| Calendar year | Scheme additional length to SRN | Scheme additional lane capacity to SRN | Total extra capacity |

The data do not take into account any de-trunking/realignment of the Strategic Road Network which may be within the scope of schemes.

The data are the result of an exercise carried out by the Highways Agency over the spring of 2008 to verify information relating to lane km of motorway and non-motorways built since 1997.

This table therefore supersedes any previous tables produced by the Highways Agency.

Safety Service Delivery and Logistics Group

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the responsibilities of the Safety, Service Delivery and Logistics Group are; what projects the group is conducting; and from which budget project expenditure is met in each case. [234905]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Safety, Service Delivery and Logistics (SSDL) Group was created on 1 April 2007 as part of a Department for Transport (DFT) reorganisation. The new structure combined the former DVO Group with GCDA (Government Car and Despatch Agency), the Road and Vehicles Safety Standards (RVSS) directorate and the Logistics and Freight policy division. In April 2008, SSDL was joined by the Information Management Directorate (IMD). The Group brings policy and delivery agendas closer together and provides added momentum to the pace of change needed to deliver the Department's objectives.

The SSDL Group aims to be a leader in modern and efficient public service while promoting road safety, effective logistics, and a cleaner environment. The Group works closely with its partners to deliver quality services to customers.

The SSDL agencies' current capital plans are all included in their individual business plans, which are available in the House Library.

Of the five SSDL agencies, the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency (DVLA), Driving Standards Agency (DSA) and the Vehicle and Operator Services Agency (VOSA) are classified as trading funds and capital expenditure is therefore funded from repayable loans which are provided to them from the DFT or from statutory fees.

VCA and GCDA are funded centrally by the Department.

Shipping: Safety

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when the Third Maritime Safety Package will be implemented in the UK. [237742]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The negotiations are still continuing between the EU member states and the European Parliament on the Third Maritime Safety Package. If agreement on the package is reached in the next few weeks, the UK will implement most of the legislation by 2011.

Transport: Hazardous Materials

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when the Hazardous and Noxious Substance Convention will be implemented in the UK. [237743]

Jim Fitzpatrick: There are a number of technical problems with the text of the convention that have prevented the UK, together with many other EU member states and third country states, from ratifying the Hazardous and Noxious Substances (HNS) Convention, 1996. As a result, the requirements for bringing the convention into force internationally have not yet been met.

In order to correct the inherent problems with the current convention, the international maritime community has agreed to develop a protocol, the text of which was agreed at the Legal Committee of the International Maritime Organisation in October 2009. The UK will ratify the amended convention as soon as possible after the protocol has been agreed at a Diplomatic Conference (expected to take place in 2010).

Transport: York

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much local transport grant was given to the City of York unitary authority in each year since its creation. [236882]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport has provided the following grants for local transport to the City of York since it was established as a unitary authority in April 1996 in the following two tables.

£ million

| | Integrated transport block | Highways maintenance | Other funding[1] | Total local transport funding |

Revenue expenditure on transport is generally supported through the Department for Communities and Local Government's Formula Grant.

DEFENCE

Afghanistan: Peacekeeping Operations

Patrick Mercer: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many UK troops have been deployed as part of the operational mentor and liaison team programme in Afghanistan since September 2007; and how many have been killed or injured in each battalion. [234155]

Mr. Hutton: Seven UK operational mentoring and liaison teams (OMLTs) work alongside the Afghan National Army in Helmand province. These teams total between 250 and 300 personnel at any one time. Approximately 800 personnel have undertaken this role since September 2007.

Fatalities and injuries are not recorded centrally by tasking, and troops from the infantry battalions providing OMLTs undertake other tasks as well. The three battalions that have provided OMLT teams since September 2007 have suffered the following number of fatalities overall:

2nd Battalion, The Yorkshire Regiment (Herrick 7): 3

1st Battalion, The Royal Irish Regiment (Herrick 8): 2

1st Battalion, The Rifles (Herrick 9): 0

For reasons of medical confidentiality, it is our policy not to produce a detailed breakdown of injuries by unit. However the Ministry of Defence does publish information regarding fatalities and statistical details of non-fatal injuries suffered by UK service personnel and civilian employees in Afghanistan on a fortnightly basis, two weeks in arrears. This can be found on the departmental website at the following address:

http://www.mod.uk/DefenceInternet/FactSheets/OperationsFactsheets/OperationsInAfghanistanBritishFatalities.htm

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether there have been any instances of aerial attacks on civilians in Afghanistan by British aircraft as a result of (a) error and (b) deception; and if he will make a statement. [236074]

Mr. Hutton: I have nothing to add to the answer I gave to the hon. Member for Leyton and Wanstead (Harry Cohen) on 20 October 2008, Official Report, column 118W.

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the procedures are for ensuring that British military air strikes are not directed against civilians in Afghanistan. [236075]

Mr. Hutton: The deliberate targeting of civilians would represent a direct contravention of international law. A wide range of checks and balances exist within the UK military chain of command to ensure that this can never happen. These include provision of absolutely clear direction into theatre and the deployment of legal and other experts to ensure this direction is followed.

Sadly, on a very small number of occasions, civilian casualties inadvertently result from the use of air-launched weapons. The UK, along with our partners in the International Security Assistance Force, makes every effort possible to minimise the risks of this occurring. Release of air-launched weapons is coordinated by controllers on the ground, who are fully trained in the use of lethal force, law of armed conflict and the appropriate rules of engagement. Controllers and pilots communicate with each other to ensure that the target is accurately identified, using target designating equipment where appropriate, and the weapon and method of attack is selected so as to minimise any risk of civilian deaths or injury, or damage to civilian property.

The risk of civilians becoming involved in military operations is greatly exacerbated by the tactics employed by the insurgent forces, who frequently attack UK and ISAF forces from within civilian locations.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether Harrier will be subject to a programme review in 2009 if it is withdrawn from Afghanistan (a) before and (b) after 1 April 2009. [236193]

Mr. Quentin Davies [holding answer 17 November 2008]: We keep all our programmes under regular review as part of our planning process. This applies irrespective of operational deployments.

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many Pakistani military personnel are (a) assigned, (b) attached and (c) embedded with UK armed forces in Regional Command South. [236451]

Mr. Hutton: There are currently no personnel from the Pakistani armed forces assigned, attached or embedded with UK armed forces in Regional Command (South).

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many anthropologists are assigned to work with UK armed forces operating in Afghanistan. [236452]

Mr. Hutton: There are no anthropologists assigned to work with UK armed forces operating in Afghanistan. Training on cultural issues is, however, provided to UK forces prior to their deployment to Afghanistan.

Patrick Mercer: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) how many weeks passed between (a) the date of injury and the date of the decision that compensation was due and (b) the date of the decision that compensation was due and the date of first payment in the cases of each of the 18 personnel who were very seriously injured in Afghanistan in 2006 who have received compensation; [236626]

(2) how many weeks passed between (a) the date of injury and the date of the decision that compensation was due and (b) the date of the decision that compensation was due and the date of the first payment in the case of each of the 13 personnel who were seriously injured in Afghanistan in 2006 who have received compensation; [236628]

(3) how many weeks passed between (a) the date of injury and the date of the decision that compensation was due and (b) the date of the decision that compensation was due and the date of the first payment in the case of each of the 40 personnel who were seriously injured in Afghanistan in 2007 who have received compensation; [236629]

(4) how many weeks passed between (a) the date of injury and the date of the decision that compensation was due and (b) the date of the decision that compensation was due and the date of the first payment in the cases of each of the 23 personnel who were very seriously injured in Afghanistan in 2007 who have received compensation. [236635]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The time between an individual's date of injury and the date on which they make a claim for compensation under the Armed Forces Compensation Scheme (AFCS) varies from person to person. For this reason, any figures produced on the time between the date of injury and the date of the decision that compensation is due will be misleading. The time between the date each claim was registered under the AFCS and the date of the decision that compensation is due, has been calculated for personnel that were seriously injured (SI) or very seriously injured (VSI) in Afghanistan during 2006 and 2007.

For data protection purposes and to maintain anonymity of claimants, information cannot be provided at individual level. Table 1 as follows presents the median length of time in weeks between the date on which a claim was registered under the AFCS and the date of the decision that compensation was due, for personnel with a cleared claim under the AFCS. Figures are presented by severity and year of injury in Afghanistan.

Table 1: Median number of weeks between the date a claim was registered and the date of the decision that compensation was due, by severity and year of injury in Afghanistan[1]

| | Number of weeks (median) |

| 2006 | |
| Seriously Injured | 10 |
| Very Seriously Injured | 13 |
| 2007 | |
| Seriously Injured | 14 |
| Very Seriously Injured | 14 |

[1] Figures are based on those that have had a decision made following their claim under the AFCS:
8 out of the 13 personnel who were SI and 16 of the 18 personnel who were VSI in Afghanistan during 2006, and 31 of the 40 personnel who were SI and 21 of the 23 personnel who were VSI in Afghanistan during 2007.

For data protection purposes and to maintain anonymity of claimants, information cannot be provided at individual level. Information on actual date of compensation payment under the AFCS is normally recorded on the joint personnel administration (JPA) database. JPA roll-out for the RAF, Navy and Army was 1 April 2006, 1 November 2006 and 1 April 2007 respectively. Payment dates prior to JPA roll-out could be collected only at disproportionate cost. Table 2 presents the median length of time in days between the date of the decision that compensation was due under the AFCS and the actual date of payment, for those recorded on JPA. 63 out of 76 had a recorded payment date on JPA. Figures are presented by severity and year of injury in Afghanistan.

[1] Figures are based on those that have had a decision made following their claim under the AFCS:
8 out of the 13 personnel who were SI and 16 of the 18 personnel who were VSI in Afghanistan during 2006, and 31 of the 40 personnel who were SI and 21 of the 23 personnel who were VSI in Afghanistan during 2007.
[2] Figures are based on those that have payment details on JPA:
two out of the eight personnel who were SI and 10 out of the 16 personnel who were VSI in Afghanistan during 2006, and 30 out of the 31 personnel who were SI and all of those VSI in Afghanistan during 2007.

Patrick Mercer: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) how much compensation has been paid to each of the 13 personnel who were seriously injured in Afghanistan in 2006 who have received compensation; [236627]

(2) how much compensation was awarded to each of the 40 personnel who were seriously injured in Afghanistan in 2007 who have received compensation; [236633]

(3) how much compensation was awarded to each of the 23 personnel who were very seriously injured in Afghanistan in 2007 who have received compensation. [236637]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Information on compensation amounts paid out to those personnel that were seriously injured or very seriously injured in Afghanistan during 2006 and 2007 could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Patrick Mercer: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) how many of the 13 personnel who were seriously injured in Afghanistan in 2006 have subsequently left military service; how many weeks passed from the date of the injury to the date of their leaving military service in each case; and whether each serviceman or servicewoman received compensation for their injury; [236630]

(2) how many of the 40 personnel who were seriously injured in Afghanistan in 2007 have subsequently left military service; how many weeks passed from the date of the injury to the date of their leaving military service in each case; and whether each serviceman or servicewoman received compensation for their injury; [236631]

(3) how many of the 18 personnel who were very seriously injured in Afghanistan in 2006 have subsequently left military service; how many weeks passed from the date of the injury to the date of their leaving military service in each case; and whether each serviceman or servicewoman who left in such circumstances received compensation for their injury; [236632]

(4) how many of the 23 personnel who were very seriously injured in Afghanistan in 2007 have subsequently left military service; how many weeks passed from the date of the injury to the date of their leaving military service in each case; and whether each serviceman or servicewoman who left in such circumstances received compensation for their injury. [236636]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Of the 13 personnel who were seriously injured in Afghanistan during 2006, six personnel have subsequently left service as at 13 November 2008. Five of these personnel were awarded compensation following an in-service claim under the Armed Forces Compensation Scheme (AFCS), the remaining one person went on to have a claim automatically generated for them following a medical discharge. The outcome of this claim is currently pending.

Of the 18 personnel who were very seriously injured in Afghanistan during 2006, two personnel have subsequently left service as at 13 November 2008. Both were awarded compensation under the AFCS following an in-service claim registered whiles they were still serving.

Of the 40 personnel who were seriously injured in Afghanistan during 2007, two personnel have subsequently left service as at 13 November 2008, Both were awarded compensation under the AFCS following an in-service claim registered while they were still serving.

Of the 23 personnel who were very seriously injured in Afghanistan during 2007, two personnel have subsequently left service as at 13 November 2008. Both were awarded compensation under the AFCS following an in-service claim registered while they were still serving.

For data protection purposes and to maintain anonymity of claimants, information cannot be provided on the time between the date of injury and the date of exit from service at individual level.

The following table presents the median length of time in weeks between the date of injury and date of exit from service for personnel that have subsequently left service following their injury. Figures are presented by severity and year of injury in Afghanistan.

Median number of weeks between date of injury and date of exit from service, by severity and year of injury in Afghanistan for those that had left service by 13 November 2008

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what proportion of Scimitar armoured reconnaisance vehicles in Afghanistan have been serviceable in each of the last 12 months. [237064]

Mr. Hutton: The following table shows availability of the Scimitar Armoured Reconnaissance Vehicle in Afghanistan for each of the last 12 months.

| | Average availability (percentage) |
|---|---|
| November 2007 | 81 |
| December 2007 | 89 |
| January 2008 | [1] — |
| February 2008 | 78 |
| March 2008 | 77 |
| April 2008 | 49 |
| May 2008 | 36 |
| June 2008 | 24 |
| July 2008 | 53 |
| August 2008 | 37 |
| September 2008 | 87 |
| October 2008 | 75 |

[1] No figures available

Recognising that Scimitar availability in Afghanistan is much lower in summer due to extremely hot and dusty conditions, rapid modifications have been made this year to improve availability. The Scimitar vehicle is also about to undergo an urgent package of measures to improve its performance and availability in hot, high and dusty conditions.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much the NATO and allied military presence in Afghanistan cost in each year for which figures are available. [237116]

Mr. Hutton: I am only able to comment on those costs relating to the MOD and NATO common-funded costs. I am not able to comment on (and nor does the Department hold information concerning) individual allies' operational costs. MOD identifies the costs of UK operations in terms of the net additional costs it has incurred, which includes the costs that the Department would have incurred regardless of the operation taking place, such as wages and salaries. Reduced costs on activities that have not occurred because of the operation—training exercises for example—are also taken into account in arriving at the net figures.

Operational costs are calculated on an annual basis which are then audited by the National Audit Office. The UK operational costs for Afghanistan are set out in the following table:

£ million

| | 2001-02 | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 | Total to date |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Operations in Afghanistan total resource costs | 187 | 236 | 36 | 58 | 148 | 560 | 1,071 | 2,296 |
| Expenditure on capital equipment | 34 | 75 | 10 | 9 | 51 | 178 | 433 | 790 |
| Total | 221 | 311 | 46 | 67 | 199 | 738 | 1,504 | 3,086 |

NATO common-funded costs for Afghanistan including the UK's share (which is incorporated in the operational costs) are set out in the following table:

| Financial year | NATO cost[1] (£ million) | Approximate UK share (percentage) | Approximate UK financial contribution (£ million) |

Armed Forces: Divorce

Mr. Holloway: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the answer of 19 February 2007, Official Report, column 302W, what proportion of armed forces personnel disabled through injury or service were divorced in each year between 2002 and 2006, broken down by (a) those aged 24 years old and younger, (b) 25 to 34 years old, (c) 35 to 44 years old, (d) 45 to 54 years old and (e) those 55 years old and older; what assessment he has made of recent trends in divorce rates for service personnel who have seen active service; and if he will make a statement. [236489]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Information on numbers of armed forces personnel classed as disabled and divorced is not held centrally and can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

There has been no recent assessment of divorce rate trends for Service personnel.

Armed Forces: Labour Turnover

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what the (a) inflow and (b) outflow of helicopter crew pilots was in each month in the last three years, broken down by helicopter type; [235428]

(2) what the (a) inflow and (b) outflow of helicopter crew pilots has been in each year since 2003, broken down by helicopter type. [235429]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The information requested is not held centrally or available in the format requested. however some information is held by the single services and this is as follows:

Royal Navy

Helicopter crew inflow into the Royal Navy, by type of helicopter, between 1 April 2003 and 20 September 2008 is as follows:

| | Inflow |
|---|---|
| Sea King 4 | 62 |
| Sea King 5/7 | 4 |
| Lynx Mk8 | 44 |
| Lynx Mk7 | 9 |
| Merlin | 28 |

Pilot outflow from the Royal Navy in the period requested is not held in such a manner to allow a breakdown between pilots of fixed wing or rotary wing aircraft.

Army

Army inflow to trained strength from training is as follows:

RAF

RAF inflow to trained strength from training, between August 2005 and August 2008 is as follows:

| | Inflow |
|---|---|
| Chinook | 86 |
| Puma | 42 |
| Merlin | 46 |
| Sea King | 41 |

RAF outflow between April 2003 and March 2006 was some 100 helicopter pilots.

Armed Forces: Self-mutilation

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what steps have been taken at the Duchess of Kent Psychiatric Hospital to ensure that medical staff are trained in the procedures to be employed following an assessment that military personnel about to be discharged back to barracks may be at risk of self-harm. [236185]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The Duchess of Kent Psychiatric Hospital was closed in 2003 as part of the Defence Medical Services' move (in accordance with clinical best practice) towards providing treatment regionally, primarily through enhanced out-patient facilities and the contracting-out of in-patient treatment. The military community treatment capability was enhanced and the Defence Medical Services provide service personnel with speedy access to skilled and effective help and treatment that is flexible and based around their individual needs. A military Department of Community Mental Health (DCMH) is located a short distance from the old hospital ward.

Defence Medical Services mental health personnel undertake the same training, and obtain the same qualifications as their civilian counterparts. Psychologists and social workers who work for the defence mental health services are directly recruited fully trained, and all personnel engage in continuing professional development as recommended by the various professional bodies (such as the Royal College of Psychiatrists; Nursing and Midwifery Council and British Psychological Society). All training is conducted under the direction and administration of the Defence Postgraduate Medical Deanery and this organisation is advised by the Defence Consultant Advisor in Psychiatry.

The military Departments of Community Mental Health (DCMHs) assess all service personnel referred to them for risk in accordance with NICE (National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence) Clinical Guidelines which include the identification of clinical and demographic features known to be associated with risk of further self harm and/or suicide. An appropriate care plan is agreed with the individual, in consultation with the unit medical officer and appropriately supervised treatment is implemented, and similar procedures take place where individuals are being discharged from in-patient care.

Mental health practitioners will also alert the chain of command where there is clear risk of death or serious harm to the patient or others, or where reasons underpinning the suicidal intent may also impact on others, balancing the issues of confidentiality and consent against the duty of care to the patient, as well as to others who might be harmed by a suicide attempt.

Army

Mr. Blunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what estimate he has made of the relative costs of a Gurkha infantry battalion and an English line infantry battalion in light of current policy and recent legal judgments. [231763]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The cost of a Gurkha infantry is broadly in line with that of British line infantry battalion.

I refer the hon. Member to the written ministerial statement made on 8 March 2007, Official Report, columns 141-42WS which explained that Gurkhas are now treated exactly the same as their UK recruited counterparts and receive the same benefits, with certain exceptions to satisfy the Nepalese Government.

The recent legal judgments in relation to pensions and immigration have had no impact on the cost of serving Gurkhas.

Departmental Aviation

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) how many flights have been taken by his Department's civil servants of each grade in (a) first class, (b) business class and (c) economy in each month of 2008; [237286]

(2) how much (a) first class, (b) business class and (c) economy class air travel for his Department's civil servants cost his Department in the last 12 months; and what criteria are used to determine the class in which such staff fly. [237287]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The information is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. All travel is conducted in accordance with the guidelines in Joint Service Publication (JSP) 800: Defence Movements and Transportation Regulations, Volume 2, Passenger Travel Instructions which sets out the criteria to be applied, dependent upon rank and the length of the flight involved.

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much his Department and its agencies have spent on (a) flat screen televisions, (b) DVD players and (c) stereo equipment in each of the last three years. [237434]

Mr. Kevan Jones: This information is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. We apply the same principles to buying televisions, DVD players and stereo equipment that we do to buying all goods or services. These principles include securing best value for money, ensuring probity and accountability, enabling competition wherever possible, and ensuring compliance with the relevant provisions of UK and EU law.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many full-time equivalent press officers (a) work and (b) provide assistance for his Department. [232972]

Mr. Kevan Jones: There are currently 108 full-time press officers listed in the Chief Office of Information's White Book for the Ministry of Defence not including those in agencies.

Press offices include civilian and military staff working across the Department (including within the single services) and are defined as those who directly interface with national or regional media on news issues.

Departmental Land

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many and what percentage of the overseas estate is in each grade, broken down by location. [235430]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Of the overseas estate, only living accommodation is graded for either condition or charge. Grade for charge (GfC) is an assessment of the chargeable condition of accommodation, along with other factors such as its size, location and closeness to amenities.

Other than GfC no separate assessment is made of the condition of all 71,000 service family accommodation (SFA) properties worldwide. Overseas SFA is at the following GfC:

| | G1fC | | G2fC | | G3fC | | G4fC | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Country | Number | Percentage | Number | Percentage | Number | Percentage | Number | Percentage |
| Cyprus | ... | ... | 504 | 22 | 173 | 8 | 1,211 | 54 |
| Falkland/Ascension Islands | — | — | — | — | — | — | 96 | 100 |
| Germany | 2,058 | 16 | 5,943 | 47 | 3,508 | 30 | 1,061 | 8 |
| Gibraltar | 52 | 11 | 96 | 21 | 87 | 19 | 194 | 43 |
| Rest of the world | 187 | 10 | 658 | 35 | 430 | 23 | 562 | 30 |
| Total | 2,297 | 13 | 7,211 | 42 | 4,198 | 24 | 3,124 | 18 |

As well as being assessed for its grade for charge, all single living accommodation (SLA) is also separately assessed for its physical condition and 'scale', as defined in Joint Service Publication 319 which is available to view at http://www.defence-estates.mod.uk/publications/isp/isp315/volume1/index.php.

This methodology, which excludes environmental and location factors, is considered a better indicator of the physical condition of the accommodation.

As at June 2008, overseas SLA bed-spaces were at the following grade.

| | Grade 1 | | Grade 2 | | Grade 3 | | Grade 4 | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Country | Number | Percentage | Number | Percentage | Number | Percentage | Number | Percentage |
| Cyprus | 26 | 2 | ... | ... | 614 | 43 | 782 | 55 |
| Falkland/Ascension Islands | 10 | 0.3 | ... | ... | ... | ... | 3,438 | 99.7 |
| Germany | 2,639 | 17 | 1,547 | 10 | 4,746 | 31 | 6,504 | 42 |
| Gibraltar | ... | ... | 225 | 52 | 84 | 19 | 128 | 29 |
| Rest of the world | 32 | 2 | 44 | 3 | 59 | 3 | 1,523 | 92 |
| Total | 2,707 | 12 | 1,816 | 8 | 5,503 | 25 | 12,375 | 55 |

We accept that some service accommodation is not of a standard that our service personnel and their families deserve and steps are being taken to address this. Over the next decade £8.4 billion will be spent on accommodation, of which over £3 billion will be on improving and upgrading accommodation.

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the answer of 29 October 2008, Official Report, column 1032W, how many staff in his Department are receiving full salaries without being allocated work. [234420]

Mr. Kevan Jones: As at 5 November 2008, there were some 525 MOD civil servants who were in the civilian redeployment pool because their substantive posts had reached an end, or because they were returning from overseas or extended absence. A further 446 were in the redeployment pool because their posts were due to end within six months. Those staff receive preferential consideration for posts. While in the redeployment pool, staff whose substantive posts have ended remain in their posts, for which they continue to receive their normal salaries. They continue to be funded and managed by their previous management, who assist them with their development and job search and employ them on appropriate temporary tasks. As I explained in my answer on 21 October, Official Report, column 191W, while there may exceptionally be occasions where such temporary work is not available, that situation is continuously changing and is not recorded centrally.

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many staff in his Department did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235227]

Mr. Kevan Jones: For the 2007-08 reporting year 93 MOD civilian staff were recorded as not receiving a performance award due to unsatisfactory work performance that was subject to the Department's restoring efficiency procedures.

This figure excludes MOD trading funds and agencies and does not include specialist occupational groups such as teachers, NHS grades, fire fighters and policeman, for whom records are not held centrally.

Departmental NDPBs

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the remit is of each non-departmental public body sponsored by his Department; and what budget each has been set for (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [236920]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The remit of each of the non-departmental public bodies sponsored by the MOD can be found in the supplementary document on NDPBs to the MOD annual report and accounts 2007-08, which can be found on the MOD internet site at the following link:

http://www.mod.uk/DefenceInternet/AboutDefence/CorporatePublications/AnnualReports/MODAnnualReports0708/SupplementaryDocuments200708.htm

I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave him on 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1230W, in respect of funding of Executive NDPBs. The advisory NDPBs sponsored by the Department incur little or no expenditure and are resourced from within the Department.

European Carrier Group Interoperability Initiative

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library a copy of the Declaration of Intent with EU Partners on the European Carrier Group Interoperability Initiative. [235432]

Mr. Quentin Davies: I shall place a copy of the Declaration of Intent in the Library of the House.

Future Large Aircraft: Safety

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether a fuel inerting gas system will be fitted to the UK A400M fleet. [237069]

Mr. Quentin Davies: Yes, with the exception of one development aircraft that will either be retro-fitted with fuel-tank inerting at a later date, or if this proves impossible, excluded from use in areas of significant operational threat.

Future Surface Combatant

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the future roles are projected for each variant of the Future Surface Combatant. [235629]

Mr. Quentin Davies [holding answer 17 November 2008]: It is currently planned that the Future Surface Combatant will replace and build on the capabilities of the T22 and T23 frigates. The programme is still in the concept phase, and the requirements for numbers and variants have not yet been finalised. The future roles to be undertaken by FSC have yet to be fully defined but will be coherent with the capabilities called for in the 2004 Defence White Paper, 'Delivering Security in a Changing World, Future Capabilities' (Cm 6269).

Military Aircraft

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence which close air support capabilities provided by Harriers are not able to be provided by Tornados. [236789]

Mr. Kevan Jones: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave him on 10 November 2008, Official Report, column 775W.

Military Aircraft: Training

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much live training with submarines have (a) Merlin HM MK1 and (b) Nimrod MR2 crews have undertaken in each month of the last three years. [237070]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The amount of time spent live training by Merlin HM MK1 and Nimrod MR2 crews with submarines over the last three years has been recorded as follows:

Merlin HM MK1

Hours: Minutes

| | 2006 | 2007 | 2008 |
|---|---|---|---|
| January | 9:10 | 12:50 | 12:35 |
| February | 11:30 | 27:55 | 80:35 |
| March | 5:40 | 40:20 | 63:15 |
| April | 25:15 | 98:35 | 120:10 |
| May | 145:20 | 116:00 | 24:10 |
| June | 176:35 | 63:20 | 32:45 |
| July | 0 | 36:40 | 23:50 |
| August | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| September | 54:30 | 7:35 | 52:30 |
| October | 24:00 | 58:00 | 98:45 |
| November | 25:35 | 49:05 | — |
| December | 0 | 9:10 | — |

Nimrod MR2

Hours: Minutes

| | 2006 | 2007 | 2008 |
|---|---|---|---|
| January | 13:20 | 23:15 | 0 |
| February | 125:10 | 13:10 | 0 |
| March | 79:10 | 21:25 | 0 |
| April | 15:35 | 38:40 | 176:00 |
| May | 46:05 | 32:30 | 79:00 |
| June | 147:35 | 14:00 | 12:35 |
| July | 12:10 | 11:55 | 245:30 |
| August | 21:15 | 19:25 | 19:30 |
| September | 94:05 | 71:00 | 6:10 |
| October | 46:45 | 87:55 | 0 |
| November | 31:20 | 52:30 | — |
| December | 6:50 | 0 | — |

These figures do not reflect operational flying or airborne synthetic anti-submarine warfare training.

Military Attachés

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the answer of 15 July 2008, Official Report, columns 309-10W, on military attachés, what the reasons for the increase in the cost for the defence section in Albania between 2000-01 and 2001-02 were. [236761]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The reason for the increase in cost for the Defence Section in Albania between 2000-01 and 2001-02 was that in March 2001, the last month of financial year 2000-01, a Military Liaison Officer (MLO) was seconded to the British embassy in Albania to help assess the feasibility of establishing a defence section in that country. His pay-related costs during that time were funded from another budgetary area within the Ministry of Defence while his subsistence costs were funded from the attaché budget, as shown in the answer of 15 July 2008, Official Report, columns 309-10W. In April 2001 an accredited defence attaché and his support staff were deployed to Albania and funded from the attaché budget, with the result that the costs of the defence section for the full financial year (2001-02) are shown in the answer of 15 July 2008, Official Report, columns 309-10W.

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the answer of 15 July 2008, Official Report, columns 309-10W, on military attachés, if he will publish a breakdown of the cost of the defence sections in (a) Paris and (b) Moscow for each of the last three years. [236762]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The following table provides a breakdown of the cost for the Defence sections in Paris and Moscow for the last three financial years.

| | Financial year | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
| Defence Section Paris | | | |
| Pay-related costs including ERNIC, pension contributions and costs of living allowance | 721,228 | 801,544 | 821,582 |
| Support costs including residential utilities, medical and dental costs, travel and subsistence, local school children's fees, entertainment, IT equipment, vehicle servicing repairs and personal security enhancements | 423,182 | 352,524 | 361,337 |
| Total cost | 1,144,410 | 1,154,068 | 1,182,919 |
| Defence Section Moscow | | | |
| Pay-related costs including ERNIC, pension contributions, and costs of living allowance | 1,154,091 | 1,128,165 | 1,112,310 |
| Support costs including residential utilities, medical and dental costs, travel and subsistence, local school children's fees, entertainment, IT equipment, vehicle servicing repairs and personal security enhancements | 380,539 | 386,993 | 440,737 |
| Total cost | 1,534,631 | 1,515,158 | 1,553,047 |

Military Decorations

Christopher Fraser: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will bring forward proposals to establish a medal for members of the armed forces injured or killed in combat, analogous to the Purple Heart medal issued in the United States. [236454]

Mr. Kevan Jones: I refer the hon. Member to the written ministerial statement the then Defence Secretary made on 10 June 2008, Official Report, column 10WS which announced the plans for additional recognition for the families of members of the armed forces who die on operations and as a result of terrorist action. He made it clear that much detailed work would be required to work out the detail of this plan. Good progress is being made but it will be some months before we are ready to implement the plan. We hope to announce further details before the end of the year on matters such as the design and the qualifying criteria.

Military Police

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many fatal incidents were investigated by the Royal Military Police Special Investigation Branch in each overseas theatre of operations since Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary's inspection of August 2006; and what the outcome of each investigation was. [236157]

Mr. Kevan Jones: When UK armed forces personnel are killed on operations, the Royal Military Police Special Investigation branch RMP(SIB) carry out an investigation in order to determine if there is any criminal liability on the part of UK personnel. The evidence they gather is passed to the military chain of command. In more serious cases, the case papers may be referred for trial by court martial.

The RMP(SIB) have investigated 129 incidents involving UK armed forces fatalities which have occurred since 1 August 2006. Of these, 106 investigations resulted in no further action being taken against any member of the UK armed forces; 20 are ongoing; and three were referred to the Army Prosecuting Authority (APA). Of the three cases referred to the APA, one was discontinued and two resulted in trial by court martial.

The evidence collated by the RMP(SIB) is also passed to coroners. For details of outstanding inquests and verdicts, I refer the hon. Member to the written ministerial statement made by my right hon. Friends the Secretary of State for Defence and the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Justice on 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 36WS.

Navy: Defence Equipment

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make it his policy to provide Royal Navy ships with non-lethal weapons similar to those available to the US Navy for the interdiction of pirates in the Northern Indian Ocean. [237198]

Mr. Kevan Jones [holding answer 18 November 2008]: The MOD has no current plans to fit non-lethal weapons to Royal Navy ships, although research continues to establish their potential utility. As with all emerging technologies, MOD continues to review the possibilities such innovation presents.

UK weapon systems are consistent with international protocols, such as the Geneva convention. Their use is governed by Rules of Engagement, which ensures the application of proportionate force appropriate to the prevailing circumstances and conditions.

Nuclear Disarmament

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will assess the implications for UK nuclear weapons policy of the speech by the United Nations Secretary-General on 24 October 2008 on the importance of nuclear disarmament and security in a nuclear weapons-free world. [236369]

Mr. Hutton: I welcome the contribution to the debate on multilateral nuclear disarmament made by Mr. Ban in his speech to the East-West Institute in New York on 24 October and, specifically, his acknowledgment of the UK's leading role. It is important that all states work together to create the security environment conducive to further multilateral disarmament, leading ultimately to a world free of nuclear weapons. This would include zero tolerance on instances of proliferation.

Piracy: Detainees

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what guidance has been issued to Royal Navy commanders on the detention of pirates on board Royal Navy vessels; and if he will make a statement. [237195]

Mr. Kevan Jones [holding answer 18 November 2008]: Commanding officers of Royal Navy ships are issued with guidance on the applicable law and principles relating to the handling and detention of those suspected of committing offences on the high seas. In addition, the handling of detainees and the humanitarian principles governing that activity are laid down in UK armed forces doctrine. More generally, the conduct of counter-piracy operations is governed as necessary by the applicable rules of engagement specific to a particular mission.

RAF Brize Norton

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much further infrastructure work is required at RAF Brize Norton before the Hercules fleet arrives; and what his estimate is of the cost of that work. [237386]

Mr. Kevan Jones: A number of infrastructure projects are being undertaken at RAF Brize Norton in preparation for the arrival of the Hercules fleet. These include the relocation of a simulator training facility; relocation of Forward Support and stores; provision of suitable freight handling capacity; expansion of the aircraft battery bay and engine bay; relocation of Hercules Force HQ. Additionally the relocation of 47 Air Despatch Squadron will be required as part of the move.

Other infrastructure work is also being undertaken at Brize Norton which does not relate solely to the arrival of the Hercules fleet.

The full costs of all infrastructure works related to the arrival of the Hercules fleet are not identified separately and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what his latest estimate is of the timing of the Hercules fleet's removal to RAF Brize Norton; and how that removal will be phased. [237387]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The move of the C130K and C130J fleets from RAF Lyneham to RAF Brize Norton is being planned for Summer 2011. The move will be phased to ensure support to operations is maintained.

Submarines

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment he has made of the maximum future endurance on station of the Astute-class submarines. [236076]

Mr. Quentin Davies: Once deployed, Astute can patrol for 90 days and should not require refuelling throughout her full service life of over 25 years.

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what the crew strength per boat is in terms of (a) officers and (b) men, in respect of the current generation of attack submarines; and what the crew strength will be in respect of each Astute-class submarine; [236077]

(2) what assessment he has made of the practicability of having two crews for each Astute-class submarine. [236078]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The manpower liability for an Astute and Trafalgar Class submarine is as follows:

| Class | Trafalgar | Astute |
|---|---|---|
| Officers | 15 | 16 |
| Senior Rates | 54 | 51 |
| Junior Rates | 84 | 73 |
| Total | 153 | 140 |

The Astute Class of submarine is and will continue to be manned using the watch rotational manning system currently employed for Royal Navy attack submarines. This system allows the required availability of the submarines to be met while ensuring leave and training periods for all personnel.

Tornado Aircraft

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the average number of flying hours for Tornado GR4 aircrew has been in each month in 2008 to date. [236462]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Average monthly flying hours for Tornado aircrew is not recorded centrally, and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

USA: Nuclear Weapons

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will assess the implications for UK nuclear weapons policy of the speech made by the United States Defence Secretary Robert Gates on 28 October 2008 in respect of United States plans to retain and replace its nuclear weapons system and warheads. [236370]

Mr. Hutton: In his speech at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace in Washington, Secretary Gates considered a number of elements of the United States nuclear weapons policy. His general assessments closely match those articulated in the 2006 White Paper "The Future of the United Kingdom's Nuclear Deterrent" (Cm 6994).

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Christmas

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much (a) her Department and (b) its agencies have spent on Christmas (a) cards, (b) parties and (c) decorations in the last 12 months. [237491]

Mr. Khan: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 13 November 2008, Official Report, column 1322W, to the hon. Member for Hertford and Stortford (Mr. Prisk) and the answers given by my hon. Friend the Member for Gloucester (Mr. Dhanda) to the hon. Member for West Chelmsford (Mr. Burns) on 17 January 2008, Official Report, column 1472W and the hon. Member for Guildford (Anne Milton) on 4 February 2008, Official Report, column 839W. Information on decorations could be answered only at disproportionate cost.

Council Tax: Fraud

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1258W, on council tax, if she will place in the Library a copy of the Audit Commission guidance to local authority fraud investigators on how to follow up potential frauds and other anomalies. [235860]

John Healey: The guidance issued by the Audit Commission on the National Fraud Initiative (NFI) is limited to how to interpret and prioritise the data matches released through NFI. The Commission does not provide guidance on the investigation of the referrals. It is the responsibility of each participating body to investigate matches, where appropriate, in line with their own policies and procedures.

As part of its continued development programme, the Commission has introduced online training tutorials for NFI 2008-09. This training material is integrated into the NFI web application and as such cannot be provided separately. Brief guidance notes to supplement the online material will be made available before the launch of the NFI 2008-09 results on 28 January 2009. A copy of those notes will then be placed in the Library.

Copies of the Commission's guidance material issued to participating bodies for NFI 2006-07 have been placed in the Library, although this material is now out of date.

Council Tax: Pensions

Sir John Stanley: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what percentage of council tax receipts in England were used to fund pension schemes that are funded by local authorities in the latest period for which figures are available. [237002]

John Healey: A proportion of total local authority revenue goes towards meeting pension liabilities and costs, but there is no specific proportion of council tax receipts which is used to meet this liability.

Departmental NDPBs

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the remit is of each non-departmental public body sponsored by her Department; and what budget each has been set for (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [236918]

Mr. Khan: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 21 October 2008, Official Report, columns 227-28W. Information on NDPBs' remits may be found on their websites.

Energy Performance Certificates

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether her Department has made an assessment of the suitability of reduced data SAP conventions as a model for producing energy performance certificates. [235482]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Reduced Data Standard Assessment Procedure (RDSAP) was developed from the Government's Standard Assessment Procedure (SAP), which apply to all new buildings, for the specific purposes of undertaking energy surveys of existing dwellings. The assessment on suitability was carried out during a three year development period which saw extensive research, analysis and testing by industry relating to the projects specific purposes, and the Building Research Establishment, before RDSAP was approved for use.

Essex County Council

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what discussions she has had with Essex County Council on its proposal for privatisation of its services; and if she will make a statement. [236975]

Mr. Khan: No such discussions have taken place.

Housing Benefit

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment her Department has made of the effect on the supply of private rented accommodation of the introduction of the local housing allowances. [237251]

Mr. Iain Wright: No assessment has been made of the effect on the supply of private rented accommodation of the introduction of the local housing allowance as it is too early to do so. The local housing allowance became operational, nationwide, from 7 April 2008 and only applies to new claimants or existing claimants who have moved to a different address.

The independent review of the private rented sector which Ministers commissioned on 23 January 2008 concluded on 23 October and the published report, headed by Julie Rugg of the university of York, contains major recommendations to improve the way in which local authorities secure accommodation in the private rented sector for low income and vulnerable people.

Housing: Derelict Land

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps she plans to take to make brownfield sites available for housing development. [229864]

Mr. Iain Wright: Building on brownfield land is essential if we are going to develop the homes that the country needs. Communities and Local Government's policies and programmes play a key part in ensuring that this happens. Through 'Planning Policy Statement (PPS) 3: Housing', for example, local planning authorities are required to plan for the long term by identifying developable sites for housing. The policy guidance maintains a continuing focus on recycling land and retains the national target that at least 60 per cent. of new homes should be built on brownfield land. Current performance against this target is 77 per cent.

Policy guidance is also supported by priorities given to delivery bodies, such as the new Homes and Communities Agency which will be established later this year. Sustainability, including the reuse of brownfield land, will be at the heart of its work with a priority to bring about the most effective use of land and the ability to acquire derelict land for the provision of new housing.

Also, in March this year the Government published their response to English Partnerships' recommendations for a national brownfield strategy. The strategy considers brownfield land in the widest sense including all types of development and will help site owners, developers and regulators in the process of returning brownfield land to beneficial use. Work in developing the strategy has demonstrated the importance of a joined-up approach to developing brownfield policy. CLG and DEFRA have agreed to sponsor a new national body—the National Brownfield Forum—to secure better co-ordination at national level. The forum brings together key Whitehall Departments, agencies and industry stakeholders and promotes a more cohesive and inclusive approach to brownfield policy development and encourages knowledge sharing and best practice.

Housing: Low Incomes

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) of 3 November 2008, Official Report, columns 124-5W, on housing: low incomes, and with reference to the December 2004 letter to local authority directors of housing from the Office of the Deputy Prime Minister's Divisional Head of Housing Data and Statistics, which property attributes and fields were requested by the Valuation Office Agency; and which were (a) top priority and (b) mandatory. [236152]

John Healey: The information requested is provided in the following list. No information was imported directly into the Valuation Office Agency's property attribute database.

Mandatory

Housing: Valuation

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) of 22 July 2008, Official Report, column 1400W, on housing: valuation, how many localities have been given a name in addition to a unique reference number. [235869]

John Healey: None.

Information Commissioner

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will implement the recommendations made in respect of her Department by the Information Commissioner in Practice Recommendation, reference FPR0189170. [236132]

Mr. Khan: Communities and Local Government will implement the recommendations made by the Information Commissioner in his Practice Recommendation, and is already making significant improvements in its performance.

Local Authorities: Business

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which local authorities have introduced business improvement districts. [236182]

John Healey: The following list shows the local authorities which have introduced business improvement districts:

Eastern region

Bedford borough council
Great Yarmouth borough council
Ipswich borough council

East midlands

Derby city council
North Kesteven district council

London

Royal Borough of Kingston upon Thames

Local Authorities: Debt Collection

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what powers local authorities have to hire bailiffs to collect unpaid (a) council tax, (b) council housing rent and (c) parking fines. [235833]

John Healey: Local authority enforcement powers, including the levying of distress, for the collection of unpaid council tax are contained in schedule 4 to the Local Government Finance Act 1992 and part VI of the Council Tax (Administration and Enforcement) Regulations 1992 (SI 1992/613).

Under part 6 of the Traffic Management Act 2004 and the Civil Enforcement of Parking Contraventions (England) General Regulations 2007 (SI 2007/3483) local authorities in England that have civil parking enforcement powers have the right to use certificated bailiffs to enforce unpaid penalty charge notices.

There are no powers for local authorities to use privately-employed certified bailiffs in respect of arrears of rent owed by their residential tenants. Action against tenants in rent arrears must take the form of court proceedings, in which case, court bailiffs may be used for enforcement of the order.

Local Authority Business Growth Incentive Scheme

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the policy basis was on which the NUTS 2 territorial groupings were used for the distribution of the new round of funding from the Local Authority Business Growth Incentive Scheme. [235928]

John Healey: The proposed basis for the distribution of rewards in the new round of the Local Authority Business Growth Incentives Scheme is currently subject to consultation. The consultation closes on 20 November 2008. Local authorities have been invited to include, in their responses to the consultation, the sub-regional groupings they consider to be appropriate. No decision has yet been made about the groupings to be used for distributing reward in 2009-10.

Local Government: Bank Services

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) what estimate she has made of the average change in rate of return on local authority investments in 2009-10 resulting from new investment strategies prompted by the collapse of Icelandic banks; [235834]

(2) what estimate she has made of the aggregate loss incurred by local authorities as a result of a reduction in interest earned upon unreturned deposits held by Icelandic banks. [235836]

John Healey: We have made no such estimates. The rate of return on investments by local authorities is a matter for individual councils, taking into account the Department's investment guidance.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of the length of time it will take for local authorities to recover assets deposited in Icelandic banks. [235835]

John Healey: The Government continue to work with the Icelandic authorities to ensure a fair deal for all UK depositors. The administrators of Heritable Bank Plc and Kaupthing Singer and Friedlander Limited bank, Ernst and Young have agreed to provide an estimate on the level of recoverable funds so that local authorities may take this estimate into account in planning their budgets for financial year 2009-10.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether local authorities may invest in government-guaranteed bank bonds. [235837]

John Healey: A local authority may invest in government-guaranteed bank bonds provided that this has been agreed by full council as part of its annual investment strategy.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the right hon. Member for Oxford, East (Mr. Smith) of 4 November 2008, Official Report, column 343W, on local authorities: bank services, if she will place in the Library the advice to local authorities from the Chartered Institute of Public Finance. [235865]

John Healey: I will arrange for a copy of the advice to local authorities from the Chartered Institute of Public Finance and Accountancy to be placed in the Library.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment her Department's predecessor made of the amount of unrecovered deposits by local authorities in the former Bank of Credit and Commerce International, expressed as a proportion of all local authority deposits in 1991-92. [236129]

John Healey: According to the liquidators' website at:

http://www.bcci.info/

admitted creditors of BCCI will have received 86.5 per cent. of their claims by December 2008.

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the level of exposure of each local authority to Icelandic banks is. [236219]

John Healey: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer I gave to the hon. Member for Sutton and Cheam (Mr. Burstow) on 6 November, 2008 Official Report, column 724W.

Local Government: Elections

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of the likely effect on voter turnout of the decision to hold the forthcoming English local elections and elections to the European Parliament on the same date. [235802]

John Healey: When taking the decisions, approved by Parliament, to hold the 2009 English local elections and European Parliament elections on the same date, we had regard to the evidence which showed that the turnout for the combined local and European elections in 2004, was significantly higher than the turnout for the previous equivalent elections which were not combined. For the European elections in 2004, the voter turnout was 38.5 per cent. compared to 24 per cent. in the previous European elections in 1999. For the 2004 district council elections, turnout was 41 per cent. compared to 30 per cent. for the previous equivalent district elections held in 2000.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of the likely effect on public expenditure of the decision to hold the forthcoming English local elections and elections to the European Parliament on the same date; and what plans have been made on the use of any savings accruing from that decision. [235803]

John Healey: While it is difficult to provide an accurate estimate of such savings, the indications are that savings in the region of £10 million could result from holding the English local elections and elections to the European Parliament on the same day. To the extent that the costs of the European elections are reduced, this will be reflected in a lower call on the Consolidated Fund, while any reduction in the costs of local elections will reduce the call on councils' own resources.

Local Government: Reorganisation

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps her Department takes to consult representatives of the historic counties when taking decisions on unitary authorities. [235800]

John Healey: The Association of British Counties, which promotes the historic counties, have made representations to us during our consideration of councils' unitary proposals and the current implementation of the nine new unitary councils approved by Parliament.

Non-Domestic Rates: Ports

Mrs. Ellman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what her assessment is of the impact of retrospective changes to business rates on the port of Liverpool on employment and economic activity in Merseyside; and if she will make a statement. [237303]

John Healey: There is a concern for businesses in the current economic climate receiving large backdated rated liabilities that have to be paid immediately, as the position for a number of port occupiers has demonstrated. We are looking urgently at options for mitigating the financial impact on businesses facing immediate payment of such significant backdated liabilities.

Non-Domestic Rates: Valuation

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the Answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1284W, on non-domestic rates: valuation, how many sub-locations there are in each billing authority area in England. [236033]

John Healey: The information requested cannot be provided without disproportionate cost.

Racial Harassment

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many complaints of racial abuse relating to staff for which her Department is responsible have been (a) investigated and (b) upheld in the last 12 months. [236890]

Mr. Khan: There been no formal complaints of racial abuse relating to staff in the Department in the last 12 months.

Robert Tym Partnership

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when she expects the Robert Tym Partnership to present its report on council tax and empty properties to her Department. [236190]

John Healey: I expect this in due course.

Severn Barrage

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether she has held discussions with the insurance industry on the effects on levels of home insurance of the potential flooding arising from the construction of a Severn Barrage. [235335]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I have been asked to reply.

Assessment of impacts on flood risk is an integral part of the Strategic Environmental Assessment (SEA) commissioned by the Severn Tidal Power Feasibility Study. Should this Study proceed following internal review, further work will be undertaken to better understand the impacts on flood risk, land drainage and ground water levels arising from the construction of the short listed tidal power options for the Severn Estuary.

Small Businesses: Tax Allowances

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of (a) the number of firms that have taken up small business rate relief and (b) the reduction in business rate revenue attributable to the relief in the latest period for which figures are available. [235970]

John Healey: I refer the hon. Member to the answers I gave the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) on 11 December 2007, Official Report, column 559W, and on 3 November 2008, Official Report, column 132W.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent estimate she has made of the take-up rate of small business rate relief. [235971]

John Healey: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) on 13 December 2007, Official Report, column 901W.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1284W, on small business rates: tax allowances, if she will place in the Library a copy of the business rates information letter dated 19th September 2008. [236026]

John Healey: All business rates information letters are available on the Department's website at the following internet address:

http://www.local.communities.gov.uk/finance/busrats1.htm

The letter in question can be found at the following address:

http://www.local.communities.gov.uk/finance/busrats/bri52008.pdf.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what procedure small firms will have to follow to claim the proposed exemption from supplementary business rates. [236092]

John Healey: The Government are consulting on technical issues before finalising detailed arrangements.

Travelling People

Mrs. Laing: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many cases there have been of Green Belt land being released in order to build publicly-owned Gypsy and Traveller sites in the last 10 years. [237750]

Mr. Iain Wright: We do not hold information on the release through the development plan process of Green Belt land for Gypsy and Traveller sites.

Valuation Office: Databases

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Bromley and Chislehurst (Robert Neill) of 6 November 2008, Official Report, column 684W, on Valuation Office: databases, what the 2008-09 budget for the database alignment exercise is; and whether the budget includes payments to Ordnance Survey. [236022]

John Healey: The database alignment exercise is being undertaken by Ordnance Survey. No payments are being made to Ordinance Survey for the alignment work.

HEALTH

Alcoholic Drinks: Learning Disability

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people with a learning disability received NHS treatment for (a) alcohol and (b) drug abuse in the last five years. [236826]

Dawn Primarolo: This information is not collected centrally.

Alcoholic Drinks: Misuse

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the number of children and young people who have parents with alcohol use problems. [237041]

Dawn Primarolo: The Alcohol Harm Reduction Strategy for England, published in March 2004, estimated 1.3 million children were living with at least one parent who misused alcohol. A copy of the strategy has already been placed in the Library.

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment his Department has made of the level of primary care trust spending on services to reduce alcohol harm. [237160]

Dawn Primarolo: Data on national health service spend on alcohol interventions are not collected, however, in 2005 the Alcohol Needs Assessment Research Project reported that the NHS in England, in 2003-04, spent an estimated £217 million on alcohol interventions. An extra £15 million in additional funding has been included within primary care trusts (PCTs) general allocations from 2007-08 to improve alcohol interventions.

Additionally, the National Audit Office have carried out an audit of NHS spend on alcohol interventions. Their report, "Reducing Alcohol Harm: health services in England for alcohol misuse", was published in November 2008 and found, that where primary care trust expenditure on alcohol services was known, an average of £600,000 was spent on commissioning alcohol services in 2006-07. A copy of the report has been placed in the Library.

Care Homes: Injuries

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what guidance his Department provides on manual handling in order to minimise the risk of bruising to care home residents or persons in other care settings; [234839]

(2) what research his Department has commissioned on and what assessment it has made of the reasons for bruising of residents of care homes and persons in other care settings; [234840]

(3) what standards his Department has set for the (a) monitoring and (b) reporting of bruising caused to care home residents. [234841]

Phil Hope: All health and care providers must ensure compliance with the Manual Handling Operations Regulations 1992.

The Care Homes Regulations 2001 and the Domiciliary Care Agencies Regulations 2002 require care providers to make suitable arrangements to provide a safe system for moving and handling service users.

The National Minimum Standards for Care Homes for Younger Adults, Older People and Domiciliary Care Agencies require care managers to ensure safe working practices, including moving and handling and use of techniques for moving people and objects that avoid injury to services users or staff.

The Commission for Social Care Inspection (CSCI), as the regulator, will require registered care providers to adhere to the relevant regulations on lifting and handling and to ensure that staff are trained and updated in appropriate techniques and on how to use equipment by an accredited trainer, and for equipment to be maintained at intervals recommended by the manufacturer.

The Department has not commissioned research into bruising of residents in care settings and does not specifically require bruising to be monitored or reported. However, Regulation 37 of the Care Homes Regulations requires care homes to keep records of and notify CSCI without delay of the death of, serious injury to and any event in the care home which adversely affects the well-being or safety of any service user. CSCI inspectors assess and view these records.

CSCI issues guidance logs to care providers on the CSCI Professionals website at:

http://www.csci.org.uk/professional/care_providers/all_services/guidance/guidance_log_care_homes_for_o.aspx.

These include guidance as to procedures CSCI would advise or expect to see in terms of manual handling in a care home.

Guidance on lifting and handling is also available on the Social Care Institute for Excellence website at:

http://www.scie-peoplemanagement.org.uk/resource/docPreview.asp?docID=18.

Through the National Carers Strategy, launched in June 2008, the "Caring with Confidence" programme has been established as a training programme for carers, with the first training delivered in August 2008 and distance-training modules available from January 2009. It is being run by a consortium, led by the Expert Patients Programme, and also includes the three main carers organisations—Carers UK, Crossroads and the Princess Royal Trust for Carers—and Partners in Policymaking. There is £4.4 million a year to fund the training programme, which will cover a range of issues, including lifting and handling.

Care Homes: Inspections

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what measures relating to infection control form part of the Commission for Social Care Inspection's care home inspection programme; and if he will make a statement. [237040]

Phil Hope: Providers of registered care services are responsible of the health and welfare of people using their services. The Care Homes Regulations 2001 require care homes to make suitable arrangements to prevent infection, toxic conditions and the spread of infection, and to maintain standards of hygiene. The national minimum standards (NMS) for care homes reinforce these requirements. The NMS relating to infection control are key standards; the Commission for Social Care Inspection (CSCI) will always refer to them during a key inspection.

CSCI requires providers to report on the performance of their service annually. This includes specific questions about infection control. If the previous performance of the home gives rise to concerns, or CSCI has received information which raises particular issues, then it will focus on these areas during an inspection.

Continuing Care: Direct Payments

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people received continuing care payments in (a) England, (b) each strategic health authority and (c) each NHS trust in each of the last five years. [236944]

Phil Hope: Data on the total number of people in receipt of continuing care in each year are not collected centrally.

Departmental Co-ordination

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what guidance his Department has received from HM Treasury in the last six months. [235724]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Treasury issues a wide range of policy and financial guidance to Departments. This includes guidance on the publication of 2008 Autumn Performance Reports, and aspects of accounting including the implementation of International Financial Reporting Standards.

Departmental Land

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what plans he has for each of the sites owned by his Department and registered on the Register of Surplus Public Sector Land; what construction projects are planned for each site; and when he expects each site to be returned to use. [236442]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department is actively pursuing the disposal of all the sites in its control that are currently included on the Register of Surplus Public Sector Land. It will be for the purchasers of these sites to determine the use to which they are put and when they are returned to use.

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Maude: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Rochford and Southend East (James Duddridge) of 6 October 2008, Official Report, columns 406-7W, on departmental public relations, which firms were employed; and what topic of work each undertook. [233879]

Mr. Bradshaw: The public relations (PR) agencies which were employed through the Central Office of Information (COI) framework agreement and the topics of work were as follows:

2005-06

The Forster Company - Alcohol Harm Reduction Stakeholder Engagement Programme

Trimedia Communications - EI 11 (health insurance card) PR programme

Munro and Forster Communications - NHS Institute PR

2006-07

Band and Brown Communications - PR for National Breastfeeding Awareness Week

Trimedia Communications - Independent Reconfiguration Panel PR

Pier 55 Ltd - NHS Business Services Authority advertorials

2007-08

Band and Brown Communications - PR for National Breastfeeding Awareness Week

Disabled People: North East

Mrs. Hodgson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many young people in (a) Gateshead and (b) Sunderland are registered as physically disabled. [235963]

Phil Hope: The information requested is not held centrally.

Elderly: Mentally Incapacitated

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) care homes and (b) beds for the elderly mentally infirm there were in (i) England and (ii) each local authority in each of the last five years. [234362]

Phil Hope: I am informed by the Commission for Social Care Inspection (CSCI) that it does not register care homes according to the age of residents. CSCI inspectors will decide at the time of an inspection whether to inspect a home against the national minimum standards (NMS) for care homes for older people or younger adults. This decision is based on the age profile of the residents of the home at the time of inspection.

CSCI does not register care homes according to the client groups, such as those suffering from dementia, which they may accommodate. CSCI will register a home as being able to care for at least one service user from a particular client group. These client groups do not include the "elderly mentally infirm". CSCI registers homes as being able to care for people with dementia, people with learning disability and people with a mental disorder—not including a learning disability or dementia.

Information on the numbers of care homes with at least one place registered to care for older people with dementia and/or mental disorder which were active in each local authority area and England on 31 March at the end of each financial year shown, that had been inspected at some point prior against the NMS for older people (though not necessarily during the year in question), has been placed in the Library.

Health Services: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what expenditure his Department has incurred on the establishment of new health service facilities in Crosby constituency since 1997. [236691]

Mr. Bradshaw: This information is not collected centrally. However, the Sefton Primary Care Trust is a partner in the Liverpool and Sefton Local Improvement Finance Trust scheme which has delivered six primary care centres for patients. This includes the Litherland Town Hall Health Centre which was redeveloped at a cost of £5.1 million and opened to patients in September 2005.

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what capital expenditure his Department has incurred on health service projects in Crosby constituency since 1997. [236692]

Mr. Bradshaw: The information is not available in the format requested. However, the following table shows the total expenditure on purchased additions of fixed assets by national health service body. The Department does not hold information relating to the reasons for this expenditure, or for the geographical areas in which it is spent.

£000

| | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |

| Total purchased fixed assets | 21,212 | 47,059 | 44,690 | 43,578 | 21,986 | 25,893 |

Notes:
1. Data are not available for foundation trusts, so the information for Aintree Hospital NHS Trust only covers the period to 31 July 2006.
2. Sefton Primary Care Trust came into existence in 2006-07, so data prior to this is not available.
3. Levels of capital expenditure vary from year to year depending on local investment decisions.

Audited summarisation schedules

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many finished consultant episodes there were in Crosby constituency in 1997; and how many there have been in 2008 to date. [236700]

Mr. Bradshaw: The information is not available in the format requested. However, the following table shows finished consultant episodes (FCEs) at the Aintree University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust, Sefton primary care trust (PCT), and the former Southport and Formby and South Sefton PCTs.

| | | PCT of responsibility | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Aintree University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust as a provider | Sefton PCT | Southport and Formby PCT | South Sefton PCT |
| 2006-07 | 100,008 | 95,548 | — | — |
| 2005-06 | 97,945 | — | 28,118 | 56,691 |
| 2004-05 | 91,900 | — | 25,360 | 53,478 |
| 2003-04 | 86,747 | — | 26,363 | 52,619 |
| 2002-03 | 78,117 | — | 26,613 | 47,269 |
| 2001-02 | 74,542 | — | — | — |
| 2000-01 | 78,248 | — | — | — |
| 1999-2000 | 74,910 | — | — | — |
| 1998-99 | 73,596 | — | — | — |
| 1997-98 | 80,535 | — | — | — |

Notes:
1. The Southport and Formby PCT and the South Sefton PCTs merged in 2006-07 to create the Sefton PCT—these two PCTs can be added together to compare with 2006-07.
2. As a result of the merger of the Southport and Formby PCT and the South Sefton PCT, figures are provided for these PCTs from 2002-03 to 2005-06. A complex merger occurred prior to 2002-03 and it is not possible to trace which trusts should be included in order to get an accurate comparable figure.
3. Ungrossed data—figures have not been adjusted for shortfalls in data.
4. A FCE is defined as a period of admitted patient care under one consultant within one health care provider. FCEs are counted against the year in which the FCE finishes. The figures do not represent the number of patients, as a person may have more than one episode of care within the year.
5. It is also important that the PCT and trust figures are not added together, as the same FCEs may be counted under both organisations. This is because the trust data look at activity provided by the trust, whereas the PCT activity looks at activity commissioned by the PCT (which may then be provided at Aintree University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust).
6. Data Quality—HES are compiled from data sent by more than 300 NHS trusts and PCTs in England. Data are also received from a number of independent sector organisations for activity commissioned by the English NHS. The Information Centre for health and social care liaises closely with these organisations to encourage submission of complete and valid data and seeks to minimise inaccuracies and the effect of missing and invalid data via HES processes. While this brings about improvement over time, some shortcomings remain.

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many patients in Crosby constituency waited more than six months for treatment in 1997; and how many have done so in 2008 to date. [236701]

Mr. Bradshaw: The information is not available at constituency level.

At quarter 4 1996-97, there were 2,946 patients waiting more than six months for treatment in the former health authority area, which includes the Crosby constituency.

During 2008, no patients within the Sefton primary care trust area have waited more than six months for treatment.

Hospitals: Admissions

Mr. Syms: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate his Department has made of the average length of stay in hospital of a patient in days in the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [235461]

Mr. Bradshaw: The median length of stay is two days. This figure relates to 2006-07 activity in NHS hospitals in England, and activity performed in the independent sector in England which was commissioned by the NHS in England. This is the most recent year for which information is available.

Hospitals: East of England

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much has been spent by the East of England strategic health authority on improving services in hospitals to compensate for the closure of other hospitals in the region in the latest period for which figures are available. [235732]

Mr. Bradshaw: The information requested is not held centrally. The hon. Member may therefore wish to raise this directly with NHS East of England.

Hospitals: Waiting Lists

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what estimate he has made of the cost of additional activity to meet the 18 week target for operation waiting times in each of the last four years; [237043]

(2) what estimate he has made of the likely changes in NHS (a) activity levels and (b) costs from (i) achieving and (ii) maintaining the 18 week target for operation waiting times in the next two years; [237044]

(3) if he will estimate the cost to the NHS of reducing the maximum operation waiting time to (a) 17 weeks, (b) 16 weeks, (c) 14 weeks, (d) 12 weeks and (e) eight weeks. [237045]

Mr. Bradshaw: The 2004 comprehensive spending review provided for an extra £1,000 million and £1,900 million in 2006-07 and 2007-08 respectively for extra outpatient and inpatient activity needed to cover demand growth, existing waiting time initiatives and progress towards the 18 week waiting time target.

Achievement of the 18 week target has required the national health service to increase elective activity at a rate to meet both underlying demand and also clear the backlog of waiters. Achievement of the 18 week target will reduce the required rate of growth to just underlying activity. The Department has not made an estimate of the savings of meeting the 18 week target.

There are no current plans centrally to estimate the cost to the NHS of reducing waiting times below the existing public service agreement 18 week target agreed with HM Treasury. However, primary care trusts may set and fund local stretch targets which include further reductions in maximum waiting times in some areas.

Incontinence: Medical Equipment

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will meet representatives of the User Group Coalition to discuss the revised proposals on Part IX of the Drug Tariff; and if he will make a statement. [234678]

Phil Hope: In conducting the review of arrangements under part IX of the Drug Tariff for the provision of stoma and urology appliances—and related services—in primary care—departmental officials have sought the views of a wide range of interested parties, including patient representatives. The User Coalition Group has met with officials—as have individual members of the group. Unfortunately, due to diary commitments I am unable to meet the group. However, I have asked departmental officials to contact the chair of the group to organise a meeting.

Mr. Syms: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment his Department has made of the likelihood of including contractors for the dispensing of intermittent catheters in the proposed new arrangements for prescription fees under Part IX of the Drug Tariff; and if he will make a statement. [235458]

Phil Hope: The review of the arrangements under Part IX of the Drug Tariff for the provision of stoma and urology appliances—and related services—in primary care had considered all appliances listed in Part IXA (catheter related), Part IXB and Part IXC. Intermittent catheters are included in Part IXC and consequently have been part of this review.

In addition, the review is considering reimbursement for items and remuneration for services to both dispensing appliance contractors (DACs) and pharmacy contractors. If such DACs dispense intermittent catheters then they would be included in any new arrangements for the provision of stoma and urology appliances and related services in primary care under Part IX of the Drug Tariff.

Medical Treatments

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health which treatments have been appraised by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence; which have been (a) fully recommended, (b) partly recommended and (c) not recommended for use in the NHS; and in respect of each treatment what the (i) indication for which it was appraised and (ii) estimated annual eligible patient population is. [237026]

Dawn Primarolo: A summary of technology appraisal guidance published by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence is shown in the following table. Information on the estimated eligible annual population could be collated only at disproportionate cost.

NICE technology appraisals published as at October 2008

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health on what basis the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) decided on a patient population not normally exceeding 7,000 as one of the criteria for consideration of a treatment under the supplementary advice on appraising end-of-life medicines announced by NICE on 4 November 2008; and what consideration was given to applying the advice to patient populations of (a) more than and (b) fewer than 7,000. [237032]

Dawn Primarolo: The National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) is currently carrying out a public consultation on supplementary advice to its appraisal committees when they are asked to appraise life-extending medicines licensed for terminal illnesses affecting small numbers of patients.

The supplementary advice has been developed independently by NICE and states that "The population for which the medicine is indicated and licensed should not normally exceed 7,000, with the intention of including medicines for rarer cancers and other uncommon conditions, and small groups within larger populations. The reason for selecting a small population maximum figure is that it may sometimes be the case that the costs involved in developing medicines for small groups of patients need to be reflected in a higher price, at least for the first indication."

NICE will consider the comments it receives in response to the consultation.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health which interventions (a) have been and (b) are being assessed by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) through its (i) Single Technology Appraisal and (ii) Multiple Technology Appraisal processes; for which indications each treatment has been assessed; what estimate has been made of the annual eligible patient population for each treatment; and in respect of each treatment on which date (A) the treatment received its product licence, (B) the treatment was referred to NICE, (C) NICE began its appraisal and (D) NICE plans to complete its appraisal. [237086]

Dawn Primarolo: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 4 November 2008, Official Report, columns 370-76W, showing the information requested on the timings of single technology appraisals published and in development by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE). Information on appraisals conducted through NICE's multiple technology appraisal programme and information on the estimated eligible annual population for all appraisals could be collated only at disproportionate cost.

Mental Health Services: Children

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the cost of ensuring that no child under the age of 16 years is placed in an adult mental health in-patient ward. [237035]

Ann Keen: No estimate has been made.

The national health service has made significant progress on this issue and the latest available figures, for July to September 2008, show only five bed days for under-16s on adult psychiatric wards. This is the lowest figure since data collection started in 2005.

Mental Health Services: Standards

Stephen Hesford: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what research his Department has undertaken to establish the long-term recovery levels of patients receiving private mental health care for the purposes of benchmarking. [235817]

Phil Hope: The Department has not undertaken any research.

Methadone

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people were prescribed methadone in (a) the Gloucestershire Primary Care Trust area and (b) Stroud constituency in each of the last 10 years. [235961]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department does not hold information on the number of patients treated with a particular drug. However we are able to provide two related sources of data covering the Gloucestershire and Stroud areas. These are the number of methadone prescriptions and the number of people receiving specialist prescribing treatment for drug misuse.

The number of items prescribed and dispensed for methadone is in the following table. This information covers the last 60 months and is based on the primary care trust (PCT) that most closely represents the area requested.

Note:

Methadone can be used to treat more than one condition—it is licensed for use in opioid dependence, as an analgesic and as a cough suppressant.

Number of prescription items (not individuals receiving prescriptions) of methadone

| Financial year | Gloucestershire PCT[1] |
|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 5,995 |
| 2006-07 | 5,559 |
| 2005-06 | 3,990 |
| 2004-05 | 3,046 |

[1] Due to changes in PCT configuration Gloucestershire PCT comprised the following PCTs, pre 2006 changes:
Cheltenham and Tewkesbury PCT
Cotswold and Vale PCT
West Gloucestershire PCT

The National Treatment Agency for Substance Misuse's (NTA) National Drug Treatment Monitoring System (NDTMS) collects data on people in drug treatment in England.

NDTMS records numbers of people receiving specialist prescribing for drug treatment rather than the type of drug which is prescribed. Most of those in treatment receive oral methadone, but buprenorphine or other substitute opioids may also be prescribed.

The NDTMS only records data based on local authority boundaries, and only since 2004-05. The NDTMS does not break down data specifically for Stroud.

Data for the number of people receiving prescribing treatment in the Gloucestershire Primary Care Trust area, for each of the years since 2004-05 are given in the following table.

Number of individual receiving prescribing treating (including methadone) for drug misuse

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 865 |
| 2005-06 | 1,314 |
| 2006-07 | 1,358 |
| 2007-08 | 1,467 |

Methicillin-Resistant Staphylococcus Aureus

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what budget was allocated within the East of Englahd strategic health authority to reduce MRSA in hospitals in the latest period for which figures are available. [235731]

Ann Keen: The information requested is not held centrally. Funding to deliver reduced methicillin-resistant Staphylococcus aureus in hospitals is made available to the national health service mostly through general primary care trust (PCT) allocations. Individual PCT allocations are not broken down into funding or budgets for specific initiatives. It is for the national health service to decide locally how best to meet the national priorities set out in the "NHS Operating Framework" (a copy of which is available in the Library), including how much funding to make available. The hon. Member may therefore wish to raise this directly with NHS East of England.

NHS: Consultants

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) with reference to the analysis of consultants' NHS and private incomes funded by his Department what permission was sought from consultants to use this data; in what ways the data were anonymised; and how much the study cost; [232029]

(2) with reference to the analysis of consultants' NHS and private incomes funded by his Department, what the (a) total income, (b) private income and (c) NHS income was of NHS consultants in the period analysed, broken down by (i) place of work and (ii) place of NHS employment; [232030]

(3) if he will place in the Library a copy of HM Revenue and Customs correspondence files relating to securing access to the tax return database to complete the analysis of consultants NHS and private incomes undertaken by his Department; [232451]

(4) in which regions those consultants funded by his Department and included in its analysis of consultant NHS and private income worked; and what other studies involving interrogation of consultants' and future consultants' tax returns he has commissioned in the last 11 years. [232452]

Ann Keen: The following table gives national health service consultants' average total income, average private income and average NHS income for 2003-04.

The information is presented by pre-2006 strategic health authority (SHA).

Information by place of work and place of NHS employment is not available.

Notes

1. Source: The Table is taken from the article: "Analysis of consultants' NHS and private income in England 2003-04"—Journal of the Royal Society of Medicine 2008.

2. The income variables used were from employment income (assumed to be NHS income) and self-employment income (assumed to be income from private medical practice).

The table also shows the regions in which these consultants worked.

In summer 2006, HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) statisticians created an anonymised statistical dataset for research into the staff market forces factor (MFF) used in NHS resource allocation. The dataset was created by linking selected variables supplied by NHS Information Centre for health and social care from the 2003 NHS Medical and Dental Workforce Census with three income variables derived from HMRC records: total employment income, total self-employment income and the sum of these two variables. Any variables used to link the data were removed prior to access by the academic researcher contracted by Department. This deliberately partial data set contained only the information required by the researcher to carry out the statistical (regression) analysis used in the review of the MFF.

The researcher had access to only this anonymised, statistical dataset. The statistical analyses were undertaken on HMRC premises. Having signed appropriate confidentiality undertakings, the researcher was allowed supervised access to the dataset in an isolated environment with no connection to either HMRC networks and administrative data systems or to external sites via internet or e-mail. HMRC reviewed all statistical output compiled by the researcher and released only aggregate non-disclosive summaries. No outputs based on single or small number of records were released. The smallest sample count in the published report was 30. This is well within the guidelines for dissemination of statistics in National Statistics protocols. The researcher was not allowed to return to the dataset once the agreed analysis had been completed.

As will be clear from the table, it was impossible to link records in the statistical dataset with any data relating to an identifiable individual, so no permission was sought from NHS consultants for this research to take place.

The total cost of the contract for research into the staff MFF was £75,000. The analysis of private sector earnings of NHS consultants was a relatively small, but influential part of the review of the MFF. The final research report on the review of the staff MFF will be made available on the Department of Health website alongside the PCT revenue allocations, to be announced at the time of the Operating Framework for the NHS later this year.

The correspondence files relating to securing access to the tax return data base do not exist, since no one was given access to a data base of tax returns. The process that was followed to give access to an anonymised data set is as described.

In the last 11 years, HMRC has conducted surveys into consultants' earnings on behalf of the Department of Health for tax years 1998-99 to 2004-05 inclusive, using data from HMRC records. No outputs from this work have been provided to non-HM Revenue and Customs personnel in either pseudo-anonymised or non-anonymised form. HMRC released only anonymised outputs to the Department of Health or to the NHS Information Centre for health and Social care.

In addition, at the request of the Department for 2003-04 only, HMRC created an anonymised statistical dataset relating to consultants' earnings. It contained only the pre-arranged data items for a sample of 24,407 cases that were necessary to enable researchers acting on behalf of the Department of Health to undertake statistical analysis. The researchers were allowed supervised access to the dataset on HMRC premises. HMRC reviewed the outputs from the statistical analysis to ensure that only non-disclosive summary and aggregate statistics were compiled and used in the report.

NHS: Improving Access to Medicines

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to paragraph 5.12 of the report to his Department on improving access to NHS medicines by Professor Mike Richards CBE, how his Department plans to encourage primary care trusts to work together to make proactive commissioning decisions. [235619]

Mr. Bradshaw: On 4 November, the Secretary of State accepted this recommendation and the national health service chief executive wrote to all strategic health authority (SHA) chief executives to ask them to review, by April 2009, the way in which primary care trusts in their area collaborate to support effective decision-making on new drugs.

All SHAs are now taking forward this piece of work in their local areas.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when he plans to implement Recommendation 3 of improving access to medicines for NHS patients. [237062]

Mr. Bradshaw: We will publish in the new year a set of core principles to inform the way in which primary care trusts make decisions about funding new drugs, followed by detailed good practice guidance for the national health service.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what timetable he has set for implementing Recommendation 6 of improving access to medicines for NHS patients; whether he plans to publish the results of the work; and if he will make a statement. [237081]

Dawn Primarolo: The Secretary of State has asked Professor Mike Richards to take forward this piece of work, with a view to making the results public at the end of 2009.

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to his Statement of 4 November 2008, Official Report, columns 131-33, on NHS patients: access to medicines, which drugs he will refer back to the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence for re-appraisal. [237097]

Dawn Primarolo: We have no plans to refer any drugs or treatments back to the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) for reappraisal. NICE already has a system in place for periodically reviewing those appraisals it has published.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the Statement of 4 November 2008, Official Report, columns 131-33, on NHS patients: access to medicines, what steps he expects the NHS trust to take with regard to the funding of any treatment needed as a result of complications in circumstances where it is not possible to identify whether complications have resulted from a patient's private or NHS treatment. [235729]

Mr. Bradshaw: The draft revised guidance published by the Department on 4 November is clear that, where patients pay for additional, private treatment, the national health service should not be expected to meet any predictable costs resulting from the private element of care. Copies of the guidance have already been placed in the Library.

However, in circumstances where it is not possible to identify whether complications have resulted from a patient's private or NHS treatment, or in an emergency, patients should, of course, be entitled to NHS care.

NHS: Manpower

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many full-time equivalent staff work at (a) the NHS Blood and Transplant Authority, (b) NHS Professionals, (c) the Commission for Social Care Inspection, (d) the General Social Care Council, (e) the Healthcare Commission, (f) the Appointments Commission, (g) the Mental Health Act Commission, (h) the Social Care Institute for Excellence, (i) the Hepatitis Advisory Group, (j) the AIDS Expert Advisory Group and (k) the Healthcare Regulatory Council. [233287]

Mr. Bradshaw: The information requested is as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| Arm's Length Bodies | |
| NHS Blood and Transplant | [1]5,579.86 |
| NHS Professionals | [1]272.32 |

NHS: Private Sector

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to paragraph 11 of his Department's equality impact assessment on NHS patients who wish to pay for additional private care, which private treatments currently unavailable will be made available on the NHS. [235608]

Dawn Primarolo: The future use of specific interventions within the national health service will depend on a variety of factors, including recommendations made by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to paragraph 9.6 of his Department's consultation document on Guidance on NHS patients who wish to pay for additional private care, what his Department's definition is of unreasonable profit. [235617]

Mr. Bradshaw: The draft revised guidance the Department published on 4 November sets out the clear principles that should be applied to every situation where a national health service patient chooses to purchase additional care privately.

One of these principles is that the NHS should not be seen to be profiting unreasonably from patients in these circumstances.

The Department does not consider it sensible to try to define this at a national level and the Government do not set prices for private healthcare. Instead, the principle set out in the guidance sets a clear expectation to all NHS organisations that any charges they make in their capacity as providers of private care must be reasonable and justifiable. It is then for NHS organisations to apply this principle locally, in line with their particular local circumstances.

A copy of the guidance has already been placed in the Library.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what his policy is on whether patients will have to pay for the full cost of the NHS element if they wish to proceed with the private element in cases where it is impossible to separate a private element of a patient's treatment from an NHS-provided element. [235618]

Mr. Bradshaw: The draft revised guidance, published by the Department of Health on 4 November, sets out clearly the principles that should apply in circumstances where patients wish to purchase additional, private care. It says that:

"As overriding rules, it is essential that:

the NHS should never subsidise private care with public money, which would breach core NHS principles; and patients should never be charged for their NHS care, which would contravene the founding principles and legislation of the NHS."

The guidance goes on to say that,

"in order to ensure that there is no risk of the NHS subsidising private care:

It should always be clear whether an individual procedure or treatment is privately funded or NHS funded.

Private and NHS care should be kept as clearly separate as possible.

Private care should be carried out at a different time and place. A different place would include the facilities of a private health care provider, or part of an NHS organisation which has been designated for private care, including amenity beds.

This guidance applies to additional private health care that patients receive over and above their NHS care. It does not permit a "pick and mix" approach where patients can pay to upgrade any individual elements of their NHS care."

The guidance has already been placed in the Library.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the Statement of 4 November 2008, Official Report, columns 131-33, on NHS patients: access to medicines, how many patients he expects will take up the right to purchase separate private care in each of the next three years. [235730]

Mr. Bradshaw: The measures announced by my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State on 4 November will improve access to drugs for national health service patients, reducing the number of patients likely to purchase additional care privately. The Department does not have sufficient data to estimate patient numbers reliably.

However, the Secretary of State accepted Professor Mike Richards's recommendation that the Department should commission a national audit of demand for unfunded drugs. The Secretary of State has asked Professor Richards to lead this work.

Nurses: Maternity Services

Justine Greening: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many registered neonatal nurses he estimates will be required in neonatal intensive care units in (a) Wandsworth and (b) London in (i) 2009, (ii) 2010 and (iii) 2011. [237298]

Ann Keen: It is for local national health service organisations to analyse their local work force needs and develop plans, in liaison with commissioners, providers and service users, to deliver high quality, safe services and take action to secure the appropriate staff and skills to deliver these services.

Justine Greening: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many registered neonatal nurses there are in (a) Wandsworth and (b) London. [237299]

Ann Keen: Neonatal nurses are not currently identifiable within the NHS census data collected by the Information Centre for health and social care. The number of qualified paediatric nurses in the London strategic health authority area, Kingston Hospital NHS Trust, and St. George's Healthcare NHS Trust can be found in the following table.

NHS hospital and community health services: Qualified paediatric nurses in the London strategic health authority area and each specified organisation as at 30 September 2007

| | Headcount |
|---|---|
| London strategic health authority area | 4,164 |
| Of which: | |
| Kingston Hospital NHS Trust | 70 |
| St. George's Healthcare NHS Trust | 146 |

Note:
Data quality: Work force statistics are compiled from data sent by more than 300 NHS trusts and primary care trusts (PCTs) in England. The NHS Information Centre for health and social care liaises closely with these organisations to encourage submission of complete and valid data and seeks to minimise inaccuracies and the effect of missing and invalid data. Processing methods and procedures are continually being updated to improve data quality. Where this happens any impact on figures already published will be assessed but unless this is significant at national level they will not be changed. Where there is impact only at detailed or local level this will be footnoted in relevant analyses.

Obesity

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what information he holds on the number of children who have been estimated to be obese or seriously overweight in each of the last 10 years for which figures are available; and how many teenagers have been diagnosed with diabetes in each such year. [235823]

Dawn Primarolo: Information on the percentage of children aged two to 15 who are overweight or obese in each of the last 10 years is available from the "Health Survey for England 2006 Latest trends: Children trend tables 2006" published on 31 January 2008. The information can be found on table 4. This publication has already been placed in the Library.

Further information on the percentage of children who are overweight or obese is also available for the year 2006-07 for those in school year reception (aged four to five) and year 6 (aged 10 to 11) from the National Child Measurement Programme (NCMP). This information is available in the "National Child Measurement Programme: 2006/07 school year, headline results" published on 21 February 2008. The prevalence of obese children can be found in table 1 (page 3). This publication has already been placed in the Library.

Information on the number of teenagers diagnosed with diabetes in each of the last 10 years is not available.

Patient Choice Schemes

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health which primary care trusts use NHS Direct as their Choose and Book appointments line. [236955]

Mr. Bradshaw: All primary care trusts have the facility to use the Choose and Book appointments line run by NHS Direct on behalf of the national health service.

While the vast majority of primary care trusts use this service for all of their calls, five primary care trusts have taken the operational decision to only use it for out of hours services between the period 07.00 to 09.00 and 17.00 to 22.00 hours Monday to Friday and 07.00 to 22.00 on a Saturday, Sunday and bank holidays.

Where primary care trusts take the decision to organise their own service outside of the nationally provided arrangement, the service is funded locally by the primary care trust.

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the average cost per call to the NHS Direct National Choose and Book appointments line was in each of the last three years; and how much income the service generated in each year. [237164]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department does not collect information on the cost incurred by individual patients calling the national 0845 608 8888 number. The actual cost incurred by patients will vary depending on whether a patient calls from a landline or mobile and what cost tariff they are on with the phone service provider. The National Choose and Book Appointment Line do not generate any income from patient calls made to the service.

Patients can also book their appointment, free of charge, either via the internet or in their general practitioner (GP) surgery at the time of their referral by the GP.

The cost to NHS Direct of providing the National Choose and Book Appointment Line service is paid for from national health service financial resources.

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health in what proportion of appointments booked via the NHS Direct National Choose and Book appointments line a hard copy confirmation of the booking was posted to the patient within two days in each of the last 36 months. [237165]

Mr. Bradshaw: The NHS Direct choose and book appointments line are not responsible for posting a hard copy confirmation of a patient's booking. Details of a patient's appointment are conveyed over the telephone when patients choose to book their appointment in this way, with clinical details about a patient's appointment sent by the provider of their choice who in most cases will send the patient a hard copy confirmation of their booking.

Prescriptions

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what percentage of prescription items were dispensed to patients as repeat prescriptions in (a) Vale of York constituency and (b) England in the last three years. [233208]

Phil Hope: The Department does not hold the information regarding the percentage of prescriptions which are issued as repeat prescriptions.

Quality Adjusted Life Year

John Bercow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the progress on the research commissioned by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) from the National Institute for Health Research to consider public opinion on NICE's use of the Quality Adjusted Life Year as a basis for its recommendations. [234674]

Dawn Primarolo: We have made no such assessment. The National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) is an independent organisation and is responsible for considering the impact of research on its methods and processes.

NICE commissioned the National Institute for Health Research (NIHR) to conduct two pieces of research into the use of the Quality Adjusted Life Year (QALY). The 'What is the value to society of a QALY?' report was published in July 2008 and 'The relative societal value of health gains to different beneficiaries' report was published in August 2008.

Sight Impaired

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many registered blind people there are, broken down by (a) region and (b) constituency; and if he will make a statement. [235925]

Phil Hope: Data on the number of registered blind and partially sighted people are not collected centrally by constituency but are available for councils with adult social services responsibilities and Government office regions.

Information collected 31 March 2008, shows that 153,000 people were on the register of blind people, a slight increase of around 500 (0.3 per cent.) from March 2006 although there were 10,200 new registrations to the register of blind people, a fall of 5 per cent. compared to 2006.

The following table shows the number of blind and partially sighted people registered with councils with adult social services responsibilities in England.

Sugar

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the health effects of a significant reduction in the sugar content of soft drinks. [235819]

Dawn Primarolo: Current United Kingdom dietary recommendations for maximal levels of sugar intake are based on a review of the evidence carried out by the Committee on Medical Aspects of Food Policy (COMA) in 1991, and are in line with a more recent review by the World Health Organisation (WHO) in 2003. The Scientific Advisory Committee on Nutrition, which now advises the Government on nutrition issues, are about to embark on a review of the evidence on carbohydrates and health, including sugars and sources of sugar. As a result, dietary advice and any recommendations on specific foods will be amended accordingly.

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what meetings officials of (a) his Department and (b) the Food Standards Agency have had with representatives of food and soft drink manufacturers on the reduction of added sugar levels in food products in the last 12 months; what good practice case studies his Department has identified as suitable for promotion to manufacturers; and what steps he plans to take further to encourage manufacturers to reduce the calorific content of food products; [235820]

(2) what steps the Food Standards Agency is taking to encourage major retailers to reduce the sugar content of their own brand food and beverage products; [235822]

(3) what targets the Food Standards Agency has set for the substitution of extrinsic sugars by low calorie sweeteners in (a) food and (b) beverages; what progress has been made towards those targets; what assessment he has made of the public health benefits which will arise as a result of future progress towards those targets; and if he will make a statement. [235832]

Dawn Primarolo: The Food Standards Agency (FSA) has lead responsibility for taking forward the work with industry to reduce consumption of, and levels of, sugar in food, including drinks with added sugar, as laid down in the cross-Government obesity strategy "Healthy Weight Healthy Lives".

As part of this initiative, the FSA is meeting with food industry representatives, including the major retailers and their suppliers, to pursue reductions in sugar to soft drinks. It has met with representatives of the soft drinks industry on four occasions over the past 12 months—one soft drinks industry meeting and individual meetings with Britvic (twice) and Coca Cola Bottlers (Ulster). In these discussions, examples of sugar reductions achieved have been reported by Britvic, Coca Cola and GlaxoSmithKline in some of their branded ranges. Departmental officials have not met with industry to discuss sugar reduction specifically.

The FSA is developing aspirational targets for reductions in added sugar and saturated fat in a range of key contributing food products as part of its Saturated Fat and Energy Intake Programme.

Sugar reductions in soft drinks are being encouraged by the FSA while maintaining taste, quality and consumer acceptability. Specific targets for the substitution of sugar with sweeteners have not been set.

Surgery

Mr. Syms: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate his Department has made of the average (a) length of hospital stay of an invasive surgery patient and (b) cost per day for an invasive surgery patient to stay in hospital in the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [235459]

Mr. Bradshaw: It is not possible to provide an estimate of the average cost per day, as the data collected as part of the annual NHS reference cost collection include all costs associated with treatment and service provision, and not just the cost of the stay in hospital.

It is not possible to provide an estimate of the average length of stay, as specific data relating to the average length of stay for invasive surgery patients are not collected centrally.

Wines: Hazardous Substances

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what checks are in place to ensure that wine sold in the UK does not contain harmful levels of metals such as lead, zinc and copper; and if he will make a statement. [237005]

Dawn Primarolo: Food Authorities and the Food Standards Agency wine standards inspectors as part of their routine enforcement work carry out checks including sampling on wine sold within the United Kingdom to ensure that the wine complies with relevant wine-sector and food safety legislation.

BUSINESS, ENTERPRISE AND REGULATORY REFORM

BT: Public Telephones

Mr. Gray: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what recent representations he has received on BT's public service obligation on the provision of public pay phones. [233618]

Ian Pearson: BERR officials have received correspondence from a number of local authorities on BT's national rationalisation programme. Under Office of Communications (Ofcom) guidelines, unitary authority consent is required before BT can remove a payphone where there is not another payphone located within 400 m and BT has therefore been consulting with local authorities across England, Wales and Scotland on proposals to remove low-usage payphones in their area. Ofcom is aware of BT's plans and BT are adhering to its guidelines for payphone removals. Further details on Ofcom's guidelines is available from their website at:

http://www.ofcom.org.uk/consult/condocs/uso/uso_statement/uso_plain_english/

Departmental Conditions of Employment

Mrs. May: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what percentage of employees in his Department (a) are on a flexible working contract, (b) are on a job share employment contract and (c) work from home for more than four hours per week. [233825]

Mr. McFadden: The Department considers flexible working opportunities are a key part of a healthy and productive working environment.

Flexible working options available include a range of working patterns that can be requested by all staff and can help individuals gain a work-life balance. These include home-working, flexi-time, part-time working, job share, compressed hours and annualised or term-time working.

Guidance, available to all staff and managers, contains best practice hints and tips for flexible workers and managers, specific guidance on skills and how to manage work and performance.

Currently 56 per cent of staff in the Department report that they work flexibly.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Heald: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what the cost of maintaining the Departmental website for the 2007-08 financial year is; and what forecast has been made of the cost of maintaining websites within his responsibility for the 2008-09 financial year. [231379]

Mr. McFadden: The main cost elements of the upkeep of the Department's website are:

The Rhythmyx content management system (CMS). The CMS is used by staff across the Department and cost £1,029,474.83 in 2007-08. The forecast cost for 2008-9 is £1,180,000.

Provision and maintenance of the site's search engine facility by a third-party supplier, Open Objects. In 2007-08 this cost £15,784.2. The forecast cost for 2008-9 is £25,000.

Postal Services: Liverpool

Mrs. Ellman: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what his assessment is of the impact of Royal Mail's proposal to close the sorting office at Copperas Hill, Liverpool on employment in the city; and if he will make a statement. [237302]

Mr. McFadden: Decisions relating to operational matters, which include decisions on the restructuring of Royal Mail's sorting office operations, are the direct responsibility of the company's management.

Given that volumes of mail are falling due to the upsurge in the use of digital media for communications, it is important that Royal Mail structures its operations as efficiently as possible so that it can compete in a liberalised market, while continuing to maintain the universal postal service at affordable prices.

Regulation: Departmental Coordination

Mr. Maude: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what guidance his Department has given to other Government Departments, agencies and non-departmental public bodies on their obligations under the Code of Practice on Guidance on Regulation. [233543]

Ian Pearson: Guidance on how to comply with the obligations under the code is contained in a Guide to the Code of Practice on Guidance, published alongside the code of practice. The guide is available at:

http://www.berr.gov.uk/files/file46951.pdf

The Anderson Review of Guidance was announced in the Enterprise White Paper in April 2008 and will report at the end of November. The review will make a series of further recommendations on how to improve guidance for business.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Bereavement Benefits: Publications

Mr. Rooney: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions for what reasons leaflet D49 on bereavement benefits has been withdrawn; and what plans he has to publish a replacement for it. [235471]

Jonathan Shaw [holding answer 13 November 2008]: Leaflet D49 (titled "What to do after a death in England and Wales") was published in April 2006. A review of the leaflet earlier in 2008 raised a risk that some of the details in the leaflet were now inaccurate, and could mislead citizens if the title remained in circulation.

More recent versions of the information within D49 continue to be available on several government websites, and can be printed locally by the individual or on their behalf, during the brief period while a replacement to D49 is prepared.

The replacement to D49 is currently being agreed by senior policy officials from four different Government Departments responsible for registrars, coroners, probate and benefits. It is expected that the replacement leaflet DWP1027 will be published in December 2008.

To ensure that citizens are aware of their entitlement to bereavement benefits, an interim factsheet has also been produced to fill the gap until the replacement leaflet is published. The factsheet is available online, and has been made available to registrars and coroners offices across Great Britain for them to issue as appropriate.

Child Support Agency: Complaints

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many complaints about the Child Support Agency were received by the Independent Case Examiner in each of the last three years; and how many cases accepted by the Examiner have taken (a) more than six months, (b) more than nine months and (c) 12 months or more to reach a conclusion. [235889]

Kitty Ussher: The Independent Case Examiner's office does not hold all the information in the format requested. Such information as is available is in the table.

| | Number of complaints received about the Child Support Agency | Average case clearance in weeks for cases accepted |
|---|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 3,187 | 22.46 |
| 2006-07 | 3,927 | 18.86 |
| 2007-08 | 3,860 | 21.21 |

Children: Maintenance

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what his estimate is of the number of children who would be lifted from both (a) absolute and (b) relative poverty should all non-resident parents pay child maintenance; and if he will make a statement. [233097]

Kitty Ussher [holding answer 4 November 2008]: The receipt of child maintenance payments currently helps to lift around 100,000 children out of relative poverty.

We estimate that, under the current system of child maintenance, if all non-resident parents with a positive maintenance liability paid their child maintenance this would lift around 100,000 more children out of relative poverty.

Estimates of the impact on absolute poverty if all non-resident parents paid child maintenance are not available.

Notes:

1. Number of children lifted out of poverty is defined as the number of children in households lifted above 60 per cent. of equivalised median household income before housing costs after the receipt of child maintenance payments.

2. Estimates are based on analysis of 2006-07 Family Resources Survey and are rounded to the nearest 100,000.

Council Tax

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people received council tax benefit in (a) North Yorkshire and (b) the Vale of York constituency in each year since 1997. [237120]

Kitty Ussher: Information is not available at parliamentary constituency level. Information is available for North Yorkshire for benefit units comprising single people and couples.

The following table provides the number of benefit units receiving council tax benefit in each year since 1997.

North Yorkshire

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 1997 | 35,330 |
| 1998 | 32,940 |
| 1999 | 32,900 |

| 2006 | 35,160 |
| 2007 | 35,440 |

Notes:
1. Data refer to benefit units, which may be a single person or a couple.
2. The figures have been rounded to the nearest 10.
3. Figures for any non-responding authorities have been estimated.
4. Council tax benefit totals exclude any second adult rebate cases.

Jobseeker's allowance (income-based) are published in the report "Income Related Benefits Estimates of Take-Up in 2006-07". Estimates of the number of people eligible for the additional amount for carers in pension credit are not available.

The number of people in receipt of pension credit and carer's allowance over the last five years is shown in table 1 and all pension credit expenditure on recipients entitled to the extra amount for carers is shown in table 2.

Table 1: Pension credit and carer's allowance

| | | Pension credit | |
|---|---|---|---|
| As at February each year | Carer's allowance | Total pension credit recipients | Recipients with the additional amount for caring |
| 2004 | 656,310 | 2,282,300 | 95,200 |
| 2005 | 721,610 | 2,654,670 | 153,810 |
| 2006 | 777,910 | 2,709,220 | 187,830 |
| 2007 | 823,820 | 2,730,940 | 215,050 |
| 2008 | 872,080 | 2,723,140 | 237,700 |

Notes:
1. Carer's allowance figures include those people who are entitled to carer's allowance but who do not receive a payment as a result of the overlapping benefit rules.
2. Case load figures are rounded to the nearest 10.
3. Pension credit recipients are people who claim pension credit either for themselves only or on behalf of a household.
4. From February 2005, estimates are derived from Work and Pensions Longitudinal Study 100 per cent. data. Prior to this, information on receipt of carer's addition in pension credit is not available from the same source, so estimates are derived from 5 per cent. Sample data.

Council Tax: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people he estimates were (a) eligible for and (b) in receipt of council tax benefit in Crosby constituency in each year since 1997. [236608]

Kitty Ussher: The information is not available in the format requested.

The latest estimates of the number of entitled non-recipients of means-tested benefit in Great Britain are published in the report 'Income Related Benefits Estimates of Take-Up in 2006-07', copies of which are available in the Library. The report includes information about council tax benefit, income support, pension credit, housing benefit and jobseeker's allowance (income based).

Estimates of eligibility are not available below the level of Great Britain.

Information for recipients of council tax benefit is not available at constituency level.

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Maude: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Rochford and Southend East (James Duddridge) of 6 October 2008, Official Report, column 59W, on departmental buildings, what the cost of each refurbishment was. [233387]

Jonathan Shaw: Details of the costs associated with all completed refurbishments, as provided in the reply of 6 October 2008, Official Report, column 59W, will be placed in the Library.

Departmental Land

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much surplus land (a) his Department and (b) its agencies own; and what the (i) area and (ii) estimated monetary value of each site is. [236425]

Jonathan Shaw: My Department and its agencies do not hold any surplus land.

Departmental Manpower

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many and what proportion of the headcount reduction in his Department in each year since 2004 were (a) redeployed within his Department including its business units, (b) redeployed elsewhere within the Civil Service, including the names of the destination departments and (c) placed on his Department's employment register. [219496]

Jonathan Shaw: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

From March 2004 to March 2008 staffing in the Department was reduced by 31,101 full-time equivalent posts. During this period a number of staff were declared surplus. The number of surplus staff who were redeployed internally or to other Government Departments together with the relative proportions to the reduction (where information is held) is shown in the following table.

| | Surplus staff redeployed within DWP | Proportion of reduction in staffing (percentage) | Surplus staff who transferred to other Departments | Proportion of reduction in staffing (percentage) |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2004-05 | Information not held. | n/a | Information not held | n/a |
| 2005-06 | 1,896 | 30 | 254 | 4 |
| 2006-07 | 2,830 | 45 | 147 | 2 |
| 2007-08 | 1,881 | 30 | 182 | 3 |
| Total | 6,607 | 35 | 583 | 3 |

Note:
Proportions are approximate as headcount reductions were measured on a full-time equivalent basis and surplus/redeployments on an individual member of staff basis.

Over the same period 3,272 staff, who had not been declared surplus, also voluntarily transferred to other Departments. A breakdown for each year is shown in the following table:

| | Staff transferring to other Government Department | Proportion of reduction in staffing (percentage) |
|---|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 1,128 | 11 |
| 2005-06 | 826 | 13 |
| 2006-07 | 618 | 10 |
| 2007-08 | 700 | 11 |
| Total | 3,272 | 11 |

Note:
Proportions are approximate as headcount reductions were measured on a full-time equivalent basis and surplus-redeployments on an individual member of staff member.

Only limited information is available on the Department to which all transferees moved to during the period. The available information is summarised in the following table:

| Department | Number of staff transferring from DWP |
|---|---|
| Home Office | 435 |
| Ministry of Justice | 137 |
| Department for Transport | 116 |
| Ministry of Defence | 68 |
| Department for Trade and Industry | 64 |
| Scottish Executive | 64 |
| Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs | 62 |
| HM Revenue and Customs | 55 |
| Department of Health | 39 |
| HM Treasury and Treasury Solicitor | 36 |
| Department for Education and Skills | 34 |
| HM Land Registry | 31 |
| Crown Prosecution Service | 27 |
| Department for Communities and Local Government | 21 |
| Cabinet Office | 20 |
| Health and Safety Executive | 10 |
| Others | 75 |
| Total | 1,294 |

Note:
Departmental names shown as at the time staff member transferred.

In addition to normal resignations and retirements over the four year period, 8,370 staff left the Department on a voluntary basis under early release schemes. Of these no member of staff was required to leave the Department against their will.

No personnel records are kept on whether or not staff who leave the Department join the employment register.

Departmental Official Visits

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much was spent on overnight accommodation by his Department's civil servants in the last 12 months. [228786]

Jonathan Shaw: During the 12 months from September 2007 to August 2008 the Department employed an average of 114,000 staff.

The total spent on overnight accommodation for staff in that period was £12.4 million.

Departmental Postal Services

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what steps his Department has taken to monitor the cost of its mail services in the last 12 months. [221486]

Jonathan Shaw: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

The Department for Work and Pensions proactively monitors and manages the cost of its mail services to ensure best value for money from the utilisation of public funds. Over the past 12 months, the Department has continued to work closely with Royal Mail to make improved use of new postal products/services (e.g. introducing Packet post and Clean Mail advance services to DWP sites). Since the introduction of online business accounts by Royal Mail in September 2007, the Department has used this service extensively to obtain clearer visibility of management information on the postal spend across the DWP network.

The Department has made use of liberalisation within the postal market place for down stream access from our two service delivery centres with our provider UK Mail. The Department will continue to monitor the developing postal market place, and maximise the use of pan-Government opportunities to maximise costs and efficiencies for business delivery and taxpayers.

Departmental Public Participation

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what (a) reviews and (b) public consultations have been initiated by his Department since 27 June 2007. [221363]

Jonathan Shaw: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

Information on the number of reviews that the Department and its agencies have undertaken since 27 June 2007 is not held centrally. However, the Department for Work and Pensions constantly keeps under review its regulation, policy and operations.

Current and closed public consultations are set out in the following table.

Disability Living Allowance

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the number of people who received (a) disability living allowance higher rate mobility component and (b) war pensioners' mobility component in the latest period for which figures are available; and how many vehicle excise duty exemptions were made for each group. [220310]

Jonathan Shaw: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

At November 2007, 1,719,920 people were in receipt of the higher rate mobility component of disability living allowance. Information about the number of vehicle excise duty exemption certificates issued by this Department for people in this group could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Information about the war pensioners' mobility component is a matter for my right hon. Friend, the Secretary of State for Defence.

Employment and Support Allowance

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) what proportion of operational staff he estimates will be fully trained to operate the IT systems for the introduction of the employment and support allowance; [220211]

(2) how many Jobcentre Plus branches operate the customer account management system in anticipation of the introduction of the employment and support allowance. [220247]

Mr. McNulty: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

The administration of Jobcentre Plus is a matter for the Chief Executive of Jobcentre Plus, Lesley Strathie. I have asked her to provide the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Lesley Strathie:

The Secretary of State has asked me to reply to your questions asking what proportion of operational staff he estimates will be fully trained to operate the IT systems for the introduction of the Employment and Support Allowance on 27th October 2008; and how many Jobcentre Plus branches operate the Customer Account Management system in anticipation of the introduction of the Employment and Support Allowance. This is something that falls within the responsibilities delegated to me as Chief Executive of Jobcentre Plus.

For the introduction of Employment and Support Allowance (ESA), we are introducing the Customer Account Management (CAM) system to capture new claim information and we have adapted the Jobseeker's Allowance Payment System to make payments to ESA customers.

CAM will not be deployed within Jobcentre Plus offices before the introduction of ESA. Jobcentre Plus is implementing ESA using a carefully phased approach. The CAM system will initially be deployed in one of the 64 Benefit Delivery Centres, its linked Jobcentres, and the 6 Contact Centres that will handle ESA claims from 27 October 2008. The rest of the Benefit Delivery Centre and Jobcentre network processing ESA will operate clerical data input processes, with CAM rolling out fully following an evaluation of the initial deployment of the system. Further roll out is currently planned, subject to evaluation for the first half of 2009.

We have put in place a rolling training plan to ensure that staff can confidently use these new programmes whilst maintaining a full service to our customers.

This phased approach to CAM will provide an opportunity to learn from the initial deployment to ensure that a fully optimised system rolls out nationally. We are confident that, with the plans we have in place, ESA will be successfully delivered in October 2008, but we do not underestimate the challenge for Jobcentre Plus that ESA represents. ESA is not simply a new benefit but a cultural shift to focus on customers' capability to improve their lives through finding and staying in work.

Health and Safety Executive: Inspections

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what assessment he has made of the effect of Health and Safety Executive inspections on safety in the workplace. [219332]

Jonathan Shaw: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

Inspection is an important part of ensuring Health and Safety laws are adhered to. Research has indicated that inspection has an influence in this respect; alongside a variety of other factors which are also influential.

HSE influences employers in many different ways; including the provision of advice and guidance, and interventions through inspection, campaigns, blitzes and formal enforcement. The prime factor which governs whether there are fatalities, injuries or ill health at work is the motivation of the employer. Changes in employer motivation cannot solely be achieved through HSE inspection.

HSE regularly reviews and revisits the impact of its interventions on health and safety outcomes. HSE is already developing further research that assesses the impact of inspection and associated activities, over and above the influence of other factors, on health and safety outcomes.

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many Health and Safety Executive inspections he expects to take place in 2008. [219334]

Jonathan Shaw: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

The Health and Safety Executive (HSE) expects to increase its operational productivity by 2 per cent. in 2008-09, compared to that in 2007-08. In 2007-08, HSE spent 190,561 days on frontline activity which includes inspection, investigation, assessment of safety cases and other work.

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many Health and Safety Executive inspections took place in each of the last three years. [219335]

Jonathan Shaw: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

The Health and Safety Executive (HSE) records the amount of time spent on frontline activity which includes inspection, investigation, assessment of safety cases and other work, rather than the number of inspections carried out.

For the three years; 2005-06, 2006-07 and 2007-08, the time spent by HSE on frontline activity was:

Health and Safety Executive Inspections

| Frontline activity | Number of days |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 174,040 |
| 2006-07 | 184,843 |
| 2007-08 | 190,561 |

Health and Safety Executive: Manpower

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many inspectors were employed by the Health and Safety Executive's Nuclear Directorate in each of the last five years, broken down by division. [236567]

Jonathan Shaw: The answer to the question is provided in the following table.

Number of inspectors[1] working in the Health and Safety Executive's Nuclear Directorate 1 April 2004 to 1 April 2008

Headcount

| Division | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 | 2007 | 2008 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Director of NSD | 1 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 1 |
| Civil Nuclear Power Regulation | 56 | 58 | 53 | 61 | 44 |
| Nuclear Chemical and Research Site Regulation | 58 | 53 | 48 | 50 | 54 |
| Defence Nuclear Facilities Regulation | 38 | 40 | 41 | 41 | 39 |
| Operational Strategy, Communication and Stakeholder Engagement and Business Systems[2] | 29 | 22 | 25 | 28 | 17 |
| Nuclear Reactor Generic Design Assessment | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 18 |
| Total | 182 | 174 | 168 | 181 | 173 |

[1] These are primarily nuclear installations inspectors, but also include a small number of other HSE-grade inspectors involved in the work of regulating nuclear installations. At 1 October 2008, there were 164 nuclear installations inspectors in post (approximately 159 full-time equivalents).

[2] These figures include 17 corporate topic group inspectors in April 2004, 10 in April 2005, 8 in April 2006, and 8 in April 2007. ND managed two of HSE's corporate topic groups on radiation and on electrical and control instrumentation but these did not contribute to the work of regulating nuclear installations.

Incapacity Benefit

Mr. Bone: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the Government's policy is on the future of incapacity benefit; what related initiatives he (a) has recently introduced and (b) plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [219449]

Mr. McNulty [holding answer 17 July 2008]: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

From April 2008, Pathways to Work support has been available to everyone in Great Britain on incapacity benefits. This is mandatory for new customers.

From October 2008 incapacity benefits will be replaced for new customers by the employment and support allowance. Employment and support allowance will include the new work capability assessment, focusing on what people can do, not what they cannot.

From 2009 Pathways to Work support will be mandatory for existing claimants under the age of 25. Also from 2009, we plan to start applying the new work capability assessment to incapacity benefits customers who are under the age of 25 to establish entitlement to employment and support allowance and to the rest of the incapacity benefits claimants from 2010, as and when customers are due to have their benefit entitlement reassessed. This means that over a three year period everyone on incapacity benefits will have been reassessed using the new test, and transferred either to employment and support allowance or to jobseekers allowance.

Angela Browning: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what transitional support will be available for incapacity benefit claimants who fail the new work capability assessment and move onto other benefits; and what account this support will take of (a) whether people continue to have disabilities and (b) the period for which people have been out of work. [220323]

Mr. McNulty [holding answer 21 July 2008]: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

The new work capability assessment is a fairer and more accurate test of capability for work than the current personal capability assessment.

Those customers who move to jobseeker's allowance following a work capability assessment will have voluntary early entry to the supported job-search stage of the new jobseeker's allowance and flexible new deal programme, at the discretion of their personal adviser. All longer-term job seekers will have the enhanced personal, specialised support of the flexible new deal.

Angela Browning: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the financial effects of the introduction of employment and support allowance on couples in the support group during the course of their claim, compared to the rates of payment of incapacity benefit; and whether these effects will apply to couples where one or both are claiming on the grounds of a terminal illness. [220324]

Mr. McNulty [holding answer 21 July 2008]: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

Employment and support allowance will replace incapacity benefit and income support paid on grounds of incapacity from 27 October 2008. Compared to the existing system, couples in the support group who would have had no entitlement to the enhanced disability premium will receive £10.30 a week more under employment support allowance than income support paid on grounds of incapacity. Those who would have been entitled to the couple rate of income support and also already entitled to the enhanced disability premium would receive £7.85 a week less. There are no actual cash losers as existing customers will have the cash level of their existing benefits protected.

Employment and support allowance rates are paid after 14 weeks of the claim whereas the higher income support rates are generally paid after 52 weeks of incapacity or 28 weeks for those who are terminally ill or receive the higher rate care component of disability living allowance. In employment and support allowance the higher rates of benefit are paid immediately to people who are terminally ill.

Income Support: Lone Parents

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the number of lone parents affected by the changes to the eligibility rules for income support coming into effect in November 2008 who have children (a) living in (i) relative poverty and (ii) absolute poverty before the changes came into effect and (b) who will be living in each such state immediately after the changes came into effect; and if he will make a statement. [230279]

Kitty Ussher: The most common and internationally recognised threshold to measure relative low income poverty is income below 60 per cent. of the contemporary median. A threshold of 60 per cent. of the 1998-99 median has been used to measure absolute poverty. Specific information regarding low income for the UK is available in 'Households Below Average Income 1994-95 to 2006-07'.

'Ready for work: full employment in our generation', Cm 7290, (published in December 2007) announced increased obligations for lone parents to be introduced from November 2008. Lone parents who are claiming income support solely based on being a lone parent move onto a more appropriate benefit when their youngest child is: 12 and over from November 2008; 10 and over from October 2009; seven and over from October 2010.

The Department's current estimates suggest that the changes to the eligibility rules for income support for lone parents will, by helping more lone parents into employment, help lift around an extra 70,000 children out of relative low income after five years.

The following table shows the number of children aged seven and over in lone parent families in receipt of income support in relative and absolute low income at 2006-07.

Numbers of children aged seven or over in lone parent families where their parent is in receipt of income support and the youngest child in the family is aged seven or over in households with incomes below 60 per cent. of contemporary and 1998-99 median income, before and after housing costs, United Kingdom, 2006-07

Million

| | Number in low income households | |
|---|---|---|
| Low income threshold | Before housing costs | After housing costs |
| Below 60 per cent. of contemporary median | 0.3 | 0.4 |
| Below 60 per cent. of 1998-99 median | 0.1 | 0.3 |

Notes:
1. These statistics are based on Households Below Average Income (HBAI) data.
2. Small differences should be treated with caution as these will be affected by sampling error and variability in non-response.
3. The reference period for HBAI figures is single financial years.
4. The income measures used to derive the estimates shown employ the same methodology as the Department for Work and Pensions publication 'HBAI' series, which uses disposable household income, adjusted (or "equivalised") for household size and composition, as an income measure as a proxy for standard of living.
5. The figures are based on OECD equivalisation factors.
6. Numbers of children have been rounded to the nearest 100,000.
7. Figures have been presented on both a Before Housing Cost (BHC) and After Housing Cost (AHC) basis. For BHC, housing costs (such as rent, water rates, mortgage interest payments, structural insurance payments and ground rent and service charges) are not deducted from income, while for AHC they are.

Source:
Households Below Average Income 2006-07, DWP

Some lone parents are exempt from these changes and will still be able to receive income support. These include lone parents: who are in receipt of carer's allowance; have a child for whom they are receiving the middle or higher rate care component of disability living allowance; who are fostering.

Income Support: Mortgages

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions pursuant to the Answer of 6 November 2008, Official Report, column 704W, on income support: mortgage costs, if he will review the qualification criteria to take account of family circumstances where two incomes have been necessary to meet mortgage repayments. [237255]

Kitty Ussher: We are currently considering all the ways in which we can help people, including couples, who are having difficulty in paying their mortgage.

Independent Case Examiner for the Child Support Agency: Manpower

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many staff were employed by the Independent Case Examiner in each of the last three years. [235890]

Kitty Usher: The information is in the table.

| | Number of staff in post |
|---|---|
| 4 April 2005 | 93 |
| 3 April 2006 | 90.6 |
| 2 April 2007 | 90.3 |

Independent Living Fund

Dr. Blackman-Woods: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what contribution the Independent Living Fund makes to the delivery of his policy on personalised care and support for adults. [237091]

Jonathan Shaw: The Independent Living Fund plays a vital role in the delivery of policy on personalised care and support for adults.

The fund works in partnership with local authorities by making direct cash payments to enable severely disabled people to live independently. Over the last 20 years the fund has assisted more than 45,000 people to live independently in the community and we know it is much appreciated by its users.

The Independent Living Fund was one of six funding streams that have taken part in the Department of Health led individual budget pilots. The Government are currently considering the findings from the evaluation of the individual budget pilots and will look carefully at issues identified during the pilot phase.

Independent Living Funds

Dr. Blackman-Woods: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what plans he has to implement the recommendations of the 2007 review of the Independent Living Funds. [237256]

Jonathan Shaw: The report of the Independent Living Fund review recognised the ground-breaking role played by the fund in enabling severely disabled people to live independently.

The report included 68 recommendations, a number of which have already been implemented by the trustees.

The recommendations specifically on the future of the fund largely relate to the outcome of the Individual Budgets pilots. The Government are currently considering the findings from the Individual Budget pilots evaluation report which was published on 21 October 2008 and will look carefully at issues identified during the pilot phase.

Industrial Accidents: Construction

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many construction industry workers died as a result of workplace accidents in (a) 2005, (b) 2006 and (c) 2007. [219880]

Jonathan Shaw: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

Fatal injuries to workers in the construction industry[1]

| | Year[2] | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08* |
| Employees | 43 | 54 | 54 |
| Self employed | 17 | 25 | 18 |
| Workers[3] | 60 | 79 | 72 |

[1] Section F 'Construction', determined according to Standard Industrial Classification (SIC). This system is used in UK official statistics for classifying businesses by the main type of economic activity they are engaged in, and is the responsibility of the Office for National Statistics (ONS). The latest version is 'SIC 2003'.
[2] The annual basis is the planning year 1 April to 31 March. Statistics for 2007-08 are provisional, denoted by '*'.

Industrial Health and Safety: Construction

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what plans he has to improve the safety of high tower cranes. [219336]

Jonathan Shaw: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

Work to improve safety arising from the use of tower cranes in construction is already being taken forward in a number of ways by both the construction industry and the Health and Safety Executive. Bodies such as the Strategic Forum for Construction and the Construction Plant-Hire Association are working to improve industry guidance on matters such as crane maintenance, crane operator competence and working conditions and better sharing of good practice. As well as giving substantial support to the work of industry, the Health and Safety Executive is taking action to improve safety through a mix of enforcement initiatives and the provision of guidance. Future work will also take account of the findings from the inquiries into recent accidents involving tower cranes that the Health and Safety Executive are currently undertaking.

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many Health and Safety Executive inspections of construction sites took place in (a) 2005, (b) 2006 and (c) 2007. [219339]

Jonathan Shaw: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

The Health and Safety Executive (HSE) records the amount of time spent on frontline activity—which includes inspection, investigation, assessment of safety cases and other work—rather than the number of inspections carried out.

For the three years 2005-06, 2006-07 and 2007-08 the estimated amount of frontline activity spent on construction was:

Health and Safety Executive Inspections

| Frontline activity[1] | Number of days |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 23,153 |
| 2006-07 | 27,222 |
| 2007-08 | 28,505 |

[1] These figures exclude time spent travelling to and from workplaces which have been visited.

These figures are based on a proportion of HSE's overall frontline activity in each of these years, reflecting the size of HSE's Construction Division compared to the Field Operations Directorate as a whole.

Minimum Wage: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people in Crosby constituency experienced a rise in income as a result of the introduction of the national minimum wage; and what estimate he has made of the number of such people whose income is affected by the national minimum wage in 2008. [236678]

Mr. McFadden: I have been asked to reply.

Evidence from the Annual Survey of Hours and Earnings (ASHE) shows that a growing number of people are affected by the National Minimum Wage (NMW). BERR estimates using ASHE data that in 1999 around 1 million people in the UK were covered by the introduction of the NMW. This rises to around 1.1 million people covered by the October 2008 uprating of the NMW. This reflects an increasing importance of the NMW when determining the hourly wage of the low paid. The adult NMW has risen by around 59 per cent during this period from £3.60 to £5.73 per hour. The rise in the NMW has been greater than average earnings over this period.

Information for individual parliamentary constituencies is not readily available in the ASHE dataset. However, information is available on a government office region basis. In 1999 around 120,000 employees in North West and Mersey were covered by the introduction of the National Minimum Wage. This estimate is based on Spring 1998 ASHE data. Using Spring 2008 ASHE data we estimate that around 130,000 employees were covered by the latest October 2008 NMW upratings.

It is difficult to isolate the effect of the NMW on income as income is affected by hours worked and other sources of income such as tax credits. However, evidence suggests that since its introduction the NMW is affecting more people and the hourly wage is rising faster than average earnings benefiting the lowest paid in the economy.

Motability

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what his Department's role is in the administration of the motability scheme; and if he will make a statement. [219529]

Jonathan Shaw: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

Motability is a charitable company incorporated by Royal Charter. It is responsible for the administration of the Motability scheme.

National Insurance

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many national insurance registration numbers have been issued to (a) non-UK nationals of each nationality and (b) UK citizens in (i) each year and (ii) each quarter since 1st January 2004. [233537]

Mr. McNulty: I refer the hon. Member to the written answer I gave on 10 November 2008, Official Report, column 917W, on the number of national insurance registrations issued to adult non-UK nationals in each year since 1 January 2004.

The number of national insurance numbers issued to adult non-UK nationals in each quarter since 1 January 2004 has been placed in the Library.

The majority of UK nationals are registered with national insurance numbers (NINOs) as part of the juvenile registration process just prior to the age of 16. A small number of UK nationals apply for a NINO as adults and would go through the adult NINO allocation process. The data are not held in a format which allows us to extract a figure for UK nationals registered for a NINO under the adult NINO allocation process.

Figures for the juvenile registration process are as follows:

| Period | Juvenile registration volumes (thousand) | Percentage change |
|---|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 753.6 | |
| 2004-05 | 743.2 | -1.4 |
| 2005-06 | 722.9 | -2.7 |
| 2006-07 | 772.1 | +6.8 |
| 2007-08 | 667.3 | -15.7 |

Notes:
1. Reporting period for juvenile registration is 1 April to 31 March.
2. For the majority of juveniles the registration process takes place just prior to the 16th birthday. However, some juveniles may initially miss out on this process, but can be recorded as part of this process until the age of 19.
3. There may be a small number of young foreign nationals who obtain a national insurance number through the juvenile registration process. These will not appear in the foreign nationals total for adult national insurance number registrations. However, the majority of juvenile registrations are for UK nationals.

Source:
Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs National Insurance Recording System (NIRS2) Management Information

The fall in registrations during 2007-08 was due to delays in the administrative allocation process following the loss of HMRC child benefit data. The backlog of registrations was completed on 8 May 2008

Figures for the juvenile registration process by quarter since 1 January 2004 are as follows:

| Period | Juvenile registrations volumes (Thousand) |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | |
| January 2004 to March 2005 | 181.0 |
| 2005-06 | |
| April 2005 to June 2005 | 193.0 |
| July 2005 to September 2005 | 183.1 |
| October 2005 to December 2005 | 164.0 |
| January 2005 to March 2006 | 182.8 |
| 2006-07 | |
| April 2006 to June 2006 | 199.3 |
| July 2006 to September 2006 | 202.1 |
| October 2006 to December 2006 | 187.7 |
| January 2006 to March 2007 | 183.0 |
| 2007-08 | |
| April 2007 to June 2007 | 189.6 |
| July 2007 to September 2007 | 198.1 |

| Period | Juvenile registrations volumes (Thousand) |
|---|---|
| October 2007 to December2007 | 113.8 |
| January 2007 to March 2008 | 165.8 |

Notes:
1. Reporting period for juvenile registration is 1 April to 31 March.
2. For the majority of juveniles the registration process takes place just prior to the 16th birthday. However, some juveniles may initially miss out on this process, but can be recorded as part of this process until the age of 19.
3. There may be a small number of young foreign nationals who obtain a national insurance number through the juvenile registration process. ### Pension Credit: Enfield

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many pensioners in Enfield, North constituency received pension credits in each year since 2003. [235416]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The information requested is in the following table.

Number of household recipients and individual beneficiaries of pension credit in Enfield, North, 2003-08

| | Household recipients | Individual beneficiaries |
|---|---|---|
| November 2003 | 3,240 | 3,930 |
| May 2004 | 3,620 | 4,430 |
| May 2005 | 3,960 | 4,870 |
| May 2006 | 4,050 | 5,010 |
| May 2007 | 4,090 | 5,030 |
| May 2008 | 4,120 | 5,050 |

Notes:
1. Case loads are rounded to the nearest 10.
2. Household recipients are those people who claim pension credit either for themselves only or on behalf of a household.
3. Individual beneficiaries includes both claimants and their partners.

Pension Credit: South Yorkshire

Jeff Ennis: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many pensioners in (a) Doncaster, (b) Barnsley and (c) South Yorkshire received pension credit in each year since its inception. [236302]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The information requested is in the following tables.

Number of household recipients and individual beneficiaries of pension credit in Doncaster, Barnsley and South Yorkshire, 2003-08

| | Doncaster | | Barnsley | | South Yorkshire | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Household recipients | Individual beneficiaries | Household recipients | Individual beneficiaries | Household recipients | Individual beneficiaries |
| November 2003 | 11,500 | 13,960 | 9,790 | 11,880 | 57,970 | 70,410 |
| May 2004 | 14,510 | 17,890 | 11,840 | 14,570 | 69,670 | 85,880 |

Post Office Card Account

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the cost of compensation to be paid to unsuccessful bidders for the Post Office Card Account contract. [236998]

Ms Rosie Winterton [holding answer 18 November 2008]: The other bidders who were still in the competition at the point we halted it will be reimbursed for their reasonable bid costs.

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the cost to his Department was of the tendering and bidding process for the Post Office Card Account. [236999]

Ms Rosie Winterton [holding answer 18 November 2008]: It is not possible to give a precise figure as many of the staff involved were undertaking work on the procurement process alongside other duties, or work which would have been necessary in any event to put in place a new contract with the Post Office.

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what his latest estimate is of the costs of the Post Office Card Account tender process over the last three years; and how much compensation will be paid to participants in the tendering process. [237403]

Ms Rosie Winterton: It is not possible to give a precise figure for the costs of the tendering process as many of the staff involved were undertaking work on the procurement process alongside other duties, or work which would have been necessary in any event to put in place a new contract with the Post Office.

The other bidders who were still in the competition at the point we halted it will be reimbursed for their reasonable bid costs. The precise amount is still to be agreed.

Post Office Card Account: Romsey

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many residents of Romsey constituency (a) have a Post Office card account and (b) had a Post Office card account in each of the last five years. [235950]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Information is not available in the precise format requested.

The following table shows the number of benefit and pension accounts paid into a Post Office card account in Romsey constituency in each of the last five years.

Post Office Card Accounts

| As at April each year | Number |
|---|---|
| 2004 | 560 |
| 2005 | 3,700 |
| 2006 | 3,660 |
| 2007 | 3,480 |
| 2008 | 3,210 |

Poverty: Children

John Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the number of children in child poverty in (a) Glasgow North West constituency, (b) Glasgow and (c) Scotland. [234848]

Kitty Ussher: Our public service agreement "Halve the number of children in poverty by 2010-11, on the way to eradicating child poverty by 2020" includes a range of indicators related to low income for children. Our preferred measure of relative low income poverty for children is defined as being in a household with a household income of less than 60 per cent. of the contemporary median income on a before housing cost basis.

Latest information for Scotland shows that 210,000 children in Scotland were in households with household incomes below 60 per cent. of median income on a before housing cost basis. The data source does not allow us to provide robust numbers for estimates below this level.

Notes:

1. The source of this information is the 2006-07 Scottish Households Below Average Income publication.

2. The income measures used to derive the estimates shown employ the same methodology as the Department for Work and Pensions publication "Households Below Average Income" series, which uses disposable household income, adjusted (or 'equivalised') for household size and composition, as an income measure as a proxy for standard of living.

3. The figures are based on OECD equivalisation factors.

4. Figures are based on survey data and as such are subject to a degree of sampling and non-sampling error.

5. Number of children in low-income households have been rounded to the nearest 10,000 children.

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many children in Crosby constituency were living in absolute poverty in (a) 1997 and (b) the latest date for which figures are available; and what percentage of all children living in absolute poverty this represented in each year. [236679]

Kitty Ussher: The information requested is not available.

Our child poverty statistics, published in the Households Below Average Income series, only allow a breakdown of the number of children in absolute poverty at Government office region level. Information is therefore not available at parliamentary constituency level.

Poverty: Pensioners

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many pensioners are living in absolute poverty in Crosby constituency; and how many did so in 1997. [236605]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Poverty is a complex and multidimensional issue and, as such, there are many possible measures of poverty.

Our Public Service Agreement "Tackle poverty and promote greater independence and wellbeing in later life" includes a range of indicators related to low income for pensioners. These are relative low income (below 50 and 60 per cent. contemporary median household income), and absolute low income (below 60 per cent. of 1998-99 median income uprated in line with prices), all measured after housing costs have been taken into account.

The data source does not allow us to provide robust numbers for estimates below the level of Government Office Region. Information for the north west on the numbers of pensioners below 60 per cent. of 1998-99 median income uprated in line with prices is given in the following table.

Number of pensioners below 60 per cent. of the 1998-99 median household income uprated in line with prices after housing costs, North West

| | Number (million) |
|---|---|
| 1997-98 to 1999-2000 | 0.3 |
| 2004-05 to 2006-07 | 0.1 |

Notes:
1. Three survey year averages are given as regional single year estimates are subject to volatility.
2. The income measures used to derive the estimates shown employ the same methodology as the Department for Work and Pensions publication 'Households Below Average Income' (HBAI) series, which uses disposable household income, adjusted (or "equivalised") for household size and composition, as an income measure as a proxy for standard of living.
3. The figures are based on OECD equivalisation factors.
4. Figures are based on survey data and as such are subject to a degree of sampling and non-sampling error.
5. Numbers of pensioners in low income households have been rounded to the nearest 100,000 pensioners.

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many pensioners were living in poverty in each region of the UK (a) after housing costs and (b) before housing costs in each year since 1990. [234499]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Poverty is a complex and multidimensional issue and, as such, there are many possible measures of poverty.

Our public service agreement "Tackle poverty and promote greater independence and wellbeing in later life" includes a range of indicators related to low income for pensioners. These are relative low income (below 50 and 60 per cent. contemporary median household income), and absolute low income (below 60 per cent. of 1998-99 median income uprated in line with prices), all measured after housing costs have been taken into account.

Information that is available on the number of pensioners living below 60 per cent. of contemporary median household income, after and before housing costs, by Government office region is given in the following tables.

4. Figures are based on survey data and as such are subject to a degree of sampling and non-sampling error.
5. Figures have been presented on both a Before Housing Cost and After Housing Cost basis. For Before Housing Cost, housing costs (such as rent, water rates, mortgage interest payments, structural insurance payments and ground rent and service charges) are not deducted for a income, while for After Housing Cost they are.
6. Numbers of pensioners in low income households have been rounded to the nearest 100,000 pensioners.
7. Totals may not sum due to rounding.
8. Data for Northern Ireland are only available from 1998-99 to 2000-01 onwards.
9. Specific information regarding low income for the United Kingdom is available in "Households Below Average Income 1994/95-2006/07".

Social Security Benefits

Angela Browning: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions if he will place in the Library a copy of the Work-Focused Health Related Assessment questionnaire which claimants of employment and support allowance will be required to complete from October 2008. [220326]

Mr. McNulty [holding answer 21 July 2008]: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

Claimants of employment and support allowance will not be required to fill in a questionnaire in relation to the Work Focussed Health Related Assessment. The Work Focused Health Related Assessment is a discussion between the customer and the health care professional carrying out the work capability assessment. Health professionals will use an aide-mémoire for this discussion, and a copy has been placed in the Library.

The purpose of the Work Focused Health Related Assessment is to explore with customers their aspirations for engaging in or returning to work, and their views of the help that would support them getting back to work. It will also offer advice about health related interventions that will support a return to work. After the Work Focused Health Related Assessment the health care professional will complete a report and send a copy of that report to the customer.

Social Security Benefits: Appeals

Dr. Evan Harris: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) whether he has set a target for the proportion of successful appeals for (a) incapacity for work cases and (b) disability living allowance cases; [234435]

(2) whether his Department has a performance indicator for the proportion of successful appeals that will trigger a review of the quality of initial decision-making for (a) incapacity for work cases and (b) disability living allowance cases. [234436]

Jonathan Shaw: There is no target for the proportion of successful incapacity benefits appeals.

There is no performance indicator for the proportion of successful incapacity benefits and disability living allowance appeals that will trigger a review of the quality of initial decision-making.

The Pension, Disability and Carers Service has an internal target that no more than 45 per cent. of disability living allowance cases that are heard by an appeal tribunal should be successful or changed.

Jobcentre Plus and the Pension, Disability and Carers Service will also continue to work with the Tribunals Service to monitor decision making issues and identify any areas for improvement.

Dr. Evan Harris: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the total cost to his Department was of appeals relating to (a) incapacity for work cases, (b) disability living allowance cases and (c) such cases in which the appeal was successfully defended by the Secretary of State in the latest period for which figures are available; and what the average cost of each case in each category was. [234437]

Jonathan Shaw: The cost of incapacity benefit appeals only started to be measured separately in April 2008. It is, therefore, not yet possible to provide the information requested.

The total cost to the Pension, Disability and Carers Service of processing all disability living allowance appeals in 2007-08 was an estimated £11.8 million. The average cost of each appeal was an estimated £134. Information about the cost of those appeals that were successfully defended by the Secretary of State is not available.

Social Security Benefits: Employment

Angela Browning: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions whether earnings from permitted work done by claimants of employment and support allowance, whether income-based or contribution-based, will be disregarded as income for the purposes of assessing entitlement to other benefits. [220322]

Mr. McNulty [holding answer 21 July 2008]: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

Claimants entitled to both income-related and contributory employment and support allowance will be permitted to earn up to £88.50 a week and retain benefit. Where a person retains entitlement to income-related employment and support allowance they will continue to receive full housing benefit and council tax benefit. For people not entitled to income-related employment and support allowance, housing benefit and council tax benefit disregards the first £20 of any earnings. We are currently looking at how the permitted work rules of employment and support allowance will interact with housing benefit as part of the housing benefit review announced in the Budget.

Social Security Benefits: Lone Parents

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what assessment he made of the effect of possible higher unemployment levels on (a) the labour market and (b) Jobcentre Plus when drafting the Social Security (Lone Parents and Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2008. [234622]

Kitty Ussher: The labour market is dynamic with millions of moves between employment, unemployment and inactivity every year. Job opportunities will continue to become available. At present there are around 600,000 job vacancies in the economy.

We are committed to providing unemployed people with support to get back into work. Jobcentre Plus provides information, advice and access to skills development to help people return to employment as quickly as possible.

We have made a comprehensive assessment of Jobcentre Plus's capacity to implement the changes and are satisfied that the plans Jobcentre Plus has in place will enable the organisation to manage the change. Plans include: additional resources to manage the move of lone parents from income support on to other benefits; supporting lone parents in receipt of jobseeker's allowance or employment and support allowance; communicating with staff; and learning and development for staff.

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what safeguards have been put in place in (a) the Social Security (Lone Parents and Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2008 and (b) Jobcentre Plus operations to protect the most vulnerable lone parents. [234623]

Kitty Ussher: We propose introducing additional flexibilities and safeguards in regulations. These will meet the specific needs of parents, particularly lone parents, and further safeguard the welfare of children.

Jobseeker's allowance regulations will be amended to enable Jobcentre Plus staff to consider just cause and good cause so that a parent who is claiming or receiving jobseeker's allowance may not be penalised if they leave paid employment, or fail to take up paid employment, because appropriate or affordable child care is not available. The amendments will also give Jobcentre Plus staff additional flexibilities to treat parents as available for, or actively seeking, work in certain circumstances. For example, if a child is excluded from school or if there would be no reasonable prospects of a person with caring responsibilities obtaining suitable jobs in the area if they were to reduce their hours to a minimum of 16 hours a week. The existing jobseeker's allowance hardship regime will be extended to include lone parents as a vulnerable group, and Jobcentre Plus staff will be able to consider whether travel time to a job is reasonable, taking health or caring responsibilities into account.

We also propose to introduce operational safeguards which will ensure that lone parents affected by the introduction of these changes and making a new claim are aware of their obligations to attend quarterly work-focused interviews, and that voluntary interviews will be available to them six weeks before their entitlement to income support ends. Also, if they fail to attend a fortnightly job review, at least one attempt at contacting them will be made by telephone on the day the meeting was missed. If no contact is made, a letter will be sent to their home address telling them that if they do not make contact within five working days their entitlement to benefit will end.

Social Security Benefits: Post Offices

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what proportion of each payable benefit was transacted through (a) a Post Office card account, (b) another account at a post office and (c) a bank account not accessed at a post office in (i) each local authority area and (ii) each parliamentary constituency in the last period for which figures are available. [235107]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Information is not available in the format requested.

Overall, around 78 per cent. of benefit accounts are paid into a bank account and around 20 per cent. are paid into a Post Office card account. About 60 per cent. of bank accounts can be accessed at the Post Office.

State Retirement Pension

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) how many individuals have deferred their state pension in each year since 1997; [229997]

(2) how many individuals deferred their state pensions in each of the last 10 years. [231825]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The information requested is not available. Information available on the number of people who have received a deferral reward, and the type of reward received, is in the following table. Figures for 1997 to 1999 are not available.

| 12 months to March each year: | Total number of customers who received a deferral reward | Number receiving increments only | Number receiving increments and lump sum | Number receiving lump sum only |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2008 | 41,100 | 23,800 | 5,400 | 11,800 |
| 2007 | 35,800 | 28,500 | 3,500 | 3,800 |
| 2006 | 44,100 | 44,100 | 0 | 0 |
| 2005 | 43,300 | 43,300 | 0 | 0 |

| 2001 | 44,000 | 44,000 | 0 | 0 |
| 2000[1] | 25,600 | 25,600 | 0 | 0 |

[1] Figures for 2000 are for six months to March only

Notes:

1. Numbers are rounded to the nearest 100 and may not sum due to rounding.
2. Numbers are based on a 5 per cent. sample rated in line with the Work and Pensions Longitudinal Study (WPLS) total caseload, and are therefore subject to a degree of sampling variation.
3. New rules for deferral came into effect in April 2005 and lump payments became available from April 2006. This data were not available on the datasets until September 2006. A person who deferred their state pension before April 2005 would qualify for increments for the period up to April 2005 and may have a choice of either a lump sum payment or an increment for the period of deferral from April 2005. This means some people may have both an increment and a lump sum payment.
4. The number receiving a 'deferral reward' is the number of people with a lump sum or increments for the latest data and the number of people with increments for the data prior to September 2006. (This does not include inherited increments from a late spouse.)
5. Data regarding increments prior to September 1999 are not sufficiently robust to be released.

12 months to March 2008

| | Number |

Steam Rollers: Accidents

Stephen Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people have been (a) killed and (b) injured by steam rollers in each of the last five years. [233176]

Jonathan Shaw: Based on reports submitted to the Health and Safety Executive as required by the Reporting of Injuries, Diseases and Dangerous Occurrences Regulations 1995, the number of deaths and injuries involving road rollers is as follows:

| | Non-fatal | Fatal |
|---|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 7 | 0 |
| 2004-05 | 10 | 1 |
| 2005-06 | 9 | 0 |
| 2006-07 | 9 | 0 |
| 2007-08 | 3 | 0 |

Sunbeds: Health Hazards

Mrs. James: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions when he expects the outcomes of the Health and Safety Executive's consultation on revisions to guidance on the use of UV tanning equipment to be published; and if he will make a statement. [220410]

Jonathan Shaw: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error it was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

The consultation closed on 17 July and when the comments have been considered, the Health and Safety Executive intends to publish revised guidance as soon as possible.

Taxis

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much was claimed in expenses for taxi travel by officials from (a) his Department and (b) its Executive agencies in (i) 2006-07, (ii) 2005-06, (iii) 2004-05, (iv) 2003-04 and (v) 2002-03; and if he will make a statement. [227047]

Jonathan Shaw: The information requested on taxi travel expenditure is available only from 2005-06 and is recorded at departmental level (which includes the Department's Executive agencies) only. Details of the separate payments made by the Department's agencies could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

The Department's expenditure on taxis in the years for which information is available is as follows:

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 1.89 |
| 2006-07 | 2.45 |
| 2007-08 | 2.02 |

This amount of expenditure should be viewed in the context of the size of the DWP work force of over 100,000 employees and the nature of its business operations that cover an office network of over 1,000 locations across Great Britain.

The Department has clear policies in place which not only limit the circumstances under which officials can justify the use of taxis but also challenges the need to travel and strongly advocates the use of video and teleconferences wherever these facilities are practical alternatives.

Winter Fuel Payments: Chronically Sick

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what recent estimate his Department has made of the likely cost of extending the winter fuel allowance to terminally ill people who would not otherwise qualify; and if he will make a statement. [236011]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Winter fuel payments are made to people aged 60 or over including those who are disabled or terminally ill.

The annual cost of extending winter fuel payments to people aged under 60 receiving disability living allowance under the special rules relating to a terminal illness is estimated to be approximately £6.6 million. This is an estimate for 2008-09 and is based on a £250 payment, which includes a one off additional payment of £50 for this year.

The extra heating needs of terminally ill people can arise at any time of year, not just in the winter months. Help is available for terminally ill people through disability living allowance, Attendance allowance and the disability premiums in the income-related benefits which have a substantially higher annual value and are spread over a 52 week period. In addition, where a disability premium is paid in an income-related benefit, a cold weather payment is payable in periods of very cold weather. Together, these payments are designed to meet the extra costs, including heating, of terminally ill people.

Winter Fuel Payments: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many pensioners aged 60 and over have claimed the winter fuel payment in (a) Crosby constituency and (b) England in each year since its inception; and what proportion of such pensioners have not applied for the payment in each year. [236683]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Around 98 per cent. of winter fuel payments are made automatically without the need to claim.

Winter fuel payments made to people aged 60 or over from inception

HOME DEPARTMENT

Acceptable Behaviour Contracts

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when acceptable behaviour contracts will be extended to young people caught drinking and behaving anti-socially in public. [234288]

Jacqui Smith: Antisocial behaviour contracts (ABCs) are already available to tackle young people caught drinking and behaving antisocially in public.

Agricultural Machinery: Theft

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent steps she has taken to reduce the rate of theft of agricultural equipment. [235375]

Mr. Alan Campbell [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The Government's crime strategy builds upon the achievements of the last 10 years in reducing crime and disorder but moves away from centrally imposed targets instead making local agencies accountable and responsive to the needs and priorities of the local community. This means that local areas can focus greatest effort on reducing those crimes that matter most to people locally, whatever the crime.

Where the theft of agricultural machinery emerges as a pressing local issue we would encourage local police forces and their partners in Crime and Disorder Reduction Partnerships to devote resources to tackling this crime. To this end the National Policing Improvement Agency has produced a practical guide specifically for those facing the challenges of policing rural areas, titled Neighbourhood Policing in Rural Communities (2008). This aims to support the police in tailoring their approach to the needs of the rural communities they serve.

The Home Office supports schemes such as Farm Watch and Countryside Watch, which are now operating across England and Wales, allowing farmers and those living in rural communities to share practical advice on crime prevention in order to look after their vehicles, property, families and animals.

Antisocial Behaviour Orders

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many anti-social behaviour orders have been (a) issued and (b) breached in each criminal justice system area since 31 December 2005. [232369]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The answer is given in the following table.

The number of antisocial behaviour orders issued in 2006 and the number proven in court to have been breached[1] in 2006, by Criminal Justice System Area

| CJS area | Number of ASBOs issued | Number of ASBOs breached[1] |

[1] ASBOs may be issued in one area and breached in another. Breaches are counted in this table by area of issue. ASBOs may be issued in one year and breached in another. Some of the breaches counted in the table will be associated with ASBOs issued prior to 2006. It is therefore not possible to compute breach rates from the figures presented in this table.

[2] Breach data from the magistrates court administrative systems in Kent and Northamptonshire are known to have been under-reported.

[3] Covers ASBOs issued in years prior to 2006 as well as those issued in that year.

Note:

Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts and police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.

Antisocial Behaviour: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent assessment she has made of the effectiveness of anti-social behaviour orders in reducing anti-social behaviour in Crosby constituency. [236717]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Antisocial behaviour orders are one of many powerful tools we created to tackle antisocial behaviour. Three independent reports including the Home Affairs Select Committee report (2005), the Audit Commission report (May 2006) and the NAO report (December 2006) confirmed that they work.

Sefton antisocial behaviour unit uses the full range of interventions that deal with both prevention and enforcement in that they engage, educate and promote awareness among young people; engage with residents and tackle antisocial behaviour in families throughout the borough of Sefton, which includes Crosby. It operates the policy advocated by Home Office Guidance that the appropriate intervention should be used in the right way at the right time and incrementally. This means that a low-level intervention such as a warning letter or antisocial behaviour contract would be used before an ASBO unless the behaviour is sufficiently serious to warrant it.

British Crime Survey

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when the technical report relating to the 2007-08 British Crime Survey will be published. [233569]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 6 November 2008]: The 2007-08 British crime survey technical report can be found on the following webpage on the Home Office website:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/bcs-methodological.html

Community Policing

James Brokenshire: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department which police forces have expressed an interest in taking part in the pilots of the community safety participatory budgets referred to in the Policing Green Paper. [232904]

Mr. Coaker: The Home Office has been working with Communities and Local Government and the Participatory Budgeting Unit to establish a set of criteria for the community safety participatory budgeting pilots. A number of practitioners from police forces, police authorities and local authorities have been assisting this process. The criteria are currently being finalised and the Home Office will shortly invite formal expressions of interest in running pilots.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department which local authority areas will receive funding from her Department under the community crime fighters scheme. [236412]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Funding for community crime fighters is not being allocated directly to local authorities. Training, funded by the Home Office, will be offered to around 3,600 people who are already involved with local services, such as tenants and residents groups, neighbourhood watch members and those working with neighbourhood policing teams.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what funding she has allocated to the community crime fighter scheme; and over what time-frame. [236413]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Total funding of £5 million has been allocated to the community crime fighters scheme to cover the period 2008-09, 2009-10 and 2010-11.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what role she proposes for local authorities in the proposed community crime fighters scheme. [236414]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Training will be offered to around 3,600 people who are already involved with local services, such as tenants and residents groups, neighbourhood watch members and those working with neighbourhood policing teams. Local authorities will have an important role, working with the police and other partners, to help identify those who are suitable for the training and to work with them once they have received it.

Crime

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) vehicle thefts, (b) domestic burglaries and (c) violent crimes there were in each of the last 17 years. [234497]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The British Crime Survey (BCS) is the best guide to long term trends in vehicle theft, domestic burglary and violent crime in England and Wales. Prior to 2001-02 the survey ran periodically and estimates are available for only selected years.

These figures are published annually in the Home Office statistical bulletin Crime in England and Wales, a copy of which is available in the House of Commons Library. These estimates are also shown in Table 1.

[1] Burglary with entry plus attempted burglary add up to total burglary. Burglary with loss plus burglary with no loss (including attempts) also add up to total burglary.
[2] All BCS violence includes wounding, assault with minor injury, assault with no injury and robbery. Mugging includes robbery and snatch theft. For more information see the glossary.
[3] The 1991 estimates for domestic, acquaintance and stranger violence and mugging were calculated based on the estimate for all BCS violence. Estimates for these individual categories could not be calculated using their individual incidence rates because the data used for calculating these rates were not collected for that year.
Note:
For household crimes the 2007-08 numbers are derived by multiplying offence rates (incidence rates) by 23,607,316 households in England and Wales. For personal crimes the 2007-08 numbers are derived by multiplying incidence rates by 43,859,000 adults in England and Wales.

Crime: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what funding her Department has provided to (a) victim support and (b) neighbourhood watch schemes in Crosby constituency in the last 10 years. [236706]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Victim Support is an independent charity and is the main provider of services to victims and witnesses across England and Wales. In 2003, the Government increased the core grant for Victim Support to £30 million, and has maintained annual funding at that level. Victim Support has received a further £12.6 million from government (£5.6 million in 2007-08 and £7 million this financial year) to deliver enhanced services to victims.

Victim Support in Merseyside received £1,134,000 as part of the national grant to Victim Support in this financial year. This covers the Victim Support community service (including additional funds for Victim Support Plus) and grants to the Witness Service, which provides support to witnesses giving evidence in criminal trials at both Crown and magistrates courts.

The Home Office directly meets the costs of providing public liability insurance for all police-registered Neighbourhood Watch schemes. Funding for local partners and statutory agencies to work together to tackle crime, drugs, and anti-social behaviour in their areas is provided to local authorities through the area-based grant. The Home Office does not keep detailed records giving a breakdown of payments to local schemes.

Criminal Records Bureau: Appeals

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people contested details held on record by the Criminal Records Bureau in each of the last five years; and how many of these disputes were upheld. [231777]

Jacqui Smith: The Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) do not hold criminal records but do release information held on police records and other data sources.

The total number of disclosures where the details released by the CRB were contested by the applicant in the last five years and the total number of these that were subsequently upheld is detailed in the following table. These are referred to within the disclosure process as disputes and the CRB has procedures in place to allow an applicant to dispute the information provided.

| | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Total number of disputes | 1,739 | 2,265 | 2,675 | 3,077 | 4,931 |
| Total number of upheld disputes | 1,739 | 2,265 | 2,669 | 2,797 | 2,785 |
| Total number of disclosures issued | 2,284,688 | 2,430,937 | 2,770,265 | 3,277,957 | 3,323,251 |

The CRB enhanced its recording of disputes during 2005-06. Prior to this, the CRB did not hold figures for disputes not upheld.

Information released on a disclosure can be disputed for a number of reasons including the inclusion of locally held non-conviction information which the applicant believes to be inaccurate or misleading; situations where an applicant has had their identity stolen; or the inclusion of data which an applicant was unaware would appear on the disclosure.

Departmental Data Protection

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether confidential or personal information has been compromised through the loss of property from her Department since 1997. [193447]

Mr. Woolas: Except in exceptional cases, when it is in the public interest, it has been the policy of successive Governments not to comment on breaches of security. However, following the publication of the Data Handling Procedures in Government: Interim Progress Report on 17 December 2007, Official Report, column 90WS, all Departments will cover information assurance issues in their annual reports.

Departmental Written Questions

James Brokenshire: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what the average time taken by her Department has been to answer ordinary Parliamentary written questions in the Parliamentary session to date; [230573]

(2) how many ordinary Parliamentary written questions were tabled to her Department in (a) March 2008 and (b) April 2008; and how many such questions remain unanswered; [230574]

(3) how many members of staff are employed by her Department to support Ministers in answering Parliamentary written questions. [230575]

Mr. Alan Campbell [holding answer 27 October 2008]: The information requested is in the following tables.

| | Number |
|---|---|
| Normal written questions received[1] | 3,891 |
| Target sitting days to answer | 5 |
| Average sitting days to answer | 8 |

| | March 2008 | April 2008 |
|---|---|---|
| Normal written questions received (Number) | 487 | 442 |
| Questions outstanding[1] (Number) | 6 | 8 |
| Percentage of received questions outstanding | 1.2 | 1.8 |

[1] To 13 November 2008.

There are four full-time equivalent posts in the Home Office parliamentary unit dedicated solely to supporting Ministers in answering parliamentary written questions. Many other officials contribute to answering questions, but this number can be quantified only at disproportionate cost.

Dispersal Orders: Enfield

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how dispersal orders have been issued in the London Borough of Enfield in each year since 2003. [235438]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The number of dispersal orders issued in Enfield since 2003 is as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2004 | 4 |
| 2005 | 4 |
| 2006 | 1 |
| 2007 | 3 |
| 2008 | 6 |

Driving Under Influence: Drugs

Mr. Chope: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when her Department plans to give type approval for a device for use in testing a driver for the presence of a drug in his body under Section 6 of the Road Traffic Act 1988, as amended. [237204]

Mr. Alan Campbell [holding answer 18 November 2008]: Before approving such a device, the Secretary of State must be wholly satisfied that it will be reliable in operational use and suitable for the purposes of criminal law enforcement. This will be ensured by requiring the device to be compliant with the necessarily rigorous, detailed and precise specification that is currently being developed. How soon a device might be approved will depend on how soon manufacturers present a device which they claim is compliant, how that device performs in tests and how quickly manufacturers then make any necessary adjustments.

Mr. Chope: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people were convicted of driving while unfit through use of a drug in the last year for which figures are available. [237205]

Mr. Alan Campbell [holding answer 18 November 2008]: Information provided by the Ministry of Justice shows that in 2006 (latest available) there were 92,671 convictions for driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs. Data for 2007 are due to be published at the end of November 2008.

The data cover both drink and drugs offences combined, as volumes of convictions and custodial sentences for driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs cannot be accurately established.

Driving Under Influence: Hertfordshire

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many offences of (a) drug and (b) drink driving were recorded in (i) Hemel Hempstead and (ii) Hertfordshire in each year since 1997. [233848]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Offences of driving while unfit through drugs or drink are summary offences and do not feature in the recorded crime statistics collected by the Home Office.

The Home Office does collect data on recorded offences of 'Causing death by dangerous or careless driving (including while under the influence of drink or drugs)'. However, it is not possible to determine from the information held centrally which, if any, of these offences were committed while the offender was under the influence.

The available information for the above offence is given in the following table. Hemel Hempstead comes within the Dacorum local authority area. Data for this offence have only been collected at local authority area level since 2000-01.

Recorded offences of causing death by dangerous or careless driving (including while under the influence of drink or drugs)

| | Dacorum local authority area | Hertfordshire |

n/a = Not applicable

Driving Under Influence: Police

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police officers in England and Wales were convicted of drink driving offences in each of the last three years. [236911]

Mr. Coaker: The information requested is not available.

Information is not collected centrally on the occupation of offenders unless specific to the offence legislation.

Dungavel Detention Centre

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the average length of detention period in Dungavel Detention Centre of (a) a family and (b) an individual, aged (i) under 18, (ii) under 16 and (iii) under 10 years old in each of the last three years. [232797]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 3 November 2008]: The average length of detention for a family in Dungavel House has remained at three days for 2006, 2007 and up until September for 2008.

The average length of detention for single detainees was 17 days in 2006, 23 days in 2007 and 27 days up until September 2008.

We do not have the data available in relation to age groups and to provide them would be at disproportionate cost.

Electronic Surveillance: Databases

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1251W, on electronic surveillance: databases, whether local authorities will have access to mobile telephone geodata. [236140]

Mr. Coaker: No. Directive 2006/24/EC will not change the kinds of data that local authorities are permitted to access under the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1251W, on electronic surveillance: databases, whether local authorities will have access to communications data retained by internet service providers. [236141]

Mr. Coaker: Local authority access to communications data retained by internet service providers will be on the same basis as their access to communications data retained by any other communications service provider. That is they will continue under the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 to have access to service use and subscriber data, but not traffic data, the class of communications data that would indicate specific areas of internet interest or activity.

Entry Clearances: Kyrgyzstan

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) when the applications for visas for the Kyrgyzstan musicians and performers invited to perform in the UK in November 2008 were received at the UK Embassy in Astana; when the applications were processed; when the applications were refused; and if she will make a statement; [235552]

(2) for what reasons the musicians and performers invited to the UK by the Ambassador of Kyrgyzstan were denied visas to perform in the UK in November 2008; and if she will make a statement. [235553]

Mr. Woolas: The applications have not been refused and are in fact ready to be issued pending receipt of results checks. However, I regret that this is obviously too late for the event in which they were originally due to perform. I can only add my apologies to those which have already been extended to the Kyrgyz ambassador in London by colleagues in the Foreign and Commonwealth Office for the disruption this caused to the event he planned in November.

The office in Almaty is working hard with engineers to rectify the problems as quickly as possible. UKBA hoped to resume a fully effective service in Almaty by 14 November.

Extradition: EU Countries

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many European arrest warrants for (a) British citizens and (b) non-British citizens her Department has issued to other EU member states; and how many people have been extradited to the UK under such warrants in each year since they came into force, broken down by (i) offence and (ii) member state to which the warrant was issued; [227620]

(2) how many European arrest warrants for (a) British citizens and (b) non-British citizens have been received from other EU member states; and how many people have been extradited under such warrants in each year since they came into force, broken down by (i) offence and (ii) member state of destination. [227621]

Jacqui Smith: The Serious Organised Crime Agency is the designated central authority for the receipt and transmission of European Arrest Warrants in the UK. There is no Government involvement in the operation of the EAW. The following tables, provided by SOCA, give figures for the following:

(a) Number of persons extradited to EU member states under the EAW regime (Part 1 warrants) by the UK broken down by year and by country.

(b) Number of subjects surrendered to the UK by EU member states (Part 3 warrants) broken down by year and by country.

(c) EAWs received by the UK from other EU member states broken down by year and EAWs issued to other EU member states by the UK, broken down by year.

All figures for this year are January to September 2008.

It is not possible from current systems to provide data broken down into British and non-British nationals, nor into type of offence. SOCA is putting in place a new database to hold this information Warrants issued by the UK for one individual may be sent to more than one member state. The UK receives a large number of warrants from other member states. To break down the figures in the third table by originating state would incur disproportionate cost.

Fingerprints

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the cost has been of police forces using handheld fingerprinting devices to date. [234664]

Mr. Coaker: The total cost so far met by police forces using hand held fingerprinting devices is £31,400.

The project costs, including the provision centrally of the held-held fingerprint hardware, software, research and development, service and support to the end of 2007, the latest date for which figures are available, has been £3,350,000.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department from which budget the cost of paying for the use of handheld fingerprinting devices by police forces will be met. [234665]

Mr. Coaker: The anticipated benefits derived from the provision of the handheld fingerprinting devices beyond the current field trials mean that their costs, supporting infrastructure and back-office services should be self-financing. As such, these costs will be met from within existing police force budgets. Other associated costs, for example, procurement, training, and the promulgation of good practice, will be met by the National Policing Improvement Agency.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what discussions she has had with the Association of Chief Police Officers on the issuing of new guidelines to take into account the use of handheld fingerprinting devices. [234666]

Mr. Coaker: The Association of Chief Police Officers is represented at board level on the current field trials and procurement activity for future handheld fingerprinting capabilities. These projects will develop the procurement, training, and the promulgation of good practice for the use of mobile fingerprint capabilities. Amendments to the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (PACE), and the associated code D of its codes of practice, will govern the use of the fingerprint capability.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how the use of handheld fingerprinting devices will be monitored; and how the data so gathered will be recorded. [234667]

Mr. Coaker: The use of the handheld fingerprint capability will form part of the stop and search/stop and account processes. As such, data on its use will be captured and reported on as part of the overall data submitted by police forces to the Home Office on these activities.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment she has made of the implications of the use of handheld fingerprinting devices for the recording of criminal records. [234668]

Mr. Coaker: No such assessment has been made as it is not intended that the devices should be used to capture fingerprints for use in the validation or recording of criminal records.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment she has made of whether handheld fingerprint devices are used in a consistent manner by rural and urban police forces. [234671]

Mr. Coaker: The use of handheld fingerprint devices is a matter for the chief constable of each police force and for the present time requires consent from the individual being sampled. Available data suggest that there is no difference in the use of the devices between police forces, given the nature of the deployment that it is supporting.

The use of the handheld fingerprint capability will form part of the stop and search/stop and account processes. As such, data on its use will be captured and reported on as part of the overall data submitted by police forces to the Home Office on these activities.

Fingerprints: Airports

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department for what reasons she would mandate airport operators to carry out compulsory biometric fingerprinting of UK domestic passengers. [234442]

Mr. Woolas: The Government are considering using powers in paragraph 26(3) of schedule 2 of the Immigration Act 1971 to require operators of certain airports to verify the identity of travellers through biometrics such as fingerprints before boarding, where there is a mixing of domestic and international passengers in a common departure lounge and where this would be a proportionate measure to manage border security.

The Government continue to work closely with airport operators on the measures required to maintain the security of the UK border and of air travel.

Fraud

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether her Department has prepared a Code of Practice for disclosure of information to prevent fraud under section 71 of the Serious Crimes Act 2007. [234603]

Mr. Alan Campbell: As required by section 71 of the Serious Crime Act 2007, the Home Office prepared a code of practice for public authorities disclosing information to a specified anti-fraud organisation for the purposes of preventing fraud. The code was laid before Parliament on 6 October.

A copy of the code can be found on the Home Office Crime Reduction website:

http://www.crimereduction.homeoffice.gov.uk/organisedcrime/organisedcrime07c.pdf

Human Trafficking

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) arrests and (b) convictions there were for human trafficking offences in each of the last five years. [232793]

Jacqui Smith: A total of 860 people were arrested under the Operations Pentameter 1 and 2.

Since the commencement of the Sexual Offences Act 2003 (which came into force on 1 May 2004) to date, there have been 90 convictions for trafficking for sexual exploitation. Details of convictions by year are as follows:

| | Number of convictions |
|---|---|
| 2004 | 3 |
| 2005 | 21 |
| 2006 | 32 |
| 2007 | 23 |
| 2008 | 11 |

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department for how long victims of human trafficking may remain in the UK. [232952]

Jacqui Smith: There is no cap on how long a victim of human trafficking can remain in the UK. The length of stay is determined by the individual circumstances of the victim and is decided on a case by case basis.

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many convictions there were for human trafficking for the purpose of (a) forced labour and (b) sexual exploitation in each of the last five years. [232957]

Jacqui Smith: Since the commencement of the Sexual Offences Act 2003 (which came into force on 1 May 2004) to date, there have been 90 convictions for trafficking for sexual exploitation. Details of convictions by year are as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2004 | 3 |
| 2005 | 21 |
| 2006 | 32 |
| 2007 | 23 |
| 2008 | 11 |

In respect of trafficking for forced labour there have been a total of four convictions to date all of which were secured in 2008.

Human Trafficking: Prostitution

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps her Department is taking to raise awareness of sex trafficking; and if she will make a statement. [235657]

Mr. Alan Campbell: We have run a number of awareness campaigns with partners. Our approach focuses on the use of the UK Human Trafficking Centre 'Blue Blindfold' awareness campaign, which was launched in January 2008. This campaign has the key message that trafficking is in local communities in the UK and encourages the public to call Crimestoppers with any information. We have also run a targeted campaign aimed at the purchasers of sex about the level and nature of exploitation and trafficking involved in off street prostitution.

All prevention material produced provides details of the bespoke Blue Blindfold website—www.blueblindfold.co.uk, which contains information on indicators of trafficking and dispelling myths about trafficking for sexual exploitation as well as providing contact details for local groups who wish to access the prevention material.

Human Trafficking: Sentencing

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if she will bring forward proposals for a tariff of mandatory minimum sentences for human trafficking offences. [233200]

Jacqui Smith: No.

Sentencing guidelines issued by the Sentencing Guidelines Council provide adequate advice on sentencing for human trafficking cases, including aggravating and mitigating factors that can inform the judicial decision.

Courts are also guided by case law arising from Court of Appeal decisions on sentencing and the Attorney-General has the power to refer cases to the Court of Appeal where it is believed the sentence passed is unduly lenient.

Human Trafficking: Victim Support Schemes

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what progress has been made towards introducing a 45-day minimum recovery period for all victims of trafficking, as set out in the UK Action Plan on Tackling Human Trafficking 2007. [232951]

Jacqui Smith: The 'Update to the UK Action Plan on Tackling Human Trafficking', published on 2 July, committed the Government to implement a 45-day reflection and recovery period before 1 April 2009. We are working with partners to finalise formal victim identification arrangements and the training associated with it and are on track to meet this deadline.

Identity Cards

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what proportion of respondents to each of the waves of the National Identity Scheme Tracking Research carried out to date said that they did not support the scheme because they were concerned that (a) it would be an infringement of personal freedom, (b) it would not work, (c) it is a waste of money, (d) personal data will be used without their permission and (e) it could be open to abuse; [227224]

(2) what proportion of respondents to each of the waves of the National Identity Scheme Tracking Research carried out to date said they (a) agreed strongly or slightly and (b) disagreed strongly or slightly with the Government's plan to introduce the National Identity Scheme; [227225]

(3) when the next wave of National Identity Scheme Tracking Research will be carried out; and when she expects the results of this research to be published. [227226]

Jacqui Smith: The findings of the National Identity Scheme Tracking Research can be found on the Identity and Passport Service website at:

http://www.ips.gov.uk/identity/publications-research.asp

I would refer the hon. and learned Member to that website.

The next wave of tracking research was being carried out at the end of October, the results of which will be published in December 2008.

Identity Cards: Contracts

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what contracts have yet to be awarded in relation to the identity card scheme; who has tendered for them; and what the value of each contract is expected to be. [224717]

Jacqui Smith: Currently there are three National Identity Scheme procurements being undertaken with the five 'Strategic Supplier Group' framework suppliers who were appointed following open procurement in June 2008. For each of these procurements, an initial shortlist process has either happened or is planned and was announced in September. Further to this, a separate procurement is being conducted for replacement of a current passport production contract on expiry. This was advertised in the Official Journal of the EU in June 2008 and a shortlist of bidders from those expressing an interest was announced in September.

For all contracts yet to be awarded, no values have been agreed as they are subject to competitive procurement. However, as part of the procurement process, Identity and Passport Service has shared a current view on costs with bidders. This is to inform discussions while balancing the need to retain competition. Figures are derived from those published in the cost report to Parliament required under the Identity Cards Act 2006 and have recently been amended to reflect updates to bidders as part of the procurement process. They are subject to further refinement and discussion throughout the procurement process, so should be treated as indicative only.

| Contract | Capability | Bidders | Value, estimate (£ million) |
|---|---|---|---|
| Application and Enrolment | Replacement of existing contracts as they expire from 2010, for processing of passport applications and supporting IPS infrastructure | CSC | 350-450 |
| | Development of new capabilities to improve and support future passport applications process | IBM | |
| | Development of capabilities to introduce biometric passports and for supporting identity card application processes | Fujitsu | |
| National Biometric Identity Service | Replacement of existing UK Borders Agency biometric database storage and matching capability when contracts expire | IBM | 200-250 |
| | Development of new biometric matching and storage capabilities for UK Borders Agency | Thales | |
| | Development of new biometric capabilities for biometric passports and for identity cards | | |
| Card Design and Production | Capabilities to design and securely produce identity cards | CSC | 250-350 |
| | | EDS | |
| | | Fujitsu | |
| | | IBM | |
| | | Thales | |
| Passport Design and Production | Capabilities to design and securely produce passport documents, replacing existing arrangements when they expire in 2010 | 3M | [illegible] |
| | | SP and SL | |
| | | De La | |
| | | Rue | |
| | | Gemalto | |
| | | Thales | |

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the (a) value is of any penalty and cancellation clauses in the contracts awarded in relation to the identity card scheme and (b) the expected value is in contracts relating to the identity cards scheme that have yet to be awarded. [224720]

Jacqui Smith: Contracts for the NIS using the 'Strategic Supplier Group' framework and for passports contain provisions for termination based on Office of Government Commerce guidance. These include terms for ending the contract for poor performance or where a decision is made to terminate early (for 'convenience'). For termination for convenience where between 12 and 18 months notice is given, a supplier may recover costs incurred to the point of termination and those associated with terminating the contract. Where less notice is given, in addition to costs incurred, some anticipated profit lost as a result of the decision to terminate early may be claimed. As these provisions are based on formulae dependent on when any decision is taken, work incurred to date and what elements of services are being terminated, no 'value' can be calculated.

Identity Cards: Finance

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what costs have been incurred to date in the planning and implementation of the identity card scheme. [224606]

Jacqui Smith: Between the financial years 2003-04 and 2005-06, £41.1 million was spent by the Home Office Identity Cards Programme in total.

Since the merger of the Home Office Identity Cards Programme and the UK Passport Service to create the Identity and Passport Service on 1 April 2006, projects to deliver passports including facial images and fingerprints, identity cards and other improvements have been necessarily combined. As much of the technology and operational processes needed to implement identity cards is also required for the implementation of these new passports, this is the most cost-effective way to deliver these initiatives.

Much of the work conducted by Identity and Passport Service cannot be categorised, both financially and operationally, as contributing towards either the introduction of passports with facial images and fingerprints or identity cards alone. The work is accounted for as future development projects which in the 2006-07 financial year amounted to £30.9 million. The costs accounted for as future development projects in the 2007-08 financial year were £61.7 million.

The latest six monthly Identity Cards Scheme Cost Report, published on 6 May 2008, sets out those elements of the cost estimates that relate specifically to passports, those specific to identity cards and those that are common to both. The cost of registering individuals for passports and ID cards is included in common costs because the same technology infrastructure and business processes will be used. In many cases, the same application will result in the issue of both a passport and an identity card.

The latest cost report may be found at:

http://www.ips.gov.uk/identity/publications-legislative.asp

I would refer the hon. Member to that report.

Identity Cards: Foreigners

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment she has made of the (a) effectiveness of the technology to be used from 25 November to obtain biometric fingerprints from juvenile foreign nationals over the age of six for the Identity Cards Scheme for Foreign Nationals and (b) merits of obtaining biometric fingerprints from juvenile foreign nationals over the age of six; what advice she has received on the psychological effect of collecting biometric identifiers from juveniles over the age of six; and if she will make a statement. [227984]

Mr. Woolas: The UKBA has many years of experience of taking fingerprints from children aged five and upwards without difficulty. For example, we issued 39,401 application registration cards (ARC) to children aged from five to 16 from 2002 to 2006, and we collected biometric data as part of the visa application process between September 2006 and the end of April 2007 from 5,679 children aged from five to 16.

The benefits of taking children's fingerprints are wide-ranging from providing a more secure and reliable documentary evidence of a child's immigration status and identity to helping abate child trafficking, and fraudulent claims for public funds. In addition, it will allow the UK to comply with EU regulation 380/2008 (section 4b) which lays down a uniform format for residence permits for third country nationals.

When evaluating the pilot scheme for the identity cards for foreign nationals, children followed the same quick, easy and clean process that they saw their parent follow and there was no evidence to suggest that children were adversely affected by the process. To date, we have successfully enrolled the biometrics of over 13,000 people.

Immigrants: Vetting

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what access her Department has to the results of Criminal Records Bureau checks carried out in other EU member states; what arrangements are in place to ensure that all EU migrants are subject to a Criminal Records Bureau check before commencing employment in the UK; and if she will make a statement. [234670]

Meg Hillier: There is no direct equivalent to the Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) in other countries or EU member states. Each country operates its own arrangements for providing access to criminal record information and the CRB does not currently access overseas criminal records as part of its Disclosure Service.

The Disclosure Service is only available for those positions and types of work included in the Exceptions Order (1975) to the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974. The standard and enhanced disclosure process includes checks against the Police National Computer (PNC) and, if applicable, a search against Section 142 of the Education Act 2002, the Protection of Children Act and Protection of Vulnerable Adults (PoCA and PoVA) lists. Enhanced disclosures also contain a further check conducted by police forces for any relevant non-conviction information. All individuals who have received a successful offer of employment for a role which brings them into contact with children or vulnerable adults are subject to these checks irrespective of an applicant's nationality or length of residence in the United Kingdom.

The CRB introduced an overseas service in February 2003 to provide details and guidance to employers and individuals on how to obtain a certificate of good conduct or a copy of a person's own criminal record from those countries included in the overseas service.

This information can be used in conjunction with the full range of pre-appointment checks to ensure that the prospective employee is suitable for the post. These pre-appointment checks are the responsibility of the employer and a CRB disclosure is only one part of that process. Full details of this service are available on the CRB website at:

www.crb.gov.uk//overseas.

Some countries also have arrangements enabling their citizens to obtain certificates of good conduct or extracts from any existing criminal record to show to prospective employers. These may be obtained once the prospective employees have arrived in the UK but it may be advisable for them to obtain the document before leaving their home country.

Immigration: Deportation

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the Written Ministerial Statement of 19 May 2008, Official Report, columns 5-6WS, on the UK Border Agency detention estate that an immigration offender is removed from the United Kingdom every eight minutes, how many new arrivals refused entry to the UK at port are counted as removed immigration offenders. [208720]

Mr. Woolas: Of the 63,140 removals from the UK in 2007 (which equates to one removal, on average, every eight minutes), 33,680 were persons refused entry at port and subsequently removed from the UK. The latter figure includes cases dealt with at juxtaposed controls, persons departing voluntarily after enforcement action had been initiated against them and removals which have been performed by Immigration Officers at ports using enforcement powers. Figures are rounded to the nearest five and are provisional.

National Statistics on immigration and asylum are available from the Library of the House and the Home Office's Research, Development and Statistics website at:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/immigration-asylum-stats.html.

Immobilisation of Vehicles: Licensing

Mr. Leech: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether her Department's review of the regulation of companies involved in vehicle immobilisation on private land will include consideration of the proposal that the Security Industry Authority take responsibility for the level of fees charged in relation to vehicle immobilisation. [236603]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The Security Industry Authority (SIA) is undertaking a feasibility study of various options for the regulation of vehicle immobilisation companies who work on private land, which is expected to be completed by the end of December. This study is considering options relating to the fees charged in relation to vehicle immobilisation on private land.

Interception Modernisation Programme

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate she has made of the (a) set-up and (b) annual running costs of the Interception Modernisation Programme database. [236501]

Mr. Coaker: The objective of the Interception Modernisation Programme (IMP) is to maintain the UK's Lawful Intercept and Communications Data capabilities in the changing communications environment. It is a cross-government programme, led by the Home Office, to ensure that our capability to lawfully intercept and exploit data when fighting crime and terrorism is not lost. It was established in response to the Prime Minister's National Security remit in 2006.

As part of the Government's Comprehensive Spending Review (CSR 07) a central bid was made to HM Treasury on behalf of the security and intelligence agencies. Funding for IMP was included in this bid.

The IMP will require a substantial level of investment which will need to tie in with the Government's three-year CSR periods. The scale of overall economic investment is very difficult to calculate because of the complexity of the project and wide ranging implementation solutions currently being considered.

Given the commercial and national security sensitivities, the precise costs of the programme cannot be disclosed. Further detail on budgetary estimates for the IMP will however become available once the public consultation process (announced by the Home Secretary on 15 October) commences in the new year.

Members: Correspondence

Mr. Winnick: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many and what proportion of replies to hon. Members on immigration cases were signed by a Minister in her Department in the latest period for which figures are available; and what the procedures are for deciding whether the reply is signed by a Minister or the Chief Executive of the UK Border Agency. [213959]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 26 June 2008]: In May 2008, 40.5 per cent. of the replies sent to hon. Members, that were originally sent to a Minister, were signed by a Minister.

Letters written directly to the Home Secretary by Cabinet colleagues, Members of the shadow Cabinets and leaders of other political parties will receive a reply direct from the Home Secretary.

Letters written to a Minister that ask for a meeting, are political or explicitly drawing the Minister's attention to an issue, will also receive a reply from a Minister. Members of the Privy Council will also receive a ministerial reply if they write to a Minister.

The letters that do not fall into these categories are divided between the CEO (and deputy) of the Border Agency and Ministers for replying; with 80 per cent. going to the CEO (and deputy) and 20 per cent. to Ministers.

Sir Gerald Kaufman: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when she will respond to the letter of 29 September from the right hon. Member for Manchester, Gorton with regard to Mr. Z Mohiny. [235589]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 13 November 2008]: I replied to my right hon. Friend's letter on 13 November 2008.

Sir Gerald Kaufman: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when she will respond to the letter of 30 September from the right hon. Member for Manchester, Gorton with regard to Mrs. Zara Gulshav. [235590]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 13 November 2008]: I replied to my right hon. Friend's letter on 12 November 2008.

National Policing Improvement Agency: Finance

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the budget for the National Policing Improvement Agency will be in (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [234744]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 10 November 2008]: The National Policing Improvement Agency (NPIA) budget for resource and capital, as set out in the business plan 2008-11, is given in the following table.

| | | £ million |
|---|---|---|
| | Resource | Capital |
| 2008-09 | 396.3 | 179.0 |
| 2009-10 | 393.8 | 125.0 |
| 2010-11 | 390.8 | 119.0 |

The 2008-09 budget has been delegated by the Home Office. The 2009-10 and 2010-11 budgets have not yet been formally delegated by the Home Office.

Further information can be found in section 8 of the NPIA business plan 2008-11, which is available on the NPIA website at:

http://www.npia.police.uk/en/7403.htm

Neighbourhood Policing Fund

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what the size of the Neighbourhood Policing Fund will be in (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11; [235475]

(2) what the total funding by her Department for police community support officers in England and Wales will be in (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [235476]

Jacqui Smith: From 1 April 2008, the Neighbourhood Policing Fund has included the grant for police community support officers. The police funding settlement announced on 6 December 2007 set out allocations for 2008-09 and provisionally for 2009-10 and 2010-11. The total figures for England and Wales are (a) £324 million in 2008-09, (b) £332 million in 2009-10 and (c) £341 million in 2010-11.

Parenting Contracts

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many parenting contracts have been issued to parents of young people repeatedly found drinking in public. [234289]

Jacqui Smith: Data on parenting contracts are not collected by the Home Office as they are voluntary agreements and therefore are not suitable for central data collection.

Police Cautions

Mr. Vara: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) cautions, (b) on-the-spot fines and (c) formal warnings were issued by each police force in each of the last 10 years. [235715]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Information provided by the Ministry of Justice showing the number of offenders cautioned is given in table 1. The number of penalty notices for disorder (on-the-spot fines) issued from 2004 (commencement of the scheme) to 2006 is given in table 2. Data for 2007 in relation to both cautions and penalty notices for disorder are due to be published at the end of November 2008.

Police forces can also issue 'on the spot fines' or fixed penalty notices (FPNs) for various motoring offences. Information on the number of FPNs issued, broken down by police force area for the years 1997 to 2007 are published in table 20(a) of the Home Office publication 'Offences Relating to Motor Vehicles'. Copies are available in the House Library.

The only formal warning statistics that are collected centrally are cannabis warnings. Police forces have been able to issue a formal warning for possession of cannabis, known as a cannabis warning, since 1 April 2004. The available data are given in table 3. Figures for 2004-05 cannot be shown at the police force area level. For this period, there were an estimated 39,256 cannabis warnings in England and Wales.

[1] From 1 June 2000 the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 came into force nationally and removed the use of cautions for persons under 18 and replaced them with reprimands and final warnings. These figures have been included in the totals.
[2] Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.
[3] The cautions statistics relate to persons for whom these offences were the principal offences for which they were dealt with. When a defendant has been cautioned for two or more offences at the same time the principal offence is the more serious offence.

Police: Disciplinary Proceedings

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police disciplinary proceedings following internal investigations took place in each year since 2001. [234736]

Jacqui Smith: This information is no longer collected by the Home Office. The collation and publication of the statistics requested has been the responsibility of the Independent Police Complaints Commission (IPCC) since 1 April 2004, in accordance with the Police Reform Act 2002.

The Home Office data are set out in the following table.

Most severe misconduct sanction imposed on each officer by category

[1] These figures are based on full-time equivalents that have been rounded to the nearest whole number, due to rounding there may be an apparent discrepancy between totals and the sums of constituent items. Figures include those officers on career breaks.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many police officers per 100,000 population there were in North Yorkshire in each year since 1997; [237111]

(2) how many police officers there were in (a) North Yorkshire and (b) Yorkshire in each year since 1997. [237112]

Mr. Coaker: The available data are given in the following tables.

Table 1: Police officer strength[1] (FTE)[2] by police force as at 31 March 1997 to 31 March 2008

| | As at 31 March: | | | | | | | | | | | |

[1] This table contains full-time equivalent figures that have been rounded to the nearest whole number. Because of rounding, there may be an apparent discrepancy between totals and the sums of the constituent items.
[2] Full-time equivalent excludes those on career breaks or maternity/paternity leave.
[3] Comparable strength (excludes those on career breaks, or maternity/paternity leave). The Police Numbers Task Force (2001) recommended that a clear presentation was made of the numbers of staff employed by police forces including those seconded into the force and those on any type of long or short term absence. These new calculations were first used in 2003, and are not comparable with data prior to March 2003. The data from 2003 onwards used here are termed comparable because they have been calculated on the old basis to allow comparison.

Police: Training

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what training police officers are required to undertake on the issues of (a) domestic violence, (b) female genital mutilation, (c) forced marriage, (d) rape, (e) stalking, (f) human trafficking and (g) honour-based violence. [236458]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The National Police Improvement Agency (NPIA) has developed modules for training domestic abuse which are used by the police service. All new recruits and civilian staff receive this which equates to two days training and incorporates child protection training.

The modules are being currently being refreshed by the NPIA to incorporate female genital mutilation (FGM), stalking and harassment and "honour"-based violence (HBV).

Some police forces have produced stand-alone training, for example, the Metropolitan Police Service Project Azore, which relates to specialist staff receiving training on FGM and Thames Valley police, South Wales and the North Eastern regional police forces who have produced training around HBV, FGM and trafficking for frontline staff, senior investigating officers (SIO), call handlers, and specialists. This training has been forwarded to the NPIA product design for assessment with a view to informing the national training.

The specially trained officer development programme (STODP) was developed by the NPIA to develop the skills and competence of officers dealing with rape victims.

The role profile and the programme itself was developed through wide consultation with practitioners in the police service and representatives from the following:

Home Office
Crown Prosecution Service
Health Service
Voluntary Sector
Skills for Justice

The programme consists of three stages:

1. A knowledge acquisition stage—consisting of distance learning workbooks

2. A skills development stage—consisting of a two week course.

3. A workplace learning and assessment stage—through a professional development portfolio.

This programme was delivered to the police service through a number of regional roadshows conducted in November 2007.

Privacy

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what plans she has to carry out a privacy impact assessment on the provisions of the Communications Data Bill; and if she will make a statement. [231779]

Jacqui Smith: On 15 October, I announced that we would be launching a consultation on how to maintain the ability of police and intelligence agencies to protect the public using communications data, in the face of the challenge of changing technology. This consultation will begin in the new year.

I am clear that we need to consult widely with the public and all interested parties to set out the emerging problem, the important capability gaps that we need to address and to look at the possible solutions.

Protection: Religious Freedom

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many individuals who have converted from Islam to other faiths have been placed on an at risk register by police forces in England and Wales following threats made to them as a result of their conversion. [173947]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The information requested is not collected centrally.

Security Guards: Licensing

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many Security Industry Authority licence holders have had their licences revoked incorrectly following inaccurate information being provided by her Department on their right to work. [232343]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The Security Industry Authority's revocation process, which applied following right to work checks with the United Kingdom Border Agency on non-EEA SIA licence holders, incorporates a number of safeguards to ensure that licences are not revoked incorrectly. This includes written notification to the holder informing them that the SIA is minded to revoke their licence and allowing 21 days to respond with evidence of their right to work, during which the licence remains in force. Revocation follows if no such evidence is provided, but the holder retains the right of appeal through the courts for a further 21 days and a licence remains in force until the appeal process is completed.

There have been instances where licence holders have not responded to requests for information from the SIA, had their licences revoked and subsequently demonstrated a valid right to work at appeal. The latest information available shows that there have been just over 250 such cases since 1 January 2008, or 3 per cent. of the approximately 8,100 cases where revocation ensued after a warning letter had been sent following the right to work checks on almost 40,000 non-EEA licence holders at the end of 2007.

Sex Establishments

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what plans she has to reclassify lap-dancing clubs as sex encounter establishments. [235650]

Mr. Alan Campbell [holding answer 13 November 2008]: We will be publishing proposals shortly.

Terrorism

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what use has been made of the powers to search domestic hereditaments for weapons of mass destruction under section 52 of the Anti-terrorism, Crime and Security Act 2001. [222694]

Mr. Coaker: The Home Office does not collate or hold information on the use made of this power.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when she plans to answer question 195404 on routes to citizenship, tabled on 18 March. [206477]

Jacqui Smith: I replied to the hon. Member on 1 September 2008, Official Report, column 1533W.

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when she plans to answer question 195037, on security passes, tabled on 13 March 2008. [206493]

Jacqui Smith: I replied to the hon. Member on 14 October 2008, Official Report, column 1073W.

CULTURE, MEDIA AND SPORT

BBC: Standards

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport if he will place in the Library a copy of the most recent report on the inspection of the British Broadcasting Corporation by the Office of the Surveillance Commissioner. [236617]

Andy Burnham: The report is a matter for the BBC.

It is the view of the Chief Surveillance Commissioner that for public authorities to disclose the contents of his reports would prejudice the effective conduct of public affairs and the BBC does not therefore propose to place a copy of this report in the Library of the House.

Bed and Breakfast Accommodation

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what recent representations he has received from representatives of people running bed and breakfast establishments. [233565]

Barbara Follett [holding answer 6 November 2008]: My predecessor, my right hon. Friend the Member for Barking (Margaret Hodge) met my hon. Friend the Member for Gloucester (Mr. Dhanda) the former Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State at the Department for Communities and Local Government (DCLG) on 21 July 2008 to discuss concerns raised by VisitBritain, on behalf of small accommodation providers about the Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety) Order 2005 and its impact on their establishments.

DCLG is working with stakeholders on providing guidance to accommodation providers which will help them understand what is required of them and give them practical advice. The industry, VisitBritain and my Department continue to work with DCLG on addressing this issue.

Churches: Theft

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what support English Heritage has given to churches on tackling increases in thefts of lead from church roofs. [236514]

Barbara Follett: English Heritage is extremely concerned about the theft of metals from churches. A substantial proportion of its grant aid over many years has been given to re-roof parish churches, usually in lead which is the most robust and appropriate material. English Heritage has recently published a guidance note on its website which provides information and advice on ways to minimise the threat of theft and suggests sensible precautions that congregations can take.

English Heritage scrutinises new methods of preventing theft when it is asked to do so. This work is undertaken by its national security adviser who tests for example, new devices and systems. English Heritage then disseminates findings on effective systems to all interested parties.

Community Development: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what recent assessment he has made of (a) the effectiveness of community sport and cultural activities funded by his Department in engaging young people most at risk of committing antisocial behaviour and (b) the effectiveness of community sport and cultural activities funded in Crosby constituency in meeting their objectives. [236716]

Mr. Sutcliffe: Through our agencies we have a wide range of programmes that offer young people most at risk of committing antisocial behaviour the opportunity to participate more in sport and culture. These include the Kickz Programme, and the Department's Youth Mentoring Programme for media, music and sport which includes 'Your Hired!' and the 'Respect Athlete Mentoring Programme'.

We have not undertaken a specific assessment of the effectiveness of such programmes in respect of engaging young people most at risk of committing antisocial behaviour, or the effectiveness of community sport and cultural activities in Crosby in particular.

Cultural Heritage

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many staff in his Department were employed to work on heritage issues in each year since 1997. [227202]

Barbara Follett: Such headcount information as is available is shown in the following table.

| | Headcount |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 37 |
| 2004-05 | 38 |
| 2005-06 | 37 |
| 2006-07 | 36 |
| 2007-08 | 30 |

These figures represent the position at the end of each financial year.

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many external consultants work for his Department. [232843]

Barbara Follett: From 1 April 2008 to date 10 external consultants have worked for the Department for Culture, Media and Sport.

Departmental Data Protection

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what procedures are in place in his Department to ensure that data are not lost; and what steps his Department takes to ensure that companies contracted to provide services for his Department take steps to prevent such losses. [237034]

Mr. Sutcliffe: My Department protects its information by complying with government security standards which are a mix of physical and logical controls.

Staff have been reminded of their responsibility to protect and secure information and to not copy sensitive data to removable media unless it is absolutely necessary. If they do they have been reminded that it should be safeguarded as if it was a large amount of cash.

Laptop hard drives are encrypted and only encrypted data sticks may carry departmental information.

My Department uses the standard terms and conditions provided by the OGC in its contracts. It also includes the specific mandatory requirements set out in the Cabinet Office review of data handling in its invitation to tender documentation. Compliance with all security requirements is a compulsory element of tender evaluation.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport whether the data shared between his Department and companies contracted to provide services for it is routinely encrypted. [237169]

Mr. Sutcliffe: My Department does not hold large amounts of sensitive data that need to be shared with suppliers. Payroll information is shared with a supplier and passes across a secure Government Secure Intranet and is not encrypted.

Departmental Land

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much surplus land (a) his Department and (b) its agencies own; and what the (i) area and (ii) estimated monetary value of each site is. [236431]

Mr. Sutcliffe: Neither the Department for Culture, Media and Sport nor its agency The Royal Parks, own any surplus land.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many Questions for written answer were tabled to his Department in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04, (c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235397]

Andy Burnham: The number of written questions tabled (and transferred) to DCMS is as follows

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 1,492 |
| 2003-04 | 1,389 |
| 2004-05 | 6,73 |
| 2005-06 | 3,080 |
| 2006-07 | [1]2,147 |
| 2007-08 | [1]2,375 |

[1] Excludes figures for written questions answered by the Minister for the Olympics. Information obtained from the DCMS parliamentary questions database.

Information on how many written questions were answered substantively and not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost is not readily available and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. However all DCMS answers are a matter of public record and can be found in the Official Report.

Gambling Commission: Standards

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport if he will place in the Library a copy of the report on the inspection of the Gambling Commission by the Office of the Surveillance Commissioner. [236614]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The report is a matter for the Gambling Commission and the Commission considers that it is not in the public interest to make the document available in the public domain at this time.

In the Commission's view, disclosing the scale and nature of the Commission's processes would, or would be likely to, compromise the Commission's ability to perform its statutory functions, which include investigating the commission of offences.

Government Art Collection

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport pursuant to the answer of 10 November 2008, Official Report, column 817W, on the Government Art Collection, what the eight missing works of art are; when each was recorded as missing; what the monetary value of each is estimated to be; and how much has been spent to date on their recovery. [235993]

Barbara Follett: The information is as follows:

Horse Guards from the Old Entrance, Scotland Yard
Print after Michael Angelo Rooker
(GAC15039)
Recorded as missing on 1 November 2007
Estimated value: £400

Monument to Balance 4/30
Print by Ernest DUNN
(GACL90)
Recorded as missing on 28 July 2008
Estimated value: £120

The Wording of Police Charges 37/150 1970
Plague 37/150 1970
(GAC12775)
(GAC12754)
Prints by R.B. KITAJ
Recorded as missing on 30 July 2008
Estimated value: £500 each

Yellow Square plus Quarter Blue 30/72 1972
Print by William SCOTT
(GAC11397)
Recorded as missing on 2 September 2008
Estimated value: £4,000

Mudbanks A/P 1978
Print by Julian Trevelyan
(GAC15018)
Recorded as missing on 2 September 2008
Estimated value: £500

Calypso 36/50
Print by Julian TREVELYAN
(GACL608)
Recorded as missing on 2 September 2008
Estimated value: £500

Breeze I 40/50 1967
Print by John Brunsdon
(GACL908)
Recorded as missing on 2 September 2008
Estimated value: £100

The only money spent on the recovery of these items has been in terms of staff time. There are more than 13,500 works of art in the Government Art Collection's holdings. At any one time approximately 70 per cent. of these are on display in over 400 different buildings in the UK and around the world and their location recorded on the GAC database. In addition to this central record the GAC undertakes audits of its holdings remotely and in person and these occasionally show that works are not in their previously recorded locations. However, after extensive searches many of these subsequently turn up. The answer provided on 10 November 2008, that eight works of art are currently registered as missing for the period 1 November 2007 to 31 October 2008, therefore represents the situation as it is at this particular moment.

These eight works of art are not original works but multiples.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport pursuant to the answer of 10 November 2008, Official Report, column 817W, on the Government Art Collection, for what reason his Department's website lists only two works of art as missing; and when the relevant page of the website was last updated. [235994]

Barbara Follett: The two works of art listed on the DCMS's website were original works of art and were known to have been stolen from a particular building in February 2008. The circumstances were advertised on the DCMS website and the police were informed. They have since been recovered by the police and the relevant page was updated 13 November.

Historic Buildings: Consultants

Robert Key: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much has been spent on consultancy fees in respect of (a) Old Sarum Castle and (b) Wardour Castle by (i) his Department and (ii) English Heritage in each of the last five years; and if he will make a statement. [235966]

Barbara Follett: The Department for Culture, Media and Sport has not spent anything on consultancy fees in respect of Old Sarum Castle and Wardour Castle in each of the last five years.

English Heritage state that they have spent the following amounts on consultancy fees in respect of each of the properties in the same period:

| | Old Sarum Castle | Wardour Castle |
|---|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 0 | 0 |
| 2004-05 | 921 | 0 |
| 2005-06 | 0 | 0 |
| 2006-07 | 0 | 0 |

Historic Buildings: Finance

Robert Key: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much (a) income has been received and (b) expenditure has been incurred by English Heritage in respect of (i) Old Sarum Castle and (ii) Wardour Castle since 1996. [235967]

Barbara Follett: English Heritage state that they have received the following income and incurred the following costs from Old Sarum Castle and Wardour Castle since 1996-97.

| | Earned income | Expenditure |
|---|---|---|
| Old Sarum Castle | 2,719,216 | 2,828,108 |
| Wardour Castle | 798,341 | 1,096,938 |

Licensing Laws

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport if he will bring forward proposals to extend the grounds on which the police can object to the issue of a temporary events notice (TEN) to include (a) the prevention of public nuisance and (b) the protection of children from harm; and if he will establish a mechanism for public objections in the application process for TENs. [236044]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The Government have no plans to extend police powers of objection to temporary event notices (TENs), nor do they plan to extend the right of objection to local residents. The system for temporary permitted activities (TENs) is a light touch system involving minimum bureaucracy. Such a light touch system is possible because of the limitations directly imposed on the use of the system by the Licensing Act 2003.

Only the police can object to the giving of a TEN, on the grounds of crime and disorder. However, there are also powers for the police or environmental health officers to close events where there is excessive noise nuisance. The giving of a TEN does not overrule existing environmental health, planning and health and safety law, all of which must be complied with for a temporary event to occur legally.

Of course, if there were evidence that problems were frequently occurring at events authorised by a TEN then we could look at the legislation again. However, despite there being an estimated 119,000 TENs given in 2007-08, I am not aware of such evidence.

Lotteries: Housing

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what advice the Gambling Commission has (a) given and (b) retracted on the legality of house sale competitions. [236616]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The Gambling Commission has advised that it does not have regulatory responsibilities in respect of prize competitions and free draws but that they do monitor the boundary between them and Lotteries. The Gambling Commission has published a range of guidance documents on the implementation of the Gambling Act 2005, including Guidance on Prize Competitions and Free Draws, published in November 2007. A press release urging homeowners to be aware of the rules on 'house competitions' was published in October 2008. The press release advised that individuals considering or operating a scheme to sell their house using prize competitions should consider the guidance on the Gambling Commission website and take independent legal advice before proceeding.

The Commission advised that in September 2008 they corrected advice given in response to an e-mail inquiry from a member of the public relating to house competitions, but that no other advice or guidance which has been published on the website or given in any other form has been subsequently corrected or retracted.

Public Houses

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what net change in the number has been made of the net change in the number of public houses over the last year. [236615]

Mr. Sutcliffe: We have made no assessment of the net change in the number of public houses over the last year. The DCMS Statistical Bulletin on Alcohol, Entertainment and Late Night Refreshment does not identify the number of pubs in England and Wales; but rather the number of premises authorising the sale or supply of alcohol by means of a premises licence or a club premises certificate. These figures apply not only to public houses, but also to other licensed premises such as hotels, off licences and convenience stores.

Regeneration: Coastal Areas

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what funds have been made available for regeneration of seaside towns in the last three years; and how much has been given to each area. [236097]

Barbara Follett [holding answer 18 November 2008]: My Department's contribution to the Government's work in support of the regeneration of seaside towns is through the £45 million (£15 million pa over the next three years) Sea Change Programme. This has only been in place since 1 April 2008, but £14.6 million has been made available for regeneration of seaside towns through this initiative since then. The funding allocated to each area is set out in the following table:

| Seaside townstreet | Grant awarded (£) |
|---|---|
| Blackpool | 4,000,000 |
| Dover | 3,850,000 |
| Torbay | 2,247,532 |
| Berwick | 1,000,000 |
| Bexhill-on-Sea | 1,000,000 |
| Littlehampton | 480,800 |
| Teignmouth | 376,676 |
| Bexcombe | 455,000 |
| Weston-Super-Mare | 951,447 |
| Westward Ho! | [1]100,000 |
| North Tyneside | [2]29,525 |
| Fleetwood | [2]30,000 |
| Margate | [2]30,000 |
| Ilfracombe | [2]30,000 |
| Withernsea | [2]30,000 |

[1] Development grant.
[2] Feasibility grant.

Swimming: Elderly

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many representations his Department has received from local authorities on the financial effects of proposals for free swimming for over-60s. [236180]

Andy Burnham: We are collating final responses but have received to date approximately 30 representations from local authorities on the financial effects of proposals for free swimming for over-60s.

Tourism: Departmental Coordination

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport when he last chaired a meeting with the Ministers from the Department for Communities and Local Government, Department for Business Enterprise and Regulatory Reform and the Home Office to discuss UK tourism-related issues. [236234]

Barbara Follett [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The Secretary of State and I regularly raise tourism-related issues in the course of discussions with colleagues across Government.

My predecessor, the right hon. Member for Barking (Margaret Hodge) met with the right hon. Member for Birmingham Hodge Hill (Mr. Byrne) the former Minister of State at the Home Office in April to discuss visas. She also met with the hon. Member for Gloucester (Mr. Dhanda) the former Parliamentary Under-Secretary at the Department for Communities and Local Government on 21 July 2008 to discuss concerns raised by VisitBritain, on behalf of small accommodation providers about The Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety) Order 2005 and its impact on their establishments.

I will shortly be meeting with the right hon. Member for Oldham East and Saddleworth (Mr. Woolas), Minister of State at the Home Office and HM Treasury to continue the discussions on visas and also with the right hon. Member for Wolverhampton, South-East (Mr. McFadden), Minister for State at the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform to discuss Daylight Saving.

LEADER OF THE HOUSE

Racial Harassment

David Simpson: To ask the Leader of the House how many complaints of racial abuse relating to staff for which her Office is responsible have been (a) investigated and (b) upheld in the last 12 months. [236001]

Chris Bryant: The Leader's Office has a policy of zero tolerance to all forms of abuse. There have been no complaints of racial abuse within the last 12 months.

OLYMPICS

Departmental NDPBs

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Minister for the Olympics what the remit is of each non-departmental public body sponsored by her Office; and what budget each has been set for (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [236930]

Tessa Jowell: The Olympic Delivery Authority (ODA) is responsible for the delivery of infrastructure and venues to be acquired, constructed or adapted in preparation for the London Olympic and Paralympic games in 2012. The ODA's budget is set annually and for 2008-09 is £1,361.1 million. ODA's budget has not yet been set for the following two years, but its estimated spend for those two years is £1,744.2 million for 2009-10 and £1,615.2 million for 2010-11. The figures for 2009-10 and 2010-11 are subject to revision in the light of actual outturn in 2008-09.

The Olympic Lottery Distributor (OLD) will be responsible for the distribution of up to £1,835 million of national lottery funds over its lifetime. Its remit is to make grants or loans which it considers necessary or expedient for the purpose of, or in connection with, the provision of facilities, services or functions for the 2012 Olympic and Paralympic games. The OLD draws down funds from the Olympic Lottery Distribution Fund as they are needed to meet grant payments and running costs. The OLD currently expects to distribute £125 million in grant payments during 2008-09 and estimates that it will distribute £374 million in 2009-10 and £378 million in 2010-11. The OLD prepares its running costs budget annually, in advance of each financial year and has budgeted £0.9 million in 2008-09 for its running costs.

Olympic Games 2012: East Midlands

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Minister for the Olympics what locations in the East Midlands are being considered as training sites for athletes for the 2012 Olympics. [237906]

Tessa Jowell: A list of these facilities in the East Midlands that feature in the London Organising Committee of the Olympic Games and Paralympic Games (LOCOG) Pre-Games Training Camp Guide is provided in the following table. LOCOG will provide each National Olympic Committee (NOC) and National Paralympic Committee (NPC) with a financial award of up to £25,000 for them to spend at facilities they choose from the guide. In addition, NOCs and NPCs are free to base themselves elsewhere in the East Midlands at facilities not included in this list.

Olympic Games 2012: Transport

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Minister for the Olympics what estimate she has made of the length of time it will take to travel to the 2012 Olympic Games main stadium from (a) Manchester, (b) Leeds, (c) Birmingham, (d) Edinburgh, (e) each London borough and (f) each European capital city when the Games are taking place. [236938]

Tessa Jowell: This far in advance of the games, the timetables operated by private sector train operators and airlines are indeterminate, therefore it would be misleading to give precise journey times this far ahead.

The Olympic Delivery Authority (ODA) continues to work with a wide range of stakeholders to plan transport arrangements for the 2012 games. This work includes extensive transport demand forecasting and modelling, which draws on estimates of journey times from a range of sources. People will travel to the Olympic Park using a wide range of transport modes including National Rail, London Underground, Docklands Light Railway (DLR), bus, coach, park and ride as well as walking and cycling. Journey times will vary by mode, or a combination of modes.

The ODA uses a range of data sources to predict journey times including the Department for Transport's (Transport Direct Portal) database, plus the most up-to-date data from train operating companies and Transport for London. The ODA also uses a range of computer modelling techniques to estimate total journey times and 'costs', which are widely used by transport practitioners, agencies and local authorities across the country.

Journey times from European cities will vary considerably depending on whether people are travelling by Eurostar, short-haul flights, or road-based transport. If travelling by Eurostar, people will be able to interchange at either Ebbsfleet or St. Pancras where they will have a train journey of either 10 minutes or seven minutes via the games-time 'Javelin' service to Stratford International for the Olympic Park.

INNOVATION, UNIVERSITIES AND SKILLS

Aimhigher Programme: North West

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what assessment his Department has made of the effectiveness of the Higher Education Funding Council for England's arrangements for liaison in the North West region with sixth form and other further education colleges involved with the Aimhigher initiative. [235949]

Mr. Lammy: Arrangements for ensuring the effectiveness of liaison with sixth form and other further education colleges in the North West are made through area partnership committees for each of the Aimhigher areas. Each area partnership committee has a lead higher education institution that acts as the treasurer to the committee ensuring accountability for funding. Sixth form and further education colleges are part of each area committee. In addition, Action on Access provides support for partnerships. The area partnership committee structure was introduced for Aimhigher for the 2008-11 phase of the programme. The first monitoring reports will be available in July 2009 and will be evaluated by an external assessment.

The Higher Education Funding Council for England is about to conduct a small scale 'value for money' study into the effectiveness of partnership arrangements in the North West.

Apprentices: York

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many people were on (a) apprenticeships and (b) advanced apprenticeships in (i) City of York constituency and (ii) the City of York local authority area (A) on the latest date for which figures are available and (B) the same date in each of the last 10 years. [236878]

Mr. Simon: Table 1 shows the number of apprenticeship starts for learners living in the parliamentary constituency of City of York, and separately for learners living in York local authority. Figures are presented from 2002/03 to 2006/07, the latest year for which fully audited data is available. Comparable information is not available prior to the formation of the Learning and Skills Council in 2001.

[2] Funding for IIP UK for 2009-10 and 2010-11 is yet to be announced.

[3] On 1 October 2008, the Quality Improvement Agency (QIA) and the Centre for Excellence in Leadership (CEL) transferred their operations to the Learning and Skills Improvement Service (LSIS). In March 2008, the Secretary of State sent LSIS a letter announcing a grant of £129 million for 2008-09. This figure has since been raised to £145 million.

[4] National Endowment for Science, Technology and the Arts (NESTA) is funded by an endowment from the National lottery rather than grant-in-aid.

Higher Education: North West

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what meetings he has had with the Higher Education Funding Council for England to discuss the new University Challenge learning hubs in the North West region. [236360]

Mr. Lammy: Ministers and officials speak to many institutions and organisations about issues that affect Individuals' progression to higher education. The Higher Education Funding Council for England Is now looking at the responses to consultation on our new University Challenge policy but it is already clear that this is going to be a very successful policy, which has generated interest in all parts of the country.

Decisions on which proposals should be supported will be exclusively for the Council.

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what discussions the Higher Education Funding Council for England (HEFCE) has had with (a) employees and (b) employer organisations in the North West on their input to funding HEFCE's decision-making process in the last 12 months. [236565]

Mr. Lammy: HEFCE uses formulae to determine how most of the money is allocated between HE institutions, helping to reduce the number of separate funding streams and minimise the accountability burden. These formulae take account of certain factors for each institution, including the number and type of students, the subjects taught, and the amount and quality of research undertaken.

In the North West region, close contact with the North West Development Agency, the Learning and Skills Council and other agencies, together with employer representative involvement in its Employer Engagement Panel, routinely help to inform HEFCE's decisions over that funding which is not allocated by formula.

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what groups his officials have met in the North West to discuss widening access to higher education in the region in the last 12 months. [236566]

Mr. Lammy: Widening access to higher education is a Government priority and my officials have engaged in discussions with a wide range of partners in the North West on numerous topics related to widening access to higher education. As our policy initiatives are primarily taken forward by stakeholders, we find contact with such groups invaluable as they can advise on issues at a local level and we can update them on national developments. Specific groups involved include lifelong learning networks, educational establishments, those involved in the Train to Gain initiative and Aimhigher Partnerships, among others.

The North West enjoys an excellent reputation for its co-ordinated approach involving a wide range of regional partners and we expect that close involvement of all partners to continue.

Literacy

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what recent estimate he has made of the levels of adult literacy in England; and if he will make a statement. [237902]

Mr. Simon: The 2003 Skills for Life Needs Survey estimated that 5.2 million adults have literacy skills below Level 1 (broadly equivalent to an English GCSE at grades D to G.) A further survey will be conducted during this spending review period.

Good literacy skills are crucial to life and work, and the Government are committed to enabling adults to improve these skills. Free literacy courses are available to adults in England through the Government's Skills for Life strategy, which was launched in 2001. So far 2,276,000 adults have improved their literacy, language and numeracy skills and gained a first qualification, meaning the Government have met the 2010 Skills for Life target over two years early. Well over 1 million of these qualifications were achieved in literacy.

Our long-term ambition, as set out in World Class Skills, is for 95 per cent. of adults to have functional literacy skills by 2020, up from 85 per cent. in 2005. To achieve this trajectory the Learning and Skills Council's 2007 Statement of Priorities set out plans to deliver 597,000 literacy achievements at Level 1 or above during the period 2008 to 2011.

North West Lifelong Learning Network

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what discussions (a) he and (b) his officials have had with the Higher Education Funding Council for England on the North West Lifelong Learning network. [235948]

Mr. Lammy: Ministers and officials speak to many institutions and organisations about issues that affect individuals' progression to higher education. The Higher Education Funding Council for England (HEFCE) is responsible for managing the lifelong learning network (LLN) programme and they lead in discussions about the progress that the individual networks are making.

There are five lifelong learning networks in the North West: Cheshire and Warrington, Cumbria Higher Learning, Lancashire, Greater Merseyside and West Lancashire. These LLNs have received over £15 million of HEFCE funding.

The overall objective for LLNs is to improve the coherence, clarity and certainty of progression opportunities for vocational learners into and through higher education. HEFCE officials have discussed with individual LLNs matters relating to additional student numbers, the interim evaluation of LLNs and the use of e-systems to support learners.

The HEFCE institutional team also attend the HEFCE funded HEEL (Higher Education in East Lancashire) group which is in its second year of operation. HEEL has four working groups: curriculum development, community engagement, employer engagement and marketing.

Research: Agriculture

Mr. Peter Ainsworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much his Department has spent on (a) direct grants and (b) joint projects with universities for research on agriculture in each of the last 10 years. [237231]

Mr. Simon: The Department does not provide direct funding for agricultural research, but allocates the science and research budget to research councils who then fund different areas of research. The Biotechnology and Biological Sciences Research Council (BBSRC) is responsible for agricultural research. BBSRC estimated spend on research in agriculture in the last 10 years is set out in the following tables.

Estimated spend (£ million)

| | 1998/99 | 1999/2000 | 2000/01 | 2001/02 | 2002/03 | 2003/04 | 2004/05 | 2005/06 | 2006/07 | 2007/08 |

Research: Finance

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much co-funding from the private sector the research councils attracted in each of the last 15 years, expressed in (a) cash and (b) real terms. [235377]

Mr. Simon [holding answer 18 November 2008]: The total value of co-funding from the private sector for the 10 complete years since 1998/99, the earliest year from which figures for the councils are available without incurring disproportionate cost, is as follows:

Table 1. Cash terms or nearest approximation[1]

| | Total (£000) |
|---|---|
| 1998/99 | 72,890 |
| 1999/2000 | 69,365 |
| 2000/01 | 79,396 |
| 2001/02 | 117,508 |
| 2002/03 | 139,519 |
| 2003/04 | 96,027 |
| 2004/05 | 89,496 |
| 2005/06 | 81,399 |
| 2006/07 | 89,767 |
| 2007/08 | 108,733 |

Table 2. Real terms or nearest approximation[1]

| | GDP deflator | Total (£000) |
|---|---|---|
| 1998/99 | 80.396 | 90,644 |
| 1999/2000 | 81.976 | 84,616 |
| 2000/01 | 83.051 | 95,599 |

| 2004/05 | 92.589 | 96,659 |
| 2005/06 | 94.485 | 86,150 |
| 2006/07 | 97.03 | 92,525 |
| 2007/08 | 100 | 108,733 |

[1] Some of the figures included in table 1 are on resource/accrual terms and represent the nearest approximation available for cash terms without incurring disproportionate cost. Real terms value in table 2 were calculated from these figures by applying GDP deflators, which were last updated 30 September 2008.

Notes:
1. The private sector has been defined as organisations not controlled by Government.
2. AHRC was not formed until 1 April 2005.
3. ESRC data are not available for 1998/99, 1999/2000 or 2000/01.

Students: Finance

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many students funded by the Learning and Skills Council were resident in each English region in each year since 2003-04. [235326]

Mr. Simon: Table 1 shows the number of learners funded by the Learning and Skills Council resident in each region. Figures are presented from 2003/04 to 2006/07, the latest year for which fully audited data are available.

Table 1: Number of Learners funded by the Learning and Skills Council by region and funding stream, 2003/04 to 2006/07

Notes:
1. Figures are taken from the Individualised Learner Record final F05 data freezes. An earlier freeze of University for Industry data has been used due to data issues with the final freeze.
2. Region is based on home postcode of the learner.
3. The 'other' category includes incomplete records and learners not resident in England, but who are learning in England (for example, learners resident in Scotland or Wales).
4. For Train to Gain and Work Based Learning, participation is counted as the number of starters.
5. There will be an element of double counting in the figures as some learners will participate in more than one funding area.
6. Totals may not equal the sum of their components due to rounding.
7. Train to Gain was created in April 2006. Standard reporting practice is to include the months of April to July 2006 in the 2006/07 academic year.

ENERGY AND CLIMATE CHANGE

Carbon Emissions: Housing

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the budget for the Low Carbon Buildings Programme is in (a) 2008-09 and (b) each of the next five financial years. [234571]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Low Carbon Buildings Programme is the Government's £86 million capital grant programme funding the installation of on-site energy technologies for householders, communities, public sector and business.

The budget is not allocated by year. To date, the spend is as follows:

| FY | Phase one | Phase two |
|---|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 3,060,739 | n/a |
| 2007-08 | 4,551,071 | 491,025 |
| 2008-09 | [1]1,803,366 | [2]4,128,692 |

[1] Up to September
[2] Up to August

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what funding the Government have provided for the Low Carbon Buildings Programme in each financial year since its creation. [234572]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The budget for the Low Carbon Buildings Programme is not allocated by year. The total budget for the programme is £86 million.

We have spent the following in each financial year since 2006.

| FY | Phase one | £ Phase two |
|---|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 3,060,739 | n/a |
| 2007-08 | 4,551,071 | 491,025 |

Departmental Finance

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the total departmental spending limit for his Department is in 2008-09. [236401]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The final budget for DECC will be agreed once negotiations on the machinery of Government changes with BERR and DEFRA are complete.

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate his Department has made of the cost to the public purse of its creation. [236734]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: £18,000 to date on branding. The final budget for DECC will be agreed once negotiations on the machinery of government changes with BERR and DEFRA are complete.

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Maude: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many permanent staff in (a) his Department and (b) its agencies are classed as (i) staff without posts and (ii) part of a people action team. [233411]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The staffing for DECC will be agreed once negotiations on the machinery of Government changes with BERR and DEFRA are complete. The new Department (DECC) will consist of posts taken from the existing Departments for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (BERR) and from Environment, Food and Rural Affairs, (DEFRA). The detail is still being worked on and once the negotiations are complete we will be in a position to answer this question.

Departmental NDPBs

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the remit is of each non-departmental public body sponsored by his Department; and what budget each has been set for (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [236921]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Cabinet Office paper in the House Library titled 'Machinery of Government: economy, business, climate change, energy and environment' sets out much of this information. There are ongoing negotiations to determine the overall functions of the Department and which additional regulators, inspectorate, Executive agencies and NDPB might become the responsibility of the Department. Once these are completed they will be a matter of public record.

Departmental Offices

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what offices his Department (a) owns and (b) rents in Greater London. [236492]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: DECC owns no offices of its own. It is using 3 Whitehall Place, Ergon House and 1 Victoria street as offices for its staff in Greater London at the moment. We intend to locate all our London staff in 3 Whitehall Place.

Departmental Personnel

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change who the members are of his Department's management board and its sub-committees. [236411]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The precise make-up of the management board and other supporting governance structures has yet to be finalised.

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many civil service fast streamers are in post in his Department. [236601]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The staffing for DECC will be agreed once negotiations on the Machinery of Government changes with BERR and DEFRA are complete. The new Department (DECC) will consist of posts taken from the existing Departments for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (BERR) and from Environment, Food and Rural Affairs, (DEFRA). The detail is still being worked on and once the negotiations are complete we will be in a position to answer this question.

Departmental Recruitment

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many people aged over (a) 55 years and (b) 60 years his Department has recruited since its inception. [235235]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Department for Energy and Climate Change was created on 3 October 2008 and as yet information on final staff numbers are not available and have not been agreed. This information will be released as soon as possible.

Departmental Reorganisation

Mr. Hands: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change if he will place in the Library copies of the letters of appointment from the Prime Minister to (a) him and (b) Ministers in his Department. [230902]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: No letters of appointment have been issued to the Secretary of State or other Ministers.

Energy

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what his Department's strategic objectives are. [236600]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The machinery of Government document of 3 October 2008 details the targets that DECC has inherited as follows:

Lead the global effort to avoid dangerous climate change (PSA);

Climate change tackled internationally and through domestic action to reduce greenhouse gas emissions (DSO);

Ensure the reliable supply and efficient use of clean, safe and competitively priced energy (DSO);

Manage energy liabilities effectively and responsibly (DSO);

DECC will contribute to BERR's DSO to deliver free and fair markets, with greater competition, for businesses, consumers and employees.

Progress against these will have been reported on in BERR and DEFRA publications to date and DECC will be reporting on these targets as part of its annual report. DECC will be considering if the DSOs adequately reflect its targets and if further DSOs are required.

Energy Technologies Institute: Finance

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change (1) how much the Government plan to give to the Energy Technologies Institute in each of the next five financial years; [234569]

(2) what funding the Government have provided for the Energy Technologies Institute in each financial year since its creation. [234647]

Mr. Simon: I have been asked to reply.

The Energy Technologies Institute (ETI) was legally established as a limited liability partnership in December 2007 between BP, Caterpillar, EDF Energy, EON, Rolls Royce, Shell and the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills (DIUS). The DIUS contribution to ETI is provided through the Engineering and Physical Sciences Research Council and the Technology Strategy Board. The total DIUS contribution in 2008 is estimated to be £3.77 million. ETI expenditure is expected to rise over the next few years as technology projects come on stream. DIUS is committed to provide up to £50 million pa for the next decade to match contributions from industry partners.

Marine Renewables Deployment Fund: Finance

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the budget is for the Marine Renewables Deployment Fund in (a) this financial year and (b) each of the next five financial years. [234605]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The machinery of Government changes of 3 October 2008 announced the creation of the Department of Energy and Climate Change, formed from the energy group located in the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform and the climate change group located in the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs.

The annual budgets for the Department of Energy and Climate Change are currently being decided. The Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform and the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs will transfer their budgets for Energy and Climate Change respectively, based on the settlements agreed in the comprehensive spending review 2007 (CSR07), for the financial years 2008-09, 2009-10 and 2010-11. The annual budgets for the Department for Energy and Climate Change will be agreed in due course.

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what funding the Government have provided for the Marine Renewables Deployment Fund in each financial year since its creation. [234606]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Marine Renewables Deployment Fund was set up in 2005 with a £50 million budget.

Nuclear Power

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many departmental officials responsible for civil nuclear policy on (a) new build nuclear sites and (b) nuclear decommissioning and nuclear materials management have transferred to his Department from the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform; and whether the associated nuclear documents library collection has also been transferred. [228373]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: 30 staff working on new build policy and 20 staff working on nuclear decommissioning and nuclear materials management policy have transferred from the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform to the Department of Energy and Climate Change.

There is an electronic library of associated nuclear documents which staff will continue to have access to in DECC.

The Department for Environment Food and Rural Affairs and DECC are concluding discussions on how many of the 19.1 former full time equivalent DEFRA staff responsible for radioactive waste policy will transfer to DECC following the changes. This policy area includes responsibility for all radioactive waste i.e. not just that relating to civil nuclear processes.

Nuclear Power Stations: Decommissioning

Dr. Alasdair McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate the Government has made of the average cost of decommissioning a nuclear power station, including associated clean-up costs. [234665]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Nuclear Decommissioning Authority, which is responsible for the decommissioning of the historic civil public nuclear legacy, estimates that the cost of decommissioning the 10 Magnox nuclear power stations in discounted 2008 money values is £5.4 billion. Whilst each site is unique, this provides a simple average estimate cost of around £0.5 billion per nuclear power station.

Renewable Energy: Electricity

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what proportion of electricity was generated from renewable sources in each year from 1990 to 2006. [234490]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The following table sets out the proportion of electricity generated from renewable sources in the UK in each year from 1990 to 2006.

| | Percentage |
|---|---|
| 1990 | 1.82 |
| 1991 | 1.64 |
| 1992 | 1.99 |
| 1993 | 1.77 |

Renewable Energy: Finance

Mr. Kidney: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what funding has been identified to give effect in the UK to the European Council's decision to promote a number of carbon capture and storage demonstration projects in member states. [234429]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Government are committed to supporting a demonstration of the full chain of CCS technologies (capture, transport and storage) on a commercial scale coal fired power plant in the UK. The Government are keen to see progress made towards the construction and operation by 2015 of up to 12 demonstration plants of commercial power generation with carbon capture and storage, as agreed by the European Council in spring 2007. The Government hope that the UK's CCS demonstration will participate in the EU's knowledge-sharing demonstration programme, once it is established. The UK has been working hard to tackle the main barrier to progress on demonstrations, lack of funding, by seeking an EU funding mechanism for CCS projects. June European Council Conclusions called on the Commission "to bring forward as soon as possible" such a mechanism, but to date, no source of EU funding has been identified for CCS demonstrations. However, as part of the ongoing negotiations on the 2020 climate change and energy package, the European Parliament has proposed an amendment to the EU ETS Directive to allocate 500 million allowances from the new entrants reserve to support CCS demonstration projects. The UK Government support this amendment as the best opportunity of agreeing a funding mechanism this year. From DECC and European Commission analysis there are sufficient allowances (the Commission has proposed 5 per cent. of the total) in the new entrants reserve to support both new entrants and CCS demonstrations. The UK is working with other member states, the French presidency and the European Commission to try to reach agreement on this proposal.

River Severn: Tidal Power

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change pursuant to the answer of 29 October 2008, Official Report, column 1104W, on River Severn: tidal power, whether the shortlist of options for a Severn tidal power scheme will contain both tidal-stream and tidal-range solutions. [234658]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Subject to internal review the shortlist of options to generate energy from the tidal range of the Severn Estuary will be published in January 2009. It is not possible at this stage to say what options on the shortlist will be. In developing the shortlist we will consider the long list of options published in July 2008, which includes a tidal fence proposal based on the use of tidal stream turbines.

Sellafield

Paul Flynn: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change if he will place in the Library a copy of the letter of 27 October 2008 from the Minister for Energy to the hon. Member for Newport West on nuclear indemnity for the new Sellafield Parent Body Organisation. [234100]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I will place a copy of my letter of 29 October in to the Libraries of the House. It should be noted, however, that my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State's letter of 3 November to the Chairman of the Public Accounts Committee provides a more recent account of events. The letter stated that BERR's intention was clearly to place a copy of the letter from my right hon. Friend the Member for Croydon, North (Malcolm Wicks) to my hon. Friend and the Departmental Minute in the Libraries of the House. The purpose was to make Parliament aware that it was seeking the approval to the Sellafield indemnity of the chairs of the relevant Parliament Committees, in the interest of openness and transparency. I regret that, due to an administrative error, this was not done and that it was only noticed when the Departmental Parliamentary Unit was asked on 15 October to check that the letter had been laid. It was deposited in the Libraries of the House on that same day.

Severn Barrage: Nature Conservation

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what work the Severn Tidal Feasibility Study has undertaken to quantify and identify compensatory habitats in the Severn Estuary as required under the EU Habitats Directive. [235339]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: A high level review of the feasibility of a number of possible compensation and mitigation measures has been undertaken in this first phase of the feasibility study. This review will be published as part of a public consultation early in the new year, subject to an internal review of the feasibility study.

Should the decision be taken to go ahead with the second phase, then more work is anticipated within the study next year on the scope to mitigate environmental impacts through the construction and operation of tidal power scheme options, and on compensatory measures for impacts that cannot be mitigated.

Solar Power

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what his estimate is of the percentage of output from the UK's solar photovoltaic manufacturing facilities which was exported in the most recent period for which information is available. [228490]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Department does not hold this information.

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Children: Databases

Andrew Selous: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families pursuant to the answers of 4 March 2008, Official Report, column 482W, and 11 November 2008, Official Report, column 1068W, on children: databases, whether he plans to issue guidance to local authorities to the effect that information on the children of hon. Members should be (a) excluded from and (b) shielded on the Contact Point database. [236478]

Beverley Hughes [holding answer 17 November 2008]: There are no plans to issue such guidance relating to hon. Members' children. ContactPoint will hold basic identifying information on every child and each participating young person ordinarily resident in England—there will be no exclusions.

Guidance has been issued to all local authorities to help them work with their local partners to identify which of their child records require shielding according to the provisions set out in the Children Act 2004 Information Database (England) Regulations 2007. In making such decisions, all local authorities are under a duty to consider the views of the person to whom the record relates, the views of their parent or carer and of any schedule 4 or schedule 5 body (as specified by the regulations) working with that child or young person.

The guidance sets out that records of children whose circumstances mean that they, or others, are at increased risk of harm (for example, those fleeing domestic violence), may be subject to 'shielding'. The effect of this will be that any details which could give an indication of their whereabouts will be hidden from users' view.

Children: Day Care

Annette Brooke: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what recent representations he has received regarding changes in the number of childminders; and if he will make a statement. [236732]

Beverley Hughes [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The introduction of the Early Year Foundation Stage has generated some correspondence from child minders but the National Childminding Association (NCMA) has made clear that it sees it as a positive development, and as representing what good child minders already do. I recently met Liz Bayram, chief executive of the NCMA, to discuss the issues and challenges faced by child minders in their role as part of the wider child care work force. Child minding has, by its nature, always been a profession whose numbers have varied over time. The Government believe, however, that child minders have a vital role to play, and that they are used and valued by many parents for the unique type of child care they provide.

It is true that child minding numbers have fallen overall, but it's important to remember that by its nature child minding has always been a profession whose numbers vary over time, for a number of reasons. For instance, Ofsted has recently carried out an exercise to remove child minders who are no longer actively looking after children from its register, which will have reduced the numbers.

Education Maintenance Allowance

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how much was spent by his Department on the education maintenance allowance in each year since its introduction, broken down by income decile of recipient's parents. [234911]

Jim Knight: Education maintenance allowance (EMA) applications are income assessed, based on the learner's total household income, with the maximum income to be eligible in 2007-08 of £30,810.

The following table shows EMA expenditure for the weekly payments split by income band for each academic year since national rollout (not including bonuses and admin costs):

£ million

| Band | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| £30 | 195.8 | 282.2 | 345.2 | 363.0 |
| £20 | 17.3 | 24.3 | 27.7 | 27.7 |
| £10 | 9.4 | 11.3 | 12.2 | 12.2 |
| Total | 222.5 | 317.9 | 385.1 | 402.9 |

The following table shows EMA expenditure on the bonus payments paid out for each academic year since national rollout:

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 44.7 |
| 2005-06 | 80.7 |
| 2006-07 | 97 |
| 2007-08 | 100.5 |

Information on the income decile of recipients' parents is not available. Information on the household income bands that recipients have been assessed in for EMA purposes is given in the following table. If the learner fully meets the criteria of the scheme they are entitled to receive weekly payments as follows:

| Weekly EMA payment | Household income per annum 2004-05 | 2005-06, 2006-07 and 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|
| £30 | Up to £19,630 | Up to £20,817 |
| £20 | £19,631 to £24,030 | £20,818 to £25,521 |
| £10 | £24,031 to £30,000 | £25,522 to £30,810 |
| Nil | Over £30,000 | Over £30,810 |

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what proportion of 16 to 18 year olds were entitled to (a) the full, (b) a partial and (c) no education maintenance allowance in the most recent year for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [234915]

Jim Knight: Education maintenance allowance (EMA) is available to learners aged 16 to 19. There are three EMA weekly payment bands of £10, £20 and £30 paid directly to the young person depending on household income.

Figures for the proportion for 16 to 18-year-olds who are entitled to EMA are not available. The Department does not hold information on the household income of all participants in education and training.

However, (provisional) figures are given in the following table for the percentage of 16 to 18-year-olds in full time education in England who are receiving EMA, broken down by payment band.

Table 1: Percentage of 16 to 18-year-olds in full time education receiving EMA by band in 2007/08 (provisional figures)

| Weekly payment band | Household income per annum | Percentage of 16 to 18-year-olds in full time education receiving EMA (provisional) |
|---|---|---|
| £30 | Income up to £20,817 | 38 |
| £20 | Income of £20,818 to £25,521 | 4 |
| £10 | Income of £25,522 to £30,819 | 4 |
| Total | — | 46 |

Approximately 54 per cent. of 16 to 18-year-olds in full-time education did not receive EMA in 2007/08. This figure includes those who were not entitled to EMA and those who were entitled but decided not to apply for EMA.

General Certificate of Secondary Education

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what percentage of pupils in the maintained, mainstream sector achieved five GCSEs including a modern language at A* to C in each year since 2004. [234802]

Jim Knight: The information required is given in the following table:

| | Number of pupils achieving achieving 5 A*-C GCSE grades (including equivalents) including a modern foreign language | Percentage of pupils achieving 5 A*-C GCSE grades (including equivalents) including a modern foreign language |
|---|---|---|
| 2004 | 180,929 | 31.1 |
| 2005 | 175,095 | 30.4 |
| 2006 | 162,309 | 27.7 |
| 2007 | 154,676 | 26.1 |
| 2008 | 153,394 | 26.0 |

Note:
Figures relate to 15-year-olds (age at start of academic year (i.e. 31 August) in maintained, mainstream schools.

Nurseries: Standards

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many and what proportion of (a) maintained and (b) private, voluntary and independent full day childcare settings (1) were deemed (i) outstanding, (ii) good, (iii) satisfactory and (iv) inadequate by Ofsted in each of the last five years; [234129]

(2) have had to close following Ofsted inspections resulting in a rating of inadequate in each of the last five years. [234130]

Beverley Hughes [holding answer 10 November 2008]: These are matters for Ofsted. The chief inspector, Christine Gilbert, has written to the hon. Member and copies of her replies have been placed in the Library.

Letter from Christine Gilbert, dated 13 November 2008:

PARLIAMENTARY QUESTION NUMBER 234129: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families, how many and what proportion of (a) maintained and (b) private, voluntary and independent full day childcare settings were deemed (i) outstanding, (ii) good, (iii) satisfactory and (iv) inadequate by Ofsted in each of the last five years.

Your recent parliamentary question has been passed to me, as Her Majesty's Chief Inspector, for a response.

The numbers and proportions of full day-care settings, broken down by sector and divided by financial year between 2003 and 2008, are shown in the tables below. These figures are derived from the data available at the end of each financial year and include only providers that were active at those points. For each financial year our figures use the most recent inspection visits, where the reports have been quality assured or have not been withdrawn from publication.

Please note that the change of inspection framework between the periods 2003-05 and 2005-08 means that inspection outcomes between these two periods are not comparable.

You should be aware that the selection of provision for inspection each year is not random. We select providers for inspection each year based on a number of factors, including the period since their last inspection and the grade awarded them at that inspection. Towards the end of each cycle we inspect a disproportionate number of providers who have not actively cared for children within that cycle. Therefore, these figures should not be used to make judgements about the standards of national provision.

Where you have asked for private, voluntary and independent full day care, we have provided private and voluntary, as these are the only categories we hold on our database. You will also note that a proportion of full day-care providers are recorded as 'not specified'. This is because this information was not collected as part of our regulatory and inspection activities. We do not, as a matter of course, collect our data in line with the sector types specified in the question. In line with the National Standards, we used the categories of full day care, sessional day care, out of school care and creches, rather than sector type. Consequently, I would advise caution when using these data since they do not represent the full picture within each sector.

A copy of this reply has been sent to Rt Hon Beverley Hughes MP, Minister of State for Children, Young People and Families, and will be placed in the library of both Houses.

Letter from Christine Gilbert, dated 10 November 2008:

PARLIAMENTARY QUESTION NUMBER 234130: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families, how many and what proportion of (a) maintained and (b) private, voluntary and independent full day childcare settings have had to close following inadequate Ofsted inspections in each of the last five years.

Your recent parliamentary question has been passed to me, as Her Majesty's Chief Inspector, for a response.

Ofsted does not possess data that allow us to identify whether inspection judgements are directly attributable to closure of childcare settings. Most of the providers that close choose to do so voluntarily and for a variety of reasons. We do not collect these reasons. I am therefore unable to provide data identifying the reasons for providers closing in each of the last five years.

Ofsted can only cancel registration where a person ceases to be qualified for registration. We would not normally take such action as a result of inspection, unless we believed that children were suffering or likely to suffer significant harm. The usual practice following an inspection judgement of inadequate is to require the setting to take action to improve. We have a number of enforcement options open to us to bring about such improvement, such as imposing conditions of registration or issuing a compliance notice requiring a setting to take certain actions by a particular date. It is an offence not to comply with such a notice. We only move towards cancelling registration when providers cannot or will not improve. As this is often much later than an inspection, we cannot attribute cancellation directly to the inspection judgement. We must always give reasons for cancellation but these relate to the requirements a provider is failing to meet rattier than the immediate inspection outcomes.

Ofsted: Industrial Disputes

Kelvin Hopkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) what assessment he has made of the effect on productivity within the Children's Directorate of Ofsted of industrial action by Unison and Public and Commercial Services Union members; and if he will make a statement; [232997]

(2) how many and what type of employment tribunal claims against Ofsted have been lodged with an employment tribunal whose tribunal proceedings have not yet concluded. [233000]

Jim Knight: These are matters for Ofsted. HM chief inspector, Christine Gilbert, has written to my hon. Friend and copies of her replies have been placed in the Library.

Letter from Christine Gilbert, dated 6 November 2008:

PARLIAMENTARY QUESTION NUMBER 232997: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what assessment he has made of the effect on productivity within the Children's Directorate of Ofsted of industrial action by UNISON and Public and Commercial Services Union members; and if he will make a statement.

Unison and the Public and Commercial Services Union have been jointly involved in the industrial action with Ofsted over a dispute with the current pay model, implemented on 31 March 2008. This industrial action has consisted of:

a one day strike on Friday 16 May 2008; action short of a strike from Monday 19 May 2008 to Friday 30 May 2008; and action short of a strike from Monday 16 June to Wednesday 17 December 2008.

The action short of a strike primarily consisted of:

working to contractual hours

not working overtime

not using personal vehicles for inspections and other official visits.

There has been very little impact on the productivity within the Children's Directorate of Ofsted. The industrial action mainly affected those inspectors of childcare and early education who were members of the above unions. 236 inspectors and managers from the Children's Directorate were recorded as striking on 16 May.

With regard to the regulation of childcare and early education, the period of the industrial action started after the end of the prescribed inspection period, completed by 31 March 2008. The new inspection programme did not commence until 1 September 2008. Our planned programme of work for the summer included registration visits, re-inspection of inadequate provision; short inspections of those providers who had no children on roll during the prescribed period; and first inspections of those who registered with us from December 2007. We completed all our planned inspection work during this period. We also met our targets for investigating complaints and for registering new day-care providers. Although we did not meet our registration target for new childminders, our evidence suggests the main reason for this was the delays caused by some police authorities in obtaining the CRB checks. As a consequence, I wrote to a number of police authorities about this issue.

We also undertook a four-day training of all inspectors and an assessment of their learning during June and July 2008 in preparation for the Early Years Foundation Stage. All scheduled training took place with no reported absences of inspectors due to industrial action.

The industrial action did not have any impact on productivity relating to inspections of children's social care.

A copy of this reply has been sent to Rt Hon Beverley Hughes MP, Minister of State for Children, Young People and Families, and will be placed in the library of both Houses.

Letter from Christine Gilbert, dated 4 November 2008:

PARLIAMENTARY QUESTION NUMBER 233000: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families, how many and what type of employment tribunal claims against Ofsted have been lodged with an employment tribunal whose tribunal proceedings have not yet concluded.

Your recent parliamentary question has been passed to me, as Her Majesty's Chief Inspector, for a response.

At present, there are five employment claims in the tribunal, of which four are for unfair dismissal and one is for equal pay.

A copy of this reply has been sent to Jim Knight, Minister for Schools and Learners, and will be placed in the library of both Houses.

Schools: Manpower

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many full-time equivalent (a) teachers, (b) teaching assistants and (c) support staff there were in local education authority schools in (i) Yorkshire and the Humber and (ii) City of York constituency in (A) 1997 and (B) the latest period for which figures are available. [237266]

Jim Knight: The following table provides the full-time equivalent number of teachers, teaching assistants and support staff employed in local authority maintained schools in Yorkshire and the Humber Government office region, the City of York constituency and England, January 1997 and 2008.

Full-time equivalent teachers[1], teaching assistants[2] and support staff in local authority maintained nursery, primary, secondary, special and pupil referral units, years 1997 to 2008—coverage: Yorkshire and The Humber government office region, City of York constituency and England

Schools: Standards

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how much his Department plans to spend on the National Challenge in each of the next five years; and if he will make a statement. [234910]

Jim Knight: As set out in the National Challenge documents published on 10 June 2000, the Department for Children, Schools and Families will deploy £400 million of support to the National Challenge for the three financial years starting 1 April 2008 and ending 31 March 2011. The precise phasing between these three financial years is flexible, depending on the needs of schools.

The National Challenge is designed to facilitate sustained improvements in schools and—with the exception of some previously committed spending on establishing structural interventions—we are not expecting to provide funding beyond 2010-11.

Special Educational Needs: Transport

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what guidance his Department provides on the procurement of home to school transport services for children with special educational needs in London. [237406]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The Department does not publish guidance on the procurement of transport for special educational needs (SEN) children. It is for local authorities, including London boroughs to follow their own procedures and make appropriate arrangements.

Specialised Diplomas

Stephen Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many people have registered for 14 to 19 diplomas this year, broken down by (a) subject and (b) level of diploma. [233623]

Jim Knight: The latest information we have from local consortia indicates that around 12,000 young people are currently working towards a diploma qualification, based upon returns from all but one of the local authorities involved. By subject and level, this breaks down as:

| Line | Level 1 | Level 2 | Level 3 | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Construction and the Built Environment | 503 | 1,019 | 179 | 1,701 |
| Creative and Media | 556 | 2,463 | 637 | 3,658 |

Teachers: Pay

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how much was spent on (a) teacher training, (b) teacher professional development, (c) teacher wages and (d) other teacher payments in each of the last 10 years. [235111]

Jim Knight: The information requested is as follows:

(a) The amounts spent on (a) initial teacher training by the Training and Development Agency for Schools, (c) teacher salaries and (d) allowances for teachers in England in each of the last 10 years are set out in the following table.

(b) Information on spending on teachers' continuing professional development (CPD) is not collected centrally. Funding for CPD generally is included within schools' delegated budgets and it is for schools to determine how to spend this, based on individual needs and the school's own improvement priorities.

Spending on initial teacher training, teacher salaries and allowances in England in financial years 1998-99 to 2007-08

Spending on initial teacher training, teacher salaries and allowances in England in financial years 1998-99 to 2007-08

£ million

| | Spending on initial teacher training[1] | Estimated spending on salaries and allowances[2, 3, 4] |
|---|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 522 | 15,340 |
| 2007-08 | 528 | 15,640 |

[1] Source is the Training and Development Agency for Schools. Spending on initial teacher training includes employment-based routes funding, training bursaries, flexible postgraduate course fees, initial teacher training provider quality and funding, initial teacher training capital bids, funding for under-represented groups, new providers/start-up, primary modern foreign languages, qualified teacher status skills tests, the Secondary Shortage Subject Scheme and Access to Learning funds. Figures are rounded the nearest £1 million.

[2] These figures do not include on-costs (employer pension contributions and National Insurance). In 2007-08, on-costs amounted to 22.05 per cent. of salaries. These figures are rounded to the nearest £5 million.

[3] These figures include certain discontinued allowances and current allowances for special educational needs, teaching and learning responsibilities, recruitment and retention.

[4] The paybill figures include the pay awards given for each year and were adjusted to reflect actual teacher numbers.

[5] There is a break in the time-series in year 2005-06.

Note:

1. For modelling purposes the paybill figures employed up to 2006-07 financial year were taken from the previous year paybill estimations.
2. Due to the timescale surrounding the paybill exercises up until 2002-03, the models were developed a year prior to the financial year they referred to.

Teachers: Standards

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many teachers have (a) applied for and (b) gained excellent teacher status (i) since the programme started and (ii) in the academic year 2007-08. [235109]

Jim Knight: Management information from the 'Excellent Teacher Scheme' show that 73 candidates have applied for Excellent Teacher Status since the scheme started in 2006, 60 of these candidates have qualified. 20 candidates applied for Teacher Status in the academic year 2007/08 and of these 18 have since qualified.

We are currently evaluating the scheme and expect to report the outcome in early 2009.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Departmental Pay

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what bonuses are paid to staff in his Department for working in (a) Iraq and (b) Afghanistan. [235421]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The bonus scheme operated by the Department for International Development (DFID) for 2007-08 only applied to the senior civil service (SCS) and does not comprise separate bonus arrangements for SCS working in Iraq or Afghanistan.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many Questions for written answer were tabled to his Department in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04, (c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235590]

Mr. Michael Foster: The Department for International Development (DFID) holds records of written questions asked of the Department since November 2004. Since this date DFID has received a total of 7,198 questions for written answer.

We do not hold records of parliamentary questions asked before 2004 centrally. To retrieve these would incur disproportionate costs.

We do not hold records on the number of questions not answered on grounds of disproportionate costs.

Ethiopia: Overseas Aid

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what plans he has to visit Ethiopia to discuss the disbursement of development aid. [237028]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: I visited Ethiopia on 16 and 17 October 2008. I have no plans to visit in the immediate future.

Occupied Territories: Overseas Aid

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what development assistance the Government have provided to the Palestinian Territories in each of the last two financial years; and if he will make a statement. [236392]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: In 2006-07 the Department for International Development (DFID) provided a total of £54 million to help the Palestinian people. Of this, £15 million was bilateral aid to the Occupied Palestinian Territories, £15 million was through the United Nations Relief and Works Agency (UNRWA) to help Palestinian refugees in the region, and £24 million was through our core funding for other multilateral organisations that provide overseas development assistance to the Palestinians.

In 2007-08 DFID provided £63.6 million in bilateral aid, including £15.6 million to UNRWA. Figures for our support to the Occupied Palestinian Territories through core funding for other multilateral organisations will be available in December.

Reconstruction

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much has been spent on each project funded by the Stabilisation Aid Fund in (a) Iraq and (b) Afghanistan in each of the last five years. [237304]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Stabilisation Aid Fund (SAF) began in April 2008. Expenditure figures for this first year will be available at the end of the financial year.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much his Department spent on each individual project which it has funded in (a) Iraq and (b) Afghanistan in each of the last five years. [237305]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: I have placed tables in the Library detailing the Department for International Development's (DFID) bilateral projects in Afghanistan and Iraq over the last five years.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what percentage of development projects of each type undertaken in (a) Afghanistan and (b) Iraq have been constructed to Sphere standards in each month of the last five years. [237307]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The complex environments present in Afghanistan and Iraq render difficult the application of Sphere standards. It is not possible to provide detailed information about the percentage of projects in Afghanistan and Iraq constructed to Sphere standards.

However, the principles enshrined within Sphere are used as guidelines by many international agencies in Iraq and Afghanistan, including the World Food Programme (WFP) and the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC).

Turks and Caicos Islands: Overseas Aid

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what assistance his Department has provided to the people of the Turks and Caicos Islands following Hurricane Ike. [235527]

Mr. Michael Foster: The Department for International Development (DFID) provided £200,000 in post-hurricane humanitarian relief, comprising £110,000 through the International Red Cross for the Turks and Caicos Red Cross Society to supply emergency shelter, sanitation and cooking equipment and general relief; and £90,000 to the Pan-American Health Organisation for emergency health and water systems.

The Royal Navy vessels Iron Duke and Wave Ruler, pre-positioned in the Caribbean, also provided swift logistical and manpower support and distributed DFID relief supplies carried on board for that purpose.

DFID also deployed two humanitarian specialists, one from London and one based in the region, to work with the Turks and Caicos authorities and the relief agencies.

We have provided, and continue to offer, technical assistance to develop a longer-term recovery plan. The UK Government will provide financial assistance for recovery subject to discussions with the Turks and Caicos Government which are nearing conclusion.

We are pleased to note that the Turks and Caicos obtained a $6.3 million payment from the Caribbean Catastrophic Risk Insurance Facility. DFID helped to launch this initiative in 2007.

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what methodology his Department used to determine whether to provide financial aid to the Turks and Caicos Islands following Hurricane Ike; what role other Government departments had in the decision-making process; and if he will make a statement. [235530]

Mr. Michael Foster: The Department for International Development (DFID) has responsibility for providing humanitarian relief to the Turks and Caicos Islands as a UK overseas territory and because they needed post-hurricane humanitarian aid. We immediately deployed two humanitarian specialists, one from London and one based for that purpose in the Caribbean region, to make a first hand humanitarian assessment and to draw up a relief strategy in consultation with DFID headquarters in London and Barbados. The hurricane struck on 6 September and they deployed on 7 and 8 September. They worked with the Governor's office, the Turks and Caicos Ministry for Home Affairs, the United Nations Disaster Assessment and Co-ordination Team and the Caribbean Disaster Emergency Response Agency. We also co-ordinated closely with the Foreign and Commonwealth Office, the Ministry of Defence and the Royal Navy. The humanitarian funding elements of our response were agreed on 10, 18 and 19 September.

Assistance for longer-term recovery has been considered jointly with the Foreign and Commonwealth Office, the Governor's Office and the Turks and Caicos Government. These discussions are nearing conclusion.

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what account he has taken of the independent socio-economic impact assessment prepared by the United Nations Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean on the damage on the Turks and Caicos Islands by Hurricane Ike in formulating his policy on the matter. [235579]

Mr. Michael Foster: The Department for International Development, jointly with the Foreign and Commonwealth Office, has considered the draft assessment prepared by the Commission. We have provided our comments to the TCI Financial Secretary for inclusion in its final report.

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development whether reconstruction experts funded from the public purse have visited the Turks and Caicos Island since Hurricane Ike. [235594]

Mr. Michael Foster: The Department for International Development financed the visit of a technical adviser from the Cayman Islands to assist the Government of the Turks and Caicos Islands in the preliminary recovery planning.

Zimbabwe: Economic Situation

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what assessment he has made of the effect on the delivery of humanitarian aid in Zimbabwe of the decision by the Reserve Bank of Zimbabwe to suspend electronic banking facilities. [235455]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: Although there are few official restrictions on humanitarian access, the recent suspension by the reserve bank of electronic banking transfers, cash shortages, and a lack of clarity around the legality of operating in foreign currency has been hindering humanitarian delivery. For some NGOs, logistical constraints have meant that it has become difficult to deliver services outside urban areas.

The UN has recently succeeded in securing commitments by the Reserve Bank to allow electronic banking access for some NGOs again, as well as arrangements whereby humanitarian NGOs can operate in foreign currency. This should remove some of the obstacles to humanitarian delivery, but we will continue to monitor the situation very closely.

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what representations he has made to (a) the Government of Zimbabwe, (b) donor countries and (c) the United Nations on allegations that money deposited by the Global Fund in the Reserve Bank of Zimbabwe has been misappropriated. [235456]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to the hon. Member for Preseli Pembrokeshire (Mr. Crabb) on 10 November 2008, Official Report, columns 945-6W.

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what discussions he has had with (a) the World Bank, (b) the African Development Bank and (c) the IMF on the establishment of a currency board in Zimbabwe; and if he will make a statement. [235457]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: Economic stabilisation, including currency reform, will be essential to recovery in Zimbabwe. If positive political change occurs and a new government embarks on a serious economic reform programme, it is expected that the International Monetary Fund (IMF) will provide advice and support for stabilisation, with the backing of other financial institutions and donors. Establishing a currency board is one of the options likely to be under consideration for currency reform and halting inflation. The Department for International Development (DFID), the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) and Her Majesty's Treasury (HMT) are working closely together to prepare for economic stabilisation and reform in Zimbabwe should the political situation allow and are in regular contact with (among others) the IMF, World Bank and Africa Development Bank on these matters.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH OFFICE

Charter of Fundamental Rights (EU)

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what information his Department has on the number of occasions on which a decision of the European Court of Justice has referred to provisions of the Charter of Fundamental Rights. [216641]

Caroline Flint: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office does not maintain a database of all cases containing references to the Charter of Fundamental Rights. There are, however, relatively few cases in which the European Court of Justice (ECJ) has made substantive comments on the Charter of Fundamental Rights. In case C-540/03 European Parliament v Council of the EU, the ECJ reaffirmed that the Charter is a non-legally binding instrument. The ECJ has also made reference to the Charter in the following cases of note: C-402/05P and C-415/05P Kadi, C-432/05 Unibet, C-303/05 Advocaten voor de Wereld, C-438/05 Viking Line, C-341/05 Laval, C-244/06 Dynamic Medien and C-450/06 Varec. All of these judgments confirm that the charter is not a source of rights but rather reflects existing rights, freedoms and principles that are already recognised in EU law or as they result from the international obligations and constitutional traditions common to the member states. The list of cases above is not comprehensive and does not, for example, include cases where a question on the charter may have been referred by a national court on which the ECJ did not need to adjudicate.

Conflict Resolution

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what (a) office space and (b) civil service support will be provided to the special representative for conflict resolution mechanisms; and what expenses the representative will be able to claim. [229193]

Bill Rammell: My right hon. Friend the Prime Minister has asked Jack McConnell MSP to become his Special Representative for Conflict Resolution Mechanisms. Mr. McConnell will be based in the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO), working with the FCO, the Department for International Development (DFID) and the Ministry of Defence (MOD).

Mr. McConnell has been allocated an office in the Foreign and Commonwealth Office, which will provide a base. Staff in the FCO, MOD and DFID working on conflict issues will provide support. His travel and any other out of pocket expenses related to this role will be covered by the Departments concerned.

Democratic Republic of Congo: Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what plans there are for a Security Council resolution in response to the crisis in the Democratic Republic of the Congo; and if he will make a statement. [233075]

David Miliband: The UN Security Council has followed developments in the eastern Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) closely since the upsurge in violence in October, and will continue to work with the UN Secretary General and others to reach a political solution to the region's problems. While there are no current plans for a Security Council Resolution, the Council has discussed the situation in the eastern DRC on a number of occasions, most recently on 11 November. It also issued a presidential statement on the situation in the DRC on 29 October. The UN Secretary General appointed former Nigerian President Olusegun Obasanjo as his Special Envoy to the DRC on 3 November.

Departmental Disciplinary Proceedings

Mr. Redwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what sanctions are available in cases of departmental staff found to have committed disciplinary offences; and how many times each has been used in each of the last three years. [230204]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office's Misconduct Procedures contain the following sanctions for disciplinary offences:

(a) a formal reprimand with a final warning

(b) a ban on consideration for promotion or progression, including temporary promotion or progression, for up to three years

(c) downgrading and/or a transfer to other duties

(d) suspension without pay for a specified period

(e) stoppage of pay increases for up to three years

(f) ban on overseas posting, including temporary assignments unless/until the officer is no longer considered a risk

(g) a written warning or a final written warning

(h) dismissal

The severity of the sanction applied depends on the type of the offence. In each of the last three years the penalties have been applied as follows:

2006

At level one (less serious misconduct) there were six written warnings issued

At level two (more serious offences or repeated misconduct) there were seven final written warnings issued

At level three (gross misconduct) there were five dismissals and three final written warnings

2007

At level one there were four written warnings issued

At level two there were seven final written warnings issued

At level three there were three dismissals and one formal reprimand with a final written warning

2008 (up to and including October)

At level one there were four written warnings issued

At level two there were two final written warnings issued

At level three there was one dismissal and one final written warning

Departmental Marketing

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the cost was of (a) internet and website design and hosting, (b) print media design and (c) broadcast media for each of his Department's public information campaigns since 1997. [214707]

Caroline Flint: Internet and website design and hosting, print media design and broadcast media for the Foreign and Commonwealth Office's (FCO) public information campaigns since 1997 have been undertaken in-house or contracted out individually by FCO posts overseas and the FCO in London. Information on the total cost incurred is not readily available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Recruitment

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many civil servants in his Department were recruited through the fast stream; and what the average salary of those officials is. [229182]

Gillian Merron: To collect the information on numbers and average salary of all Foreign and Commonwealth Office staff recruited through the fast stream would incur disproportionate cost. However, statistics on intake into the civil service fast stream as a whole are available, published annually at:

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/reports/faststream

Departmental Visits Abroad

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs which countries (a) he has visited in his official capacity since June 2007 and (b) his Department's Ministers have visited in their official capacities in the same period; on what dates each such visit took place; and if he will make a statement. ## EU Enlargement

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions he has held with his EU counterparts on the possible accession of (a) Georgia and (b) Ukraine to the EU. [235159]

Caroline Flint: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary maintains regular discussions with his EU counterparts on the EU's relations with Georgia and Ukraine, most recently at the General Affairs and External Relations Councils in June, September and October and at the informal Foreign Ministers' meeting in September.

The UK continues to believe that it is important to keep the door to further enlargement open to those Eastern European countries that aspire to membership. In particular we believe that Ukraine should be able to become a member of the EU when it meets the criteria. The June Council, and the Extraordinary European Council on 1 September, asked the Commission to develop proposals for stepping up the EU's engagement with our Eastern neighbours, among them Ukraine and Georgia, including through an initiative for an Eastern Partnership. We want this to be ambitious, in support of the aspirations of each of our neighbours, and provide increased practical support for closer integration with the EU. This initiative will be one of the items on the agenda for the December European Council.

EU Institutions: Wales

Mrs. Gillan: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs which civil servants for whom he has responsibility, other than those employed by the Welsh Assembly Government, represent the interests of Wales at the EU institutions; and what their responsibilities are. [236196]

Gillian Merron: Foreign policy, including our policy towards the EU, is a reserved matter for the UK Government. But we consult the Welsh Assembly Government closely on issues relating to its areas of responsibilities. The staff of the UK Representation to the European Union in Brussels (UKRep), as in all our diplomatic posts, advance the interests of the UK as a whole, including Wales.

Mrs. Gillan: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what structures and protocols are in place to liaise with the Welsh Assembly Government's representatives to EU institutions. [236198]

Gillian Merron: As the information requested is lengthy, it has been placed in the Library of the House.

Forced Marriage

Margaret Moran: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what criteria he uses to evaluate projects proposed for funding by the Forced Marriage Unit. [230227]

Gillian Merron: The Forced Marriage Unit domestic programme fund strategy sets out what criteria are used to evaluate projects for funding. The strategy can be found at the following Foreign and Commonwealth Office website address:

http://www.fco.gov.uk/en/fco-in-action/nationals/forced-marriage-unit/domestic-prog-fund

Gulf of Aden: Piracy

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received on the origin and base of operations of those responsible for piracy in the Gulf of Aden region; and if he will make a statement. [233161]

David Miliband: We understand from the British Officers at the Maritime Trade Office that most piracy in the Gulf of Aden originates from the Puntland region of Somalia.

The UK Government support United Nations Security Council Resolutions (UNSCR) 1816 and 1838 calling on parties to address the growing problem of piracy off the coast of Somalia. We have been working with our EU and North Atlantic Treaty Organisation (NATO) partners to implement these resolutions.

In September the EU set up a team to co-ordinate naval escorts protecting world food programme deliveries to Mogadishu. The EU is now planning a larger counter-piracy operation to which the UK will provide the operation commander and operation headquarters. EU partners agree that any operation must be co-ordinated with NATO and Combined Task Force 150, themselves active to deter piracy off the Horn of Africa. The UK contributes to both.

Through the Department for International Development, the UK has allocated £25 million to support efforts to tackle the instability in Somalia which creates the conditions allowing piratical activity to flourish.

International Red Cross

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs which Minister in his Department is responsible for dealing with the International Committee of the Red Cross, with particular reference to its activity in Iraq and Afghanistan. [228799]

David Miliband: My noble Friend the Minister for Africa, Asia and the UN, Lord Malloch-Brown, is the Foreign and Commonwealth Office Minister responsible for Afghanistan while my hon. Friend the Minister for the Middle East and Africa is the Minister responsible for Iraq. Both cover the work of the International Committee of the Red Cross in their respective portfolios.

Iraq: Asylum

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many dependants of former Iraqi employees admitted to the UK under the Locally Employed Staff Assistance Scheme have been flown to the UK under the provisions of the Scheme. [209917]

Bill Rammell: As at 14 November 2008, 98 dependants have so far been admitted to the UK under the Iraq Locally Employed Staff Assistance Scheme. We expect a further 118 dependants to be welcomed in the UK over the coming months.

Lighting: EU Law

Mr. Francois: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when he expects the Government's proposals to lower the rate of VAT on energy-efficient light bulbs to receive approval at EU level. [209376]

Caroline Flint: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my right hon. Friend the then Financial Secretary to the Treasury on 7 July 2008, Official Report, column 1266W.

Mentally Ill Staff

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what information his Department has gathered on the effect of its policies and practices on the recruitment, development and retention of employees with mental illnesses within (a) his Department and (b) the public sector bodies for which he has responsibility; and what use has been made of that information. [228558]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) makes reasonable adjustments for recruitment, job selection and promotion. The FCO employs expert disability advisers who support officers with mental health illnesses. Support is provided through training, reasonable adjustments and advice both for the officer with the disability and for line managers. A review of policy and procedure for supporting disabled staff is under way and will report in December.

The public bodies that the FCO has responsibility for follow Commissioner for Public Appointments (CPA) policy on this issue. When making appointments to bodies within the Commissioner's remit, Departments are required to follow the CPA's 'Code of Practice for Ministerial Appointments to Public Bodies'.

A core principle of the code is that equal opportunities should form part of the appointments process. However, the overarching principle of appointment and promotion on merit remains. The FCO is planning workshops and training for the sponsor staff of these public bodies to ensure that they follow uniform good practice in the recruitment of their employees.

Nigeria: Capital Punishment

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps his Department is taking in respect of the use of the death penalty in Nigeria; and what representations his Department has made to the Government of Nigeria on the number of people sentenced to death and awaiting execution in that country. [229963]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office, through its Strategic Programme Fund, supports two Nigerian civil society projects which aim to move Nigeria towards abolition of the death penalty. One project supports a civil society coalition that works to change legal, public and official perceptions of the death penalty. The other project supports a Nigerian non-governmental organisation that supports legal challenges to the constitutionality of certain applications of the death penalty.

FCO officials have raised Nigeria's continued use of the death penalty with senior members of the Nigerian Government several times in the past year. The EU has also raised the issue with the Nigerian Government, and the FCO will continue to encourage member states to engage in this area.

Overseas Residence: Death

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) what records his Department holds of the number of UK nationals under the ages of (a) 18, (b) 25 and (c) 45 years who have died overseas in each of the last five years; [230067]

(2) what records his Department holds on the number of (a) female and (b) male UK nationals who have died overseas in each of the last 10 years; [230069]

(3) what records his Department holds on the number of UK nationals who have died abroad in suspicious circumstances in each of the last five years; [230070]

(4) what records his Department holds on the number of female UK nationals who have died abroad in each month of the last two years; and what official cause of death was recorded on each occasion. [230071]

Gillian Merron: This information is not held centrally, and to collate it would incur disproportionate cost.

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) how many deaths of UK nationals abroad were the subject of further investigation by UK consuls in the last five years; [230068]

(2) what powers (a) UK consuls and (b) his Department have to make inquiries deaths of UK citizens overseas. [230072]

Gillian Merron: Foreign and Commonwealth Office consular staff, whether working overseas or in London, have no powers to investigate deaths overseas. Therefore, no deaths of UK nationals abroad have been the subject of further investigation by UK consuls in the last five years. However, we do make appropriate representations to the local authorities if there are concerns that their investigation is not being carried out in line with local procedures, or if there are justified complaints about discrimination against the person who has died or their family. Each case receives individual consideration.

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what (a) instruction and (b) guidance he issues to UK consuls on procedures to follow when a UK national is murdered overseas. [230074]

Gillian Merron: The instruction and guidance given to Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) consular staff on what to do in the event of the death of a British national overseas in suspicious circumstances is aimed to ensure that they provide the standards of support set out in our publications "Support for British Nationals Abroad: A Guide", which can be found at http://www.fco.gov.uk/resources/en/pdf/2855621/english and in more detail in our "Guide for Bereaved Families", which can be found at http://www.fco.gov.uk/resources/en/pdf/2855621/bereaved-families.

Further guidance on procedures to follow is available to all consular staff. This guidance covers:

Reporting cases to Consular Directorate at the FCO in London, and providing regular updates.

If a death was violent or otherwise unnatural, warning families that the coroner will probably wish to hold an inquest if the body is repatriated to England and Wales.

The potential for involving a family liaison officer who may be deployed by the local police.

The need to give next of kin realistic expectations of when the body will be available for burial or cremation.

Maintaining regular contact with the local investigative authorities and keeping the family informed of developments, usually via consular directorate in London.

In suspicious deaths, where possible arranging for some samples to be taken, by appropriate medical staff, from the body before embalming.

Explaining to the family that we cannot investigate deaths ourselves.

The importance of not giving speculative opinions about the cause of death.

Providing information to next of kin on how to register the death.

Plain English

Mr. Scott: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much has been spent by his Department on Plain English Campaign training courses for its staff in each year since 2005. [230607]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) has not commissioned any training from the Plain English Campaign since 2005. The principles of Plain English are embedded in all our written communication courses.

Special Representative for Conflict Resolution Mechanisms

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether the Special Representative for Conflict Resolution Mechanisms receives remuneration in respect of this role. [232467]

Bill Rammell: My right hon. Friend the Prime Minister has asked Jack McConnell, Member of the Scottish Parliament to become his Special Representative for Conflict Resolution Mechanisms. Mr. McConnell will be based in the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO), working with the FCO, Department for International Development and Ministry of Defence. His travel and other out of pocket expenses will be covered by the departments concerned.

Trade Unions

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many civil servants in his Department were seconded to work for (a) trades unions and (b) the Trades Union Congress in each year since 2003. [229100]

Gillian Merron: None.

USA: Visits Abroad

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs which Ministers have visited the United States in the last 12 months on official business. [235815]

Gillian Merron: There has been a significant amount of travel to the United States by Ministers in their official capacity over the past 12 months, and I will therefore write separately with the details.

Uzbekistan: Human Rights

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports his Department has received of the Uzbekistan Government allegedly contravening (a) the International Labour Organisation Convention on Minimal Age of Employment and (b) the Convention on Prohibition and Immediate Action for Elimination of the Worst Forms of Child Labour; what steps his Department is faking in response; and if he will make a statement. [230446]

Gillian Merron: We have been concerned by reports from our non-governmental organisations and informal monitoring by the United Nations Children's Fund's (UNICEF) representative in Uzbekistan that child labour has been used during this year's cotton harvest. Our embassy in Tashkent is funding a project to establish stronger child labour monitoring systems to estimate the prevalence of child labour in remote rural cotton growing areas of Uzbekistan. The project aims to prevent and combat child labour through informal education and vocational training. Our Embassy in Tashkent will also remain in regular contact with UNICEF.
